Ted Williams was called out on strikes, but Kell stole second as Seminick waited too long, then threw wide to second. Kazak, who had swung over near second in the shift for Williams, also helped by forgetting to cover the bag.

Following a run-scoring single by Joe DiMaggio and a walk to Eddie Joost, Mize failed to come up with a smash to his right by Eddie Robinson. The blow went for a single and brought in a run. Peewee Reese then bounced a ball hit to short to allow another run to score. Birdie Tebbetts singled past third for another tally, and Case Michaels raced all the way to third when Reese and Kazak got mixed up on who should cover the bag.

The Nationals got back two runs in their half of the inning when Stan Musial followed Jackie Robinson's double with a home run. They made it 4-3 in the second on a walk off southpaw Mel Parnell of Boston's Red Sox, a single by Kazak, a hit batter and pitcher Don Newcombe's long fly which brought in a run.

Poor Game

Mize and Kazak figured prominently in the National's third-inning attack which produced two runs and put them in front for the first and only time in the game. Jackie Robinson's stroll, Musial's single—his second of three safeties—and Ralph Kiner's double-play grounder, furnished the tying run. Mize then singled, moved to second on a walk to Willard Marshall, and Hodges, his pinch runner, pranced across the plate with the lead run when Kazak slashed his second single to left.

The Americans, however, regained the lead in the fourth and the Nationals never caught up, although Kiner later blasted a two-run homer off Philadelphia's Lou Brissie.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the winners agreed with the majority of the 32,577 fans who paid $79,255.02—all of which goes to the players' pension fund—that it was one of the shabbiest played games since the all-star competition began in 1933.

Jewellers Lose Men's Tilt In Keen Tussle

The Uniteds won their second men's softball fixture of the evening at the Bowl last night as part of the triple-header, when they beat Jewellers 8-5 in the second tussle of the night. They used three twirlers to do it as Jewellers made it a game all the way, the losers using two flingers in a fair fray. Both sides kicked the ball a bit at times but it was always close. Bob Greenlaw looked good again on the mound after throwing an earlier game in good fashion. He, and Wade and Harrison each had two hits in four tries for the winners, while Sanderson led the losers with three in two. Harrison hit two homers and Scriver one.

Merchants Whip Batawa By 8-1

BELLEVILLE, July 12 (CP) — Oshawa Merchants strengthened their hold on top slot in the Central Ontario Baseball League here Tuesday night when they defeated Batawa Shoemen 8-1. The defeat plunged the Batawans deeper in the cellar.

Doug Sutton, Oshawa left hander, started the mound for Merchants and breezed along for six innings allowing but four hits for the Batawan lone run. Clemence relieved him and stifled the Batawa bats over the rest of the route yielding but one clout for no runs, Sutton whiffed four and Clemence one.

Peacock started the mound chore for the homesters and lasted until the sixth yielding seven clouts for five runs and striking out five. Gord Muffit took over but was just another pitcher and Oshawa got to him for three runs for as many hits in as many innings.

Oshawa scored single runs in the third and fifth and pounded out three more each in the sixth and eighth. Batawa scored their lone marker in the sixth off a lone hit and an Oshawa error.

Both squads were loose in the field with the Merchants racking up five miscues and Batawa six.

Andy McMullen paced the Oshawa attack with three singles for five with Cook getting a triple and single the only extra base hit of the game. Keeler and Tyccony got two each.

Peacock got two singles for the shoemen with Bush, Watson and Bridgeman getting the remaining three.

Devaluation Of Pound Not Considered

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

It would seem that recurrent rumors that Britain will devalue her pound can be buried, for a while.

Sir Stafford Cripps, in his public statements, has been doing his best all along to bury them, and presumably he is in the best position to know the government's intentions.

Last week-end's communique from the British Treasury says the matter was not discussed in the meeting of Sir Stafford, Treasury Secretary Snyder of the United States, and Finance Minister Abbott of Canada.

Further, it said that technical discussions will be held on the problems of trade between the sterling and dollar areas, before another conference at ministerial level in September.

No Change Likely

Accordingly, it is hardly conceivable that any change will be made in the value of the pound in the meantime.

And if, by any chance, Sir Stafford should consider revaluation after that, it likely will be only if other proposals are made which will in his opinion, remove the reasons for the present weakness of the pound.

Possibly then he might be open to argument as to what the exact value of the pound should be. Its present controlled price is $4.03 as against the one-time value of $4.86 2-3.

Another thing, if a pound devaluation does come at any time in the future, it will be the most closely guarded secret imaginable until it is announced.

In the meantime, rumors on the matter are of virtually no value, at least until more light is thrown on present conditions, and their possible cure.

Almost Knocked Over In Rush To Get Information On Arctic

By JACK AVESON

WINNIPEG, July 13—(CP)—The secrets of the Canadian Arctic are being torn from their snow-encrusted wrappings this summer by a host of investigators whose number is as great as their missions are varied. Coming under official scrutiny are such diverse matters as the type of life existing on previously-undiscovered islands, the mystery of a beaver-killing disease and the exact whereabouts of the magnetic pole.

Some of the expenditions already are in the northland, others are en route and still others are close to having their tasks complete.

T. C. Manning, Arctic veteran of the Federal Mines and Resources Department's Geographical Bureau, last month headed a party of seven Canadian scientists assigned to explore two large islands in Foxe Basin discovered last July by the R.C.A.F.

Study Vegetation

Lying west of Baffin Island, the new lands appeared barren and ice-infested when viewed from the air. The Manning expedition will determine what vegetation and animal life exists and study geographical aspects of the islands.

Three scientists and seven airmen, headed by Ralph D. Hutchinson, of Toronto, member of the Dominion Observatory's magnetic division, are off on another mission. Their assignment is to determine the exact location of the magnetic pole, believed to be on Prince of Wales Island, about 2,000 miles north of Winnipeg.

The expedition sponsored jointly by the Federal Resources Department and the R.C.A.F., is expected to take about eight weeks.

Dr. Malcolm Brown, of Kingston, is in charge of a seven-man medical expedition from Queen's University studying the health and ailments of people living in northern latitudes. Fourth party to be sponsored by the university in the last three years, the members are interested in all aspects of health. Their headquarters are at Coral Harbor on Southampton Island.

In the Western Canadian Arctic, Dr. Douglas Leechman of Ottawa, archeologist with the National Museum, is working on a vastly different project. He is travelling along the Alaska Highway searching for traces of early Indian migrations from Siberia. Tools and weapons made from flint already have been found, suggesting a migration extending from Dawson in the Yukon to Calgary.

A trapline biologist for the Ontario Lands and Forests Department, G. A. Elsey, of Toronto, is wondering what mysterious disease was reported this spring to be killing off northern Ontario's beaver population. He started a six-week treaty trip in late May, determined to gain information about the strange malady.

Conservatives Begin Drive

LONDON, July 13 (CP)—The Conservative party, having rejected the idea it can regain political power by waiting for Labor to fumble the ball, will send its varsity team into action next week.

The party will unveil its policy for the next general election and to make certain it escapes nobody's attention the Conservatives have chosen their two top personalities as masters of ceremonies.

Winston Churchill, at 74 still the opposition's leader and most arresting figure, will make the party's aims and purposes his principal theme in an address at Wolverhampton July 23. A gathering of 50,000 is expected to be there to hear him.

In the evening Anthony Eden, deputy opposition leader, will speak to the country by radio. It is believed to be the first time the leader and deputy leader have made important speeches on the same day.

The decisions to draft a policy statement follow a prolonged conflict between the two wings of the party. Some right-wing elements are understood to have argued the Conservatives could drift back into power by default, harping insistantly on the Labor government's misfortunes or mismanagements.

Two of Calgary's prized Grey cup victory "trophies" were returned to their rightful Toronto owners in a special ceremony at the opening of the Calgary Stampede Monday.

Tom Brook, fiery president of the Dominion football champion Stampeders, turned over two goalposts "stolen" from Toronto Varsity stadium to the eastern city's chief magistrate, Hiram E. (Buck) McCallum.

The posts were seized by enthusiastic Calgary supporters following Stampeders' victory over Ottawa Roughriders in Toronto last fall.

The posts won't be much use to Varsity stadium, however. Several feet are missing from each post, sawed off by souvenir-hunting Calgarians.

At Bisley Camp, Surrey, England, officer cadet Gilmour Boa, of Toronto, one of Canada's crack young marksmen, kept the Dominion's colors high Tuesday at the annual Commonwealth rifle shoot.

He won the Donegall Qualifier competition, ended in a two-way tie for first place in the Stock Exchange challenge trophy event, and was one of six Canadians who qualified outright for the second stage of the St. George's challenge vase competition.

Nick Metz, former National League star with the Toronto Maple Leafs, will coach Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League next season, it was announced at Saskatoon Tuesday.

Club president R. M. Cantlon said he received word from Conn Smythe, Leaf general manager, that Metz had been granted permission to accept the position. It is expected that Metz will be a playing coach.

Mimico Mountaineers defeated Owen Sound Crescents 13-10 at Owen Sound Tuesday night, handing the Crescents their first defeat in their last six starts and preventing them from breaking their first-place tie with Brampton Excelsiors.

Top scorers were the Dixon boys, Al and Ken, with three goals apiece. McPhail got two goals while Gair, Simpson, Pritchard and Rankin each scored one. For the losers Shortridge, Slater and Woods each scored two, while Campbell, Kazarian, Mason and Ashbee each scored one.

At London, the British Ice Hockey Association Tuesday night accepted the world amateur championships for 1950. The tournament will be held, probably at Wembley Arena, in March. The B.I.H.A. expected 14 teams to compete for the title held by Czechoslovakia.

Chicago White Sox Tuesday announced the sale of pitcher Al Gettel to Washington Senators for the $10,000 waiver price. He has a record of two victories and five defeats this season.

Montreal Royals of the International League defeated New York Giants of the National League 4-2 in an exhibition game at Montreal Tuesday night before 11,770 fans. The Royals rapped three of the Giants' top hurlers, Larry Jansen, Clint Hartung and Hank Behrman, for nine hits.

At Syracuse, N.Y., Willie Pep, world featherweight champion, easily outpointed Jean Mougin, former lightweight titleholder of France, in their non-title, 10-round feature bout Tuesday night. The decision was unanimous with Pep ahead in every round. Pep apparently used the match as a tune-up for his championship title with Eddie Compo, scheduled for July 28.

Declares Twelfth Most Successful In Many Years

By The Canadian Press

Canadian Orangemen, taking stock of their 1949 celebration of the "glorious twelfth," put it down as one of the most successful in many years.

The Toronto parade, with upwards of 6,500 marchers, was described by officials of the Loyal Orange Lodge as one of the largest ever held in that city. It took two hours to pass the city hall cenotaph and was viewed by an estimated 10,000 persons.

In celebration of the 259th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne victory of the Protestant William of Orange over the Roman Catholic James II, 5,000 lodge members marched in Hamilton, 1,500 in Vancouver, others in a score of communities across Canada.

Supplying music for the Toronto March were 12 fife and drum bands, 15 pipe bands and three brass bands. The Orange fifes and derry drums disrupted proceedings in a Toronto courtroom and won remands for four persons.

The Hamilton gathering drew Orangemen from Ontario's Niagara peninsula and from neighboring sections of New York state.

Montreal Orangemen travelled 50 miles to celebrate at Vankleek Hill, Ont. There was a big gathering at Sussex, N.B., Newfoundland declared the day a public holiday.

Other Ontario centres in which walks were held included Fenelon Falls, where Ontario Premier Leslie Frost addressed 2,000 persons, Elmvale, Cannington, Flesherton, Mount Forest, Brussels, Parry Sound, Nobleton and Listowel.

To Explore Greenland

BOSCTON, July 13.—(AP).—An expedition headed by a Jesuit priest will leave Friday aboard a United States navy icebreaker to expore the ice-capped centre of Greenland. After dropping the explorers a three-ship task force will sail across the top of the continent to take fuel and supplies to weather stations operated jointly by the United States and Canada.

Margarine Regulation

FREDERICTON, July 13 (CP)—Premier J. B. McNair announced Tuesday proclamation of an act regulating sale and manufacture of margarine in New Brunswick. The act, passed at the last session of the Provincial Legislature, provides that margarine contain no more than 1.6 degrees of coloring, no preservative other than common salt and not more than 16 per cent. of water or less than 80 per cent. fat.

7 Fires Uncontrolled

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP) — Seven fires are burning out of control in north-eastern Manitoba, and the Provincial Forestry Service is mobilizing its reserves of men and equipment to move into the flaming areas. Six new fires broke out late Monday after lightning strike.

Queen Mary Specializes In Collecting Antiques

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, July 13—(CP)—In her 83rd year Queen Mary still is one of Britain's leading collectors of antiques and has been called the "patron saint" of the trade. Some of her most notable treasures, many found by persistent hunting through stores, were among £4,000,000 ($16,000,000) worth of exhibits at the Ninth Antique Dealers' Fair.

Drawing attention to them at the opening ceremony, the Duke of Devonshire told collectors:

"Vast as is the knowledge assembled here, Queen Mary knows as much about antiques as all of you put together."

Connoisseurs from North America and parts of the European contingent applauded the tribute and later showered praise on the Queen Mother's prize exhibit—a miniature in marble of the life-size statue of Voltaire which J. A. Houdson executed for the Comedie Francaise in 1781.

Queen Mary also loaned a silver jewel casket, the lid set with medallion heads of Charles I and Queen Henrietta Maria; and two gold snuff boxes originally owned by the Duke of Cambridge.

Loan Treasures

Other members of the Royal Family loaned treasures. The King's exhibit is an 18th-century French clock purchased by George IV, when Prince of Wales. The Queen loaned a Sheraton mahogany work table of spherical form, supported by three carved ebonized legs; Princess Elizabeth, a pair of silver cups and covers made by Nicholas Clausen in 1710.

Real antinques have to be works of art or craftsmanship made before 1830 and all exhibits at the fair were first examined by a jury of experts to determine their validity.

Visitors viewed with reverence a pedestal mahogany desk at which Queen Victoria wrote her discursive letters, and an ancient timepiece made by Tom Tompion, the "father of English clockmakers.

One of the many novelties was a 5,000-year-old Chinese ornament shaped like a camel, found in the tomb of a Chinese Emperor. The inscription shows that the camel was intended to take him on his journey into the next world.

Discover Paintings

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., July 13—(AP).—A 15-year-old mystery of the art world—what happened to the prize-winning paintings of the late Alfred Juergens, a giant among American impressionists — was solved Tuesday. Stacked away in an obscure farm house basement, virtually ignored by his widow who lives surrounded by priceless art objects nearly 20 of Jergens' canvasses have been gathering dust since his death in 1934.

Montreal had its first printing plant in 1778.

Two innings later the lad turned up with a wallet, lost by a woman spectator.

Unexplained Injuries Aged Millbrook Man

MILLBROOK, July 13—(ENS)—Residents of this community are still trying to fathom out how Harvey Wood, 79, received the extensive injuries which caused his removal to St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on Thursday evening. The injuries consist of fractured collarbone, broken shoulder blade and concussion.

Mr. Wood, who lives alone, was found in a dazed condition sitting on his verandah. At no time since has he been able to recall to anyone the manner in which he was hurt. His condition was reported today as "improving."

There is no question of foul play involved, as far as could be learned. It is believed that he may have had a fall of some kind.

He is a brother of Wilbert and Richard Wood who operate farms near here.

Careless Driver Given $10 Fine

An accident on the Chemong Rd. July 1 at 3:30 a.m. resulted Tuesday in a police court conviction of careless driving for Gordon Nichols, Selwyn. Nichols pleaded not guilty before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, but was fined $10 with $14 costs. The defence case was presented by Emmett Sheehy.

George Sill, 542 Gilmour St., whose car was damaged to the extent of $300 as a result of a collision with Nichols' car, said that Nichols' car was standing diagonally across the road on the down grade of a hill.

Sills described how he saw the parked car as he came over the crest of the hill and although he steered into the grass by the side of the road in an attempt to avoid a collision, his car hit Nichols' car.

Nichols said that he applied his brakes when blinded by oncoming headlights. His engine had stalled and he was trying to get the car to go when the collision occurred. He said the the driver of a car behind him jumped out of his car and ran in front to try to signal oncoming traffic to stop. The motorist and another which had been on the road at the time of the incident, left immediately afterwards, he said.

Provincial Constable R. A. Feeley said that both Nichols and Sills admitted having had a drink or two of beer earlier during the evening. An unopened case of beer was found in Nichols' car, he said.

After the magistrate convicted Nichols, Crown Attorney John Bradshaw offered no evidence in a charge of having liquor in a place other than his residence and the case was dismissed.

DOWN ON THE FARM—While the man he accused of helping him supply government secrets to Russia waits for the jury's verdict in New York, Whittaker Chambers relaxes in his Westminster, Md., home. "I've played my part, now it's up to the jury," Chambers said when asked about the Alger Hiss trial.

George S. White Majority 1,165

Final returns in the Hastings-Peterborough riding show that George S. White, Conservative member in the last parliament, gained a majority of 1,165 votes over his Liberal and CCF opponents.

Official figures as issued by Howard Sabine, Hastings-Peterborough Returning Officer, follow: J. Haffey (CCF) 732; J. W. Munro (Liberal) 4,661; and George S. White (Conservative) 6,578. Seventy-five ballots were rejected, making a total vote of 12,066.

The delayed vote received from servicemen in the riding showed a decided swing in favor of the Liberal candidate but it was not sufficient to influence the final count. Munro got 20 votes from them; White, nine; and Haffey, none.

White defeated his nearest opponent, Munro, with a majority of 1,897 votes and completely outdistanced the CCF candidate who forfeited his deposit.

Fire Strikes Again Across Newfoundland

CORNER BROOK, Nfld., July 13 (CP)—The scourge of fire struck in Newfoundland again Tuesday, destroying five buildings at neighboring Curling and Timberland at two other places.

Two homes, a theatre, garage and restaurant were gutted in the $150,000 fire at Curling on the outskirts of this west coal mill town. Two volunteer firemen were injured slightly. The fire broke out in the home of Maurice Boland and spread rapidly to the other buildings.

This blaze had no connection with a renewed forest outbreak near Cormac, about seven miles east of here. At the same time, another forest fire gained strength in the northern coast area of Micmac Pond and threatened valuable timberland.

Hankie-Halter British Version Of The American Bobby Soxer

By ALVIN STEINKOPF
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON — Hankie-hatter? That's a bobby-soxer with a British accent.

The hankie-hatters have much in common with their teen-age cousins across the sea. They gather in droves to scream for their idol of the moment. The idol is apt to get roughed up a bit in the crush.

In Britain, the object of this mob affection may be U.S. comedian Danny Kaye, the wavy-haired hero of a soccer game, the oil-smeared winner of a motorcycle speedway race or 40-year-old crooner Donald Peers.

There are some clearly defined differences between bobby-soxers and hankie-hatters, say the scholars.

While chasing Frankie Sinatra down an alley bobby-soxers squeal in a tone which has been measured as high E above high C. The hankie-hatters, while chasing Donald Peers, squeal in a tone that rarely rises above natural high C.

Another difference is that Peers, the singing heartthrob of the British teen-agers, would never run down an alley. At most, he might stride at an accelerated pace down Pall Mall. And on catching him the hankie-hatters do not quite tear him limb from limb. He rarely loses more than a necktie.

"We think there is just a bit more restraint here," it was said at the office of a recording service which has had a hankie-hatter problem since Peers skyrocketed into popularity.

"No one has as yet invaded us by way of the fire escape, and there have been only a few instances of Donald's name being embroidered across pull-overs.

Hankie-Hatters Older

"A couple of love letters were, to be sure, written in lipstick, but we answered them with a typewriter with a nice new ribbon. And hankie-hatters run a little older than bobby-soxers and we think they have more sense if any."

The gay handkerchief over the head is the badge of the adolescent sisterhood in Britain. No one quite knows why it should be handkerchiefs here and abbreviated sox in the United States. It is suspected that wartime rationing had something to do with it.

There are various ways of arranging the hankie. The preferred technique is to tie two corners under the chin. The other two corners flap freely and the effect in a breeze is lively.

The general impression in a crowd of hankie-hatters is that British youngsters have adopted the colorful baboushka favored by the peasant girls of Eastern Europe. But there seems to be no connection, because the baboushka countries of the east have had little cultural influence in Britain lately.

The current craze among the hankie-hatters is speedway racing. Outdoor motorcycle tracks all over Britain have caught the young idea, and the hankies are really useful in the stands. They keep the fog out of the ears.

There is no betting at the speedways—just speed, and the hankie-hatters squeal in moderate soprano.

Labor Council Proposes Works Project

The Peterborough Examiner

VOL. XCIX, No. 10 WEDNESDAY, JULY 13, 1949

Costs Of Living In City Canada Average

Probably every family man and housewife in the city has, at some time or other, complained of the high cost of living in Peterborough. It happens everywhere and it is not until factual comparisons are made that a true picture of relative living costs can be judged.

Peterborough citizens are in a position to contemplate with envy the lower rent, food and general costs in other Canadian cities, revealed in the Labor Department's monthly Gazette but there are also a number of places with considerably higher living costs. Peterborough, it appears, steers a middle course with average rents $7.50 lower than the average in Toronto and $11.50 higher than in New Glasgow, Nova Scotia and food prices are mid-way between maximum and minimum figures.

Comparison With 64 Cities

The July issue of Labor Gazette gives retail prices during April of staple foods, coal and rentals in 64 Canadian cities. Average rental in Peterborough for a house is $27.50-$31.50 while rent for a similar dwelling in Toronto is reported as being between $35 and $39. Same type of house will be rented at only $16 or $20 in New Glasgow.

Food prices as determined by the Labor Gazette were those of several months ago, but they shift proportionately.

Tinned foods such as peas and corn as well as raisins and potatoes are at a peak level in Prince Rupert. There potatoes are being sold at five cents a pound whereas in Peterborough they cost the housewife only 2.5 cents.

Toronto is the place to live for those with a sweet tooth. Corn syrup is bought for 27.1 cents a two pound tin and Peterborough price is only 28 cents. Highest price paid for the syrup is Chicoutimi, Quebec, where they pay 37.5 cents.

In this Quebec provincial town coffee is also sold for as much as 72.2 cents a pound, nearly 20 cents more than in Winnipeg.

Steak Prices

Next time mother goes to buy sirloin steak, let her not complain of what may seem by comparison with times now past—high prices in Peterborough. Even though she pays 70.4 cents a pound she is getting a better bargain than the women of Three Rivers, Quebec, who pay 78.5 cents. Moose Jaw, Sask., people fared better—steak cost them 62.4 cents.

Not every Canadian woman has benefitted as much as those in Peterborough from the drop in butter prices this summer.

The Labor Gazette quotes 61.4 cents a pound as the average price in Peterborough during April. Most dairy products cost more in the Maritimes than in other parts of the Dominion. Butter sold at Charlottetown for 67.9 cents. In Moose Jaw butter was cheapest, at only 58.1 cents.

While Charlottetown residents paid more for their butter they could buy milk at 16 cents a quart, four cents less than the average price in Drumheller, Alta. two cents less than in Peterborough.

Montreal High in Meats

Montreal was above average in meat prices with sirloin steak at 74 cents a pound; bacon, 69.6 and blade roast 44.3 cents.

Milk averaged 17.5 cents a quart in Montreal, half a cent more than in Quebec.

Other prices not already mentioned are quoted for Peterborough as follows:

Lard 22 cents a pound, shortening 32.7, grade A large eggs 50.5, half pound of mild cheese 30.1, white bread, plain, wrapped (per pound) 10, pound first grade flour 6.3, rolled oats 9.9, eight ounce package of corn flakes 14.2, 28 ounce tin tomatoes 20.9, 20 ounce tin of peas 16.3, 20 ounce tin of corn 19.7, pound of white beans 12.7, pound of cooking onions 5 pound of prunes 22, pound of seedless raisins 17.6, dozen oranges 33, dozen lemons 38.5, 32 ounce jar of strawberry jam 46.4, 20 ounce tin of peaches 27.9, 32 ounce jar of orange marmalade 37.1, pound of granulated sugar 9.5 pound of yellow sugar 9.4, ton of anthracite $22.25.

55 New Houses To Be Built In Ashburnham

About 55 rental houses for veterans' families will be built on land to the north and south of McFarlane Ave., south of Armour Rd. near Nicholl's Oval. Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation has given the city council its approval to the site.

These are the first of 100 houses planned in the 1949 program.

Following the Corporation's approval, a special housing committee headed by Alderman Arthur Burrows is recommending to the council that the land be bought.

Options on the land were negotiated previously by City Clerk E. A. Outram to insure the land would be available for the housing scheme when the time came to put it into operation.

1,300 Orangemen Celebrate July 12th In Fenelon Falls

By BOB HATTON

Orange and white and purple blazed forth in Fenelon Falls Tuesday as 1,300 Orangemen from four counties and 7,000 spectators massed in the town to celebrate on July 12 the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Leslie Frost, premier of Ontario, and a citizen of Lindsay, together with the member of the federal parliament for Victoria, Clayton W. Hodgson visited the town and spoke briefly.

Long before noon a great stream of cars, buses and trucks jammed into the village and disgorged their loads of Orangemen with their friends.

In no time there was not a parking place to be found. Sidewalk refreshment booths had been set up to keep the holiday crowd stuffed with hotdogs, sandwiches and soft drinks. The United Church served hot dinners which their customers said could not be bettered. Those who brought their own lunches had their picnics anywhere they could find room, even on the lawns of private homes.

Long Parade

So great was the parade when it was assembled and began its march about 2 p.m., the route had to be revised so that the front of the parade would not be starting up the main street while the tail end was still marching down.

A provincial constable on duty estimated the parade was four miles long. At times he had to hold back lines of traffic on the Lindsay highway to let the parade continue uninterrupted.

Spectators found it impossible to decide which lodges put on the better performances, men or women, boys or girls. Two men represented King Billy, known in history books as William of Orange. One was Roy Worsley of Cameron, District Master of Fenelon township; the other Gordon Dudman, District Marshal of the same township.

Strong Peterborough Contingent

A strong contingent from Peterborough took part. Peterborough County Grand Master, E. M. Payne, paraded with his lodge brothers. The Busy Bee lodge of young girls won wide attention and applause from the crowd dressed in white dresses and orange capes and dutch-style hats. The Sunshine Juvenile lodge of boys and girls also put on a noteworthy performance.

The Georgetown Girl's Pipe Band marched directly behind the leaders on their white chargers and won the admiration of the crowd with their playing and smart marching. First lodge in the parade was the Kinmount Onward Forever Lodge with a squad of young girls in white dresses and orange sashes. In all, more than 35 lodges took part in the walk, Fraserville supplied one of the two Durham County Kinmount lodge represented Haliburton county and most of the other lodges came from Victoria and Peterborough counties.

Nearly every lodge had some feature which drew applause from the crowds lining the streets throughout the town. The Bobcaygeon detachment featured two attractive drum majorettes, strutting along in red and white uniforms. Emily, Omemee, Glenarm, North Verulam, Victoria and Empire lodges from Lindsay, and Coboconk all had eye-catching squads.

Little Britain's Band was smart in maroon and brown uniforms. The Fenelon Falls detachment in blue shirts and white trousers as hosts in the walk were last, giving people of their home town reason to be proud of its part in the parade.

65th Orange Walk

Many an old timer once again stepped out and kept up with his younger brothers over the whole route. From Peterborough's lodge 50, there was 83-year-old Bob Wright who made his 65th walk this year. The oldest Orangeman reported was Sidney Hunter of Lakefield who at 88 has been an Orangeman 73 years and has missed only three walks in all that time. Cartwright lodge supplied two veterans of July 12 walks. They were Samuel Jeffries who has been an Orangeman 68 years and William D'Arcy with a record of 65 years as an Orangeman.

Speakers for the afternoon were introduced by George Palmer, Grand Master of Victoria County. Master of the Fenelon Falls lodge, W. B. Brandon, first welcomed all who had come to the walk and thanked them for making it a big success.

Premier Frost, who was delayed in Gooderham where he had spoken to Orangemen, said Ontario's future was based more upon traditions of morality and religion than upon its great material wealth. He said it was the moral fibre of the people which guaranteed the province's future.

Mr. Hodgson, who had spoken earlier in the afternoon at another walk in Cannington, said the large turnout in both the towns spoke well for Protestantism in the country. A past Grand Master of the district, he said he thought a basis for a union Protestant churches might lie in the Loyal Orange Lodge which welcomed Presbyterians, Anglicans, Baptists and United Churchmen alike to its membership.

Other speakers were Rev. M. V. Putnam, speaking as a representative of the Ministerial Association; Rev. Col. S. E. Lambert, OBE, of Toronto and summer resident of the district; Dr. F. M. Graham, Warden of Victoria county and reeve of Fenelon Falls; Bruce McNevin of the Raeboro lodge and Rev. McLean.

A minute's silence was observed in tribute to Milton Thurston, Past County Master from the North Emily lodge, who died Monday in Lindsay.

The celebration by no means ended with the conclusion of the played in the new Rotary ball speeches. Two ball games were park and in the evening there was a dance. But loyal Orangemen didn't stay for the amusements. They travelled to Peterborough where, with the fife and drum to spur them on, they marched again at 8 p.m.

CITY MEN GO HAYING

A flurry of excitement was caused at about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning when a city Sanitation Department truck loaded with new-mown hay lost the greater part of its load while travelling slowly along Water St., just back of the Paramount Theatre. A couple of other employees of the department were called to help the driver stow the hay back on the truck again.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

PASSED ENTRANCE

K. O. Birkin, public schools inspector, reports that owing to an error, Ralph Hanlan's name was omitted from the list of successful high school entrance examination candidates at Norwood centre published last week.

REPAIR WATER SERVICE

Three large excavations have been made on Brock St. just west of George St. by Utilities workmen who are repairing a broken water service. An electric pump is being used to suck up the water from the holes so the men can dig unimpeded.

PROTECT PEDESTRIANS

Increased safety for pedestrians is now being provided on George St. at the various downtown intersections as the result of work being started on painting of bright yellow lines connecting all four corners. The lines are also intended as a curb on jaywalking, as a pedestrian crossing at any other point can have no redress if struck by a vehicle.

TRY NES FOR JOBS

Local residents wanting odd jobs done about the house should phone the National Employment Service so the work can go to an unemployed person, the Allied Labor Council stated in a resolution Tuesday night. It was pointed out that many people are unaware of the services available at NES.

LANDS 25-POUNDER

Joseph Micolucci of 201 Charlotte St., is one man who doesn't have to go to the back lakes of the Kawartha region before he catches a sizeable fish. Tuesday night while using minnows he hooked a 25-pound 'lunge in Little Lake and landed it after a 20-minute struggle. Today he had an unusually large number of customers in his tailor shop, many of whom just came to admire the large game-fish. Mr. Micolucci isn't telling anyone exactly where he caught it.

DEW-WORMS SCARCE

Dew-worms are still hard to get in spite of Saturday' rain. Over the weekend pickers pulled nearly 12,000 worms from the lawns in the city, the flat at Nicholl's Oval and the two golf courses, but on this morning they reported the pickings from Tuesday night's work were thin. The bait retailers have kept the dew-worm prices up to $1.25 a hundred and some places in the city are getting $1.50. Most of the grumblers are local people who remind the men in the bait business that dew-worms used to be 50c a hundred, one retailer said.

FORM STANDING COMMITTEE

A standing Unemployment Committee to study the local situation was formed at the special meeting of the United Labor Council Tuesday night. Included are: E. Lorne Bebee, Local 293 UPWA; Phil Knibbs, UE representative; Harold Dormer, Local 248 ITU; Fred Hannah, CCL representative; William Whibbs, Local 524 UE-CIO; Joseph O'Brien, Local 527 UE-CIO; Ward Hubble, Local 525 (Wonder Bread); John Rowley, UE representative; Robert Harvey, Local 1320 AASER and MC of America; and Thomas Ross, Local 527 UE-CIO.

Low-Cost Housing Scheme One of Many Project To Give Unemployed Work

A list of civic projects to be undertaken as soon as possible was advocated at a special meeting of the Allied Labor Council Monday night. The purpose would be to take up the slack of unemployment in the city—both present and potential. City Council will be asked by the ALC to get started right away on a low-cost housing scheme, sewage disposal plant, paving program, memorial centre, and a civic centre in the south end. In addition it will be asked to endorse a motion that Gordon K. Fraser, member for Peterborough West and Senator J. J. Duffus be asked to use their influence to obtain a Federal Building (Post Office and Customs House) for Peterborough.

President Alfred Barber stated there were more than three times as many unemployed in the city now as at this time last year; that it was a serious situation and would probably get worse.

He compared figures issued by the National Employment Service to illustrate his point : on July 7, 1948, there was a total of 221 unemployed, 156 male and 65 female; on July 7, 1949, there was a total of 716—360 male and 356 female.

Claims Actually Paid

All these represented live claims, i.e. claims actually being paid at the time. Those who had applied but were not yet eligible for benefits were not included; nor were those who made no application at all when they lost their jobs.

Members of the Unemployment Committee reported on their respective plants: CGE—about 400 less on the payroll than last year and with another 300 having to move when the Refrigeration Department moves to Montreal; Canada Packers—seven less than last year but longer hours (including overtime) and more pay, 1948 and 1949 figures being 235 and 228 respectively; also the cannery which last year employed about 100 at this time not operating this year.

Other plants: Quaker Oats—about the same; Examiner—ten more; Bus Drivers—seven more; Outboard Marine—between 100-160 employees being laid off without being told when to report back to work and prospects of further layoffs; Peterborough Lock Manufacturing—31 laid off; Raybestos on 36-hour week for past three months; Textile Workers—no recent layoffs since heavy layoffs of a few months ago (two of four Lindsay plants shut down and others operating at half strength).

In proposing the low-cost housing scheme, Fred Hannah, CCL representative, said: "We should write Council informing it the ALC is very concerned with the possibility of future unemployment and with the object in view of heading off this situation before it gets out of hand."

He stated it was not just a relief measure but "something that is necessary and should be done."

Members unanimously supported a resolution that the City Council be asked to get started on projects such as the sewage disposal plant, paving, memorial centre, and civic centre in the south end.

Another resolution was drafted pointing out that unemployment is three times as high now as a year ago and asking Peterborough workers with full-time jobs to refrain, if possible, from accepting part-time positions that might deprive an unemployed person of the opportunity.

There are many instances of this, it was stated; particularly in trades such as decorating and painting, carpentering, electrical work, and work in beverage rooms.

The resolution also called upon employers and part-time help to do some preliminary investigating and see that preference in these jobs is given to the unemployed.

Tourists Less Spend-Happy Merchants Find

Free-spending Americans have ceased to be free spending. Not since the end of the war have local stores seen American tourists spending less money.

Luxury items, such as expensive blankets and fine linens are being looked at, but not bought. One store manager said his store was not selling more than a third as much as last year. Another store set the amount at less than one half.

One manager said he had reports that tourist resorts farther north were selling a good deal more than usual. He thought there might be a chance tourists might do their shopping on their way back.

Overall business has held steady and in some cases improved, but said one store representative, "it isn't the tourists."

The only store which reported business little changed from last year said it was because they had many regular customers who come back year after year. At the same time they had noticed American customers were definitely "a good deal more choosy."

Employees Vote Union Approval

Organized labor in Peterborough took another step forward in Peterborough Tuesday when eligible employees of the A. Wander Co. voted 18 to 10 to accept the United Packing House Workers of America as their bargaining agent. They were previously unorganized.

Two employees refrained from voting.

The vote was taken with a returning officer from the Ontario Labor Relations Board in charge. There will be a seven-day waiting period during which time a protest over the way the vote was conducted may be filed by either party.

If there are no protests the new union will apply for a charter and be certified as the sole bargaining agent and officers elected.

Roots of Grass Require Protection In Hot Spells

Rain at the weekend did more to brighten lawns in the city than a week of continuous watering by hose could have accomplished. "Why it is that half an hour of rain will do more good than using the hose all day?" was a question asked by many householders.

The man in Peterborough who seems to know all the answers concerning the upkeep of lawns is Jim Harrison, superintendent of the infiltration plant. The spacious lawns at the plant, which give north bound motorists the first indication that they are leaving behind the built up city area, are in themselves testimony to his almost unequalled skill.

When plots throughout the city were looking parched and patchy the grass around the infiltration plant, although obviously lacking moisture, seemed to stand up to the drought better than any.

There was plenty of water nearby—the river and the plant's reservoir but not a drop was used to water the lawns.

Water from the tap will invariably do more harm than good, says Mr. Harrison. Chlorine burns the roots and so only aggravates the situation.

Best protection from the summer sun and drought is to keep the grass about two and a half inches in length, Mr. Harrison maintains. If it is mown down there is no protection for the roots from the sun and the grass inevitably dies.

Let the grass be its own protection and all will be well.

This advice is no mere publicity stunt to inveigle people into refraining from using the hose during periods of water shortage. Mr. Harrison is a north country Englishman—he came from Leicestershire some 20 years ago — from a part of the country where directness of speech is the noted characteristic of the people.

If grass is to be prevented from dying during hot spells, the roots must be protected. That is plain common sense to Mr. Harrison and, no doubt to many others To burn the roots with chlorinated water is just plain stupidity.

Two Die In Collision

PORT ARTHUR, July 13. — (CP).—Two men were killed Tuesday in a collision between a bus and a large van on a highway between Pine Portage and Nipigon, Ont., 70 miles northeast of Port Arthur. Morley Hayes of Fort William, described as driver of the bus, was killed almost instantly. His relief driver, Robert Nuttall of Port Arthur, died later in hospital. Fourteen other persons also were injured.

Bowling dates at least from the 14th century and was introduced by the Germans.

Few Contenders For Film Oscars

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 15—(AP).—A check on the "Oscar derby" at the midway mark reveals a scant field.

Never have there been so few contenders for academy honors at the six-month post in Hollywood's annual race. From this vantage point, it appears that only "Letter to Three Wives," "Home of the Brave," "The Widow" and "Champion" make a serious bid for blue-blood honors.

Kirk Douglas' prize fighter role seems to me the only performance to rate serious attention. Unlike last year, female contenders for the acting prize are sparse.

Of course, studios often hold their academy hopefuls until release at the end of the year. But last year's winners—"Johnny Belinda," "Hamlet," Sierre Madre"—were all brought out in the first part of the year.

It looks as though the studios are de-emphasizing Oscar. They have already withdrawn their financial support from the academy. And their 1949 releases so far have leaned toward comedies, musicals, crime thrillers and other so-called crowd-pleasers. Drama has taken a back seat.

Institute Receives Thanks For Gifts

LAKEFIELD, July 13—(CNS)—The Women's Institute held its July meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Bullock, who presided in the absence of the president.

Mrs. F. Foster gave a report on the district annual meeting held recently at Havelock and Mrs. F. Dixon read the address which was given by Mrs. Moynes at the convention.

Letters of thanks were read from the Navy League of Canada and the Peterborough Civic Hospital, the former for donation of $57.50 collected in a tag day and the latter thanking the institute for offering to furnish a room in the new hospital.

Mrs. J. Smith read a paper on public relations and Mrs. T. Morin read a paper prepared by Mrs. Theo. Nichols on community activities.

Refreshment conveners were Mrs. S. Chatten, Mrs. A. Bullock, and Mrs. G. Spence.

Selling Papers 'Sin'

INVERNESS, Inverneshire, Scotland, July 13. — (CP). — News Agent K. J. Macrae has been told by the Free Church of Scotland that he is "guilty of an enormous sin against a large section of the community" by selling Sunday newspapers. The ministers charged him with "endeavoring in this way to destroy the souls and minds of those under our care," asserting that the "so-called Sunday paper is anything but healthy."

To Start Hospital

TORONTO, July 13.—(CP).—Construction of Toronto's new $5,250,000 Mount Sinai hospital on midtown University Avenue at Elm St. is scheduled to start next month. The 12-storey, 351 bed structure will share a co-operative heating plant with Toronto General Hospital, Hospital for Sick Children and Women's College Hospital.

2 White Horses 7 Bands Hastings Walk

Residents of Hastings and its surrounding districts jammed the main street Tuesday afternoon to watch and take part in the Walk celebrating the 259th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Fifteen lodges were represented, with visiting Orangemen from outside lodges scattered throughout the crowd.

The Walk was led by German Ellis, County Master for East Peterborough, and Arthur Beamish, County Director for East Peterborough, both astride white horses. The Havelock Kiltie Band under the direction of Harry Anderson, led the parade. Lodges in the Walk were as follows: Havelock LOL No. 326; McGill LOBA No. 471, Havelock; Castleton LOL No. 554 and band; Morning Star LOBA No. 1176, Castleton; Campbellford LOL No. 526 and band; Polmont LOL No. 1369, Trent River; Roseneath LOL No. 261; Coronation LOL No. 34, Norwood, and band; Percey LOL No. 108, Warkworth and band; Belmont LOL No. 277; Caledonia LOL No. 281, North Dummer; Blairton LOL No. 1255; Enniskillen LOL No. 522 and band; Hastings LOBA No. 458, and Hastings LOL No. 558 and band.

The parade left the Hastings Park at 1.30, and proceeded down Bridge St. to Fowld's Corners, went east two blocks, turned around and came back along the waterfront, up Bridge St. to Front St., along Front for two blocks, north one block, west three blocks and then south one block to the park again.

Speeches In Arena

After the Walk, speeches were held in the Hastings Community Arena. German Ellis was Chairman, and on the platform with him were Rev. N. Cole, Trinity United Church Hastings, Rev. J. M. Ritchie, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings, Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, Havelock, W. A. Goodfellow, provincial Minister of Welfare and MLA for Northumberland, and Dr. Fred Robertson, Federal member for Northumberland.

Mr. Goodfellow, a Past Master in Northumberland, told the people assembled in the arena that he had been an Orangeman for thirty years, and that it had done great deal for him. He said that Orangeism is a great training ground for young men, because its principles have stood the test of time. He urged that tolerance be practiced, with equal rights to all, because "there is room for all creeds and denominations in this country."

Support Leaders

Dr. Robertson congratulated the Orangemen on their neat appearance in the parade, and told them that they were a credit to Orangemen generally. He told the audience that "Russia has developed a great threat to peace. It is our duty as good citizens to preserve peace—and there is much we can do." He urged them to act as good citizens in a democratic way, to support the dominion and provincial leaders, "because a leader is only as strong as the public opinion behind him."

Rev. J. M. Ritchie, in his address, asked that the tradition of equal rights for all, and special privileges to none, be maintained for generations to come. "God will bless you if your Orangeism follows the basis on which the Order was laid."

Rev. Cole asked that the Orangemen remember the Bible after the anniversary of the Boyne this year was over, and said that the place of the good Orangemen is in his pew in church.

Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh, stating that "Orangeism must continue to be on the march," asked that the Orangemen keep in step with the march by maintaining allegiance and loyalty to the Crown. "Let us labor for the better world our forefathers fought and died for."

The arena meeting closed with God Save the King and the Orangemen scattered to renew acquaintances and talk over old times. One of the tales that came from this concerns an elderly gentleman who haldn't missed a walk for 60 years, and who found himself out in the country with no transportation. He phoned a neighbor who hurried him into Hastings, and the old fellow made his 61st Orange walk with five minutes to spare.

DOROTHY DIX

Weekends Away Dangerous Reputations Will Suffer

DEAR MISS DIX: I will be 26 this year. I am engaged to the most wonderful man in the world. He has quite a bit of money saved, enough to buy all our furniture and still have a nice little nest and is making what is a good salary for these times. I also have a good job and he does not object to my keeping it, but my mother does. Don't you think I am old enough to judge what is the best to do for myself? Mother always wanted me to marry and kept nagging me about it and now that I really want to marry she is standing in my way. What shall I do?—JANICE.

ANSWER: If you haven't enough intelligence at 26 to know your own mind and decide your own problems, you never will have, so now is the time for you to make a strike for freedom and cut your mother's apron string.

Of course, as long as you live you will want to listen respectfully to your mother's opinions and avond needlessly hurting her by refusing to take her advice. But when you are woman-grown and have to stand on your own fet and settle your own affairs. Your mother can't do that for you. She can't live your life for you or really know what is best for you no matter how much she thinks she does.

In this case she is altogether wrong, and she is interfering in something that is not her business. The question is absolutely between you and the young man, and if you want to continue with your job and he does not object, your mother has no say-so in the matter.

You would certainly be very foolish not to go on and do the thing that your judgment indicates to you is the wisest thing to do. Your mother's objection is based upon nothing better than some outmoded theory that there was some discredit somehow in a girl working after marriage. Nobody is bound by that ancient tradition nowadays when everybody recognizes a woman's right to help herself and her husband in any way she can, and if she can do it better by working in an office instead of a kitchen, why it is just up to her.

Of course, mothers always think they know best. Probably they never did. Certainly they don't know now when all the conditions of life have changed since their youth. —DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl 21 years old. My mother is dead and my father married again. I have always been petted and spoiled and done just as I please, so I can't get along with my stepmother, although she would be good to me if I would let her. She is as good to my father as she can be. I left home and I don't want to go back and I don't want to work and I want my father to provide me with plenty of money. What must I do?—IN TROUBLE.

ANSWER: I should think you are in trouble as long as you live, as long as you act like a silly, spoiled baby instead of a sensible young woman.

You see, you are being perfectly selfish, considering no one but yourself, and no self-centred, selfish person can possibly be happy. Because they never can get all they want. They never can always have the center of the stage and they never can make everybody kowtow to them.

According to your own story you have left home without reason. Your stepmother is good and kind to you and would be a real mother to you if you would permit it, and I think your father has done exactly right and the only thing that will bring you to your senses by refusing to support you while your nurse your grudge against him for marrying again.

The thin for you to do is either to go back home and apologize to your father and your stepmother and make yourself pleasant and agreeable to live with or else get a job. Of the two courses that would be the better one because it would give you something to think about besides yourself and make you of some use in the world. A healthy, intelligent girl of 21 should be ashamed to be a parasite and expect somebody else to provide for her. There is no more reason for her being a loafer than there is for a man of the same age.—DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX: A friend of mine is going away to spend a week-end with a man who is in love with her. She claims that everything will be quite proper and tells me that I am prissy and old-fashioned to object to it and that everyone is doing it. What do you think?—VIRGINIA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Undoubtedly, many young people go away with men for weekends, but when they do they leave their reputations behind them. Possiby their conduct is proper and platonic, but a hardboiled world looks on it with a cynical eye and believes the worst.

Week-ending with men friends is one of the things that simply is not done by young women who have any regard for their good names.—DOROTHY DIX.

Stem-slim for Fall

Tricky Cut Makes These Autumn Styles

Important view for autumn (above) is the tucked midriff featured in this dress of sheer wool yarn dye. The same slim line is followed (left) in a red wool coat-dress which is buttoned and belted in black.

FAST-MOVING BERRIES

REGINA, (CP)—Strawberries from British Columbia got to Regina in a hurry last month. One shipment of 2½ tons was lashed to seats in a special Trans-Canada flight at Vancouver and were in stores here less than 24 hours after they were picked.

Stem-Slim Coat Dress Molds Figure

By Epsie Kinard

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The stem-slim wool dress that molds a figure and bares 13 inches of leg had an up-and-coming rival in fall collections. It's the stem-slim coat-dress that does just as much for a gal.

Both dresses and coat-dresses make much of tricky cut or subtle detail that reflect sophisticated designing.

There's he tucked midriff, to cite one of the unusual designing tricks used, which corsets a girl's middle in a girdle of pleats. The dress glamorized by such a "girdle"— a wide horizontal band of tucks fitted to the figure, and cross-tabbed to button a one side —is a Ben Reig design made of sheer gray yarn dyed wool.

A slim coat-dress of red wool, which invites comment, owes its easy silhouette to a deep inverted back pleat and to peg-top fulness at the waistline. This Hannah Trop design owes its smart appeal to a Byronic black taffeta bow that swings to the side of a tailored collar, also styled like a paet's and to a black leather belt and black buttons that are lined up from neck to hemline.

ST. PAUL'S, BLACKFRIARS BRIDGE, and the River Thames in the background, and two men haymaking in the foreground. This was the scene on the Thames in the heart of London last week. Actually the two workmen, Percy Eyers (left) and Jim Sibley, were handling a cargo of Esparto grass sent from North Africa for use in paper making, but to the holidaymakers in the pleasure launch, it was just the sort of rural scene to make them wish they were miles away in the country.

Shirts Go Higher But Prices Lower Outlook for Fall

NEW YORK, July 13—(AP)—Prices will be lower and skirts higher next Fall.

That was the main impression gathered Monday by more than 100 fashion editors gathered for the opening of the New York Dress Institute's 13th semi-annual press week, at which leading designers preview the next season's styles.

Stricty cosmopolitan was the opening show of the week, a "round-the-world" collection designed by Tina Leser, whose prankish and often revealing sportswear makes fashion headlines each season. Recently returned from a global honeymoon trip, the far-sighted Tina picked up a few style ideas in each country she visited.

Her wrap-around "kimono coat" in vivid red fleece was, of course, inspired by Japan. Her copper embroidered evening skirts by India, her braid-trimmed tunic suits by France. And, of course, she added a liberal sprinkling of Japanese pyjamas and exotic cocktail dresses which Tina tagged "Near East".

Show Velvet Blouses

Christian Dior, the Frenchman accused as "father of the new look", intrigued the visiting editors with a handsome, swish and strictly French-looking group of styles, most predominant silhouette of which was the bloused-back suit. Most of his skirts are slim, sometimes slit and sometimes equipped with floating panels to add motion and fullness to the sheath beneath.

Though he names his creations with such American titles as "Washington Square" and "Chevy Chase", the collection has a highly Parisian flavor. He shows velvet blouses with tweed suits, likes bulky, belted jackets on casual rough wool suits, buttons back his coat lapels, and uses buttons with a lavish hand on practically everything.

Many untrimmed wool dressmaker suits are accompanied by small fur Ascots and matching muffs about the size and shape of a sofa pillow.

Add Mink Tie For Swank To Fall Outfit

NEW YARK, July 13—(AP)—If you can't afford a mink coat, get a mink tie.

That's the advice of Monte-Sano, who shows narrow mink, Persian Lamb and Ocelot ties beneath the collars of many of his fall suits and coats. The long, narrow strips of fur are knotted casually or tied in a bow knot to add swank to untrimmed coats, and may also be used as separate neckpieces with other costumes.

Huge, sweeping, circular cape coats are important in his final starting lineup, as is the basque silhouette, the abundant greatcoat and the side-sweep wraparound.

Nettie Rosenstein, acknowledged sponsor of the "Little Black Dress", adds spaghetti fringe and capelets this season to give them new importance, and introduces a modern "mauve decade" with soft, muted tones in other dresses, suits and coats. There is a victorian flavor to her colors, such as a dull reseda green, misty blue, mauve and deep, dark red.

She adds floating panels to pencil-slim sheath gowns of satin or brocade for after-five wear, employs the same panel idea or straight coats to add movement and an illusion of fullness.

As usual, this designer manages an air of smooth sophistication with just a hint of daring in her evening gowns, a highlight in this group being a pink satin confection with a hue bouffant skirt smocked at the top to produce an effect of shirring.

Capri introduces an "American rennaissance" theme for fall, highlighting the Empress Josephine Silhouette, the Papillon (Butterfly) neckline, Parabola pockets and the "American Sculptured" look. The Josephine silhouette is a simple, round-necked, short-sleeved style, usually shown in beaded crepe afternoon dresses, with tied cord belts. The Papillon neckline consists of flaring lapels, while the Parabold pockets are pouch style. The sculptured silhouette is just as it sounds—a slim, sheath line.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are invited to a large reception and your husband cannot attend though you would like to.

WRONG WAY: Feel that you must decline for you both, since your husband cannot attend.

RIGHT WAY: Decline for your husband and accept for yourself, or if no answer is expected simply go alone or with some other woman who also received an invitation.

The use of combs is very ancient and specimens have been found in early Egyptian, Greek and Roman tombs.

LUCANO—In loving memory of Mrs. Lucy Lucano, who passed away July 13, 1939.

She toiled too hard for those she loved
Then left them to remember.

Less Clumsy System Asked For CBC Ads

OTTAWA, July 13.—(CP). — T. Arthur Evans, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said in a statement Tuesday the C.A.B. wanted to have food and drug advertising checked before broadcast "but not by so many government hands that the need for the advertising dies before it is allowed to be broadcast."

Food and drug advertising now must be approved by both the CBC and the Federal Health Department, Mr. Evans said and "this cumbersome and unnecessary procedure has worked a hardship for listeners, broadcasters and advertisers for a long time."

The C.A.B.'s request is to be considered by the CBC board of governors at a meeting in Montreal July 28.

Council To Study New City Hall Plans

First major step towards Peterborough's new city hall is expected to be made next Wednesday when the city council will go to Toronto to confer with architects about what facilities the city hall should contain.

About 10 preliminary conferences with the architects have been held by a special city hall committee and it is thought final decisions can now be made. Once it has been decided the amount of office space and other internal requirements needed, architects can go ahead with planning the structure.

Joseph Huard, 189 Lake St., who was arrested by Constables Harold Mesley and W. S. Fife Tuesday evening on George St. and charged with vagrancy, is suspected by city police of being responsible for a break-in Monday night at Thompson Bros. service station.

Five flash lights were missed from the service station Tuesday and five which are said to be identical to the missing lights were found by police in Huard's bedroom.

Today James Fleming, J.P., remanded Huard until Thursday on the charge of vagrancy.

Buried By Sugar

RAYMOND, Alta., July 13—(CP)—John Kaesh, about 50, suffocated to death today when a pile of bulk sugar he was shovelling in a large bin at a sugar factory cascaded down on him. An employee had warned him that the sugar was in danger of sliding down on him but he continued shovelling.

Britain Sends Note

LONDON, July 13 (Reuters)—Britain has sent another note to the Chinese Nationalist government about its closure of Communist occupied ports in China, a foreign office spokesman said today. Well-informed quarters said Britain is sticking to her declaration that the closure is illegal.

India Not Enthusiastic About Prohibition Drive

By STEVEN B. DAVID.

NEW DELHI, July 17 (AP)—Prohibition is creeping over India along with bootlegging, home brew and speakeasies. Any decline in drinking has been limited to good liquor.

One trouble is that there is a potential binge in every palm tree, and India has a lot of palm trees. Furthermore, Indians know how to do intoxicating things with rice.

The situation is not orderly. Bootleggers and police stage dramatic battles. Illegal factories turn out ill-advised beverages.

Princes committed to prohibition have seen liquor-tax revenues dry up faster than their citizens. To top that, more money has had to be spent for special prohibition guards and expanded police departments. The result has been new taxes on everyday necessities.

Complete prohibition is still some years away, but as long as the Congress party remains in power the movement will spread. To spur it on, the party has the preachings of Mahatma Gandhi, who believed the lot of the improvised millions would improve if no money were spent on drink. The Brahmins, teachers of the Hindu religion, are not supposed to touch anything alcoholic.

Completely Dry

Madras the only province so far completely dry, figures it will lose 164,000,000 rupees annually in liquor taxes. (A rupee is worth 30 cents).

Other provinces are taking things easy. West Bengal, in which Calcutta is located, is abolishing drinking houses for the poor, cutting tavern hours, boosting liquor taxes and enforcing a weekly "dry day."

Foreigners are not exempt from prohibition measures and hotelmen complain that night business has been ruined and tourist agencies are unhappy.

Will prohibition succeed? To do so, it must have the support of the great majority and experience so far indicates this is lacking. The prohibition minister of Madras acknowledged in the Assembly that enforcement was handicapped by public apathy.

Canada Backs Mineral Search

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

OXFORD, England, July 13 — (CP)—Well-financed and capably staffed companies are supporting search for new mineral deposits in Canada, Dr. G. C. Monture of Ottawa told the fourth Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress today.

Dr. Monture, of the Mineral Resources Division, Bureau of Mines in Ottawa, was one of 13 speakers at today's opening session attended by nearly 600 delegates from 28 countries.

He said that Canada's output and reserves of major minerals and metals has advanced considerably during the last 10 years and "only in a few cases has this position remained static."

Under the stimulus of the war needs several new metals have been added to Canada's list of minerals and metals. He mentioned mercury from Pinchi Lake Mine in British Columbia, a deposit of tungsten ore developed at the Emerald Mine in the Salmo district of Southern British Columbia and fluorspar from the Madoc area in Ontario which increased from 150 tons in 1937 to a maximum of 11,210 tons in 1943.

Dr. Monture said that the Dominion is producing tellurium and selenium as a by-product of the copper-refining industry while from the lead-zinc refining industry at Trail, B. C., cadmium and bismuth are being produced along with small tonnages of tin.

See Prices Bounce In Busiest Session

TORONTO, July 13.—(CP).—Prices bounced up and down in the busiest session since last Friday here today. Base metals opened quietly and then climed steadily while golds tended softer. Selected industrials climbed fractions.

Consolidated Smelters featured a brisk base metal list, gaining 2½ at 95. Montreal, New Calumet, Sherritt and Quemont were also strong. Reports of increasing demand for non-ferrous metals and slightly higher prices in copper and lead have bolstered the base metal stock market.

Waite Amulet held the spotlight in mid-session when a reduced dividend was announced. At one time up 20 cents at $9.25, Waite slid to $8.90 and then rebounded to $9.10.

Refining oils, liquors and utilities brightened in the industrial list. McIntyre sold at a new high in senior golds while other senior and junior producers were under pressure of realizing sales following Tuesday's advance.

Ohio Woman Battles 20-Lb. Lunge 40 Min.

Trolling by the hydro wires just above the bridges at Trent River Tuesday night Mrs. Charles Skelley of Canton, Ohio, hooked a muskie weighing slightly over 20 pounds with a Deep Roller. For 40 minutes Mrs. Skelley, her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strasser of North Canton battled the fish for nearly two miles up the river. Finally the fish was brought into the boat by Mr. Strasser.

This is the second trip to Trent River for the Strasser family who have bought the cottage formerly owned by Mrs. Will Wright. They had poor pickerel fishing when here.

Mrs. Skelley is the fourth woman to catch a muskie tipping the scales over 15 pounds this year. Only two men so far have been reported as accomplishing this feat.

The two families are returning to Canton this Saturday, having come up here July 1. The Strassers are planning on returning to the cottage for some fishing in August and September.

Mr. Strasser was fourth in the Examiner Fish Contest last year, entering a 16½-pounder.

Bancroft Youth Pass Swim Tests

Twelve boys and girls passed Red Cross swimming tests at the Bancroft swimming pool Tuesday morning. Two were Junior swimmers, seven Intermediates and three Seniors. For the past two weeks classes have been conducted in the natural swimming pool in the York River by Frank Wright, Swimming Director. Gordon Minty, Honorary Swimming instructor at the Peterborough YMCA was the Red Cross examiner.

Mr. Wright is from Peterborough, having accepted the position for the summer which was left vacant by Edwin Nicholls. He is an assistant instructor in the Junior Swimming Club at the YMCA under Gordon Minty. Last year Mr. Wright was Waterfront Director at the Y's Men's Club's Boys' Camp on Clear Lake.

Raspberry Jam is Wonderful made the Easy "Sure-Results" Way... with CERTO

1. You'll be amazed how QUICK it is . . . how EASY. First you crush 2 quarts fully ripe berries (Yes! RIPE fruit — not under-ripe as in old-fashioned recipes). Measure 4 cups prepared fruit and 6½ cups sugar into large saucepan or kettle. Mix well, bring to full rolling boil over high heat. Stir constantly before and while boiling.

2. Boil hard one minute only. (The boil is so short it cannot dull the natural colour or spoil the lovely fresh-fruit taste. They stay right in your jam.) Remove from heat and stir in half-bottle of Certo. Stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Then ladle into glasses and paraffin quickly.

Certo is nothing but fruit pectin — the natural substance in fruit which makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell"—extracted and concentrated for easier, quicker, better jam and jelly making. The name "Certo" is a trade-mark.

A Product of General Foods

E-59

Look for book of 78 tested Recipes under the Label

A POUND OF JAM OR JELLY MADE WITH CERTO CONTAINS NO MORE SUGAR THAN A POUND MADE THE OLD, LONG-BOIL WAY.

3. You get 10 glasses instead of 6. Because you don't have to "boil down" your jam to make it set, practically no juice can waste away in steam. So you get about 10 glasses instead of the 6 you'd expect from long-boil recipes (Certo helps ALL fruits to jell perfectly with an average yield of 50% more jam or jelly).

4. No guesswork — sure results. With Certo Fruit Pectin you get 78 kitchen-tested recipes — a different one for each fruit. While the season lasts why not make several kinds of jam and jelly for those long winter months? But be sure to follow the Certo recipes exactly . . . don't change a thing . . . and your jams and jellies will always turn out right.

Church Parade Havelock LOL's

HAVELOCK, July 13 (ENS)—The annual church parade of Havelock LOL No. 326, Lady McGill LOBA No. 471 and the Juvenile Lodge was held to the United Church Sunday evening, led by the Havelock Pipe Band under the leadership of Piper Harry Anderson. The lodges were augmented by visitors from Campbellford, Norwood, Blairton, Hastings and South Dummer, making the largest turnout of recent years, chairs having to be placed in the aisles.

Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh delivered a challenging sermon on the text "God Save the King."

Its first utterance, Mr. Vanderburgh said, was the recognition that a state must have a religious foundation.

Church Lags

Knowledge has increased more in the last 50 years, he said, than during the previous 3,000 years and had the church made similar advancement along the lines of its religious inheritance it might be easier to keep peace among the nations today. When you pray "God Save the King," think of your earthly king as a symbol of the Heavenly King and that you are praying for yourselves and the nation, that God in His wisdom will use the British Commonwealth of Nations to link together all the peoples of the world, he said.

Special music rendered by the choir included a solo, "The Holy City," by R. Dooley.

Prior to the march to the church the pipe band gathered in front of the home of Howard Buck, a shut-in, and played several selections for his enjoyment.

JUDGE RECOMMENDS KEAYS' DISMISSAL

SCENE OF DOUBLE DROWNING at Cobourg on Wednesday when Shirley Generaux, 6, (insert) and Lou-Ann Tyron, 7, were swept to their deaths by a strong undertow. Two Children Drowned At Cobourg

High Waves Spoil Rescue Attempts, Undertow Traps Girls

COBOURG, July 14 (ENS) — Cobourg had a double drowning Wednesday when two little girls waded into the rough water of Lake Ontario on the west beach and were carried by the undertow to their deaths. The children lost their lives in the afternoon and at 8:30 the first body, that of seven-year-old Lou-Anne Tryon, was found. At 11:30, the body of six-year-old Shirley Generaux was recovered.

Lou-Anne is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Tryon of Cobourg. Shirley is a ward of the Children's Aid Society of Port Hope and she was born in Brighton Township. For the past two and a half years she has been living with Mr. and Mrs. John Delanty in Cobourg.

The children ventured into the rough water near the west pier where the undertow is always bad. They were swept off their feet in water a little above their waists. Shirley Platt, on shore, was in shallow water when she noticed the two children lose their footing and go down. Unable to swim very much, she couldn't go to their rescue.

The undertow carried them out farther in the lake where they were spotted by Ruth Allender of Port Hope and Rod Culberton of Toronto. Culberton made a grab for one of them, held on for a while but had to let go because of the waves. Ruth Allender had a struggling girl to contend with, and not a strong swimmer herself she had to let go or drown also.

The police and fire departments were called and came with inhalator and grappling hooks. Three youths, Bill Marsh, Bev Rollings and Stuart Lingard dived and swam about trying to locate the girls but without success.

Police Boat Upsets

The water was so rough that twice the rowboat from which the police were dragging for the bodies upset. Constables E. Butler and H. Pearse were dumped into the water when the waves turned the rowboat over.

Throughout the afternoon the search went on. Mel Tryon, father of one of the drowning victims, was called from his employment at the CGE and before long there were about 40 men from the plant joining in the search.

When search resumed in the evening, Harold Sandercock and Gene Hurtibise of the CGE went to the car ferry, Ontario No. 1 and asked for a lifeboat. They took it over to the scene of the drowning. Harry Gadd, CGE plant superintendent here, Des Hunter and Charlie Hicks, the union leader, were in one of the rowboats dragging for some time. Later, Harry Gadd, Hunter, Harold Richmond and Eric McQuaig swam out to where the search was centred and joined in the hunt.

Meanwhile, Jim Campbell, age 19, was prodding the lake bottom with a pike pole. Along the west

Charge Yugoslavia Violating Trieste Treaty Britain, U.S. Send Strong Protest Notes

WASHINGTON, July 14 — (AP)—Britain and the United States today charged Yugoslavia with violating the Italian peace treaty by introducing Yugoslav currency into its zone of Trieste.

The state department made public a note which State Secretary Dean Acheson sent to the Yuogslav charge d'affaires, Milenko Filipovic.

This note said the Yugoslav military administration "has violated the treaty and has followed a policy clearly calculated to tie the Yugoslav zone ever more closely to Yugoslavia."

Press officer Michael McDermott, in making the note public, said he understood the British government has taken similar action.

The British-American action apparently was taken to allay Italian fears that the currency move by Yugoslavia was intended to pave the way for outright annexation of the Yugoslav zone of Trieste.

Britain, the United States and France have said that all Trieste should be handed back to Italy.

No Evidence To Support His 60 Charges, Reorganize Belleville OPP

Report Also Suggests Immediate Retirement Of Inspector, Sergeant; Other Officers of Force Found Blameless

TORONTO, July 14—(CP)—Dismissal of Provincial Police Constable J. E. Keays of Belleville, who made wholesale charges of misconduct and maladministration of justice against other police officers and crown officials, was recommended today in the report of a Royal Commissioner who investigated the charges. Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay, the Royal Commissioner, found no evidence to support the Keays' allegations, but he recommended complete re-organization of the Belleville District of the Ontario Provincial Police.

As part of this re-organization, he recommended the retirement of District Inspector W. A. Page and Sgt. E. F. Hartleib.

His report was released today by Premier Frost after study by the Ontario cabinet.

Carried Out

Mr. Frost said these recommendations have been carried out. Both Inspector Page and Sgt. Hartleib now are on full pension. Monies that Keays has paid into the pension found will be returned to him, plus interest.

A member of the force for 12 years, Keays made a total of 60 charges. In addition to the officers mentioned, he also levelled them at Commissioner W. H. Stringer, Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, Inspector T. W. Cousans, Sgt. J. Allan Stringer, Cpl. Sam Ervine, Constable J. B. Driscoll and Constable G. R. Purdy.

Mr. Justice Mackay said he found that Commissioner Stringer had supported and defended Keays, whom Stringer regarded as an officer of exceptional promise.

"He (Stringer) showed kindness and consideration until it was eventually destroyed by the conduct of Keays," the Justice added.

Gives Decision

Crown Attorney Donnan has been accused of general fraud in respect to the activities of E. M. Carefoot, of Belleville, said to have an alleged cancer cure, of interfering with Keays' work as a police officer and of being a confirmed drunkard.

Mr. Justice Mackay found that the Crown Attorney was instrumental in sending some persons, including members of his own family, to Carefoot for treatment knowing that the latter had no license to practice. However, he said, there was no evidence brought out that Carefoot had practised.

"I am of the opinion that Donnan was impotent and unfortunate but under the circumstances not seriously open to censure," he added.

If a fraud had been perpetrated or attempted on the public, his Lordship continued, there was nothing to link Donnan with the act. Keay's charge that he had been interfered with had no foundation in fact and in fact was wholly unsupported.

"There is conflict of evidence in respect to the allegation of drunkenness. However, I accepted the evidence of a responsible Judge that if Donnan had been drinking he would have ordered him out of court."

Excommunicate Red Catholics Pope Orders

VATICAN CITY, July 14 (AP) Pope Pius has ordered major excommunication of all militant Communists who also are Roman Catholics. The sweeping decree would deny them the sacraments and comforts of the church.

The momentous order applies to all members of the Roman Catholic faith "who make profession of the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the Communists."

The decree marks the fourth time the Pope has used excommunication to fight back at the Communists in recent years.

Previous decrees had been directed at those who tried and sentenced Archbishop Alojije Stepinac in Yugoslavia in 1946, at those responsible for the imprisonment of Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, and at the founders and willing members of a separatist, government-controlled Roman Catholic action society in Czechoslovakia.

Vatican informants said the excommunication decree might be applied in the following manner:

1. Roman Catholics who militantly and persistently follow Communist doctrines would be automatically excommunicated.

2. Roman Catholics who have adopted Communist theories in principle rather than practice might be allowed a period of grace to return wholeheartedly to the faith.

3. Roman Catholics who read Communist writings or otherwise expose themselves to Communist doctrine would be denied sacraments of the church but not be automatically excommunicated.

The seven secraments under Roman Catholic doctrine are baptism, confirmation, holy communion, penance, extreme unction, ordination and matrimony.

The excommunication order appeared to have no precedent in the 1900-year history of the Roman Catholic Church. It could affect millions of persons.

ERA Increases Purchases Here

OTTAWA, July 14 (CP)—The United States has put up the money for Marshall Plan countries to buy $762,619,776 worth of goods in Canada.

This figure, announced today, represents the money authorized for purchases in Canada at the beginning of July under the Economic Co-operation Administration.

It's $19,852,000 more than the total at the end of May when the amount set aside to be used to buy Canadian goods was $742,767,776.

The United Kingdom continues to get the green light for purchasing the biggest chunk of commodities in Canada. At July 1 total authorization had cleared the way for the U.K. to buy a host of commodities to the value of $629,441,129—an increase of $15,222,000 from May 31 when the figure was $614,219,129.

Cut British Buying 25% In World Dollar Areas

LONDON, July 14—(AP)—Britain today sliced 25 per cent off her buying from the world's dollar areas for this year. Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the House of Commons Britain's imports from the United States and other dollar areas would be limited to $1,200,000,000. In 1948 Britain spent $1,600,000,000 on imports.

Sir Stafford announced a cut in purchases of United States tobacco. He also said the sugar ration would be lowered from 10 to eight ounces weekly and the recently derationed candy would go back on ration Aug. 14. The weekly candy ration will be four ounces per person.

The chancellor knocked off $80,000,000 of the $440,000,000 originally set aside for the purchase of tobacco.

He said this would mean a reduction of about five per cent to British users. Cigarets already are scarce here and lines in front of tobacco stores are a common sight.

Sir Stafford said the minister of food would announce some increases in other foods—butter, meat and bacon—which were governed by supplies coming from non-dollar sources.

Britain would have to cut off part of her imports of steel, he said. He had not at this stage decided on any additional restrictions of gasoline consumption.

Would-Be Thug Tracked Down

SUDBURY, July 14 (CP)—Police said toda ytheyhave arrested Wilfred Lebrun, 29, of Ottawa in connection with the attempted armed robbery last week of the provincial Bank of Canada branch at Papineauville, Que.

Sudbury police arrested Lebrun, the last of three men wanted in connection with the holdup, in an Elm Street hotel Wednesday less than five hours after being advised by Montreal police that he was believed to be heading for this city.

He was taken into custody as he sat in the hotel beverage room and offered no resistance.

Police said Lebrun at first denied being the man sought, but later was identified through papers in his possession.

Three men failed last week when they attempted to force the manager of the Papineauville branch of the Benque Provinciale du Canada to open the safe. They fled after striking the bank manager's wife in the mouth.

Finance Experts Discuss Oil

LONDON, July 14 (Reuters)—Finance Minister Walter Nash of New Zealand today said Commonwealth leaders discussed plans to make the Commonwealth self-sufficient in oil supplies.

When the conference adjourned for lunch after a two-hour session, Nash said the representatives had continued to make good progress in general discussions on long-term measures to close the dollar gap.

Advisers and technical experts rounding out the Commonwealth delegations met this afternoon to hash out basic material for both short and long-term remedies to the dollar problem.

Wingless Chicks Soon To Be In Big Money

DES MOINES, July 14 (AP) — Peter Baumann's wingless chickens soon may be moving into the high-income brackets.

Baumann disclosed today that Tom G. Dyer, sales manager of a Spencer, Ia., feed firm, is handling the sale of exclusive rights to the streamlined birds.

Through selective mating he has developed a flock in which he says 95 out of 100 eggs hatch into wingless chicks.

Although Baumann declined to discuss the figure he has in mind, Dyer said he was negotiating with several large feed dealers for between $75,000 and $100,000 for rights to the birds.

70 Pirates Loot Canton River Steamer

HONG KONG, July 14 (AP) —Six armed men seized control of the British-registered vessel Kwei Wah, a river steamer, and looted its arsenal and most of its cargo, the ship reported today.

The pirates forced the steamer to go to an isolated spot where 70 more pirates helped them with their loot.

The steamer's captain and eight passengers were held as hostages. The ship returned to Canton.

Snatches Baby Off Tracks Too Late, Pair May Die

MONTREAL, July 14 (CP)—A 10-year-old girl and the younger brother she snatched from the tracks in front of a speeding suburban train are not expected to live, hospital authorities said today.

The girl, Barbara Barry, was berry - picking Wednesday at near-by Mackaville along the tracks of the Montreal and Southern Counties Railway, an electric shuttle service between here and Granby, when she noticed her two-year-old brother John sitting on the tracks.

She ran to the spot and picked up the tot but the locomotive struck them both hurling them 15 feet.

The train crew did not see the accident and the train continued its journey.

Dr. M. Katz of Waterloo, Que., driving on the highway which parallels the tracks, found the children sometime later crumpled unconscious in a ditch.

He brought them to hospital here where their condition was listed as critical and little hope held for their recovery.

Surgeons said both suffered skull fractures, internal injuries and shock.

Cut World Population Or Face Disaster

ROCK ISLAND, Que., July 14 (CP)—Dr. Oliver E. Baker, United States Agricultural Economist and Professor of Geography at the University of Maryland, said in a public lecture here Wednesday night that if the world population continues to increase at the present rate, mankind is headed for a levelling-off through undernourishment and disease and probably war.

Dr. Baker said that population control must be brought about by "either birth control or self control or else control by exterior evil forces of under-nourishment and disease, perhaps pestilence and promiscuity, probably associated with war."

"It is preferable to resort where necessary to the age-old institutions of the church—continence, late marriage, celibacy. Birth control practice diminishes the sense of human dignity and promotes the spirit of irresponsibility."

Tighter Import Controls To Counteract Shortage of US Dollars

OTTAWA, July 14—(CP)—To meet Canada's persistent shortage of United States dollars, the government plans to tighten up the controls on imports from the U.S. that is imposed in 1947. Trade Minister Howe, acting head of the government while Prime Minister St. Laurent vacations in New Brunswick, indicated this at a press conference Wednesday.

He said the debit balance of trade with the U.S.—$250,000,000 for the first five months of this year compared with $184,000,000 for the same period last year—was the only "disturbing" aspect of Canadian trade.

Steel imports probably would be regulated. Oil might come under import controls when Canadian supplies increased. Existing controls would be tightened.

Mr. Howe also,

1. Said the Canadian Wheat Board is working on plans for taking over the marketing of oats and barley and an announcement may be made next week.

No More Concessions

2. Said Canada was not planning any more tariff concessions to help the United Kingdom sell more British goods here.

3. Estimated that Canadian trade this year will equal last year's figure and said the Dominion was "selling everything we produce" although "we are having some trouble with our manufactured goods."

Canada would export goods worth $3,000,000,000 this year and import goods worth $2,800,000,000 he said.

The import restrictions first were imposed in November, 1947, when Canada's reserves of gold and dollars had dwindled to less than $500,000,000. They began to be lifted last summer as dollar reserves increased. Many manufactured goods and raw materials still are under complete control, others can be imported on a quota basis.

Where import controls have been removed, as in the case of steel, parliament will have to authorize new controls, Mr. Howe said. On items imported by permit, the government has only to turn down requests for permits.

Attlee Pledges Fight To Finish Against Strike

LONDON, July 14 (CP)—The government, with almost unanimous approval from parliament for its broad emergency powers, sent a doubled force of servicemen to work today on the strike-bound London docks.

A force of 4,500 soldiers and sailors, as against 2,300 Wednesday, moved into the port area to unload food ships tied up by the 18-day stoppage. Another 2,700 men were ordered by the Royal Air Force to stand by for duty Friday.

The dock labor board said 14,204 men were idle today, 3,464 more than when the emergency was proclaimed by the King at the request of the cabinet last Monday.

House Agrees

The House of Commons Wednesday night approved the emergency powers assumed by the government, which has seized control of the dock area along the Thames River under regulations which virtually mean martial law. Commons approved the regulations by a vote of 412 to 4. One Communist and three members expelled from the Labor party cast the only dissenting votes.

The emergency proclamation, first since the general strike of 1926, is valid for a week. Parliament can extend it to a month.

Prime Minister Attlee told Commons the government would not tolerate dictation by "Communists and fellow travellers." He called for a finish fight with the strike leaders.

The executive committees of the Stevedore's and Tugmen's Unions, whose members are idle, waited for a report today from union leaders who looked into the basic dispute Wednesday.

There were indications they might ask the men to go back to work but the workers have ignored similar pleas before from both union and government officials. The strikers have remained defiant in the face of government charges their walkout is Communist-inspired.

B.C. Forests So Dry Logging Suspended

VICTORIA, B. C., July 14 (CP) —Logging operation on Vancouver Island reached a standstill Wednesday as forest conditions forced nearly all companies to cease operations.

The "hazard stick" used to measure moisture content of the forest floor read a low six at numerous points—which means a tinder-dry "almost explosive condition."

Logging companies are taking no chance on a recurrence of another uncontrolled blaze similar to the one that swept the Cowichan Lake area earlier this week. The blaze, now under control, is still burning and more than 80 men are carrying out "mopping up" tactics.

Take Over Coal Mines

SYDNEY, Australia, July 14—(CP)—Australian army troops late tonight moved into the strike-bound coal fields of New South Wales to work open-cut mines. The order were issued to regular army units following a secret conference this week between leaders of the federal and state governments.

Army Taking Inventory Of Skilled Technicians

OTTAWA, July 14 (CP)—The army is starting an extensive inventory of the technicians and specialists it could call upon immediately if war came.

"In the event of a national emergency," a statement said, "the supplementary reserve is expected to provide the basic administrative and directing personnel of units not included in the existing reserve force, but required to complete mobilization.

"It's trained officers and men will also fill in gaps in reserve force and provide technical experts for specialized work.

"The defect in the supplementary reserve today is that it is not large enough. The army realizes that there are in Canada many thousands of ex-army men, both officers and other ranks, and countless civilian technicins who are not now able to join the reserve force for various reasons, but whose services would be invaluable if war broke out.

"It is these men the army wants to interest in the supplementary reserve where their trades and specialities, and partclularly their home addresses, would be listed and instantly available."

Age limit is 60 years and personnel are not obligated to undergo annual training, but may do so with reserve force units or take special technical training if it is military status equal to that enjoyed by equivalent ranks provided. They do, however, have throughout the army, and they may wear uniform and receive rates of pay while undergoing training as applicable to the reserve force.

Russian Guards Clear Convoy Of 60 U.S. Trucks

HELMSTEDT, Germany, July 14.—(AP). — Russian guards cleared a 60-truck American convoy through the Soviet-zone checkpoint here in less than a minute today, lowering another bar in their "little blockade."

Wednesday night the Russian guards suddenly relaxed their slowdown and gave the green light to German trucks bound for Berlin, permitting the vehicles to pass the checkpoint at a normal rate for the first time since Saturday.

The barriers were reported still up, however, at nine other Soviet-zone entry points.

Dropping their harassment of Berlin-bound German cargoes as mysteriously as they began it Saturday night, the Russians were clearing trucks through Helmstedt at the rate of 40 an hour today.

There was a backlog of only 60 German trucks awaiting entry when the American convoy passed through. Five hundred had been stalled Wednesday.

The sudden Soviet decision to relax restrictions was not explained.

The American convoy was the first large trucking operation by the western powers since the official blockade lifting May 12.

United States officers said it was only a training exercise to be repeated once a week.

Today it had two obvious purposes: To test the "little blockade" and to provide some relief to the airlift.

Bomb Hurled At Pandit Nehru

CALCUTTA, July 14 (CP)— One policeman was killed and five persons were wounded today when a bomb was thrown at a meeting being addressed by Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru.

Nehru, addressing a crowd estimated at 1,000,000 on the need to "face the Communist trouble squarely," was not injured.

Bystanders seized a man suspected of having thrown the bomb and turned him over to police.

Three other bomb explosions occurred in the city earlier tonight but there were no casualties.

Nehru visited here investigating political unrest and violence.

Shouts of "go back Nehru" mingled with cheers of the crowd which met him on his arrival

Remanded Week In Manslaughter Case

NEWMARKET, July 14 (CP)— Adam Blandy of Kettleby today was remanded one week on a charge of manslaughter following the truck-auto crash near Schomberg Saturday which claimed the lives of five members of a Hamilton family.

Blandy, who could not be located Wednesday by Provincial Police, was attending the funeral of those killed in the crash.

When he returned home and read in a newspaper that he was sought he phoned police and made arrangements to meet them today. Bail was set at $1,000.

Large Asbestos Deposits Developed Near Timmins

TORONTO, July 14—(CP)—The way is clear for an immediate start on development of Northern Ontario asbestos deposits. It is expected that production near Matheson, about 40 miles south of Timmins, will start by next May 1 Mines Minister Gemmell announced Wednesday night that negotiations between the Canadian Johns-Manville Company and the Ontario Mines Department have been completed, enabling the company to go ahead at once with the development. He made the announcement after conferring with G. K. Foster, company vice-president, and E. J. Shauffner, consulting engineer.

The company has set aside $3,000,000 for the initial work, Mr. Gemmell said. Construction is to start soon on a townsite near Matheson to provide houses to accommodate the families of 200 workers. A warehouse will be built at Matheson.

The Ontario highways department will build roads between the townsite and the mine. Buses are to transport workers to and from the job.

Move In Equipment

Heavy equipment is expected to start moving into the area next week. It will include the 25-ton trucks to be used to haul the ore from the open pit.

A mill with a capacity of 100 tons of ore a day will be built in Munro township, where a proven ore body has been found. Options have been taken on property in two adjoining townships and exploratory drilling is under way.

So far, no estimate is available as to the quantity of asbestos in the Matheson area deposits. Mining men say the Munro township deposits will yield about twice the ore value of that produced at Asbestos, Que., where Johns-Manville also has a plant.

Only a few key workers will be brought from the company's other plants. Most of the men needed will be hired in the district.

Rescue Cattle In Island Fire

CAMPBELLFORD, July 14 — (ENS)—About 150 men battled a stubborn grass fire on Ross' 500-acre island at Myersburg, four miles south of here, for five hours Wednesday afternoon before it was brought under control.

The fire ran over about three-quarters of the island and a large quantity of standing cedar was destroyed.

Farmers led hundreds of head of grazing cattle to safety while others successfully prevented the fire from reaching heavy timberland on the island. Police said an all-night guard was kept at the scene.

Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined but owner William Ross said he believed it was caused by the cigaret butt of a careless fisherman.

"May I drop dead if that charge is true."

A few minutes later he fell dead in the court room.

Doctors said he died of a stroke.

TORONTO, July 14, (CP)—Officials at the Toronto Sick Children's Hospital said today that the condition of six day old baby Zurrer of Burford, Ont., suffering from a "RH Positive" blood condition, is "a little better."

The child was given a transfusion Wednesday night but hospital officials did not say whether further treatment will be necessary. The ailment is usually treated by draining the toxic "RH Positive" blood and replacing it with normal blood.

The baby, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric P. J. Zurrer of Burford was brought here from Brantford Wednesday in a fire department ambulance. Six separate police escorts were used during the trip.

Comic Fantasy Blithe Spirit Comes To Stage

Ghosts invade Queen Mary auditorium Monday night with the opening of Noel Coward's Blithe Spirit, the Peterborough Summer Theatre's fourth production of the season. The invasion promises to be the most hilarious event Peterborough has ever witnessed.

The play probably represents Coward at his witty best. The action is started when a spirit medium, invited to a dinner party to amuse the guests with her fakery, successfully brings from the dead the ghost of the first wife of the host. From there on the action shames a six-man wrestling match.

The film recently made from the play starred Rex Harrison as the Charles the husband of the two wives, one a ghost with many earthly charms and the other very much alive.

Joy Lafleur In Lead

Playing the ghostly Elvira is Joy Lafleur, a handsome and gracious blond actress with plenty of experience on stage, in films, television and on the radio. On one occasion she replaced an ailing Miriam Hopkins in "St. Lazar's Pharmacy."

She appeared with Paul Lukas in the Canadian film Whispering City. She was also in the French version of the same film which was released under the title, La Fortresse.

John Primm must be establishing some record for versatility with his role as Charles in the play. He is the only member of the company to take leading roles in the four successive plays of the season. He was the drunk in Fortune My Foe, the father in George and Margaret and the husband in Angel Street. Each role has demanded completely different handling and his work has been noteworthy in each.

Jeri Sauvinet who was the sparkling Frankie in George and Margaret is appearing in her second role here as Ruth, Charles' second wife.

Brenda Davies will appear as the startlingly successful spirit medium. In Fortune My Foe she was the Communist fellow traveller. Michael Lynd and Christine Thomas will play the doctor and his wife.

Special make-up is being sought in New York to give Miss Lafleur her ghostly appearance without losing any of her charming good looks. A cosmetics firm has prepared a special make-up specifically for companies putting on Blithe Spirit.

Blithe Spirit will be totally different from this week's Angel Street, but from all indications it will be no less enjoyable for the theatre's growing number of fans.

Billion Dollar Plan For Alaska Rail Line

VANCOUVER, July 14 (CP)—Plans for a billion-dollar program to spread a network of railroad lines through northern British Columbia, Alaska and Yukon territory, were disclosed here Wednesday by an executive of the Canada-Alaska Railway Co.

Willis T. Batcheller, chief engineer of the company, outlined the proposal to a meeting of the Alaska, B.C. and Peace River Association.

Finances would come from a private United States syndicate, he said, with the U.S. government paying for a portion of the Alaska rail-laying.

First step in the plan would be to take over the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, owned by the B.C. government and object of a proposed extension program from that quarter. It runs from Squamish, about 30 miles upcoast from here, to Quesnel, in the heart of the Cariboo country.

Hundreds Watch

While hundreds along the pier and more hundreds on shore gazed at the water, the three boats continued their search. Dizz Prentice and Lyle Pearse took out Prentice's underwater light in a boat and lowered it to the bottom of the lake in about 12 feet of water. Eventualy at 11:30 the light revealed a tiny form on the lake bottom and the body of the little Generaux girl was brought up about 70 yards out.

The hunt ended. Weary searchers brought their craft into shore and lugged dragging equipment to their cars. Harold Sandercock and Gene Hurtubise had borrowed the dragging apparatus from Port Hope.

YOU'D NEVER BELIEVE SHE IS 48....

She's one of the peppiest, happiest-spirited women you ever saw. At the time when most women think life is passing them by—she's right in the midst of things—always ready to go places and do things . . . as popular with the men as girls half her age. To look at her you would never believe she was a day over 35.

How does she do it? She gives the credit to Dr. Williams Pink Pills . . . for well she knows how important it is to have plenty of rich, red blood during those years when so many women are "pulled down" in health by bodily changes.

If you feel "always tired", if you look pale and dragged out, if you are suffering from a feeling of nervous exhaustion, are jittery and irritable, you may be paying the price of poor blood make-up. Don't wait—start Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They contain an easily assimilable form of iron—fortified with a generous amount of Vitamin B1—and are wonderfully effective in helping to build the rich, red blood so necessary to vigor and energy. New Methods Beat Smugglers

LONDON, July 14 (CP)—Britain is adopting new, secret methods to beat a growing army of smugglers.

At a special "school" in London, customs men are being taught the latest techniques in detecting organized smuggling gangs which have sprung up since the war. Some gangs operate their own cross-Channel boats, other appear as ordinary travellers on ships and planes.

The methods of closer scrutiny being taught at the school are hush-hush. Those attending are sworn to secrecy under the Official Secrets Act.

Wider knowledge of navigation gained during the war had led more smugglers to take to the sea in attempts to bring cargoes of high-duty goods into the country. Nylon stockings, tobacco and liquor form the bulk of goods handled by organized rings.

Prices Move Narrowly In Spotty Trading

TORONTO, July 14 — (CP) — Prices moved narrowly in spotty trading with a few industrials climbing slightly here today. Golds and base metals tended weaker on realizing sales.

Selected industrials continued Wednesday's firmness, resisting the generally easier tone in the market. Canadian Food Products Pfd., sold off at a new low while steels firmed.

A wide list of base metal stocks showed changes, mostly on the downside. Wednesday's strong demand lifted the group to the highest level in some time and profit-taking cut into most of the gains today. Cosolidated Smelters absorbed sales readily, losing only ½ of Wednesday's 2½-point gain.

Steep Rock was a standout in the generally lower list, attracting considerable attention for a 22-cent advance at $1.62.

Kerr Addison slipped in senior golds and a few juniors showed losses ranging up to five cents.

Strong Condemnation

The charge against Sgt. Stringer that he had lied to newspaper men about the way he had shot John Maki "justly deserves unqualified condemnation," said Mr. Justice MacKay. (Stringer killed Maki in a gun battle after the latter had shot to death Constable Harold Dent. The fight occurred in the Ottawa district some nine years ago.)

"Sgt. Stringer showed courage and sound judgment and the award of the King's medal to him for his actions was fully justified. The charge is unsupported by any reliable witness."

His Lordship found that Constable Purdy had altered his report in the Leroy Wood's case but the change was made because of his failure to comprehend any wrong-doing in the Act.

There was no evidence to substantiate the charge that Cpl. Ervine was guilty of perjury and of false documentation in his diary nor was there evidence to support the accusation against Constable Driscoll.

Notwithstanding the ability and general capacity of Keays as an officer, Mr. Justice MacKay said he was forced to recommend his dismissal.

"His charges and allegations of wrong-doing, perjury, deceit, inefficiency, and unimpartiality against public officials and police officers remain wholly unsupported and are completely without vindication, justification, mitigation or excuse," he added.

His Lordship, paying tribute to Inspector Page's years of effective service, said that he was of the opinion that this officer's usefulness now was curtailed by marked physical limitations and his retirement was indicated.

In recommending the complete reorganization of the Belleville Provincial Police district, he said he found that a "basis of antagonism, prejudice, misdirect impulse, inflamed passions had arisen prior to and during the inquiry and these conditions would be corrected by the reorganization."

Mr. Justice Mackay exonerated Leslie Blackwell, who was Attorney-General at the time the Royal Commission was set up, of any threat to Keays. When the charges first arose, the only action left open to Mr. Blackwell was to announce publicly that they would be investigated by a Royal Commission and that Keays would be dismissed if his charges were not substantiated.

Farmers Break Record In Cattle Sales

OTTAWA, July 14 (CP) —Canadian farmers sold more cattle last year than in any other year in the country's history. And they sold them for the highest average prices on record.

A total of 2,056,995 head of cattle and 840,921 calves were sold, the Federal Agriculture Department said today in its 1948 market review. Only once before—in 1945—had cattle marketings bettered 2,000,000.

Hog sales were slightly higher than in 1947 but the production of sheep and lambs continued the decline that began in 1946.

Exports of cattle and beef — nearly all of them to the United States—also reached record levels. Cattle exports of 446,458 head were valued at $73,540,000. Beef exports of 126,362,900 pounds were valued at $37,400,000.

Cattle sold for an average of $15.19 per 100 pounds, compared with $10.92 in 1947. Calves sold at an average of $17.66, more than $5 higher than 1947 prices.

Pork Popular

In 1947 there were 1,564,413 cattle and 704,396 calves sold, with a combined total of $180,000,000.

Hog marketings in 1948 were 4,774,445, compared with 4,764,873 in 1947 and 8,863,830 in 1944. The estimated cash value of the sales was $215,000,000 and prices averaged $29.03 per 100 pounds for slaughter hogs, $7.75 higher than in 1947 and the highest price on record.

The department said there was almost an "insatiable" domestic demand for pork products with the result that the surplus for export to the United Kingdom fell short of requirements under the Anglo-Canadian bacon agreement.

Seek Eviction Light Cut Off Door Removed

LINDSAY, July 14—Ernie Hill, veteran and father of four children, is looking for a place to live. His landlord, he said, first cut off the light, then removed a front door from the house, in an effort to get him and his family out of the ground-floor rooms they occupy at 47 Adelaide St. S.

"My landlord has been trying to get me out for weeks," Mr. Hill said. "He says he wants to occupy the place himself, but as I cannot get a place to go into, and he has a home, he cannot rightfully put me out."

He had heard of such things as evictions in the city, Mr. Hill said, but "I never thought it would happen here." He has tried to get either rooms or a house. "When some people hear we have four children they close up like a clam and have no place to rent," he said.

Mayor R. I. Moore has been trying to get a house for Ernie Hill. "It is just too bad that this veteran has to be treated this way. He has tried to get a small place or rooms on an adjacent farm, but without success," the mayor said.

"It just goes to show how scarce homes are in Lindsay," he said. "There is no use in people from Toronto coming here looking for houses. We have a waiting list of close to 100 for rental homes. As a town, Lindsay has added over 200 homes in the past two years, and we are going to make application to the government for more."

Academic Halls Gummed-Up Get Cleaning

Unreal silence prevails over the Peterborough and Vocational School, broken only by the clatter of a broom or the voice of a caretaker calling another. After ten months of the clamor of a thousand students Principal C.S. Browne, the secretaries and the caretakers must be bewildered by the unwanted quiet.

School work has ended, but school building work goes on. Since June 23 the caretakers have washed the lockers, sanded floors, varnished desks, painted the wood-working shop and disinfected nearly all the rooms.

Bucket Of Gum

Gum, a plague to most teachers, is also a plague to the caretakers. Any spare time they have is used to scraping gum from the floors with chisels and putty knives.

The floors were thoroughly cleaned at Christmas and Easter, but a full bucket of stale gum has been taken off in the past three weeks.

Desks, partitions and machines in the wood-working shop have been painted. The lesser parts are green, the semi-dangerous machine parts, cream, and the areas surrounding the danger areas are painted orange. Last year the machine shop received the same treatment.

Brushing And Scrubbing

Jack Smith, a caretaker, said books, papers, pieces of clothing, and other odds and ends were found in the lockers which were cleared before washing with disinfectant. All the articles in the lockers were kept for any students who should happen to claim them.

In the auditorium the seats and floor have been washed and the curtains brushed. Each room in the school is being scrubbed with disinfectant, the desks also receiving a washing and waxing.

A floor in one of the Home Economics rooms has been sanded and waxed. The table tops have yet to be covered with oilcloth, and cupboards will be put in the rooms.

The men behind the paint brushes, mops and hammers are Sam Castle, foreman, Jack Smith, Edward Doleman, Frank Hitchins and Joseph Sexsmith.

Attendance Marks Topple At Stampede

CALGARY, July 14 (CP)—Attendance marks continued to topple as the Calgary Stampede entered its fourth day with cool-nerved Canadian cowboys feading the dangerous steer decorating event.

For the third straight day Wednesday, huge crowds jamming their way into Calgary's Victoria Park set a new attendance mark. Official attendance Wednesday was announced as 72,307, an increase of 8,732 over the same date last year. Attendance figures now are 32,160 ahead of the same time last year.

Negroes On Jury

ATLANTA, July 14 —(AP)—Georgia counties with heavy negro populations must place negroes on jury lists, the State Supreme Court ruled. The ruling came on an appeal of a negro, John Crumb, convicted by an all-white jury of pointing a pistol at another. The high court ordered a new trial because negroes were barred from the jury panel.

NEW HIGH COMMISSIONER — Alfred Adrian Roberts, 59-year-old barrister and author, will arrive in Ottawa in September to succeed Dr. P. R. Viljoen as South African High Commissioner to Canada.

Pets Not Cause Of Outbreak Tenants Claim

OTTAWA, July 14 (CP)—Uplands tenants claim their pets weren't responsible for a diphtheria outbreak that killed two children—and they say the city health officer agrees with them.

City Welfare Commissioner H. P. Goodfellow says the diphtheria isn't necessarily the reason—but the pets have to go by July 15.

He posted a notice Wednesday at suburban Uplands emergency shelter, a former R.C.A.F. barracks, ordering tenants to get rid of their pets. It said Dr. J. J. Day, city health officer, had demanded that regulations of their lease be adhered to. The lease prohibits animals and birds on the premises.

A storm of protest was immediately raised by tenants. Edward F. McGregor, president of the Uplands Tenants' Protective Association said in a statement that Dr. Day had said dogs and cats had nothing to do with the recent outbreak.

Dictatorial Policy

On behalf of residents of Uplands, and at Rockcliffe and Argyle Avenue shelters were similar notices were received, he said the "dictatorial policy" was just another example of "bungling inefficiency" and "downright callousness" which featured Ottawa's emergency housing.

His organization a few days ago forwarded suggestions to board of control suggesting a revised program of medical supervision at Uplands, sinks and toilets for each living unit and a proper garbage disposal program.

Mr. Goodfellow declined to say what he will do if the tenants refuse to get rid of their pets.

Meanwhile the Ottawa Humane Society says it has ample room for the pets at the shelters. There are 450 families living at the Uplands project.

Drug Capsules Found In Car

WHITBY, July 14 — William (Big Bill) Cook of Toronto, is being held in the Ontario County Jail at Whitby with bail set at $5,000 on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics. Cook was arrested Wednesday at the Village of Manchester.

A provincial constable and an Oshawa policeman joined forces to apprenhend Cook after a 75-mile-an-hour chase along main highways and county roads. His arrest climaxed a lengthy pursuit by Provincial constable Ray Hodgson, who had spotter the Cook car driving at a high rate of speed.

Constable Ted Ferguson of the Oshawa City Police had observed the car parked within the city limits for several hours. The two officers followed in Constable Hodgson's cruiser and finally apprehended him at Manchester. The officers discovered a container of heroin capsules in the car after Cook made an attempt to dispose of them 'in a manner well known to narcotic dealers".

"When we caught up with him he got out of the car and tried to make a run for it, but we were right on to him," stated Constable Hodgson who denied reports in a Toronto daily paper that Cook had been "arrested at gun-point." No guns were drawn at any time, he stated.

Board Saves Life

LONDON, Ont., July 14 (CP)—Stanley Caldwell, 19-year-old rivet-puncher, probably saved himself from death Wednesday when he grabbed a jutting board as he tumbled from his perch 10 feet above the ground on an insurance company construction project. The youth, whose home is in Port Colborne, is in satisfactory condition in hospital with leg and back injuries. Caldwell fell from the sixth to the fifth floor a distance of 12 feet. As he was hurtling past to the floor below he grabbed and held onto some jutting boards, overhanginng the girders.

Why Not A Peterborough Bid For Queen Victoria?

A despatch from Dublin yesterday makes known to us that the city of London, Ontario, has shown official interest in acquiring the large bronze statue of Queen Victoria which for years stood imposingly outside Leinster House in the Irish capital. Since Southern Ireland has become Eire and a republic, it does not want any imperial tokens about its parks and streets, certainly not the formidable bronze of gracious, though stern Queen Victoria. The government of Eire is prepared to ship the staute far away out of sight, out of mind?—provided no Irish public funds are spent in transferring it.

* * *

Our question is this. What jot or title of right has London, Ontario to it, that Peterborough, Ontario, cannot better? Has London a Victoria Park? Peterborough has. Has London a statueless park like Peterborough's Victoria Park, and a spot ready-made to receive the Queen's effigy (the place where the bandstand used to be)? Was London founded by Irishmen? Peterborough was, 124 years ago by shiploads of Irishmen from the south, and their descendants are still here. Is London as Victorian as Peterborough, physically and politically and socially? We think not. Our chief architectural monuments—the Library, the Post Office, the Customs Building, the Armouries—are Victorian. We need the good Queen to make the city uniform as well as unique.

* * *

Seriously we think that Peterborough has a better claim to the Dublin bronze than London, and we seriously propose that that claim should be immediately pressed with the civic authorities of Dublin. The statue, set up in Victoria Park, would be the wonder of many eyes, a historic thing, and a first-rate tourist attraction. It is not a time for dawdling, for unless immediate action is taken, London will have it. An emergency Council meeting, a quick probing of public opinion, and a cable, might at least give us a chance of securing the statue.

* * *

The cost of transporting and setting it up in Peterborough would, we are confident, be fully met by voluntary subscription. If a public subscription were opened to raise a thousand or two dollars to secure the bronze for Peterborough, it should be oversubscribed in a week. The Irish among us would be delighted to have a memento of Dublin's fair city; the English would be gratified to have Queen Victoria in their midst; the Scots would be enthusiastic since it would be a good business proposition.

* * *

The Queen Victoria bronze from Dublin would be a most interesting and valuable acquisition. Our proposal is, we think, worth weighty and immediate aldermanic investigation, and urgent consideration by the citizens.

Some Thoughts On Bastille Day

One hundred and sixty years ago today—on July 14, 1789—a French mob stormed and took the Bastille, a Parisian prison used chiefly as a repository for political prisoners. The event is considered to be one of the principal incidents in the French Revolution, and for that reason it it is still celebrated in France as a national holiday.

Perhaps at this late date we may wonder why the French celebrate their Revolution. Did it really do them any good? Can it be successfully argued that their system of government could not have been reformed without so much shedding of blood? Was it really a good thing to chop off the heads of so many aristocrats and persons who held unpopular opinions?

People who learn their history from the movies may perhaps think that the French Revolution was an uprising of oppressed peasants against heartless landlords. In actual fact it was the result of a careful scheme devised by a number of intellectual revolutionaries to seize power, and it was confined almost entirely to large cities. The peasants were discontented, it is true, but their troubles could have been settled by a show of common sense and a few concessions on the part of the landlords. But the itch for power which moved the intellectual revolutionaries was not so easily set at rest. Many of them were good and honourable men; but many others were typical revolutionaries—that is to say, jealous and ill-conditioned scoundrels—and it was this group which lasted longest and wielded the most power.

It does not even appear to be true that the French people wanted to be rid of their king. Their addiction to the institution of monarchy was clearly shown by the fact that they permitted Napoleon Bonaparte to make himself king a few years after the Revolution had subsided, and supported him and his descendants for many years.

What, then, was the use of the Revolution? Well, what is the use of any revolution? A revolution is undoubtedly the worst way of seeking reform ever resorted to by a civilized nation. England tried it and found no comfort in it. The present United States tried it, and in spite of romantic stories to the contrary, nearly foundered under the welter of incompetence and corruption which followed it. Russia tried it, and exchanged a weak despot for a strong one. The fact is that revolutions are welcome only to the basest element in any nation, and only rascals are strong stomached enough to wade through the blood of a revolution to power. Human decency can only assert itself once more when the mess which follows a revolution has cleared away.

Would France have been better off without her Revolution? The question is academic and foolish. Surveying her history since that time, however, it is hard to believe that she could have fared much worse.

Cupid Medically Examined

Peter Grau, 24-year-old German engineer in London shocked Hyde Park strollers and bathers the other day. The air was warm, the Hyde Park pool inviting. He stripped off his clothes, stood poised and naked at the end of the springboard for an appreciable (and perhaps unappreciated) moment, and then dived in among the other swimmers. He was arrested and charged with breaking park regulations and swimming without a bathing suit.

He told the court: "I thought I was Cupid. I was daring and I wanted to enjoy myself". It seems however that some people nearby did not think he was Cupid or are too dull of sight and imagination to recognize the god. Otherwise, why would the police have been called?

We cannot resist sympathy with Grau's naive explanation that he wanted to enjoy himself. How often do people have a sudden urge, as reckless and unreasoned as a dog's impulse to chase butterflies, to dance in the sun, or sing from a house-top? Dogs have been domesticated but they still chase butterflies. Human beings have been civilized and subjugated—only their thoughts fly up to heaven or the depths below.

Cupid in the shape of Peter Grau has been remanded for medical examination—probably of his head. It is sad but true that there is no place for Cupids—real live ones—in civilization. When one appears, his head is examined suspiciously, not his body delightedly. We are of course writing sight unseen; Peter Grau may have been Cupid only to himself, and not a joy to behold at any time in any dress.

One World In Labour

Workers of the world are not united; world trade unionism did not, as some expected before 1914, make a Great War impossible. (And why, indeed, should labour be more united, less national than business, theology and politics?) Nevertheless, a large strike in an American steel plant has repercussions, and sometimes distressingly effects workers in other countries, and the economy of other countries like Canada.

The Canadian Seamen's Union strike and its squabble with companies and the rival Seafarers' International Union, have more seriously affected England than Canada; and there have been repercussions as far away as the Antipodes. The dock workers' strike in London where 14,000 men are idle in defiance of the Government, is more than a sympathetic gesture to the C.S.U. There is undoubtedly Communist infection as well as lack of union authority—the strike is now termed "wild-cat". Perhaps, however, the C.S.U. offer of compromise, making an end to the strike possible, will remove any Canadian excuse the London dock workers may have for continuing their strike.

A London Letter

from
Conrad Frost

SCHUBERT wrote no sweeter symphony than that played by rain on the rooftops, lashing against the window panes, drumming amongst the leaves, gurgling down the dry and thirsty brooks. All over Britain this week, rain has rated headlines.

The parsons who prayed in country churches, the farmers who were counting the drought as a £100 a week loss to a small farm, the 19 out of every 20 housewives who saw the milk go sour because they have no refrigerator, and the Londoners who can now use the garden hose on Wednesdays and Saturdays only—everybody is delighted.

But drought has put the spotlight on a disturbing fact. There are a million people in Britain who have no tap water supply at any time.

In Chilton, Berkshire, the villagers can look out on the pipes that carry millions of gallons of water to cool the atomic piles at the Harwell Atomic Energy Research Establishment. The villagers use centuries old wells!

* * *

LIFE here is full of anomalies like that. Why, in the dusk before they light their candles or oil lamps, the farming villages on the banks of the River Orwell, near Ipswich can see, like strange poplars, the three 325 foot chimneys of a £10,000,000 power station nearly completed. Thirteen thousand tons of coal will sail up through the lush meadowlands in barges on the Orwell to feed the boilers and generate 270,000 kilowatts a week. And the farm folk will continue to trim their oil lamps as their grandfathers did in the 1870's.

Maybe they will still be burning oil in the 1970's, a significant date for the electricity planners.

* * *

LONDON has a grandiose electrical plan for things to come, just unveiled. Two new Tube railways are to be built to relieve the surface congestion, now at saturation point. All suburban lines are to be electrified. Main railways are to be linked by underground tracks. By 1979 no steam engines need ever enter London proper.

But meanwhile suburban travellers, going home seventeen or eighteen in a carriage designed for ten, have been hot and bothered during the heat wave that British railways have seen fit to remove window blinds from all local trains. Travellers on the sunny side of the carriages grilled without relief, and with little faith in planners.

POLITICALLY this has been a dead week. The economists have been crying wolf again about dwindling gold reserves, but it has to be faced that the ordinary, average-intelligent citizen, does not really understand what it is all about.

He has been more concerned whether analgesia would be available to his wife under the midwifery service. But Mr. Bevan has been adamant, an thereby has made yet more enemies for himself. It now seems pretty certain that the Government can't have both Mr. Bevan and a return to power in the next election. This week, the Tories, who undoubtedly realize that the Minister for Health is a target nobody will mind them hitting, stormed at him in Parliament with cries of "Resign! Resign!" The Minister had flouted tradition and courtesy by being absent at the end of a debate on Housing, which was his pigeon. With criticism being made that he is building 130,000 fewer houses a year than were erected before the war, and building what he does at fantastic costs (a pre-war £543 Council House now costs £1,819), the Tories jibe that Bevan's pigeon became, by his own example, an ostrich.

* * *

AFTER Bevan, it will be Strachey on the spot. The Minister of Food is expected to come out into the open with his plan for sweets on July 17th. The big bet is that he will announce the re-introduction of rationing in the Autumn.

A four assistant sweet shop in a city lunch hour shopping centre, Leather Lane, has solved the problem its own way. The empty windows announce: "Children only, Mon., Tues., Wednesday. Everybody served Thursday and Friday (Milk chocolate for kids only). Closed Saturday."

Even the heat wave, with the resultant rush for ice cream, hasn't eased the situation.

* * *

THE man who has hated the heat more than anybody else in London was Promoter Jack Cappell. He staged a one-night international variety show at Olympia.

Two stars were flown over from America just for the show. Vera Lynn, Larry Addler, Ambrose and his Band, Jack Jackson, and the Western Brothers were on the bill.

There are 11,105 seats at Olympia. 9,405 of them were empty, and Mr. Cappell lost a packet labelled £5,000. While the show was dying dismally in the auditorium, Olympia's rooftop acres were being cooled by the rain that had come too late.

* * *

THE heat wave has caused a boom in what promises to be tomorrow's Big Business—Frozen Foods. Why, we are re-writing an old gag so that now the fond bridegroom says: "Did you unfreeze this all by yourself, darling?".....At last it has happened! Seven news cinemas and a chain of 55 cinemas have dropped newsreels from the programmes. The newsreel just can't compete with television which does it all so much better.... The Cabinet Room at No. 10 Downing Street is to be re-decorated for the first time since before the war. Some prophets say Attlee should consult Churchill about his personal tastes!....Auction sale of the week has been taking place in a marquee in the grounds of Highcliffe Castle in Hampshire, home of Lord and Lady Abingdon. There is no secret about it that taxation has compelled the sale of priceless family treasures. Most of the castle is now closed, and the owners live in one wing with three servants against a pre-war staff of fifteen. £178 was paid for a pair of armchairs once belonging to Napoleon.

* * *

THIS week the National Health Scheme has been in existence for exactly a year. The dentists get the birthday cake, a supplementary estimate being presented to Parliament on the anniversary demanding £1,000,000 to pay their bill.

How has the new service gone? The makers of wigs, corsets, hearing aids and patent medicine are feeling pretty good, thank you. The doctor who used to say: "Well, what's wrong with you?" now snaps: "Well, what do you want?" He's rather tired and regards it as a racket.

The tramps think it grand. They get new suits of clothes. The hospitals shudder. They have long waiting lists and wards wiped out by the bombers, have not been rebuilt.

More than twice as many as anticipated now chew with National teeth, but maybe will live to gnash them when the bill comes in. More than six times the number expected now see life through National glasses, which are not so posy-tinted when it has to be read that all this has cost 60 millions more than budgetted for in the first nine months.

The year's estimate is £352 million. A whole budget in the 1929 period was only about double that.

But—let's face it!—too many people imagine they are getting something for nothing—and too many are!—for the Health Scheme to be written off as a flop. As a Help Yourself Service it has proved a howling success.

Letters To The Editor

ARE HUNTERS AND FISHERMEN GOOD SPORTS?

Sir: What constitutes a good sport? It is one who believes and practices fair play in all his activities and dealings toward all men. He must give the other fellow equal rights and privileges with himself as to rules and regulations. When two men fight a duel each must use similar weapons to be fair. I wonder how many hunters would avail themselves of seasonal hunting privileges if the deer he was stalking carried a rifle? Or how many fishermen would go after the finny tribe if each were equipped with a plug and half-dozen hooks concealed by a worm or frog? None. But no, he must have a sneaking advantage over his adversary—an innocent fish.

How would he like to swallow a hook and be drawn into a boat and have his brains (?) hammered out with a club? Or tossed back in the water after tearing his mouth with a hook?

True, fish were caught in Bible times but how? With nets, no hooks or enticing bait. Games of golf, baseball, bowling, rowing, horse-racing, and competitions of all kinds, are regulated by certain fixed rules, to which all must adhere or be disqualified. Fair play and equal rights to all, are ever the essence of good sportsmanship.

Of course, if a man hunts game for meat, that is another question. Some animals are destructive to domestic fowl and must be destroyed. As for a skunk, I don't just know how a man could meet him on an equal basis. The fox, the wolf, the bear should be annihilated to preserve other animals and birds less harmful, but let us protect our fish, deer, rabbits, moose and fur-bearing animals, which were created I believe, for meat as well as beauty and service to humanity.

So, sportsmen, next time you go fishing or hunting for larger game, leave your weapons of destruction at home and give your adversary a 50-50 break with yourself.

Yours for fair play,
A NATURE LOVER.

HOW SQUID ARE JIGGED

Sir: On Thursday, July 7, the day of my arrival at Peterborough on a vacation from the new tenth province Newfoundland, I noticed an article in your paper entitled "More About Squid Jiggin' Ground" in which you stated that you did not know what "Jigging" meant, which was the means by which the squid are caught.

Having been born on the east coast of Newfoundland and knowing from experience what Jigging is, and what it is to have some of this black liquid squirted in my eyes, I decided to give you the following information.

Each fishing village in Newfoundland has some favourite spot where the fishermen congregate, usually in late evening or early morning to secure the squid to be used for bait to catch cod fish. In order to do this they use what is known as a squid jigger, made from a piece of lead about three inches long and painted a bright red, tapered at one end to which the fisherman attaches his line, while at the other end and all around are very fine sharp hooks which makes the Jigger look like a miniature parasol in shape. This Jigger weighs about a half pound.

As stated above the fishermen congregate at their favourite squid Jigging ground, cast their Jiggers over the side of the boat, casting out about three or four fathoms of line, and if there are no squid there, they begin to pull on the line and let it sink again continually, so that if one could see under the water one would see all the jiggers in continuous motion. It is the motion of these bright red objects which attracts the squid and they swim fast toward it grasping the sharp hooks with the long tentacles protruding from the head. Immediately on finding the weight of the fish on the hook the fisherman pulls in his line not daring to look over the side of the boat for as soon as the squid comes to the surface of the water it automatically squirts the black liquid from ten to fifteen feet high, so that in a few moments the scene resembles the illuminated fountain here at Peterborough except that it lacks the illumination. When enough squid have been caught the fishermen return home and await the next day's fishing.

I have been teaching school in Newfoundland for the past eight years, and am on vacation with my wife and two children. If at any time during my vacation period I could be of any help to you in supplying any information I may have, I would be only too glad to do so.

I remain, Yours truly,
W. LLOYD BENSON.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her. And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not. And he came and touched the bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise. And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother.

And the disciples of John shewed him of all these things. And John calling unto him two of his disciples sent them to Jesus, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another?

When the men were come unto him, they said, John Baptist hath sent us unto thee, saying, Art thou he that should come? or look we for another? And in the same hour he cured many of their infirmities and plagues, and of evil spirits; and unto many that were blind he gave sight.

Then Jesus answering said unto them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached. (Luke 7: 12-15, 18-22.)

Award Contracts For Building Of Waterworks

NORWOOD, July 14—(ENS)—Three separate tenders for as many phases of the $95,000 project of providing this community with a modern water system were awarded at a special meeting of the village council on Friday evening.

Tender for the construction of the storage tank, of 125,000 gallons capacity, was awarded to the Standard Steel Construction Company of Welland at a figure of $9,640.00. Other tenderers were Toronto Iron Works and Horton Steel Works of Welland.

The International Water Supply Co. of London, Ont., was awarded the contract for completion of the well and installation of pump at a cost of $8,734.00. There was only one tender for this work.

Nine bids were received for the construction of watermains, pumphouse, foundation for tank, and water lot connections and all other items incidental thereto. The contract was let to the Wainwright Construction Company of Toronto, whose price was $70,795.00. This was the second lowest tender, it being only about $100 more than the lowest, that of the Port Hope Construction Company. The council, after studying both tenders closely, decided that they preferred the Wainwright tender.

The seven other tenderers for this part of the work were: Diamond Construction Co., R. C. McKnight, Lightfoot Brothers, W. S. Fullerton, R. A. Blyth Construction Co., John Rodgers, and Klimak Construction Co.

It is hoped to have the work underway within ten days, or as soon as the proposed issue of debentures to cover cost of the work is finally approved by the Ontario Municipal Board. Partial approval was given to the issue last year, so it is not expected that there will be any difficulty in this regard.

Digging of test holes for the well was completed recently and a plentiful supply of water was found to exist on the first test. Each phase of the work will require from twelve to fifteen weeks for completion.

Where You Find Four-Leafed Clover You Are Sure To Find Five-Leafed Stems

Some people who have to hunt all summer before finding a four-leafed clover while others seem to have all the luck they need by stepping out on the front lawn. Latest Peterborough fashion is to pick five-leaf clovers—not just the occasional freak but two and even three stems at a time.

When Mrs. Reg. McMillan of Wolsley St., wife of Constable McMillan read Tuesday that Mrs. Evelyn Townsend had found a five-leafed clover at her home in Douro, she attached little importance to the find.

"Wherever there are four-leafed clovers you will find some with five" she told her husband and to prove her point she went onto the front lawn, returning a few minutes later with three specimens.

Mrs. Townsend's find was the first of the five-leafed variety many people had heard about. Is there anyone who has picked a six-leafed stem?

Brampton Defeats Petes By 14-11 In Senior Fray

Brampton Excelsiors finished a little stronger than the Petes in Miller Bowl last night to win 14-11 and stay in a top-place tie with Owen Sound. Another big crowd saw a keen contest, generally clean, with Brampton leading 3-2 the first quarter, behind 7-6 at the half but in front again by 11-10 going into the fourth. They had a 3-1 margin in the windup stanza. Boys of the tadpole class performed in the intermissions.

Apart from a couple of roughing jousts, when pairs were sent off, and a misconduct to Taylor for abusive language, the game was clean, if rugged in spots. Once again, the Creighton crew missed some good scoring chances and their passing slipped in the last half. But they were in the hunt all the way and had a narrow lead at times. Dennis Anderson, an ex-junior from St. Catharines made his first appearance in local livery. Draw prizes for the "father and son" night were given out before the fourth quarter.

Jim Led Way

Jim McNulty led the Petes in scoring with three goals, while Lou Vitarelli and Jack Foote had two each, Bob Thorpe a goal and an assist, Jack Howse a marker and an assist, and Mick Magee two assists. Arn Dugan and Lec Teatero each tallied once. Browning and Ferry led the winners with three goals each, as Madgett and Taylor helped thrice each. Garbutt and Graham accounted for two apiece, as singletons were gained by Raine, Steele, Hilson and Shepherd, Cruikshanks, Steel and Raine each having one assist. Both goalies turned aside some hot thrusts in the close struggle.

The teams:

Brampton—Goal, Etough; defence, Shepherd and Taylor; centre, Terry; wings, Madgett and Graham; rover, Browning; alternates, Ashbee, Garbutt, Cruikshanks, Steele, Raine, Hilson and Evans.

Petes—Goal, Speck; defence, Dugan and Magee; centre, McNulty; wings, D. Vitarelli and Teatro; rover L. Vitarelli; alternates, Chute, J. Creighton, E. Creighton, Foote, Howse, Thorpe and Anderson.

Referees, D. Willson and W. Fitzgerald.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Now we've heard almost everything. Howie Meeker, Leafs' NHL-er who plays second base for Kitchener in the Inter-County Baseball League, has been fined $5 by the loop. On account of he was tossed out of a game the other night for arguing too heatedly with the umpire. The fine is automatic this season in the big western Ontario diamond circuit. First time we ever heard of an amateur being fined, though it is a common practice in professional sports. Then, too, the Inter-County League uses the amateur tag quite loosely, as big gates make it possible, and practically imperative, to pay players for their services. Hence, we suppose a fine isn't as unusual there as at first supposed.

Batawa Shoemen are playing the Petes a COBL fixture at three this Saturday afternoon in Riverside Park. Gordie Muffitt or Max Smith will do the flinging for the Shoemen, and it'll likely be either Gunner Ed Whitehill or Lefty Bill Dadson fogging 'em in for the men o' Murphy. No senior ball seen here lately as the Petes were on the road several times in a row and last Saturday's game was postponed owing to rain. So, this tussle betwixt Batawa and the Petes should draw a big crowd of diamond followers. The locals and Oshawa are still scrapping away for top spot in the Central League.

Time Getting Near

OASA bulletin No. 10 arrives with the warning that all softball certificates must be signed no later than July 15, and mailed to the secretary by July 20. Players' sections of these certificates must be carried by team managers to all games. Winners are to be declared on Sept. 1 in senior "A", Aug. 29 in senior "B", and August 15 in all other series. The OASA executive meets July 24 to draw up the various playdown arrangements. No doubt, as usual, most of the Peterborough winners will be drawn first against Oshawa victors. Umpires must be registered for playoffs, too.

Woollens squeezed out a 7-6 win o'er CGE and Lindsay copped a 10-7 verdict against Marines in girls' softball play at the Bowl last eve. A goodly gallery saw two snappy tilts, one going an hour and the other—when 17 runs were scored—lasting but 50 minutes. They really roll 'em along in this loop and fans appreciate snappy play. Softball is faster than baseball and most games should be run off in an hour. It looks like Lock Co. are dropping out, though they haven't many more scheduled games, so the twin bill on Friday be: CGE vs. Woollens, and Marines vs. Lindsay. Westclox return to action next week after their holidays.

"Just About Our Size"

Weston is the opposition for the senior "A" Petes' lacrossers here Friday night, and the locals are saying: "They're our size and we can take them." It will probably be either Weston or St. Catharines that the Petes will hurdle if they are to make a playoff spot this season. They couldn't quite do it last night as they lost 14-11 to Brampton, tied for first place now with Owen Sound, but they made a good try and drew another hefty crowd. The Creighton crew keep coming close in their home tussles but slip a little toward the finish to lose out. But 'twas another fast game and the locals should start to roll soon and take some of those close ones.

* * * * * *

In between quarters, the crowd in Miller Bowl was entertained by the tadpoles, and the little guys put on a neat show. They were variegated sizes and one lad, little Francis Pace, was just four years old! That's starting 'em young in any game, huh? The "father and son" night proved popular with one gent winning a prize for having seven sons present. Another took a prize for having the youngest son, an infant in arms. Bob Peirson, Doug Miller and Ken Kingston did the drawing between quarters for the various prizes. They have a good setup there and a fine following of fans.

NEW MARATHON THREAT —Top candidate to represent Canada in the marathon at the British Empire Games is Paul Collins of Wolfville, NS, a 22-year-old music teacher at Acadia University. The unheralded Maritimer ran the Dominion's best marathoners into the ground last week in winning the British Empire Games trial at Hamilton.

Woollens Win From Electrics

Dominion Woollens defeated CGE 7-6 in the Girls Softball League last night in the Bowl. It was a snappy and close scrap before a good crowd of fans, with Woollens winning out in the ninth inning. The winners played hurry-up ball all the way to earn the close verdict. CGE errors hurt in the final frame after the Electrics had built up an earlier lead. The hitting and fielding was pretty even all through the tilt.

R. Boyce had six strikeouts for CGE as each twirler gave up nine safe blows, L. Derry also pitching steady ball. She had good backing especially from M. Laing and S. Johnston. M. Laing and E. Humphries each collected three safe hits for Woollens, while T. DeCarlo, A. DeCarlo and E. Boyce each had a pair of bingles for the Electrics.

The teams:

Woollens: J. McIlwain, ss; J. Walling, 3b; C. Ferguson, lf; M. Laing, 1b; E. Humphries, cf; S. Harris, 2b; S. Wakeford, c; L. Derry, p; S. Johnston, rf.

Leafs Trounce Montreal In 16-4 Eruption

By The Associated Press

Russ Derry, Rochester's lean flychaser with the fluid swing, has a distinct liking for International League pitching.

The six - foot, left - handed swinger hit his 21st home run of the season Wednesday night to help the Red Wings down the league-leading Buffalo Bisons 8-6.

Actually, it was Don Thompson's two-run homer in the 10 innings that turned the trick for Rochester, but the 12,409 fans at Red Wing stadium nevertheless enjoyed Derry's 21st International League home run.

Derry, who plodded through the New York Yankee farm chain in the early 40's and later played three seasons under the big tent, is one of the main reasons why the fifth-place Wings today are only two games out of second place.

Johnny Yumas, third Rochester hurler, worked the 10th inning and received credit for his fifth victory.

Ray Coleman smacked his 12th and 13 home runs for the losers, who lead the league by four games.

In Fine Style

Toronto Maple Leafs erupted for 16 runs in the last three innings to route the Montreal Royals 16-4. Trailing 4-0 entering the seventh, the Leafs scored five runs in that inning and added three more in the eighth and eight in the ninth.

Oscar Judd, the 35-year-old lefthander, picked up his eighth win.

Baltimore Orioles and the Jersey City Giants split a doubleheader, the Orioles winning the the first 3-1 and Li'l Giants the second 6-4. Both games went seven innings, the second being called because of the Baltimore curfew law.

Baltimore's Jim Wilson set the Little Giants down with six hits in the opener. George Bamberger notched his 11th victory in the nightcap.

Scoring five unearned runs in the eighth inning, Syracuse Chief defeated Newark Bears 9-4.

Bud Byerly gained his third triumph—and second over Newark—against one setback.

MUSICAL CENTRE

BISLEY THREAT — Capt. G. J. Gamble of Winnipeg, who took high honors in the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot at Connaught Ranges near Ottawa last year, is one of the top Canadian threats in the Bisley competition now under way in England.

Three Canadians In Shoot Today

BISLEY CAMP, Surrey, England, July 14 (CP)—Three Canadians, along with 90 other marksmen, were due to fire today to determine the last 77 of 300 top scorers who will compete in the second stage of the King's Prize, biggest individual event of the annual Commonwealth shoot.

Thirteen Canadians qualified outright for the second stage Wednesday.

The Canadians in today's shoot-off were Sgt. William Hall, Ottawa, Sgt. Godfrey Kay, Hamilton, and Sgt. Earl Jamieson, Vancouver, an unofficial competitor.

Sgt. Frederick Wallace, of Toronto, making his first trip to Bisley led the Canadian qualifiers Wednesday with 102 out of a possible 105. The contestants fired seven shots each at 200, 500 and 600 yards.

Flt. Sgt. John R. Sullivan, of Edmonton, and Capt. Richard Hampton, of Ottawa, each totalled 101.

Lindsay Girls Gain Win Over Marines

Lindsay won 10-7 from Marines at the Bowl last night in a joust that went just 50 minutes. Though outhit by Outboards, the Lindsay lasses made every blow count and they had just one miscue to five for the losers. The latter were loose in the field and didn't deserve to win this one, a seven-run splash in the second chukker pretty well settling it early in Lindsay's favor. F. Reynolds went the route for the winners, while E. Whittaker relieved H. White in the disastrous second.

P. Graham and P. Richards for Lindsay, along with V. Mitchell and A. LaPointe of Marines, went best defensively. A. McDonald led the victors at bat with a homer and two singles in five tries. E. Whittaker and B. Larmer topped the Marines at the plate with three safeties each, and M. Behan hit a homer and single in four.

Lindsay: A. McDonald, cf; D. Wilkins, c; P. Graham, 1b; M. Chase, ss; M. Dawkins, rf; H. Deyell, 2b; M. Owen, 3b; P. Richard, lf; F. Reynolds, p.

Westend Winners

Westend juveniles took a 6-3 City Baseball League victory over the northenders in Riverside Park. Doris pitched fine for the winners, and young Buckton—in his first full game — also showed plenty of style, each whiffing a dozen. The losers had a few more hits, but they also kicked a few extra, and five of the winners reached first on walks. Northend made it a battle all the way and left a lot stranded on the sacks, while the winners looked good most of the route in all departments. Carveth caught for Buckton, as Grainger did the receiving for the victors.

Skippers See Triple Ties In Major League Races

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The major league pennant races are going to wind up in two triple ties for first place.

At least that's the conclusion one draws after listening to Casey Stengel, Burt Shotton, Joe McCarthy, Connie Mack and other optimistic pilots.

The latest skipper to look into the future through rose-colored glasses is Joe McCarthy, the usually reticent leader of Boston Red Sox.

Although weighted down in fourth place, 8½ games off the pace at the half-way mark, McCarthy insists that his club "from here in is the team to beat" in the American League race.

"We're heading into the part of the schedule where the going gets tough—and things will be a little different," says McCarthy. "I know my team is ready to start moving. Then we'll see what happens."

The Red Sox really are moving now. Theyv'e won seven in a row and are only 1½ games behind the third place Philadelphia Athletics.

Different Viewpoint

Casey Stengel, whose done such an amazing job with the front-running New York Yankees, does not share McCarthy's opinion.

"I had been inclined to think that the Red Sox would provide us with the toughest competition," Stengel said. "I felt that way even when the languished in the second division. But when we knocked them off five times in a row recently, that finished them. I don't think they can recover."

A week ago Stengel picked the Athletics as the only team that could stop his Yankees, who currently hold a 5½ game bulge over the second place Cleveland Indians. At the time the A's were in second place, only 4½ games behind.

Connie Mack, Philadelphia's venerable 86 year old manager, said that "our boys, although in third place today, feel they still can win and I, as their manager, have to go along with them, naturally. Don't count us out. We still have a good chance."

Cleveland's Lou Boudreau didn't talk much but grinned knowingly when asked whether he thought he would repeat.

"We're still the champions," he said. "It's up to the others to beat us. And it's not going to be easy, I promise you that."

The Indians, with Bob Feller sailing along on a fivegame winning streak and Boudreau hitting as he did in '48, have won eight of their last nine games.

NATIONAL HOMER — Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals is greeted by Jackie Robinson after his first-inning home run in the All-Star game at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Robinson, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was on base when Musial homered. Catcher Birdie Tebbetts of the Boston Red Sox and the Brooklyn bat boy also watch Musial score.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Directors of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association Wednesday barred a Buffalo owner-trainer from Ontario tracks, one of them said at Buffalo Wednesday night.

The director, who asked not to be named, said the action was taken against J. B. Hardison during an all-day closed meeting at which "nothing much else transpired."

Hardison was suspended at Fort Erie Ont., July 5 after an ICRA analyst said saliva tests on High Air, owned by Mrs. Hardison, were positive. The investigation followed the fifth race July 2 at Fort Erie. A purse won by High Air was redistributed.

The ICRA director said today's action probably will have the effect of keeping Hardison horses off tracks in other Canadian provinces.

The battle of Ontario's mythical three-year-old pacing championship is still a wide open affair. Dillon the Great, a brilliant youngster sired by the great Dillon Mc and owned by George Sherman of Rodney, captured the three-year-old Supertest race at Tillsonburg Wednesday in the featured event of a meet which drew more than 5,000 fans.

The colt won only one heat — the last whirl—but he was second in the first two trips and captured top money and the trophy. Barry Herbert, Bill Herbert's steady-going youngster, won the first heat and Little Bill, owned and driven by Dunc Campbell of Ailsa Craig, took the middle-trip.

Fastest racing of the day was turned in by the 2.22 pacers. Lucy Lester, owned and driven by A. Corcoran of Kingston, a veteran of many years of the racing wars, copped every heat, and in the first trip was clocked in 2.09 1-5.

Moe Norman of Kitchener, took the first St. Thomas invitation tournament with a 67, three under par, at the St. Thomas Golf Club, Wednesday.

Nick Weslock, of Hamilton, took second spot with Yon followed by Jack Nash, London and E. Eggelston, with 71. Gil Walker, of London made the course in 72.

More than 180 golfers entered the tourney, coming from Detroit, Cleveland, London, Windsor, Hamilton, Sarnia, Woodstock, Tillsonburg, and other western Ontario points.

Hamilton Westinghouse defeated St. Andrews 4-1 at Toronto Wednesday night to enter the Ontario soccer final of the Dominion cup. The mountain city squad now will meet Windsor Sterlings with the first game at Toronto Saturday night.

St. George's Champs

St. George's captured the junior Church Softball League championship over Keene 14-13 last evening in the Oval. They had tied previously in a fine final series and this last game was as tight as anyone could ask for all the way. The winners came from behind in the last of the ninth to win out. Wood fanned 10 but issued a lot of walks, while Phillips started strong for St. George's but gave way later to Daniels. Tyndall had three hits for the Saints and Whalen hit three for Keene. Teams:

Keene—J. Mather 2b, Davidson 3b, G. Nelson 1b, G. Mather rf, Hope c, Brown lf, Whalen cf, B. Nelson ss, Wood p.

St. George's—Edwards rf, J. Bryan c, Parry lf, Hobson cf, Tyndall ss, Phillips p, Sloan 3b, R. Bryan 1b, Strickland 2b, Daniels p.

Madoc Bowlers Capture Liftlock Trophy

By HERB MARTIN

The Liftlock Gold Trophy was captured last evening at the local lawn bowling greens by a Madoc pair, J. Hatch and P. Locke. Dr. Johnston and K. MacDonald of Toronto were runners-up, and two more Toronto doubles teams came third and fourth. Only two prizes of the 21 went to Peterborough entries and no local bowler won all three games.

The fifth annual doubles tournament was the most successful yet, with 200 rinks representing 25 clubs in the province competing, and 26 entries refused. The Liftlock Gold Trophy, put up by Mr. and Mrs. Chris Graham in memory of the late George Graham, was presented by the donors, with President Bob Gamble aiding. The latter had on his committee W. Jeffries, J. Fitzpatrick, R. Knox and A. Black.

Large crowds witnessed the competition throughout the day as the bowlers went in six draws for highest aggregate for three games. One of the many features in the bowling seen was the possible eight-end scored by Charlie Renaud and his partner in their third game, a rare occurrence. Many of last year's winners were eliminated Wednesday in the first round. Following is the sixth draw, and the list of tournament winners:

David O. Selznick Stars Never Use Leg Art

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, July 14 (AP)—At one time or another you have seen leg pictures of most movie stars. But not Shirley Temple.

"I don't like cheesecake pictures and I don't think they are necessary," she explains. She sniffed at the idea she might not have a photogenic figure.

"Besides my personal dislike for it (leg art), it's against the policy of my boss," David Selznick," she added. "You don't see any of his stars—Ingrid Bergman, Joan Fontaine, Jennifer Jones, Dorothy McGuire—posing for sexy pictures.

"If I had a choice between having sex appeal and being an actress, I'd rather be an actress."

Movie Musicals

Betty Hutton has already routined all the numbers for "Annie Get Your Gun," so that should end the rumors that Judy Garland might get the role back. Betty says she's practically doing two pictures at once—"Annie" and "Let's Dance."

Anne Jeffreys is a sensation in "Kiss Me, Kate," which opened its road company show at the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera. The bright Cole Porter hit goes to San Francisco and then for a year in Chicago, but the studios should be luring Miss Jeffreys back before long. She's a brilliant soprano and comedienne.

JOOSTIN TIME — Eddie Joost, American League All-Star shortstop from the Philadelhpia A's, leaps high in the air to avoid Red Schoendienst during the fourth inning of the All-Star game at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Schoendienst, of the St. Louis Cardinals, was forced at second base on a grounder to Pee-Wee Reese. Joost is firing to first base in a vain attempt to double Reese.

Grant & Loucks Win

Grant and Loucks edged Bell Telephone 5-4 in civic softball last evening, scoring a run each in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings, and two in the sixth. Bell counted a pair each in the third and fifth of a good scrap. Teams:

Grant and Loucks — Dracup, Russelle, Riches, Byers, Craig, Chernier, Doucette, Gauthier, Little.

Bell—Greatrix, James, Ackford, Harrison, Gillespie, Tushingham, Boyce, Wood, Reynolds.

TVL Standing

HASTINGS, July 14.—(ENS).—President J. Stanley Stevenson has announced entries of junior and intermediate "C" teams in OASA playdowns from Hastings. Following is the TVL softball standing to date:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Wooller	10	3	0	20
Campbellford	9	5	0	18
Hastings	6	7	1	13
Stirling	6	6	0	12
Frankford	4	8	1	9

Obliging Vicar

SLADEN GREEN, Kent, England (CP) — Because several young parish members told him they would come to church on Sundays if they had something to do afterwards, Rev. Donald Mills, St. Augustine's vicar, is to hold socials in the vicarage after evensong.

Mimico Whips Owen Sound In 13-9 Tilt

By The Canadian Press.

Three games were played in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse Association Wednesday night, but the league standings remain unchanged. Mimico Mountainers defeated Owen Sound Crescents at Mimico 13-9. Hamilton Tigers defeated Weston Lions at Weston 15-9 and Peterborough lost to Brampton in front of home fans, 14-11.

McPhail was top scorer for the Mounties with three goals. Doc McKay and Williams each scored twice and Ken Dixon, Rankin, D. Beatty, A. Dixon, Hewitt and Hayes got one apiece. Campdell, Allum and Gillespie each scored two goals for Crescents with White, Al Smith and Slater getting one apiece.

Blain McDonald and Bob Grainer each scored three goals for Hamilton with Welch and Dorney getting two apiece. McKenzie, Lee, J. Gair, Davidson and Edmons each scored one. T. Downer was Weston's top scorer with four goals. Reddy scored twice and James Lovelace and H. Downer each scored once.

It was Mimico's second consecutive win in two nights over the Owen Sound club and consolidated the Mounties' third-place spot in the league. Crescents belted in two early goals to take the lead, but Mounties tied the score by the end of quarter time, went two goals up by half time and added two goals to their lead by the end of the third quarter.

Caution was the keyword to the first quarter between Hamilton and Weston, with that period ending in a 1-1 tie, but the Bengals opened up their heavy artillery, banging in five goals in both the second and third periods. Weston matched the mountain city team goal for goal in the final frame, but it was too late to do any good.

Norwood Victors Over Campbellford 8 to 7

CAMPBELLFORD, July 14.—(ENS)—Norwood nosed out the local boys 8-7 in a TVL baseball fixture Wednesday night at the fair grounds. Kelly pitched steady ball for the visitors and McFarlane, getting three runs, was a tower of strength for the homesters.

Both teams gave a bang-up performance and with more practice they will be playing like veterans. Stark of Norwood, struck with a fast foul below the eye, had to be taken to the doctor for repairs.

The teams:

Norwood—McKenzie, c; Scott, ss; Rightly, 3b; Kelly, p; F. Spencer, cf; Fredericks, lf; Stark, 1b; B. Spencer, 2b; Baker, rf.

Campbellford — Bennett, c; Hardy, 3b; McFarlane, ss; Macoun, 2b; Hay, lf; Darrah, cf; Neil, rf; McNaughton, p; Jeffs, 1b.

Norwood	102 140 0—8

McGill Research On Gas Turbines To Aid Aviation

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

MONTREAL (AP).—Improved flying is foreseen at McGill University from new research on the unusual things done by gas turbine engines.

Among the McGill studies is the fact that these engines must heat their fuel before burning it. Another is use of air to cool the hot gases so that they will not melt the turbine blades.

A turbine engine is a scientific version of the old mill wheel. It has many small blades, instead of a few big ones. Instead of water, gas is used to push the blades, and the gas has to be very hot.

This hot gas is produced by a giant blow torch, in which fuel is burned with aid of air that is scooped up from the atmosphere and compressed. The turbine is not particular about what kind of gas is burned, so that many different fuels are possible. But the hot gas never flows smoothly. The flaming particles shoot about in all directions, like a fireworks bomb.

This turbulent burning might be controlled satisfactorily if the gas turbine engine stayed on the ground. But it rises to 40,000 feet, and higher, with air pressures dropping close to nothing, temperatures so low that the air has to be heated before it will burn well, and troubles in getting oxygen.

The difficulties may prevent the engine from running above certain altitudes, or the turbine will run at some speeds but not at others.

Military Origin

Nevertheless, these planes are important for aviation. Only rockets are more compact or lighter in weight than gas turbines. England, the United States and Germany all developed them for military uses during the Second World War. Each country evolved its turbine engines independently, but the three are similar.

These turbine war birds were made without benefit of adequate scientific studies. The research that had to be overlooked is one of the projects of McGill's mechanical engineering and gas dynamics laboratory, under direction of Associate Professor Donald L. Mordell.

In this laboratory, apparatus is set up to do separately each job of the gas drive, so that each can be analyzed. An iron pipe about the size of a short man's leg roars like low-pitched thunder merely from the turbulent bubbling of the flaming gases it contains. In other apparatus the gas screams so loudly that the tests are made out in the country.

The blow torch heat is used twice. First to heat the gas to drive the turbine, and second to heat the incoming air and fuel to make sure it will burn fast enough. Professor Mordell reports to the Royal Society of Canada that unless the mixture of incoming fuel and air is heated, it may not ignite. He finds the amount of preliminary heating is the same regardless of the kind of fuel used.

To prevent the rapid combustion from melting turbine blades part of the air is used for cooling.

Side Of Bacon Will Be Prize For Couple Without Quarrel

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

DUNMOW, Essex, England, July 14—(CP)—Any married couple who can claim to have "lived blissfully together for a year and a day" without a single quarrel, are entitled to enter the Dunmow Flitch trials, to be held here Oct. 1. The trials, originated in the 13th century, have for hundreds of years drawn crowds of people to what is accepted as the funniest mock trial in Britain.

This year the traditional prize of a flitch (or side) of bacon will be a present from a New Zealand farmer. The farmer gave a quantity of bacon to the Commonwealth Gift Scheme for distribution in Britain on condition that one flitch was reserved for the Dunmow trials.

The competition is open to any couple who are not afraid of their claim to married happiness being falsified under cross-examination.

"Visitors from any part of the world may enter," an official of the trials committee said. "All they have to do is make application in writing to the Dunmow Flitch Committee, Dunmow Town Hall. We then send them a questionnaire."

Select Best Entries

Two or three of the best entrants are selected for the trial, which is conducted with traditional pomp and ceremony.

Authentic law court procedure is followed in the conduct of the trials, with judge and jury, counsel for the claimants and counsel for the bacon.

Final decision is left to a jury of six local bachelors and six local maidens. The winning couple are carried around the town in a replica of the chair used 600 years ago.

At one pre-war trial, a wife said on oath: "When we first married, my husband agreed to bring me a cup of tea in bed every morning. He did so for two months. Then he said we'd take it in turns—but his turn hasn't come round yet."

Another time a middle-aged married couple claimed that their marriage was free from the "chief causes of marital strife."

These were listed as:

Husbands—bad temper, untidiness, stopping out late.

Wives — extravagance, irritability, bad cooking.

The Dunmow trials are said to have been instituted in the reign of King Henry III by Lord Fitzwalter, an Essex baron, whose own marriage was unhappy.

On Way To Germany

WINNIPEG, July 14—(CP)—Dimitry Leschenko, confessed wartime Soviet spy, was disclosed Tuesday to have been taken from detention here on the first leg of deportation to the British zone in Germany. Two immigration officials left Tuesday night with Leschenko, less than nine hours after the one-time Soviet army officer lost an appeal against a crown decision to deport him.

Montreal Plans Play

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal tors to take charge of one of the city's playgrounds during the school-holiday months. One will direct play and games and the other will teach handicraft to various age groups.

List Precautions To Be Taken Against Infantile Paralysis Spread

TORONTO, July 14 — (CP) — The Canadian Foundation for Poliomyelitis lists precautions to be taken against the spread of infantile paralysis.

The foundation says observance of the following rules—especially by children—is helpful:

1. Avoid crowds and places where close contact with other persons is likely;

2. Avoid over-fatigue caused by too active play or exercise or irregular hours;

3. Avoid swimming in polluted water; use only beaches or public pools declared safe by local health authorities;

4. Avoid sudden chilling, remove wet shoes and clothing at once and keep extra blankets and heavier clothing handy for sudden weather changes;

5. Observe personal cleanliness; keep food tightly covered and safe from flies or other insects; garbage should be tightly covered awaiting disposal or burned..

The foundation feels that parents should keep their fear and anxiety to an absolute minimum. Should the disease strike in the home, it says, a calm, confident attitude is conducive to recovery.

Of those stricken, it reports, at least half recover completely while 25 per cent suffer only slight after-effects. The public is urged not to ignore headaches, nausea, muscle soreness or stiffness but to call for medical attention immediately.

DP's Weakening Red Influence Across Canada

TORONTO, July 14 (CP) — A Toronto paper says today that displaced persons in Canada, in the short time most of them have been here, have succeeded in weakening the hold of Communists on the foreign-born population.

In a newspage story, it says a survey in Toronto shows that the immigrants, who have suffered in body and spirit under Russian rule, have not lost their hatred of Communism.

The paper says Communists in this country are fighting what the paper calls "a vicious, desperate and losing battle" against the influence of the immigrants, taunting and threatening the new Canadians and threatening reprisals against relatives in European countries under Russian rule.

"What is happening in Toronto is happening right across the Dominion, in every city and town where DP's and Communists meet according to informants who have access to the facts," the paper says. "Until recently, the warfare was below the surface. Now it is breaking out in the open, with the Communists resorting to violence in an affront to intimidate these newcomers."

In Toronto, there have been several clashes in recent weeks between Communists and immigrants at Alexandra Park at Bathurst and Dundas streets in the heart of Toronto's foreign-born section. The paper quotes eyewitnesses as saying the trouble was Communist-inspired.

Luscious Fruits Not For Canada

OTTAWA, July 14 (CP) —Cool, green watermelon, juicy pears, tangy apricots and ripe yellow canteloupes—these and other fruits such as apples and berries now are being harvested in the United States and ready for shipment.

But Canada, with a big eye on her pocketbook, is turning thumbs down on imports.

By banning fruits and placing restrictions on U. S. vegetables, Canada is saving about $2,000,000 a month in scarce U. S. dollars.

She is continuing the ban on American fruits that first started when her dollar reserves became critical in November, 1947.

Canada's restrictions on U. S. fruits and vegetables were expected to be lifted this month, but indications are, that rather than lift them, Parliament may slap on new ones when it meets in September.

"If Canada's dollar reserves decline, you can expect further steps to stop the flow of Canadian dollars into dollar areas," a government spokesman said.

Chinese Grannie Comes to Canada

VANCOUVER—(CP)—She sat quietly and a little wonderingly in the waiting room of Vancouver International Airport recently accepting the ancestral homage of dozens of relatives who had come to welcome her.

Mrs. Con Chan See, a frail and elderly Chinese grandmother made few replies to the excited babble of tongues that greeted her, but the depths of her aged black eyes glowed with happiness—she had found her family at last.

Through the years she had watched across the Pacific from their native village in Kwangtung province until, when Communists overran her little town, she was almost the last one left.

Her son, Vancouver interpreter Quon H. Wong, brought her out on the first commercial flight from Hong Kong along with 34 other refugees. She travelled in the first airplane she had ever seen.

"There wasn't proper medical care for her in China and the situation is not too good for old people," Quon said. The tiny 86-year-old woman is one of the oldest Chinese immigrants to arrive in Vancouver.

She is ready to start a new life in this country undisturbed by the sound and fury of war that has torn up her land a half dozen times in her life.

Dressed in plain black silk, and held a stout walking crook as photographer's strange flash bulbs flared in her face.

Hooks Injure Hand After Landing Muskie

HAVELOCK, July 14—(ENS)—Thomas Poulos, proprietor of the Havelock Hotel, landed a 17-pound muskie on Monday afternoon while fishing in the back channel at Trent River in front of his summer cottage. He used a plug bait.

After landing his catch, Mr. Poulos was extracting the hooks from the fish, when it made a sudden leap which imbedded the three hooks in te centre of the plug into the palm of his right hand. The fish and fisherman were thus hooked together.

Mr. Poulos was driven by his son to the office of Dr. W. M. Judd, of Havelock who froze the palm and extracted the hooks.

Predict Color Trends In Lingerie For Fall

NEW YORK, July 14 (CP)—Fall lingerie has a bright outlook.

Autumn models will appear in 44 different shades, designed to complement the important basic colors of the season's fashions.

Recognizing the trend toward a more comprehensive range of tones in undergarments, one textile firm has introduced a Color-ama Forty-Four. Colors run through blues, pinks, yellows, mauves and greens, from the lightest to the darkest shades. Also included are Paris-inspired fashion colors such as apricot, grey, raspberry and brilliant hues of flame-blue and flamingo.

One group of colors comprises tints from light champagne to golden toast, intended to blend with the brown and rust colors that highlight the autumn picture.

Kill Harbor Seals To Improve Codfish

HALIFAX, (CP)—If a plan formed by the Fisheries Research Board of Canada materializes, Nova Scotia housewives will soon be able to put better tasting and cleaner codfish fillets on the table.

The long distance scheme calls for a drive against harbor seals. It seems that the cod-worms which get into the cod and affects its appearance, and in many cases its taste, are harbored in adult seals.

Previously a bounty of $5 was paid for the snout of a harbor seal. Since then fisheries experts have discovered that the snout of a harbor seal can't be distinguished from that of a number of other seals.

Once again silence lent a hand Research men discovered that the jaws of harbor seals are different from other species and fishermen and hunters now have to produce the jaw bone of a harbor seal to collect the $5.

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP) — For years 78-year-old Mrs. Agnes Mash saved all she could from her old age pension to buy a tombstone for her husband's grave.

Finally, after 13 years, the stone arrived and Mrs. Mash took the long trip to Peachland, B. C., to see it erected over his grave. She hired a trucker to take the monument to the cemetery and watched as it was erected.

When she returned to the place where she was staying, she said she felt ill. She lay down to rest and died in her sleep.

Grading Started For Hydro Sub-Station Job

Grading operations on the site of a giant $2,000,000 hydro sub-station on a farm formerly owned by F. W. Rowland in Smith township, about half a mile west of Lily lake have started this week. Surveyors are working to lay out the 15-acre site and determine how much of the hills will be cut down by two giant graders.

The construction team has taken over the Rowland farm house and is working as an independent unit with its own cook and other facilities.

It is not yet known how long it will be before actual construction of the sub station can begin.

Whenever the grading can be completed, the hydro commission is prepared to go ahead with the project.

Oshawa Studies Meters In Taxis

Oshawa's Police Commission reserved judgment on whether or not is should order taxi companies to instal meter in their cabs. The final decision will be deferred until the Commission obtains information on cities of similar size.

Complaints of overcharging are believed to have prompted the present inquiry into the desirability of installing meters.

Seven Oshawa taxi firms have objected to the idea saying the meters cost from $235 to $370, each, and already this year they have had the expense of taking out insurance. Moreover, they point out, there have been only two complaints of overcharging from the public.

Mayor Michael Starr called it "a step in the right direction—a progressive step to have meters installed in cabs...There is no doubt that there has been overcharging"

Magistrate Frank Ebbs said in his opinion meters would have to come eventually, in any case.

The scale of fares must be posted in each car so it can clearly be seen by each passenger, Judge D. B. Coleman stated. And police have been instructed to enforce this bylaw.

In Peterborough the move is still under consideration, City Clerk E. A. Outram, secretary of the Police Commission, told the Examiner today.

Some time ago the Taxi Operators were given information on the operation of taxis in comparable cities, and it was to bring back a report on its views of putting in meters. As yet there has been no report and the matter is being held in abeyance.

Response to simple two-dimensional design and plasticine modelling has been most encouraging, and some of the children show much talent. Boys and girls from three to 16 have taken to the pencils and scribblers like ducks to water. Shown in the picture with Mr. Collie are Beverley Traviss, Roger White, Albert Bertram, Kenny Alderman, Alvin Snelgrove, Bobby Larock, Murray Maxwell, and Joe Traviss.

Boys Line Up Soap Boxes For Derby Run

Months of work will coast down Hunter St. hill Saturday night as boys from Oshawa, Lakefield, Keene, Peterborough urge their cars over the finish line. The occasion will be the Annual Y's Men's Club's Soap Box Derby for boys under 16 years of age.

Fame of the annual event has spread to Three Rivers, Quebec, where one of the entrants, Franz Gruiniger, lives. He is one of 10 boys who by Wednesday afternoon were sure starters. By starting time at 7 p.m. Saturday the Club members hope to have at least 15 entries lined up. Jack Wilson, chairman of the Soap Box Derby committee, said entries from Oshawa, Lakefield and Keene are expected within the next two days.

Armour Road Start

With two cars to a heat the boys will start at Armour Road with the signal from starter Jack Dane. At the same time loud speakers will carry the blast of the signal to the timers at the finish line at Mark St. Each boy's car will be timed by a special timer. Before the heats actually begin the boys will be allowed to take a trial run of the hill. The railroad tracks crossing Hunter St. between Roger and Mark Streets will be levelled to ensure safety to the contestants.

By elimination the entries will be whittled down to three cars which will race for first, second and third honors. First prize will be a CCM bicycle, second prize, a fishing rod reel and line, third prize a baseball glove and ball.

All the cars in the event must be made solely by the boys driving the cars with a cost of only $6, excluding the cost of the axles and wheels.

Defending his title will be Richard Miller who went on to emerge victorious in other competitions in Oshawa and Cobourg This year his father hopes he will carry on into the soap box derbies in Akron.

Report Raps Standard Of Colonial Press

LONDON, July 14 (CP)—Journalistic standards in some sections of the Colonial Press are criticized in the government's annual report on Colonial Territories.

"Some of the press is of a deplorably low standard," says the report, presented to parliament by Colonial Secretary Creech Jones. "Apart from lack of up-to-date plants and the absence of properly-trained printing technicians, editors and newspaper men of the poorer newspapers have little or no experience of journalistic practice.

"Far too often are journals of this type produced in order to serve some political end and with little or no regard to the need for actual reporting. The inaccurate information spread by these newssheets can do untold harm, particularly among the unsophisticated populations of many colonies."

Lessons In Art Inspire Children On Playgrounds

Grimy little fists clutched long yellow pencils; brows were furrowed in deep concentration, eyes lit up as the shape of a car took form before a group of children on a city playground. This new thing, art, was wonderful, the kids thought, as they slowly followed the strokes of the instructor and attempted to do the same on their scribblers. The young chap who was teaching them told each one that his work was fine, and to keep it up.

The young man who has brought this new thing to the children of the city playgrounds is Stafford Collie, a student at the Pratt Institute, New York. Mr. Collie has had three years instruction in art, one year of special tuition in the British West Indies, one year at the Ontario College of Art, Toronto, and one year at Pratt. He has two more years to go at Pratt, and then hopes to get a job designing automobile bodies.

Mr. Collie has found that enthusiasm is a plentiful quantity among the city children. They are getting to know him now and he is finding that his early troubles of keeping them under control are disappearing as they become absorbed in the work. He has located some "exceptional talent" among the younger set, and has become so enthused over some pieces of work that he has taken them home to put on the mantel.

Instruction in the classes will be and has been limited to two-dimensional drawings and plasticine models. All the needs of the classes are supplied by the Recreation Commission. Pencils rate high on the casualty list, and scribblers take quite a beating.

Blackboard instruction, or "free" periods, when the children are urged to use their imaginations as much as possible, take up the period time. Mr. Collie says that some of the work that is turned out during these "imagination periods" is so good that he feels that it must be more by accident than design. A definite schedule has been laid out for the summer, with three playgrounds being covered each day. Each playground receives instruction twice a week.

Two cars, driven by Louis Burnell of Kentucky, U.S.A., and Allan Brown of Hastings, were involved in a collision at about 8.30 p.m. Wednesday in Hastings, which caused damage to the fenders. Neither driver was hurt and the crash was investigated by Provincial Constable H. R. Cook.

Dismiss Assault Charge When Two Women Battle

PORT HOPE, July 14—(ENS)—A charge of assault causing bodily harm brought against Mrs. Jean Callahan, Pontypool, by Mrs. Norman Fuller of Peterborough, has been dismissed by Magistrate E. A. Gee.

The charge rose out of an altercation between the two women when the plaintiff went to Mrs. Callahan's, boarding house in Pontypool early in June to visit her childrn. Mrs. Fuller claimed her glasses were broken and her eyes injured by glass splinters when she was slapped and pushed out the door.

Mrs. Callahan denied the charges. She said she had asked Mrs. Fuller to leave the boarding house but she was met with a refusal. The roughhouse began, she testified, when Mrs. Fuller insulted her using profane language.

Further she charged the plaintiff seized her by the hair and pulled. And she did not know how the former's glasses were knocked off and smashed.

Tells About Fight

Mrs. Fuller said she asked the defendant about the health of her son, Arnold Fuller, staying at the boarding house.

"She said that I had no right to interfere, and then flew at my face," the plaintiff testified.

Highly contradictory evidence was submitted. Teresa La Porte, 15, stated she was present during the encounter and confirmed Mrs. Callahan's story. But Mrs. Fuller's two children, Arnold, 11, and Marian, nine, stated that Teresa was in Toronto on June 12.

None of the children were sworn and their testimony was accepted by Magistrate Gee "for what is was worth." In dismissing the case he stated he was satisfied Mrs. Fuller had not suffered bodily harm.

He pointed out the difficulty of making a judgment because of the contradictory evidence offered, but said he was partially influenced in reaching a decision by the testimony of Teresa La Porte.

Henry Seigal of Toronto was counsel for the defence, and Harry Deyman, appeared for the Crown.

Two Brothers Sentenced On 5 Theft Counts

Albert Ibey, 24, whose criminal record has resulted in almost continuous prison terms during the past nine years, was sentenced to seven years at Kingston Penitentiary at city police court today by Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay on five charges of break-ins and thefts at Havelock and theft of a truck at Coboconk. His younger brother Fred, 17, charged with the same offences, which took place July 6, after he had escaped from Bowmanville industrial training school was sent to Guelph reformatory for two years less a day definite and the same period indefinite sentence.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw told the magistrate that he was writing to the Attorney General about he younger boy's escape from Bowmanville because the school authorities had known where he was but had done nothing about it.

In a hushed court room Provincial Constables Archie Grayling and R. A. Feeley described how four policemen had hunted for the boys in the bush country around Trout Lake, knowing them to be armed.

Four Robberies

A grocery store and two service stations had been broken into and a car had been stolen from outside a house.

Peters' grocery store had been robbed of $100 worth of meat, butter canned goods, cigarettes, gum and cash. White's service station in the outer end of the village had been entered and tires, tubes, cigarettes and a .303 rifle were missing. The lock had been broken off the gasoline pump at Don Mathison's service station and 17 gallons taken.

Constable Grayling said that when the four policemen captured the two, whom they discovered in the bush near Trout Lake, they had asked them if they would have shot at them.

Not Scared of "Pea-Shooters"

"Yes, sure we would have shot," they said. "But you would shoot at the feet wouldn't you?" Constable Kellog interjected. "We would have shot your guts," they said.

Still relating the conversation between Constable Kellog and the brothers, Constable Grayling told the court that one of the boys had said "we're not scared of your pea shooters (referring to the police revolvers) but we knew you had a rifle."

Constable Feeley said that when Albert Ibey was under arrest in the police cruiser, he asked the prisoner if he would shoot a man to scare or to hit. Ibey had replied that he would hate to shoot a policeman but would have done so.

"They told us we had come too early," Constable Grayling said. "You should have come after we had broken into the liquor store which we planned for tomorrow."

Crawled Through Bush

Constable Grayling said that he had driven with Provincial Constable Feeley, Provincial Constable Kellog and Chief Constable Bell of Havelock two miles along the Trout Lake road. Then they abandoned the car and went through the bush on foot. They had to crawl some 200 feet as they were closing in on the brothers.

"Feeley rushed the accused and the arrest was made" he continued.

Fred Ibey had told Constable Grayling that they broke into Peter's grocery store, not knowing that it had changed hands since they were there last. They had thought Mr. Wellman, the former owner, would still be there.

"I was standing on guard outside the store with a loaded rifle," Fred had told Constable Grayling. "If Wellman had stuck his neck out of the door I would have let him have it."

Speaks for Brother

Asked by Magistrate Gee whether they had anything to say for themselves, Albert said he would not speak in his own behalf but he hoped the court would take his younger brother's age into consideration.

"It was my fault," Albert said, to which the magistrate reeplied, "I can believe that."

"You do not look like a criminal" the magistrate told Albert. "Maybe not, but I guess I am" was the reply.

"Did you endeavour to learn a trade at Kingston?" "No, I never had a chance, you can only get partial training."

"I think a lot of people are under a false impression" the prisoner said, referring to the opportunities of learning a trade.

"I suppose I might have started the same way as you did", the magistrate remarked. "Everyone has a chance to distinguish between what is right and wrong."

Addressing Fred, the magistrate asked: "If I were lenient what would you do when you got out? "Probably behave myself", was the reply. "Do you think you could take control of yourself?" "I guess I could."

Fred told the magistrate that his father was a carpenter. His mother and father had had no way of getting into town to attend the court.

"I would raise heaven and earth to get there if my son were in your predicament", the magistrate declared.

Consideration Not Deserved

Albert said he did not think he deserved any consideration. "If it were given to you would you laugh up your sleeve?" he was asked. "No, I would appreciate it—I have never had a break."

"It is a bad thing to go round the country with a loaded gun", the magistrate told him.

The Crown Attorney drew attention to the fact that the boys had admitted breaking into one building to get the rifle.

Maximum penalty for all the charges, when there are previous convictions, is 14 years. When Magistrate Gee sent Albert to penitentiary for seven years, he told him he was giving him a break.

Adjourn Sittings Conciliation Bd. To August 15

The sitting of the Conciliation Board in the present negotiations between the Canadian Raybestos Co. and Local 527 UE-CIO, has been adjourned to August 15. The Board sat Tuesday and Wednesday in the Peterborough Public Library with Judge W. S. Lane of Picton as chairman.

A third meeting in August is scheduled so both sides can gather additional information in the meantime to substantiate their respective claims. The union is asking for a 40-hour week with the same take-home pay, additional wages, a union shop, and an improved vacation plan. The company is expected to marshal its arguments with facts and figures in an endeavor to show it cannot meet the union demands.

The contract which is due to expire in April has been extended until seven days after the Conciliation Board makes its report.

MacAulay Dillon, K.C., of Toronto, is the company nominee on the three-man Board, and J. S. Cohen of Toronto is appearing for the union.

16 Reutherites On Executive

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 14 — (AP)—The last vestiges of anti-Reutherism on the United Auto Workers executive board were wiped out Wednesday in elections of 19 regional directors. These men, together with president Walter Reuther and his four top officers, make up the 23-man UAW executive board.

Sixteen Reuther-backed incumbents were re-elected, 10 of them by acclamation.

Pat O'Marry and Ray Ross were picked to succeed Paul Miley and Richard Reisinger, who reportedly stepped down from the regional directorships to accept other union posts. Miley and Resinger originally had been aligned with the old anti-Reuther faction but had supported the UAW president most of the time recently.

Regional directors George Burt of Windsor and Cy O'Halloran of Los Angeles, who like Miley and Resinger originally were anti-Reutherites, were re-elected with Reuther's blessing.

Meanwhile, concern over the impending Ford UAW battle in Detroit, switched much of the convention delegates' attention away from what went on here.

The Ford contract expires Friday. The union has agreed to extend it on a day to day basis for a undisclosed period beyond then.

Deficit Of $2,000

He blamed the public who "did not come through in buying programs and buttons. Registrations fell down because the $1 fee was too too much for many visitors," he said.

LIMA, Ohio, July 14 (AP) — A murderer Wednesday night defied state hospital guards from a perch 130 feet up on a water tower.

Raymond Jutila, 35 year old patient of Lima State Hospital for criminally insane, clambered to the top of the hospital water tower Wednesday morning after a fruitless attempt to escape.

Twice during he day when the mercury hovered near 90 degrees Jutila ventured within 30 feet of the ground. Twice he promised to come down to the ground, then scampered back up the tower ladder.

Hospital guards did not venture up the narrow ladder leading to the top. "Jutila will get either tired, hungry or sleepy, and eventually he will come down," commented Dr. Bushong. "We'll wait him out."

Staggering Loss During War Listed By Britain

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Some of the staggering financial losses suffered by Britain in the war are outlined in a pamphlet released by the United Kingdom's information office in Ottawa.

Entitled "Britain's overseas financial assets and liabilities," it comments in part:

"Britain's external financial position was completely changed through the war.

"Her overseas investments shrank by some $4,500,000,000 plus a net loss of reserves amounting to $615,000,000. These losses were all additional to her loss of resources through physical destruction and through the turning of her industry from trade to war production."

At the same time, advances to allied governments, most of which are still outstanding, amounted to well over $1,000,000,000.

"Britain's gold and dollar reserves were almost completely wiped out at one stage. . . She was spending not only her last reserves, but also selling her most precious dollar and other overseas investments to pay for her war expenditure during the early years before lend-lease.

Purchases In Canada

"In the first 18 months of the war, Britain had to rely to a considerable extent on the sale of British investments in Canada to finance war purchases in that country.

"By March, 1942, $714,000,000 of Canadian government or government - guaranteed securities owned by British investors had been repatriated, and a further $126,000,000 had been provided by private repatriation. British investors still held $700,000,000 worth of dollar securities and $300,000,000 worth of sterling securities based on Canadian property; but the Canadian government decided to halt further repatriation."

The town of Vichy, France, owes its importance to its mineral waters, which were well known in time of the Romans.

Roses Reminder Doctor's War On Tuberculosis Among Arabs

By GIBSON COWAN

TEL AVIV, July 14—(Reuters) Behind the arrival of a score of rosebuds at the house of a British doctor in Aden once a year is the story of one man's fight against tuberculosis among the Arabs.

Not so long ago, the Arabs and even British doctors regarded it as impossible to cure an Arab who fell victim to the deadly "sil" —as the Arabs call it.

Today, in a hospital here on the edge of the desert, Arab patients fill 100 beds and a further 300 are being given "home treatment."

Patients have come from as far afield as British and French Somaliland spending their last penny on their passage by dhow. Even Arab women have allowed themselves to be examined by the male doctor.

All this is due to the refusal of one man who asks that his name shall not be disclosed, a British doctor in Aden, to accept the popular belief that the Arab is more susceptible than others to the disease.

Newly-arrived in Aden after having worked on the TB cases not only in Britain, but in British Guiana and North Borneo, the doctor decided that the high rate of the disease in Yemen and Aden was due to adverse environment and not to racial lack of resistance.

He prepared a few beds in the Aden general hospital and brought six tubercular Arabs in for treatment.

Although various forms of collapse therapy were used, most of the six were too advanced for simple pneumothorax. Results were not particularly favorable, but the doctor had a chance of studying the Arab's reaction to the disease.

Determined Patient

He began to consider a new method of treatment.

Then, one evening in 1946 he was informed that an Arab had arrived at the hospital and was causing trouble. The Arab's name was Abdullah and he had come from upper Yemen. He demanded to see the English doctor and would not go away.

He was the first patient who had shown any signs of belief that he could be cured of "sil." The doctor decided that it was an opportunity for putting his theories into effect.

Abdullah was told that he would recover—that he would certainly recover, provided that he did exactly as he was told.

The "new treament" was simple. It was nothing more or less than going back to the old-fashioned remedy of strict rest.

At the end of 12 months Abdullah was pronounced fit to go back to his farm provided that he took things easy and reported progress every year.

The news of the cure of "sil" spread like wildfire. For the first time Arabs began to present themselves unasked. The treatment is always the same—absolute faith and complete rest.

The rosebuds continue to arrive year by year. Abdullah is unable to write.

The roses, delivered at the doctor's house by an itinerant pedlar or ragged bedouin, carefully packed between layers of damp moss bundled together with split bamboo, and moistened hourly with precious water from goat-skin bags, are his assurance that all is well.

The Arab peasant who tills a patch of ground in the hills near the ancient port of Yemen, sends these roses some hundreds of miles across country passable only by camel train to inform the doctor that there has been no recurrence of the disease.

Seek New International Action To Meet World Economic Crisis

ANNECY, France, July 14 — (Reuters)—Leading delegates at the Annecy tariff negotiations, grouping the main trading countries of the world, are canvassing the possibility of new international action to meet the threat of an increasing world economic crisis.

They are expected to propose later this month that the tariff cuts on which 32 countries have agreed be backed by an international effort to stimulate multilateral trade.

They also are expected to propose immediate international action on the problem of stabilizing some of the major world commodities.

Many of the 500 officials here believe the considerable reductions in tariffs which have been obtained will represent little advantage if world trade continues in its present limited channels.

They urge that, with great progress having been made with the cutting down of tariff barriers, international action should now concentrate on eliminating quotas, controls and other restrictions which they think are strangling world trade.

Need Quick Action

Some of these officials fear that if quick action is not taken there may be a dangerous move away from the 1947 Geneva agreement on tariffs and trade.

This treaty, the greatest multilateral trade agreement ever signed, culminated the tariff-lowering negotiations carried out in 1947 in Geneva between 32 countries.

The second step was the adoption in Havana in 1948 by 54 countries of an international trade charter which established the most comprehensive set of rules for trading that the world has known. The third step was to be ratification of the charter by national parliaments to enable the international trade organization to be set up.

But the United States Congress, preoccupied with domestic labor legislation, voting of Marshall plan credits and the Atlantic pact, has had to postpone ratification of the charter.

It is thought unlikely that Congress will be able to accomplish this before the middle of next year.

Delegates here believe this will be too late for the initiation of an international effort against a slump. They are therefore expected to propose immediate action within the structure of the Geneva Treaty which is administered by a small secretariat of eight international civil servants, topped by a council representing all the signatories.

THIS IS THE SCENE AT SANTA SUSANA PASS, near Chatsworth, California, this week, where a commercial airliner crashed on a hillside shortly after the pilot had radioed an airfield control tower that a fight had broken out among the passengers during which one man had been badly beaten. Thirty-three persons were killed and the balance of the 48 passengers and crew were seriously injured.

Bobcaygeon Farmers Lose 11 Cattle From Drinking Poisoned Water

A repetition of cattle poisoning of Lake Sturgeon has cost two Bobcageon farmers a total of 11 head of cattle which died Tuesday, after drinking from the lake. The farmers are Harlan Kelly, who lost nine head of cattle, and Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine, who lost two.

Lindsay headquarters of the Department of Agriculture state that the poisoning is caused by a microscopic plant known as Blue Green Algae which was blown to the shore.

One of the first instances of this type of poisoning to be encounexactly the same spot last summer when farmers, including Col. MacAlpine, lost cattle. Little was known about the poison but more intensive research is following Tuesday's discovery of its return.

Some of the carcasses have been sent to the Ontario Veterinary College at Guelph for post mortem and Leroy Brown, agricultural representative at Lindsay, is sending samples of the lake water for analysis.

The cattle were examined by Dr. Kelly, MOH of Verulum Township.

Those examining the dead cattle said they apparently died quickly after drinking the poison water. They said some of the stronger cattle drinking from the lake were able to shake off the effects of the poison.

5,000 To Attend Wheatland Day

An attendance of 5,000 from Central Ontario counties, including Peterborough, is expected July 27 at the annual Wheatland Day held this year at the Leitchcroft Farm, Markham Twp.

This will mark the fifth year of winter wheat variety testing under the direction of the Ontario Agricultural College. Guest speakers will be Col. the Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, and W. H. Waddell, wheat research specialist at the OAC.

Mr. Waddell will give the results of the winter wheat variety tests and then various companies will exhibit their power machinery used in wheat growing. A 10-acre field has been set aside for demonstration of this machinery.

The York County Crop Improvement Association holds meets every year so wheat growers can see the results of the trials. This yar the plots are on a much larger acreage, and the demonstration will be held on a farm growing 120 acres of the new Cornell 595 winter wheat.

Rev. D. Billington Preaches At Keene

KEENE, July 14.—(ENS). — The Rev. Dallos Billington, pastor of Akron Baptist Temple, Ohio, was guest minister at Keene United church Sunday. He was assisted by his son, the Rev. Charles Billington of the Million Dollar church, Akron. Dr. Billington gave a thrilling message from the Book of Revelation and made an appeal on the need for preparation for the life that is beyond. "Christ," he said, "is the One who can give us real joy in this life and the life everlasting." Mr. Walter Morrow of Peterborough, presided at the organ, Mrs. J. Byers of Oakville, sang a solo, "Green Pastures," Mr. Donald Landry sang "Open the Gates of the Temple" and "My Task." The music was very much enjoyed by the large congregation. A number of American tourists attended the service.

Ask Poles To Stop Lublin Pilgrimages

WARSAW, July 14.—(AP). — The Foman Catholic Hierarchy appealed today to Poles to stop pilgrimages to Lublin Cathedral where a woman was killed and 19 other persons were hurt in a stampede to see a portrait of the "Weeping Virgin."

The official Polish press agency said Wednesday the whole story about the Virgin picture was disturbing public order.

Most Rev. Poitr Kalwa, Bishop of Lublin, said an inquiry by a special commission failed to disclose any basis for reports that anything of a supernatural character had occurred in the Cathedral.

Land At Sydney

SYDNEY, Australia, July 14.—(CP).—A Canadian Pacific Airlines plane landed today at Sydney's Mascot airport on a pre-inaugural flight of C.P.A.'s new Vancouver-Sydney service. The four-engined Canadair Four carried 33 passengers, including 14 newspaper men and a crew of nine.

Scrap Of Paper Off Time's Wall A Bridal Tale

People who wonder how reporters gather news would be amazed at some of the sources, even to taking it off the wall, figuratively speaking. A nold habit of pasting copies of outdated newspapers to plaster walls in homes and stores brings a few items of interest to light. The more ancient the scraps are, the more interest they create with the added zest of trying to find the date of publication, which is invariably destroyed.

Ben Rogow took some pieces of the Peterborough Examiner, dated February, 1875, from the wall of his store recently and a scrap about one foot long and six inches wide lists a few interesting items of the vital statistics flavour.

Daughter of Warsaw Marries

One in patricular tells of the wedding of Celestia Charlotte Choate, youngest daughter of Thomas Choate, founder of Warsaw, to John Moore, M.A., L.L.D., headmaster of the Norwood High School at that time. In checking with Choate descendants, it was learned that this lady lived in Peterborough to the ripe old age of 97 and died only a few years ago. Her husband moved from Norwood to the United States and taught schools in Indiana and finally at Cookston, N.D., where he died in 1918. They were married at the home of the bride's father by the Rev. J. C. Everest of the Episcopal Church, Lakefield.

Other marriages listed were those of Charles Edwards of Otonabee to Isabella Cummings of Ennismore; Thomas Graham of North Douro to Agnes Maxfield of Cavan and Capt. James Ewart to Annie Close, both of Gore's Landing. Mention is also made of more weddings, McFadden-Armstrong, Gardner-Humphrey and Goodfellow-Bronscombe. All of these took place over the period of several days.

The only other decipherable portion of the torn scrap of paper extolls the services of a first-class laundry. To attract the trade of blushing lady clients it says, in part: "A lady constantly in attendance to receive and deliver ladies' apparel."

Depression Talk Foolish Truman View

WASHINGTON, July 14 (CP) —President Truman Wednesday night lashed out at economy advocates, linking them with "selfish interests" who, he said, will drive the United States "into a ditch," if they get their way.

But he said that even though many people 'would like to have a depression for political reasons," the United States is not now in a depression nor does it face the prospect of one if the "selfish interests" are thwarted.

"The tools are at hand for continued economic expansions," Truman added. "All we need is the courage to use them."

He made plain he felt the tools were provided in the economic kit he handed Monday to Congress in a special message. They provide for expanded social welfare programs, government aid to spur lagging businesses and steps to ease the unemployment program.

In a special "fireside chat" with the American people—via the radio and television—the president defended his controversial plan for temporary period of deficit financing to stem the recession.

1. The $42,000,000,000 outlay he has budgeted for the current fiscal year is not a "waste of money" as the "cut Federal spending" advocates charged. Rather, it is an "investment in the future of America" which will pay "unique dividends in human happiness."

"If these expenditures are slashed "we will decrease employment, cut down investment, weaken our defences and injure our effort for peace."

Question 200 In Search For Girl's Attacker

OTTAWA, July 14.—(CP)). — Marie Giselle Lechance would be dead today if she had been left hanging another five minutes to the rafters of a ramschackle shed.

Now the 28-month-old girl would be ready to leave hospital "if it were not for the fear of exposing her to the public until the notoriety has died down," Dr. J. Edward Maloney, her doctor, said Wednesday night.

Police were frankly baffled in their search for the person who stripped and raped the girl and left her bruised, cut and naked body hanging from the rafters of the shed in Ottawa's lowertown, a scant half-mile from the Parliament Buildings.

"We have been checking every lead and questioning everyone even remotely suspected of the crime," said Inspector Ubalt Sauve, head of the police morality squad, "but we are no farther ahead than when we started." They have questioned more than 200 persons since Monday.

Dr. Maloney said she "would not be alive today if five more minutes had elapsed before she was found."

Medical examination confirmed that she had been raped before she was left hanging from the rafters. Earlier, Inspector Sauve had expressed the theory that her attacker had hung her up to make it "easier to commit the crime."

Drops Police Charges

TORONTO, July 14 (CP) — Percy Sniderman, 34, who complained he was beaten by police Tuesday night, said Wednesday night he has decided against laying charges. Police gave Sniderman the names of officers about whom he complained and told him he could bring charges if he wanted to press his accusations. Said Sniderman later: "I thought it over. All I want to do is forget about it."

Health Department Sticking To Guns

OTTAWA, July 14.— (CP).— The Federal Health Department is prepared to stand behind its thumbsucking pamphlet.

Commenting on a report from Toronto that the Canadian Dental Association objects to the pamphlet and wants it withdrawn, a Health Department official said Wednesday the information is based on "sufficient authority" and it won't be removed from circulation.

The Dental Association protested that the pamphlet says thumbsucking should not be stopped by parents. It added that the pamphlet is 'at variance with the facts."

A Department official contended that the pamphlet was not a statement in favor of thumbsucking, but that it was opposed—except in severe cases—to using mechanical means of stopping a child from sucking his thumb.

GRAFTON & CO., LTD.

CAPE COATS flaunt "cloak and dagger" airs for fall. Fuchsia and black checked chinchilla greatcoat swashbuckles with pushed up sleeves and chin-swathing collar (left); steamer cape (right) in black and grey plaid tweed, cloaks skirt and sweater ensemble.

Of Interest to Women

Cloak and Dagger Flaunted In Fall's New Cape Coats

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Any resemblance between the romantic cloaks which the Spanish masters loved to paint and this fall's spectacular cape-coats is not mere coincidence.

From portraits of 17th and 18th century Spanish nobles come ideas for silhouettes which shape up many of this season's smartest coats. From the romantic capes of kings, courtiers and cardinals come push-up sleeves that slope from shoulders, collars that climb up to the tip of a nose.

One of the most outstanding of these portrait-inspired wraps is a Monte Sano-designed great coat of fuschia and black checked chinchilla which looks like a cape. Its tall collar, deceptively full silhouette, and lively color add a new note to this fall's splendor.

Also ready to cut a swathe on the autumn scene is another romantic style: the steamer cape. Pauline Trigere brings this first cousin of the "duster" up-to-date with sophisticated styling, with highly-textured tweed in shades of gray and black. This designer's talented hand turns the old-time steamer cape into a smart ensemble by combining it with a skirt of solid gray tweed, a chic sweater of black woolknit.

Paralyzed Man Drives Jeep Enjoys His Travels

CARMAN, Man., July 14 (CP)—You can't keep a good man down, they say, even if his handicap appears unsurmountable.

Take plucky Peter Dyck. He has been paralyzed and forced to lie on his back for 12 years, and yet he is probably the most widely - travelled motorist in Manitoba.

Peter is 37 years old now. In the Fall of 1937 he was returning to his home in Saskatchewan by truck after doing harvest work when the truck was struck by a car coming off a side road.

Peter suffered a broken back. The 13 other persons in the truck escaped with minor injuries. In his first six years in hospital here, Peter remained in bed, unable to go anywhere.

In 1943, he was given a machine built on bicycle wheels and driven by a washing machine motor. The next year he had a vehicle built on motorcycle wheels and driven by a larger motor. He kept this one for two years.

In 1946, with the help of friends and with money he had saved he bought a jeep. He drew up blueprints of an arrangement enabling him to drive the jeep while lying on his stomach. H. H. Garbrant of Plum Coulee made the interior alterations for him.

Drives In Bed

The jeep has a bed raised to the height of the steering wheel. The gearshift is the same as that on any other car. The accelerator, clutch and brake are all on the same lever. When the top of the lever is turned, the car accelerates.

When the lever is pulled back one notch it acts as a clutch, and when it is pulled back any further it acts as a brake. The jeep has a radio set and a heater.

Peter travels in his jeep only in the warmer months. The nurses carry him from his bed in Carman Hospital and place him in the jeep. He usually begins driving at 10 o'clock in the morning, and continues until it's time to go back to bed at 10 p.m. He has spent only two nights away from the hospital in 12 years.

At meal times he drives to the back of the hospital and the cook brings him his lunch on a tray.

Visits Other Towns

During the day he travels around Carman watching people work. "I'm a carpenter at heart and I love to watch men building," says Peter. "I have watched the construction of the new Carman Hospital from the time they started excavating until the ribbon was cut."

Peter travels a good deal to neighboring towns, where he has many friends. Most of his trips he makes to Winkler, where he has four sisters. His longest trip was to Rock Lake, 92 miles from Carman.

In the Summer of 1947, he drove 6,400 miles. Last year he travelled 9.500 miles. His maximum speed is 30 m.p.h.

"I suppose I could go faster, but I'm not looking for any trouble. I've had enough," sighed Peter.

At night he has trouble sleeping.

"Nerve pains and irritations in my legs make it very difficult for me to sleep. I usually just have short naps, off and on, during the night. If I was unable to drive around in my jeep I think I would go crazy."

Of Interest to Women

Ballerina Coats Wrap Full In Saucy Flaring Finery

By EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Sauciest little coat of the new season is the ballerina topper.

Swinging into autumn with unrestrained fulness this coat of Monte Sano's design is cut as short as a dancer's skirt. It makes up in width what it lacks in length and in frou frou what it lacks in the more solid virtues of a winter wrap.

Brilliantly colored plaid taffeta —red, green and yellow—lends its crisp charms to one long-waisted jacket which sports a peplum as pert as a ballerina's skirt. This ruffly flounce can be flipped out, tilted up or down or crushed into folds. It owes its antics to a pliable stiffness that is woven into taffeta.

Another ballerina topper which spreads across shoulders like butterfly wings is a flame-colored cape of suede velour. This cape-coat has the fullness of a dancer's skirt and is quilt stitched in deep bands to strengthen its flip appeal; and again to enforce the flair of full, trumpet-shaped sleeves.

Baby Speaks Welsh

CWMBACH, Jales, June 30 (CP).—The few words that Ronold Jones could speak were Welsh.

That so angered the 2½-year-old boy's father, who spoke only English, that he kicked and otherwise mistreated the lad. The boy had learned the Welsh words while living with a grandparent. The father was sent to prison for six months.

Teeners Prefer "Covered" Legs

The tenn-age girl, say the fashion buyers, is one of the most clothes - conscious of feminine shoppers htese days. She has very definite ideas about what she wants to wear, and when she decides to adopt a certain style, nothing can sway her—and her sisters everywhere follow her example.

A recent discussion held among a large group of very attractive young high school girls seems to prove that they have definitely rejected the old bare-legged look. They want stockings; they love nylons, and they came to the conclusion that they like full-fashioned hose that has been shaped by knitting to fit the leg properly.

"Socks were all right with saddle oxfords, but there are so many prettier shoe styles now, and they don't look right with anything but stockings," remarked one pretty 16-year-old. "I think bare legs look terrible, anyway," she added candidly.

Doyle-Lonergan

St. Clare's Roman Catholic church, Toronto, was the setting, Saturday, for a wedding of interest here of Loretta Margaret Lonergan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lonergan, formerly of this district, and Kevin James Doyle, son of Mrs. Doyle and the late James Doyle. Rev. J. F. Kehoe said the nuptial mass and performed the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white brocaded nylon, fashioned with a fine net insert above the drop shoulders and bertha collar. The full skirt ended in a train. A beaded pearl coronet held her fingertip veil and she carried carnations, roses and bouvardia. Lucille Ferris, maid of honor, and bridesmaid Theresa Lonergan, sister of the bride, were gowned alike in powder blue brocaded nylon. Pink gladioli formed their head bands and cascade bouquets. Timothy P. Doyle was groomsman. Ushers were Dr. Simon Hughes and Herb McCarthy. Mrs. Lonergan received in powder blue crepe with gray accessories with a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the groom assisted in navy blue silk with matching accessories and corsage of tea roses. The couple will reside in Kitchener.

The bride is a graduate of Loretta College.

Swimsuit Flaunts Figure Faults Of Older Woman

No woman should forget to carry her posture to the beach. Posture controls the curves that give a bathing suit its shape.

The woman who will be penalized the worst for forgetting her posture is the one whom maturity has given a little thicker waistline, a little fuller tummy.

What will happen her figure, if she forgets to stand straight in a bathing suit, is what one sees on every beach today a spotlighted abdomen; a shrinking bustline, an exaggerated waistline and sometimes a roll of flesh to accent it.

What happens, however, when the slump is pulled up by a good stance is a little miracle of figure-improvement which can only be attributed to good posture.

A simple posture trick of alignment to remember — one that slices both pounds and years off a figure—is to imagine that the upper part of the body is a straight little three-story house. In the first are hip girdle and abdomen. In the second are chest and shoulders. In the third is the head.

When these three units are lined up, each straight with the other two like the stories of a salt box house, a woman's figure, no matter what her age is, will look younger, more vital and more perfectly proportioned.

India Inspires Highlights Of Fall Collection

NEW YORK, July 14—(AP)—We can't all be Rita Hayworth, but we can dress in begum skirts and punkha sashes next fall.

Anthony Blotta has designed an entire "India Modern" collection inspired by the land of the Maharajahs, and including everything but the temple bells.

Previewed Wednesday for the visiting fashion press, the group highlights the tunic silhouette, goes in for a lavish spattering of jewels and sequins, and introduces such colors as bangor brown, rhama blue, oriental flame, Bombay beige, Hindustan taupe, lotus leaf green and Hindu sand.

The begum skirt, as interpreted by Blotta, is pulled tight in front with deep folds at the sides to suggest a back overskirt. The punkha sash is a fan-like floating panel at the front.

The collection also features "hidden temple pockets", which are jacket pockets slit at the sides so you can reach other pockets in the dress beneath.

There also is the "Ghandi River", being a looped lapel stitched to the sleeve seam.

Adele Simpson predicts that the coat dress will be North America's most popular garment this fall, and shows it in all versions from tweed to satin. It is effective in the new featherweight woolens which are featured in all collections this season. Sheer tweeds are especially adept Adele, a pint-size designer handsome as handled by the whose influence is large.

Mrs. Simpson shows a series of sleek, smooth, understated suits with slim skirts, longish jackets and dressmaker touches such as appliqued all over in black velvet.

A feature of the collection is velvet collars, a series of cocktail dresses are shown in black taffeta the "constellation" neckline, low, revealing and cuffed to form a frame for the face.

Spinster Writer Deserting Ranks

WASHINGTON, July 14—(CP) Pretty, red-haired Jean Van Evera, the girl who wrote "How To Be Happy While Single," is going to be married, her friends say.

Miss Van Evera, a former Kansas City newspaper woman and now a free-lance writer here, wouldn't say yes and she wouldn't say no. But friends say she'll say yes before long.

The day her book was published, Miss Van Evera told reporters: "I have nothing against marriage."

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Prudency Lost in Jet Age Romance No Longer Sacred

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am a girl 19 years old. Have finished high school and want to go to college and after that to build up a business career. But my family object very much. They wish me to get married and have even picked out my husband, but I don't wish to get married yet. I haven't seen enough of life. Also, I want to earn my own living for a while at least. Would you advise me to follow my own desires, or take the advice of my family?

UNDECIDED.

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER—If you marry a man you don't love just to please your family and because they have the old-fashioned idea that marriage is the only career a girl should follow, you will be a miserable, discontented woman as long as you live.

Because you will have been kept from doing the thing you wanted to do and your heart will be always full of frustrated desires. You will always be dwelling on the thought of what you might have done, and that will make even the good that you have turn to dust and ashes in your teet.

Marriage is hard on a woman and full of sacrifices that she must make, even when she marries a man she loves and when it is the thing on earth she most desires, but it is almost unendurable when she marries a man she does not care for, and when she goes into it against her will. The parents who think that they can find security for their daughter in a forced marriage have not reckoned with the modern woman. Nine times out of ten she endures its misery and discontent for a few years and then gets a divorce.

Whether your parents send you to college or not, they, at least, owe it to you to give you a training for some occupation by which you will be made self-sustaining. That is your due whether they marry you off or not. For marriage does not solve the problem of a girl's future. Sometimes husbands die. Sometimes they becme invalids. Sometimes they lose their jobs. And often a woman after marriage has far more need of some way of making money than she had before.

Also, there is no better preparation for marriage than for a girl to have a thorough business training. It disciplines her. It teacher her self - control, promptness, efficiency and the value of a dollar, all of which fit her to be a better wife, housekeeper and mother.

DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX—How can I cure myself of being suspicious of my wife? The reason I feel this way is because one night she and a woman friend, under the pretense of going to a show, motored with two young men to a hotel out of the city for a glas of beer. I found out through the lie she told me when she came back, and since then I always think the worst of everything she does. The worry over this is not increasing my earning capacity as a father and sometimes I feel like sending the whole affair to the devil and buying myself a one-way ticket to Mexico.

FRANK.

ANSWER — When once our faith has been shaken in a person it is very hard to restore it, and the best you can do for yourself is to keep your thoughts firmly fixed upon your wife's good qualities, and say, like Dr. Coue, that every day in every way you believe her truer and truer.

But it doesn't seem to me that motoring with three friends to another town for a glass of beer was such a heinous offense. Probably ninety-nine married women out of a hundred have gone on an innocent little lark like that, for women are human after all and like a little harmless fling every now and then, and there is nothing for their husbands to get green-eyed over about it. The little slipping of the yoke made them better and more contented wives.

When husbands and wives have to lie to each other and sneak off for an evening out, the blame should be laid on the wife or husband whose tyranny has enslaved them and deprived them of all freedom. If you had not denied your wife all liberty and most pleasures, she would have been glad to have told you frankly about what she did.

I think you are making a mountain out of a molehill and the wise thing for you to do is to forget it. I wonder if you have never stepped out of an evening with a girl.

DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—What do you think of the modern system of courting? Most of the girls are ready to be hugged and kissed the first time a man takes them out, but I give kisses sparingly, since I feel that they are a token of love and not a mere pastime. Am I prudent or slow? Also, when I feel that a girl is anxious for my company I lose interest in her. Is this my nature or human nature?

YOUTH.

ANSWER—You are evidently a young man of discrimination and have fastidiousness, which I fear would put you in the slow class in this day of high-speed love-making and job-lot sweeties.

To each age its own customs. Courting, as now conducted, is carried on in the hard-boiled manner without any reticence or romance. Kisses are no longer sacred to love. Or saved as a sacrament for the One and Only. Girls' lips are free to every Tom, Dick and Harry and a kiss doesn't mean any more than a hand shake and there is no thrill to it.

The reason that you lose interest in a girl when she becomes interested in you is because man is by nature a hunter and the excitement o fthe game is the pursuit. Most men feel the same way.

DOROTHY DIX.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, July 14th.—Are your youngsters working this summer? . . It's a good idea—in the very best Canadian tradition. And you can help them to help themselves by tactfully advising them to save regularly. Encourage them to set aside a definite part of what they earn during the holidays for something they want badly—and never to touch that money until they have saved the complete sum. Thousands of young customers of the BANK OF MONTREAL have found solid satisfaction in making their plans come true through steady saving. If your youngsters haven't yet opened their own account at "My Bank", they'll find the "Welcome Mat" out at the nearest branch.

Any COLD Water Handy? . . Then I'd like you to try this experiment: Pour it into a dishpan in which you've sprinkled about a tablespoonful of VEL . . then dip in dirty supper dishes . . . rub them once over with a dishcloth. They'll come out clean as clean can be—and sparkling! For "Vel" eliminates grease even in cold or hard water! Of course, you'd rather use hot water for dishwashing—but you can see, from this experiment, that "Vel" helps you wash dishes with a very minimum of effort! And that's not all! "Vel" works cleaning "magic" with your light laundry. It's wonderful for woollens (socks 'n sweaters) . . for all your most cherished lingerie and nylons. And—(a tip for your husband) . . . just a teaspoon of "Vel" in a pail of lukewarm water will leave his car gleaming—free of dirt and "traffic film"!

When Your Family Ask For Something Special at mealtime . . . give them a delicious BENSON'S CORN STARCH dessert! Benson's makes the most wonderful custards, puddings and meringues . . . I can always count on it for desserts that are sure-fire successes! You'll know the delight of truly wonderful meringues if you make them this way . . . 1 teaspoon of Benson's added to 1 tablespoon of sugar for each stiffly whipped egg white. M-mm! . . . so smoo-oth and fluffy! Benson's makes smoother gravies and pie-fillings and wonderful, wonderful biscuits, too! That's why I urge you to make Benson's Corn Starch a cooking "must"!

Soak Up All The Glorious Sun you want . . . feast your eyes on the brilliance of a sunny summer's day . . . but remember that sun-'n-wind can make your eyes feel tired and weary. Unless you do this: soothe tired eyes with just a drop or two of MURINE . . . works refreshingly in a jiffy. Best idea is not to wait for tired eyes to tire you—just two drops of Murine in each eye morning and night will help keep your eyes feeling wonderfully rested and refreshed! You see, Murine's skilful blend of 7 ingredients cleanses and soothes eyes that are tired from overwork or the effects of weather. That's why I urge you to ask your druggist today for Murine.

A Friend Indeed to every good cook who takes pride in her good cooking . . . and to all you homemakers who like to see your budgets balance! That's HARVEST MARGARINE . . . so daisy-fresh and so nutritious! You see, "Harvest" contains Vitamin A, the "body-building" vitamin. And—m-mmm!—"Harvest" is so good! Just taste its creamy goodness . . . spread it thick on hot rolls or bread! First taste—you'll decide happily to keep a good supply of Harvest Margarine always "on hand"! And here's a "Harvest" recipe I know you'll like . . . a savoury seasoning for vegetables . .

Melt 3 tbspns. Harvest Margarine. Add 1 tbspn. lemon juice, ½ tspn. salt and 2 tbspns. chopped parsley. Particularly good over tiny whole cooked carrots.

Meal Planning Is More Important Than Ever . . . with today's high cost of food making every penny and every calorie count! That's why I urge you to make a breakfast habit of smooth, delicious "CREAM OF WHEAT"! It's so good . . . and so good for you—for 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" contains Iron, Calcium and Phosphorous for diets deficient in these elements. So quick 'n easy to make, too—takes just five minutes of boiling for full digestibility. And, of course, there's that wonderful "Cream of Wheat" flavour—famous for more than fifty years! It'll be a favourite with your family . . . so order soon . . . and serve for Summer breakfasts like this—topped with—

A sprinkle of maple or brown sugar and cream or milk . . . or a heaping tablespoon of pureed apricots.

The Beginning Of A Wonderful Friendship! . . . that's what I'm willing to bet will be the result of this Taste Test! Buy a can of Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup and compare it with any other brand. Serve half helpings of each to your family, calling them No. 1 and No. 2. Then get their verdict. If the result is anything like the results of five, similar but large-scale taste tests—the favourite will be Heinz! In the most recent of these tests, 48 clubwomen out of 52, voted Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup first choice! Their comments were "perfect!"—"more homelike"—"richer flavour"—"delicious"! Why not ask your grocer for any one of the delicious HEINZ CONDENSED SOUPS tomorrow? Begin a long Heinz friendship!

It's A Gay Time — A Play Time . . . a time to travel—to meet new people and make new friends—that's your Summer holiday! It's a time to be sure of your popularity by being sure of your daintiness! Don't ever risk offending due to perspiration odour . . . particularly when this calamity is so easy to avoid with regular use of NONSPI! Tuck wonderful Nonspi into your vacation-bag. Nonspi is a truly effective liquid anti-perspirant . . . it's a personal deodorant to help you enjoy carefree days of Summer play and sports! So safe to use—won't harm fabrics—won't irritate your skin—Nonspi has the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval. Get Nonspi at any drugstore! You'll find it's so very simple to apply with its convenient, completely sanitary applicator!

For Real Refreshment on a hot Summer's day, treat yourself to a Woodbury Beauty Bath with WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP! Leaves your skin smooth-as-satin! Leaves you beauty complexion all-over! For Woodbury Facial Soap contains a smoothing beauty-cream ingredient—used in fine face creams. The lather is extra-mild—extra-rich . . . it leaves no dry, taut feeling—no "skin-burn"! Your shoulders, your arms look so soft in "Summer exposure" frocks. Another Woodbury "plus", the little booklet, wrapped with each cake of Woodbury Facial Soap. It gives specialized instructions for daily care of dry, normal or oily skin! Yes, Woodbury Facial Soap is truly a bargain in beauty!

Captured! All the glorious freshness of sun-ripened fruits, picked at the peak of flavour and colour. That's what you have when you make jams and jellies with CERTO Fruit Pectin. For Certo is the natural substance in fruits that makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell" So only a short boil is necessary — no need to concentrate the juice to "jellying stage" With Certo recipes, results are sure and you get 50% more jam and jelly from the same amount of fruit. Just follow exactly the recipes under the label of each Certo bottle.

Super-Burgers For Your Summer Picnicking! Make them extra-good, extra-nourishing — with LIBBY'S EVAPORATED MILK! Here's how:—

Mix 1 lb. hamburger with ½ cup Libby's Evaporated Milk, 2 tspns. salt, pepper to taste and ½ cup crumbled "blue" cheese. Shape into patties. Broil.

You'll find that any recipe that calls for milk is richer, better-tasting when you use Libby's! You see, Libby's is so rich it whips. All the original cream is left in this fine, country-fresh milk as it goes to the evaporator where half the water is removed. It's so economical, too! One cup mixed with an equal amount of water gives 2 cups (1 pint) of creamy-rich milk!

Romance comes to the petal-smooth hand of Nancy Gordon!

Today's Smartest Soap Buy! Goes farther—lasts longer—actually costs less to use!

...THE THRIFTY WAY TO SMOOTHER, SOFTER, LOVELIER HANDS!

CHIPSO'S SO MILD . . . it helps hands that are rough and red from washing dishes with strong granulated soaps. Yes—Chipso's gentle and kind!

CHIPSO'S FAST, LONG-LASTING SUDS cut into grease and "caked-on" food in no time—leave dishes, glassware, pots and pans dazzling!

THRIFTY CHIPSO is more economical—ounce for ounce—than leading strong granulated soaps. It beats them all for safety, sudsing, and cleaning power combined! For extra convenience and economy—buy the new GIANT size!

Chipso—the thrifty way to pamper your hands!

Buyers' Market Likely In Fall

NEW YORK, July 14 (CP)—Henry Ford II said Wednesday that higher wages now for automobile workers would be a great mistake, because this fall there will be a buyers' market in the United States.

The president of the Ford Motor Company discussed the United Auto Workers (CIO) demand for a fourth-round wage boost. He arrived from Europe on the Queen Elizabeth.

"We're going to be in a buyers' market this fall and we can't keep prices down if wages go up," he said.

But James B. Carey, C.I.O. secretary-treasurer and another passenger on the Elizabeth, took a different view:

"The only way to bring about a buyers' market is to assure adequate purchasing power to the public."

He said there isn't any buyers' market now because prices are too high.

Ford was returning from disdollar shortage. He said the situcussions in England on the British tion has cut Ford production there because American machinery for model changes must be bought with dollars.

2 Horses Burned

Hobby Show Features Circus and Tiny Sawmill

TORONTO, July 14 (CP)—A circus, a sawmill and a raceway are all under the same roof here this week.

They are part of the sprawling exhibition of Canadian and American hobbies being shown at Toronto's Exhibition Park Coliseum. About a foot high they could get into a medium-size living room. What's more, they all work—in miniature.

The circus, brainchild of Nova Scotian J. (Pop) Barrett, is the top attraction of the show. It covers some 1,000 square feet and is crammed with everything from the hula dancer to the good old merry-go-round.

Barrett, a 57-year-old circus man from New Glasgow, N.S., says he built the "greatest show on earth" to "get the fever out of my blood after 17 years as a circus man." So far he's spent a total of 22 years working on that fever.

Up at the other end of the crowded hobby show floor, Phil Quelch fascinates old and young with his scale replica of a British Columbia sawmill. Under his watchful eye, the whistle toots and five minutes later a miniature pile of planks rolls off the conveyor belt.

Quelch, a 35-year-old bandsaw filer from Vancouver Island, built the mill in his spare time from such things as sewing machine parts, cream separators and pieces of an old player piano. He says he used nothing but scrap wood for the project and is still adding machines after seven years of spare-time puttering.

Toronto's Kiwanis Club has the race track. It got the hobby idea from United States university students. Tiny tanks of pressurized carbon dioxide gas send style model racing cars whizzing down the track at speeds of more than 100 miles an hour. When they can find a long enough raceway they say they can top 150, with a tail-wind.

Plan To Hold 1st Symposium On Can. Music

VANCOUVER, July 14—(CP)—An energetic step toward a Canadian musical nationalism was taken here today with the announcement of the Dominion's first "symposium of Canadian music."

Sponsored by the Vancouver Arts Council and the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, the symposium is designed as a sounding board for the best compositions that Canadian musicians have to offer.

Jacques Singer, Vancouver symphony conductor, said he is enthusiastic about the program's possibilities.

"Canadian artists who have had great difficulty in having works performed will be able to submit their compositions to the symposium and give the public a chance to hear something of the country's musical potential," he said in an interview.

"If we can make the program a success in the musical field there is no reason why it shouldn't become an annual festival embracing all the cultural arts."

Held in February

Tentative dates for the three-day program are February 12, 13 and 14.

Works from Canadian composers such as John Wienzweig, whose symphonic poem "Steel Bonds" has received much attention in musical circles, Claud Champagn, Barbara Pentland and Cleremont Pepin are expected, Mr. Singer said.

The symposium will include choral, symphonic, chamber and string ensemble works, interspersed with forum periods when composers will outline the inspiration behind their music and its technical development.

Canadian artists, instrumental and vocal, will be invited to attend and perform the compositions.

Smaller concerts of chamber music for quartettes, quintettes, sonatas and solos will be climaxed with a concert of symphonic entries by the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra conducted by the composer or Mr. Singer.

SHOOTS PERFECT SCORE—S/Sgt. Martin Ostergaard of Calgary shot a perfect 35 at the 200-yard range in the first stage of the King's prize competition at the annual Commonwealth rifle shoot at Bisley, Surrey. More Canadians than ever before qualified for the second stage of the biggest event of the meet.

Consider Sabotage Theory After Strange Rail Wreck

OWEN SOUND, July 15—(CP)—Railway police are investigating the derailment of a locomotive and three boxcars of a freight train on the outskirts of Owen Sound early today which injured three members of the train crew. Railway officials said that a preliminary investigation showed that the train plowed through an open switch.

But they said they could not understand why the switch was open since all railway workers in the vicinity denied turning it.

The locomotive's three-man crew leaped from the cab as the engine crashed over a small embankment. The engine ended up on its side in a ditch, with clouds of scalding steam gushing from its smashed boiler.

Three Cars Telescoped

The three boxcars telescoped, tearing up about 25 yards of rails and ties and came to rest across the right of way.

Engineer William Vasey, 58, of Owen Sound, and fireman M. E. Platten, of Toronto, leaped from one side of the cab when the locomotive began to leave the rails. Brakeman J. B. Standing, Toronto, followed closely behind.

Vasey suffered a fractured knee and Standing a dislocated shoulder. Both were taken to hospital in Owen Sound.

Early reports said one of the derailed cars was filled with dynamite. It was later learned it contained matches.

Jailed Two Years For Armed Break-in

SUDBURY, July 15—(CP)—"You might well have been standing trial here for murder," Magistrate Willard Cooper told Nelson Perriaud, 34-year-old Foleyet bushman in Sudbury district court Thursday. He sentenced Perriaud to two years less a day on two charges, sentences to run concurrently.

Perriaud was charged with carrying an offensive weapon—a 12-guage shotgun—and breaking into the store of J. Robert and Sons in Foleyet with intent to commit theft on June 26.

A married man with three small children, Perriaud was convicted in Foleyet last week. Evidence was that he had threatened to kill Provincial Constable Don Atam, after breaking into the store to steal the gun.

Ban Fall Appearance Of Kirsten Flagstad

SAN FRANCISCO, July 15 (AP)—Trustees of the San Francisco War Memorial Opera House late Thursday banned the scheduled autumn appearances of Wagnerian soprano Kirsten Flagstad.

In a resolution the trustees said the action was taken "because of the controversial character of her public appearances elsewhere in the United States."

At a public hearing before the board, Judge Milton D. Sapiro, representing the American Legion, opposed the soprano's singing in the Opera House because of her activities during the war. She flew to Norway via Germany in the fall of 1941 to be with her husband, Henry Johansen, a wealthy lumberman.

2 Tennis Stars Flee From Reds

GSTAAD, Switzerland, July 15.—(AP) Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, Czechoslovakia's top tennis stars, rejected today a Czech government order to return to Prague. They announced they were going into exile and hoped to reach the United States.

The two players had withdrawn from the Swiss international tournament Thursday after the Czech government withdrew permission to play here because two Germans and a Spaniard were competing.

This morning they announced they would play out the remainder of the tournament.

In a statement issued on behalf of the two Czech players and in their presence by Ernst Scherz, head of the tournament organizing committee, the players said:

"We wish to state that we are sportsmen devoted to tennis and in no way connected with politics. We therefore have decided to respect Swiss hospitality and shall play to the end of the Swiss championship tournament at Gstaad. Nobody can prevent us from following our sporting ambitions, all less so because we have decided to go to the United States."

Drobny, his country's top player and one of the best in the world, had advanced to the semi-finals and Cernik had been slated to oppose Yugoslavia's Franjo Puncec in a quarter-finals match. Puncec thus advanced all the way to the finals.

Send Deputy Treasurer On Good-Will Mission

TORONTO, July 15 (CP) — Premier Frost said today that Dr. Chester S. Walters, Deputy Treasurer and Comptroller of the Treasury, is leaving Saturday for Newfoundland on a good-will mission from this province.

He will carry a letter from the Premier of Ontario to the Premier of Newfoundland and the first Lieutenant-Governor of Canada's new province, Sir Albert Joseph Walsh.

Troops Begin Loading Export Cargo

Union Leaders Try To Effect Settlement Of Strike

LONDON, July 15 — (CP) — Troops today started loading export cargoes for the first time on the Thames River docks where a wildcat strike has paralyzed shipping for 19 days and made 14,419 stevedores idle.

Some of the 6,000 troops assigned to the government-seized docks went to work on 10,000 tons of waiting automobiles, steel, pianos and other freight.

Others continued unloading food shipments from 17 more of the 134 ships tied up by the stoppage.

Pickets at the docks distributed leaflets urging the strikers to joint a demonstration march from the waterfront to downtown Trafalgar Square Sunday.

Meanwhile, leaders of the two unions representing the idle dockers met with labor ministry conciliator Sir Robert Gould for new efforts to settle the whole dispute.

After the meeting, the unions summoned their full executive committee to meet Sir Robert late today.

Try For Settlement

The leaders issued a statement Thursday night after a three-hour session with an unofficial committee of the Wildcat strikers. They said they would "explore all avenues to "effect a settlement" of the crippling strike.

Meanwhile, service men continued to go into the miles of wharves to bring off food and other perishables.

Officials, running the docks under a state of emergency declared by the King, said that by today there would be some 7,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen manning the docks.

Britain's motor industry said the dock stoppage was crippling its export of some 5,000 cars, trucks and tractors weekly through the London waterfront.

Both government members and Conservatives in Parliament have condemned the stoppage.

First reinforcements to arrive today were a group of 1,500 RAF personnel who moved into the dockland area shortly after dawn. The service men today were working about 55 ships—10 more than Thursday.

Transportation Unions Refuse To Back CSU

MONTREAL, July 15 (CP) — Frank Hall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (A.F.L.) spokesman for 16 international railway brotherhoods in Canada, announced today a telegram had been sent to Prime Minister Attlee that "the transportation unions in Canada are not supporting the Canadian Seamen's Union."

The telegram to the United Kingdom Prime Minister said that the attitude of the London dockers striking in support of the alleged Communist-led C.S.U. is based on misinformation.

A copy of the telegram was also sent to Arthur Deakin, general secretary of the Transport and General Workers Union in London.

Lively Buenos Aires Quints Keeping Everyone On Hop

BUENOS AIRES, July 15 (AP) —The Diligenti's "five young imps"—as their father calls the quintuplets—are six today . . . six years old, that is.

Their household will realize it better Saturday because they are in school today. Franco Diligenti, parental boss of the two boys and three girls, postponed their sixth anniversary party so the hilarity would not interfere with their education.

Franco Jr., Carlos Albert, Maria Fernanda, Maria Esther and Maria Cristina Diligenti—the precocious and peppy youngsters—are expected to keep a large staff of servants on the go when they celebrate. Papa Diligenti says they really tear the house apart when they get started.

They all speak English and French and their mother's native tongue, Italian, in addition to Spanish. But they are not bookworms.

They will be separated for schooling next year—the boys attending one school and the girls another.

"I couldn't inflict those five young imps on one boarding school,' says Diligenti, wealthy textile manufacturer. "They all would be packed home within a couple of days."

Plan Trip To Moon

TORONTO, July 15—(CP)—Boris Dyke, vice-president of the Canadian Rocket Society, said today the first rocket trip from the earth to the moon will probably be possible "in about 10 years." "That is the date we are working towards," Mr. Dyke said in an interview. ". . The flight itself can be accomplished by spending about $5,000,000 although preliminary research and trials will cost hundreds of millions."

Get 106 Bottles Of Plasma For Injured Men

TORONTO, July 15 — (CP) — Responding to emergency appeals, the Canadian Red Cross and Toronto General Hospital today supplied 100 bottles of blood plasma for physicians fighting to keep alive four men burned critically in a flash fire and explosion yesterday at Brantford.

The Red Cross provided 90 bottles and the hospital 16 for Brantford doctors treating the four men, Bill Ritchie, Harold Glenholme, Donald McKay and Jack Wood. At least two are understood to be dying.

The requests, coming quickly in a search for the life-saving fluid, were received through the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board. Some of the plasma was rushed to Brantford by Compensation Board officials and some was speeded there by a Red Cross ambulance.

The bottles contain about a pint of plasma each.

The explosion occurred in the mixing room of the Canadian Durex Abrasives plant.

Bell Telephone Seeks Increase

MONTREAL, July 15.—(CP).—The Bell Telephone Company announced Thursday that it "will be compelled to seek authority to increase its rates for service."

The company, in a prepared statement, released a copy of a letter from Frederick Johnson, president, to shareholders in which he referred to previous advices that "the high level of operating expenses and the increased cost of new plant and equipment would eventually compel us to seek authority to increase our rates for service."

The proposed rate increase would affect Quebec and Ontario where the company operates.

The company, because it has a Federal charter, will seek authority for the increase from the Transport Board.

Falls In Log Chute Girl 16 Only Bruised

LIMBOUR, Que., July 15—(CP)—A sixteen-year-old girl fell into a pulpwood-filled log chute Thursday and was carried down the chute for nearly a quarter of a mile and dumped into the swirling water of the Gatineau River.

Alice Carriere was pulled from the river by 39-year-old Gaston Joanette of Hull as she clutched a log of pulpwood in the river.

The girl's hand was blistered from trying to clutch the sides of the chute. Her arms and feet were bruised where logs bumped into her, but she was not seriously injured.

Algae Not Dangerous To Human Beings

TORONTO, July 15 (CP) — Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, said today the deadly anabaena algae which for the second year has killed prize cattle on the shores of Lake Sturgeon, near Fenelon Falls, is not dangerous to human beings.

Dispersed throughout the water the algae is not even dangerous to cattle he said. Only in concentrated form in the shore shallows where it ferments in the sun and is drunk by animals does the blue-green algae cause almost instantaneous death to animals.

British Act Provisional, Will Improve

Just Haven't Got Wherewithal To Buy From Canada

LONDON, July 15. (CP)—Other members of the sterling area "unquestionably" will follow Britain's lead in reducing imports from dollar countries, Finance Minister Douglas Abbott of Canada said today.

"They haven't got what you have to use for money," he told newspaper men tersely.

The Canadian minister made his comments at a press conference called to discuss the significance for Canada of the announcement by Britain that 1949-50 purchases from dollar areas will be cut by 25 per cent.

Abbott said he doubts whether these cuts— which he stressed are provisional — will have any immediate adverse effect on Canada's trade. All existing contracts will be honored. But in the long run, the dominion "will feel it, there's no question about that."

Follow The Leader

In reply to a question whether other sterling-area countries will follow suit in reducing their expenditures in Canada, Abbott said the answer is "undoubtedly in the affirmative."

He said he sometimes is "stunned and astonished" by the high regard in which Canada is held by some sterling countries. He mentioned specifically Ceylon and India.

"They all want to buy all they can from Canada, there's no doubt about that," he said, "but they haven't got the wherewithal."

Throughout the conference, the Canadian minister made it clear that Britain's new austerities are projected and provisional.

The problem was as simple as this: The United Kingdom had to face the "brutal fact" that in case of countries as well as individuals "you must produce enough to pay for what you consume."

"What we are trying to do is help the United Kingdom find a way of living within her means," said Abbott.

Officer Cadets Get Revenge

CAMBERLEY, Surrey, England, July 15. (CP)—A gun carriage drawn by 40 officer cadets from the nearby Royal Military Academy at Sandhurst rolled slowly from the academy into Camberley at 5:30 a.m. yesterday.

Proceeding at a slow march and intoning dirges, the hauling party and a uniformed escort paraded through the main street of Camberley and stopped in front of the Arcade Movie Theatre, one mile from the college.

There in the full view of early morning traffic the officer cadets unstrapped from the gun carriage an army-type bed. In it was tied Senior Under-Officer N. A. D. McCance, a 20-year-old Scot — the victim of the cadets' annual gat play.

McCance was left lashed to the bed in the theatre entrance. In front of the bed was a label: "On Show: Senior Under-Officer. Do Not Touch."

The party then quick-marched back to Sandhurst.

Big 3 Steel Stand Cracks Before Truman

WASHINGTON, July 15 (AP) —The "big three" stand against accepting President Truman's peace plan for the steel industry cracked today. Bethlehem announced it would go along. This change of heart by the country's second biggest steel company raised hopes of government officials that they would ward off the steel strike set to begin at midnight tonight.

In Pittsburgh, officials of United States Steel Corporation, the No. 1 producer, were in a huddle over a refusal by Truman to modify his plan and a renewed request from him that they accept it.

May Crack Down

SYDNEY, Australia, July 15—(CP)—The government may declare a state of emergency and order miners back to the pits if other methods fail to end the country-wide coal strike, authoritative sources said today. The New South Wales government began moving coal by rail today from the northern fields to Sydney despite the protests of striking miners. Some 300 police were on hand when the first coal train pulled out of Cessnock, 120 miles north of Sydney. There was no disorder.

W. E. Hamilton Appointed To Cabinet Job

TORONTO, July 15 (CP) — W. E. Hamilton of Guelph, has been appointed Minister of Reform Institutions in the Ontario Cabinet and will be sworn in this morning, it was learned authoritatively today.

Mr. Hamilton, 47, Progressive Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature for Wellington South, succeeds Hon. George Dunbar, Minister for Municipal Affairs who has been holding the reform portfolio in an acting capacity since the provincial election last June.

With his entry into the Cabinet, Mr. Hamilton also will be appointed a member of the Provincial Treasury Board.

One Vacancy

His Cabinet appointment leaves only one vacancy now remaining in the council—the post of Minister of Education. It is now held in an acting capacity by Attorney-General Dana Porter.

Premier Frost was Education Minister before he became head of the government.

Mr. Dunbar had been Minister of Reform Institutions before last year's provincial election.

Mr. Hamilton first entered the Legislature in the 1945 provincial election and was re-elected last year. He contested the 1943 provincial contest, but was defeated.

He is branch manager at Guelph for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada and long has been prominent in civic affairs there. A native of Guelph, he was educated at Guelph public school, Guelph Collegiate and the Ontario Agricultural College.

Certain Exceptions Made In Pope's Ban

VATICAN CITY, July 15 (AP) —Persons whose work requires them to read Communist publications may do so without incurring penalty under the Roman Catholic Church's new ban, but these persons first must obtain permission from their confessors for such reading.

A Vatican source gave this interpretation today of the decree approved by Pope Pius excommunicating Communists and forbidding Roman Catholics to expose themselves to Communist doctrines.

A journalist, a scholar, a government worker or any other person whose work requires contact with Communist writings would be given permission as a matter of course by his or her confessor or parish priest. It would be necessary to ask such permission only once, the informant said.

Truman Puts Secrecy Ban On Mystery Conference With Army, Atom Leaders

Impressive List of 16 Officials Talk Behind Locked Doors, Hint Atomic Weapons Under Discussion

WASHINGTON, July 15—(AP)—A White House shield of secrecy today threw a tight cover over a mysterious conference which brought President Truman together with top military, atomic, diplomatic and congressional leaders. For two hours and 33 minutes these men—the list was impressive—were together behind closed doors Thursday night in Blair House, the president's temporary home.

There was no announcement of what went on. However, the identity of the participants pointed strongly toward some development in the atomic weapons field on an international level.

The New York Herald Tribune says in a Washington dispatch that the meeting concerned "the advisability of continuing to exchange classified atomic energy data with Britain and Canada.

The 16 men who conferred with Truman were close-mouthed as they left. What little they did reply to reporters' questions could be summed up:

"If anything is going to be said, the President will say it."

Truman wasn't talking. There was no sign that he would later.

No Talking

The conference threw open the doors to wide areas of speculation.

This was because of the secrecy that surrounded everything, even though it could be that nothing sensational was involved.

Those at the meeting included State Secretary Dean Acheson, Defence Secretary Louis Johnson, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been presiding at chairman of the joint military chiefs of staff; Senator Arthur Vandenburg (representing Michigan), Republican foreign policy spokesman and member of both the Foreign Relations and Joint Atomic committees; Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (representing Iowa), a member of both groups who made the "incredible mismanagement" charges against the Atomic Energy Commission; and Chairman David E. Lilienthal, of the A.E.C.

The mystery was enhanced by an accummulating number of facts.

1. That the conference itself was never announced officially, but only acknowledged by Truman at his press conference after the news already had seeped out.

2. That the conference was held in the evening at Blair House, instead of during the day at the White House.

3. That the White House imposed a "no pictures" ban and the White House press office declared there was no statement to be forthcoming.

4. That the usual jovial vice-president Barkley was grim-faced and Senator Tyidings was cryptic to an unusual extent.

5. That, as it was disclosed eventually, there was a "gentleman's agreement" that no one but the President would say anything.

Senator Millard Tydings, of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told reporters they wouldn't want a news "beat" because "you wouldn't print it if you had for the good of the country."

CCF Expels 2 Members Opposing Pact

WINNIPEG, July 15—(CP) — The Manitoba section of the CCF Thursday night expelled from the party two of its ranking members for public utterances at variance wtih CCF policy.

A closed session of the section's 14th annual convention took the action against B. R. Richards and W. Doneleyko who made speeches criticizing the North Atlantic Security Pact after it was endorsed by the CCF national convention. Both are members of the Manitoba legislature—Mr. Richards for The Pas and Mr. Doneleyko for St. Clements.

A brief statement after the meeting said the two members "by public pronouncements and by the wholesale circulation of letters . . . had attempted to cast discrdit on the national convention, the national council, the national caucus, the provincial council and the CCF movement in general."

It added that the national convention of the party had given its approval to the plan for European recovery, called for extension of the principle of western economic union and approved the signing by Canada of the North Atlantic Pact.

The expulsion — proposed by Stanley Knowles, member of parliament for Winnipeg North centre—was in line with predictions by informed sources that the party was prepared to make all members toe the line with respect to policy matters.

However, the post-meeting statement gave no indication of any action against several lesser party members in Manitoba who last spring lent their names to a document criticizing the North Atlantic Pact.

Keays Planning Continue Fight

TORONTO, July 15 (CP)—J. P. Keays, of Belleville, described today as "puerile" the Royal Commission report which recommended his dismissal as a Provincial police constable following charges of misconduct against fellow-officers.

"I am only starting to fight," said Keays, discharged Thursday with the release of the report. "I still believe in British justice and I am only trying to clear my name."

Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay, the Royal Commissioner who investigated the charges in 26 days of public hearing at Belleville earlier this year, recommended that Keays be dismissed and two other officers be retired.

Canada Looks To US For Immigrants

European Barriers Against Emigration Cutting Off People

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—Canada probably will turn more and more to the United States as a source of immigrants during the next few years because of barriers raised against emigration from many countries of Europe, a resources department official said today.

The government has not yet taken any steps for an "exceptional" program aimed at encouraging United States citizens to come to this sparsely populated country, but the immigration department is examining all possible sources of new citizens.

The field from which Canada can choose immigrants in Europe "is much smaller than it ever was," he said, because of the barriers erected by the countries in which prospective immigrants are located.

An indication that the field is narrowing is seen in the fact that immigrants from abroad this year will number 100,000, compared with 125,000 in 1948.

Several factors are discouraging the movement of United Kingdom citizens to Canada. For one thing they can take only a small amount of money — $1,500 spread over four years—out of the country.

Since the war many of Canada's new citizens have come from countries behind the Iron Curtain, and from France, Belgium, Holland and Scandanavia. All these countries except Holland now are discouraging emigration.

The Displaced Persons groups, which supplied many immigrants from various part of Europe, have fairly well been reduced to persons who cannot meet Canada's immigration standards. Besides, the D.P.s are admitted only when there are employers ready to guarantee them employment for one year.

British Cut In Imports New Problem

Get More Markets Or Cut Production Dominion Alternative

OTTAWA, July 15 (CP)—Canada may lose from $60,000,000 to $80,000,0000 this year as a result of decreased British imports from dollar areas.

That estimate was made by an informed official Thursday after Sir Stafford Cripps announced in London that the United Kingdom will cut imports from dollar countries by 25 per cent this year.

There was no official comment from the Canadian government — Trade Minister Howe said he wanted to think the announcement over and Finance Minister Abbott, in London for talks with Commonwealth Finance Ministers, withheld comment.

But Canada had expected to sell the UK merchandise worth $680,000,000 this year. That figure may fall to $600,000,000.

Sir Stafford singled out these commodities for the cuts: newsprint, timber, tobacco and nonferrous metals. Canada is a big supplier of all of them.

The Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement—worth $380,000,000 to Canada in 1949-50—will not be affected. Neither will other contracts calling for the sale of 160,000,000 pounds of bacon, 50,000,000 pounds of cheese and 1,500,000 cases of eggs.

Other Worries

The cut in British imports came as Canada was running into increasing resistance to sales of manufactured goods overseas. A government official said the British move might force some Canadian manufacturers to curtail activity and possibly reduce their staffs.

Canada was left with the alternative of finding new markets or reducing production. The Dominion already has started investigating the possibility of new markets in South America.

Sir Stafford said buying of nonferrous metals would be decreased one-quarter and pulp and paper imports would be sliced by one-third.

Last year Canada sold the UK $131,600,000, wor the of non-ferrous metals and products and approximately $70,000,000 worth of pulp and paper products.

The British Chancellor of the Exchequer did not say whether cuts would be made in purchases of Canada tobacco. Canada had expected to sell $8,000,000 worth of tobacco to Britain during the year.

Truman To Ignore Steel Plant Request

WASHINGTON, July 15.—(AP).— The White House indicated today that President Truman will ignore or reject the United States Steel Corporation's request for a fact-finding board minus any recommendation power in the threatened steel strike.

With the walkout due to start at midnight, the President was reported ready to name a three-man board empowered to recommend settlement — despite continued rejection of the idea by the industry's three major producers in the United States. These are United States Steel, Bethlehem and Republic.

United States Steel, producer of more than twice as much of the metal as its nearest competitor, asked Thursday night for a board empowered only to make a factual report on the wage-pension dispute with the United Steelworkers (C.I.O.).

Fire Destroys $10,000 Barn

BONARLAW, July 15 — (ENS) Warrington Hay, well-known farmer of 11th Concession, Seymour Township, near Healey Falls, mour Township, near Stanwood, suffered a heavy loss at about 8.00 Thursday night when the large barn on his property was completely destroyed by fire. The barn and its contents were valued at around $10,000 partly covered by insurance. Cause of the fire is unknown, but it is thought that it might have been caused by a spark from the gasoline motor which operated the milking machine.

Mr. Hay and his wife were eating their supper when they heard a sudden roaring sound. On looking out the window they saw the barn blazing fiercely.

By the time the fire was discovered it was too late to save the building. There was no wind blowing at the time or it is believed it would have been impossible to have saved the house. A truckload of water was brought from the Crowe River and kept in readiness in case the fire did spread but it was not needed.

Lost in the fire were a brand new tractor, a sow and litter of small pigs, 20 tons of hay, 350 bushels of grain, 75 hens, and the milking machine. Mr. Hay attempted to salvage the tractor and sustained painful burns about the head.

A brooder house containing between 200 and 300 chickens was saved through the efforts of a group of neighboring farmers, who moved the building bodily down the field beyond reach of the flames.

In addition to the barn, a small milker house also went up in flames. The barn was about 25 years old, but was quite modern in its equipment.

Formerly of Peterborough, Mr. Smith was a postman on R.R. No. 5 for 12 years. He died at the age of 73 after a short illness. Born in Lakehurst he was married there in 1907 to Elizabeth Fawcett. At one time Mr. Smith was a farmer.

Surviving are his wife, two sons, Ross of Peterborough and Donald of Hamilton, and two daughters, Grace of Hamilton and Gladys (Mrs. C. Bingleman), of Sudbury. Brothers and sisters also surviving are: Robert and Elizabeth (Mrs. Stewart) of Bobcaygeon, Walter of Lakehurst, Gwen (Mrs. C. F. Rutherford) of Toronto and May (Mrs. William Ferguson) of Saskatoon.

Leaving Comstock's Funeral Home Saturday, the funeral will take place at Knox chmurch, Lakehurst, with burial in Sandy Lake cemetery. The officiating clergyman will be the Rev. H. Kaye.

Chiang Seizes Ship

HONG KONG, July 15—(AP)—Foreign shippers may think twice before sending their vessels into Communist China ports in the future. The reason: Nationalist confiscation of the ships. Nationalist China seized the Portugese registered motor vessel Wareemba a month ago at Swatow because it had made a trip to the small Shantung-Peninsula port of Shihtao, under Red control.

Seize 160 Beer Cases

TORONTO, July 15 (CP) — Provincial Police Thursday night seized 160 cases of beer and a slot machine at the Cooksville Club at nearby Cooksville in Peel County, a dry area under the Canada Temperance Act. No charges were laid.

FUNERAL SATURDAY

Funeral of James Joseph Neary of Peterborough who died Wednesday will be from the Duffus Funeral home at 9.45 a.m. Saturday to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. He leaves his wife, a daughter, Margaret of Peterborough; three sons, John of Peterborough, Raymond of Hamilton and Vernon of Toronto; two brothers, Frank of Peterborough and Patrick of Detroit; and two sisters, Mrs. Vincent Hickey (Margaret) and Mrs. Robert Bannerman (Mary) both of Detroit.

PROOF THAT EUROPEANS like good Canadian music is contained in the clipping held by Alexander Brott, noted Montreal composer, who arrived this week aboard the Empress of France. They tell of his successful tour presenting the works of nine Canadian composers.

Reds Turn On Charm Lift Truck Blockade

BERLIN, July 15—(AP)—The Russians, turning on the charm, Thursday lifted their "little blockade" of West Berlin.

The main highway from the western Allied zones, running from Helmstedt to Berlin, was crowded with Berlni-bound German trucks after five days of Soviet slow-down tactics at the zonal border.

With truck traffic back toward normal, British sources disclosed the first reductions in the Anglo-American air-lift fleet. More air-lift cutbacks are to be made as trains, trucks and barges boost their supply shipments.

The Russians ended the slow-down blockade, which had cut truck traffic at Helmstedt to four vehicles an hour, as mysteriously as they started it—without an official explanation.

Prices Weaken Slowly Under Mild Pressure

TORONTO, July 15 (CP) — Prices weakened slowly under mild selling pressure here today. Current financial discussions in London tended to depress the market as losses slowly increased and widened as the session progresed. Industrials and base metals showed the sharpest declines while golds barely moved to edge lower.

An opening burst of selling pressures sent industrial issues sliding downwards a they more than lost Thursday's late advances. Losses ranged from fractions to a point over a steadily widening list. Some issues went against the trend in early dealings, chalking up gains that were lost in mid-session.

Consolidated Smelters held against early pressure in base metals, but dipped 1½ at 93½ at the half-way mark. A wide list of issues were down as the group became jittery over the United Kingdom's planned cuts in imports of non-ferrous metals.

Junior gold producers showed declines ranging up to five cents Central Porcupine Mines featured following drill results, Thursday the stock climbed strongly but realizing sales tended to reduce the advantage.

Sawyer Loses Foot

Lenard McCauley, 41, of Coe Hill, had his left foot cut off this morning by a power saw while he was cutting logs at Joe Sexsmith's mill at Egan Creek, about 12 miles south-east of Bancroft. The victim was rushed to the Red Cross hospital in Bancroft by Bill Wheeler. Dr. S. S. Lumb who attended him, said his condition was "favorable" considering the accident.

It is not yet known how the mishap occurred. McCauley is the sawyer at the mill and the father of three children.

Finds Old Coin

A bonus of one cent was gained by Allan Earle, resident near Millbrook, while digging an excavation at Ron Isbester's South Montghan, for the purpose of installing a gas tank.

It may be slightly more than that for it was a coin dated 1837 valued at a penny at the date of issue and was legal tender in Lower Canada (Quebec). The Millbrook Reporter says it might be worth about 25 cents. Another coin of this vintage, though not the same, was unearthed by Clarence McIvor in the same district a short time ago.

The news item warns that people should not start frantically digging for old coins in the hope of bringing to light an 1804 American Silver Dollar. Only three specimens are known to exist; two of them are accounted for and the third is supposed to have been lost at sea.

Drop Supplies In Arctic Circle

EDMONTON, July 15—(CP)—Members of Edmonton's 435 transport squadron of the RCAF made the first parachute supply drop of the year to Cambridge Bay Post, 160 miles inside the Arctic Circle.

An air force spokesman said today a Dakota aircraft dropped 4,000 pounds of food and mail to the tiny outpost Wednesday after a flight from Edmonton.

The supply drop is made yearly between summer and winter seasons when planes are unable to land. Some supplies were landed June 20 when an aircraft went there to take the advance poll in the Federal general election.

Members of the crew included FO. Jack Whitelaw, Toronto; LAC. Charles McLaughlin, Collingwood and two RCASC men, Ptes. Howard Beach, Stouffville, and Cliff Taylor, Montreal.

Man Badly Burned Lighting Gas Oven

Lighting a gas oven in the cooking room of the Canada Packers Limited shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday afternoon, Clarence Crouter, 399 Edison Ave., received burns on the hands, arms and face when the flames flared up. Rushed to the Clinic the doctors decided to take him to the Civic Hospital where his burns were dressed.

Dr. Robert Bell, the doctor attending Mr. Crouter, said Thursday that Mr. Crouter had received second degree burns on the arms, hands and face and would be in the hospital indefinitely. He added that Mr. Crouter's left hand was the most seriously burnt.

Hearing of his father's accident, Walter Crouter, announcer at Station CFRB, Toronto, came directly to Peterborough. He returned to Toronto Thursday night.

Posse Hunts Wildcat

ST. CATHARINES, July 15—(CP)—A black-spotted wildcat reported seen in this area will be hunted today by a posse of 100 riflemen. Four persons said they saw the yellow-coated cat in wooded areas. Police Chief Norman Fach of Gratham Township said a posse will encircle the Niagara escarpment game preserve in an attempt to flush the wildcat.

Great Oil Prospects

WINNIPEG, July 15—(CP)—Canada's rapidly-developing oil projects should solve the country's shortage of United States dollars within two years and help Canada on its way to becoming "a vast empire by itself," Laurence Steinhardt, American Ambassador to Canada, predicted Thursday. He said crude and refined oil made up almost 20 per cent of Canada's total exports.

Train Runs Again

LONDON, July 15 (Reuters)—The first passenger express from Peiping to Shanghai since the Communists took over the two cities has arrived at Shanghai with 550 passengers, a Communist New China news agency broadcast picked up in London reported.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Constable Claire McGillen was right on the spot when two cars collided at the intersection of Park and Lansdowne Sts. during Thursday's five o'clock rush hour. He was directing traffic when J. J. Monaghan, 493 Bioux Ave., and Frederick Clancy, R.R. 7 Peterborough, were involved in a minor collision. Clancy was turning into Lansdowne St. when the right rear wheel of his car was struck by Monaghan's car. Clancy's wheel was bent and Monaghan's front left fender was dented.

Field Crops In Canada In Worse Condition Than In Summer of 1948

OTTAWA, July 15—(CP)—Field crops in Canada were in worse condition at the end of June than they were at the same time last year. But the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which issued that report Thursday, said it doesn't necessarily mean yields will be lower. It's considered certain, however, that western grain yields will fall below last year's figure. Only in the Maritime provinces were crop conditions better than last year. Manitoba's crop compared "favorably" with last year but in all other provinces conditions were worse.

Wheat was one of the hardest-hit crops. The wheat conditions—expressed as a percentage of the long-term average—stood at 72, compared with 95 at the same time last year.

Drought and high temperatures were blamed for damage to crops.

Over wide sections of Central Alberta, stretching east and south of Edmonton to the Saskatchewan border, wheat was rated at less than 50 per cent of average. The same rating was given for a wide stretch of Southeastern Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan.

Bureau Predictions

Earlier this week, the Bureau reported that many districts in these areas expected yields of less than 10 bushels to the acre.

Condition futures for principal field crops, with figures for the same time last year in brackets, were: oats 81 (80), barley 76 (78), rye 54 (78), peas 81 (90), beans 89 (96), Buckwheat 86 (96), mixed grains 76 (96), flaxseed 80 (83), corn for husking 90 (94), potatoes 89 (95), turnips 83 (93), hay and clover 86 (94), alfalfa 68 (92), fodder corn 88 (94), sugar beets 98 (90), pastures 80 (97).

Prospects for feed grains, fodder and pasture crops are "not good" in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Quebec and British Columbia crops were rated slightly below those at the end of June in 1948 while the condition of crops in central and western Ontario — except sugar beets — dropped sharply from last year. Sugar beets were rated higher.

Two Stray Dogs Kill 14 Turkeys

Two stray dogs raided the turkey flock of John Brown, elderly Dummer township farmer on Thursday afternoon killing 14 and badly injuring two. The turkeys were feeding in the orchard and Mr. Brown, whose age makes it difficult for him to get around, saw the dogs enter and start the slaughter. His calls for help brought no response and when he did finally reach a neighbor by telephone the slaughter had ended before he arrived.

The dogs, apparently gone wild, were very thin and they carried off the bulk of their kill. Provincial Constable R. A. Feeley investigated.

POSTPONE TOURNAMENT

Sponsored by the Canadian Order of Foresters, the softball tournament to be held in King Edward Park has been postponed. Word was received that the Oshawa and district teams would be unable to make the trip. Draws to be made at the tournament will be made at the final playoff game in August.

A. WARD SMITH — EYE TOPICS

SPLITTING THE INVISIBLE

The atom is invisible, and since the smallest cluster of atoms that can be seen under the most powerful microscope numbers about 300,000, and even then is a barely perceptible speck, how can scientists talk about splitting an atom?

Of course the scientists do not pick out a single atom and then use a sort of hatchet to cleave it. They fire bullets at collections of atoms—a bit of iron or gold, a drop of liquid, a little gas. They use not rifles but shot guns, hoping that by firing millions of bullets a few will score a hit.

These "bullets," of course, are invisible too. Actually, they are high voltage electric impulses. Even so, how do we know a hit has been scored? Of course scientists have to see something, and to do so, they use sensitive instruments which are aids to the eye, and they photograph what the instruments reveal.

The deepest secrets of science are made known to us through vision.

And even in our everyday lives, our eyes bring us over three-quarters of all our knowledge. At work, good eyesight helps us forward to daily satisfaction and a successful future. At home, good eyesight brings us the full relaxation to be found in reading and hobbies. And outdoors, walking, playing games or traveling, good eyesight gives us sixty seconds enjoyment in every minute. So keep your eyes in tip-top condition by having them examined regularly.

Appointments with Mr. Smith may be arranged by writing to A. Ward Smith, Optometrist, 341 George St., Peterborough, or by Telephone, 9397.

Reds Rage At Pope's Edict May Slash Communist Hold

ROME, July 15 (AP)—Communist-line newspapers struck bitterly at the Vatican today for reading Communists out of the Roman Catholic Church. A monumental battle of ideas was joined.

Party organs in Italy and abroad denounced the excommunication decree issued by the Pope.

"An act of hatred," said Il Paese of Rome.

"Pure totalitarianism," said the Paris L'Humanite.

"The climax of a violent provocation campaign of the Holy See against Roman Catholics who do not intend to submit to her political directives," was the view of the official Italian Communist newspaper L'Unita.

The decree, made public Thursday, cuts off from church sacraments and the society of faithful Roman Catholics all those who profess, and particularly those who defend and spread, the materialistic and anti-Christian doctrine of the Communists.

Newspapers in Roman Catholic countries of the west gave top play to the order.

Strong Pull

The loyalties of millions are at issue. On the one side is the Vatican, with the allegiance of some 330,000,000 Roman Catholics throughout the world.

On the other is the Kremlin, master of a hard core of 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 Communists in countries outside the Soviet Union. Around this are the sympathizers and fellow-travellers, strong in many of the countries' trade union movements and wielding potent political influences.

The stakes are high: the political future of Roman Catholic countries, the survival of the Roman Catholic Church in eastern Europe, and, indeed, in any country threatened with complete Communist domination.

The Vatican threatens to cut off from the sacraments those who vote with the Communists in Europe's elections.

What could this mean in France and Roman Catholic Italy? In France there are 1,000,000 members of the Communist Party—but the party won more than 5,000,000 votes in the last national elections. If French Catholics heed the orders of the Vatican, this total will be slashed.

In Italy, where, by Soviet figures, there are 2,283,000 members of the Communist Party—the strongest in Europe outside the Soviet Union—the Communists are aligned with the leftist Socialists. Italy is predominantly Roman Catholic. Strict adherence by Catholics to the orders of the Vatican would hurt the left tremendously.

In Roman Catholic Latin America, the Communist Parties claim a combined membership of 500,000 and strong political influence in labor unions.

The Economic Ills Are Chronic

It is dolorous and wearisome to have to give thought in warm lazy summer days to such matters as soft currency, hard currency, and dollar crises, but these matters plague the western world even in summertime. They must be thought about even by ordinary Englishmen whose rations are to be further restricted, by Canadians whose job in producing goods for export are affected, and by Americans who have to provide E.R.P. money and hope thereby that the world of capital they prize will return to "normality".

* * *

It is obvious now, four years after the war and more than a year of Marshall Aid dollars, that the economic plight of Britain and of other European countries is not merely a passing pain. The economic ills cannot be cured by an extra export effort nor by E.R.P. priming. Britain has increased her production amazingly. It is twenty per cent. higher than it was before the war. Britain has increased her exports. They are now within 19 per cent. of balancing imports. Despite the increased productivity, despite the great export effort, and despite hundreds of millions of American dollars which have been made available to Britain as E.R.P. Britain is still in a dangerous economic situation because of the lack of American dollars. Last week, Sir Stafford Cripps told the House of Commons that Britain was losing dollars at a rate 48 per cent faster than last year. Her gold and dollar reserves have dropped $262 million in three months. The total reserve is down to about 1.6 billion dollars, which is $400 million below the minimum Britain considers safe.

* * *

Britain is not the only country in a quandry about dollars. Canada was in a hole a year and a half ago, and now is so near the edge that the progressive relaxation of import controls on U.S.A. goods is being stopped. France and Italy are being suckled artificially. Norway is suffering a yearly trade deficit of about $200,000,000 annually, rationing is still quite strict, and very little lifting of rationing regulations is being contemplated in that country because it could not stand the drain on foreign exchange which would follow.

* * *

There is surely something deep-rootedly wrong in the whole situation. A complete change in the economic and financial structure of western civilization has come about in the last fifty years. That is owing principally to two wars which have drained Britain of her capital resources, and made the U.S.A. the world's banker, instead of Britain. This fundamental change cannot be ignored, nor can the situation be restored by plugging holes and bridging dollar gaps here and there. The American type of belief in the efficacy of the dollar and the virtues of free enterprise may prove to be anachronistic.

The problems are being studied this summer in London and Washington. Meanwhile, Britain has cut her imports from dollar countries (Canada and the U.S.A.) by a quarter, is making barter deals with Russia and the Argentine, and is holding a conference now with Commonwealth representatives, all of whom are in the sterling area except Canada. The British way out of her difficulties may be most distressing to both Canada and the United States. That way may be decided upon at the present conference, and prove to be paved with sterling, not gold.

The Cost of Counter-Espionage

Many of our readers, no doubt, have followed with interest the process by which the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation—the famous F.B.I.—tracked down and brought to trial Judith Coplon, the communist agent, and secured a conviction against her. We should like to point out how costly that process has been to the F.B.I.

We do not refer to the cost in money; it is to be expected that such investigations will cost money. We mean, rather, the number of helpers of the F.B.I. whose names appeared in connection with the Coplon trial, and who will now be known to communists, and avoided by them. Every national detective system employs a great many people occasionally; they do small jobs, they supply reports on the activities of suspected persons, and they fill in the gaps in evidence with minor but necessary details. Every time the name of one of these lesser workers becomes known his usefulness is virtually at an end. The F.B.I. had to sacrifice many helpers to convict Judith Coplon, for although she was not a particularly important communist agent she was too important to be allowed to run free.

In order that Coplon could be convicted many of her personal papers had to be produced in evidence. Some of them—one smear-sheet in particular—contained the names of a great many prominent people who are not communists, but who have been caught up in the net of espionage, nevertheless. Those people have been done a grave disservice and nothing can be done to put it right. They must simply put up with it.

All of this seems a heavy price to pay for the conviction of one minor spy. However, we are convinced that the F.B.I. counted the cost and decided that it was worth while to pay it.

The New Coif

"A shining, alive-looking coif that is a delight every minute. There's just enough curl for this summer's sleek, shimmering smooth look wherever you go". So run the lines of a fashionable New York hairdresser's advertisement in a sleek American magazine. The photograph above the lines shows a short-haired, new-fashioned young lady's head and reminds us that we are rather tardy in passing our judgment on the current style of feminine coif. It is sleek, shimmering, smooth and short. We find it fair but nothing for poetic rapture.

Poets have been touched to touch or dream of golden tresses, amber-dropping hair. Tennyson has written of "sweet girl-graduates in their golden hair". Long hair, of course, in his day, and of course, since they were girl-graduates, long-haired—the kind for book-worms, not poets. But where, O where, with the modern hair style, can one find a lovely feminine head on which to pour inspired phrases like "the odour of her wild hair"? Would Milton not have been a lesser poet had the women of his day worn the sleek, shimmering, smooth coif? Would his posterity have had these lines?—

To sport with Amaryllis in the shade,
Or with the tangles of Neaera's hair.

There are no tangles now with which to sport, even in verse. There is no

"Live hair that is Shining and free"

for a later Rupert Brooke to catalogue among his great loves.

According to Plutarch, "Lycurgus . . . used to say that long hair made good-looking men more beautiful, and ill-looking men more terrible". Men have long since stopped running the risk of appearing the one or the other. This year's women have adopted the same cautious attitude. The result is a greater uniformity, a less-tantalizing head.

But we must not be too harsh with the new hair look, even though from Homer to Rupert Brooke no poet has sung the grace of short hair. (Would Helen of Troy have launched a thousand ships with hair in the short 1949 mode?) It is practical for sporty women's summer wear, and, chiefly, it is a change. Fashion thrives on change, and we may expect the return of long hair shortly to astound men with its allure. Meanwhile, the men can be thankful that there has been no return to the 'boyish bob' of the mid-twenties.

Canadian Canvases In Boston

Wednesday, Mr. Hume Wrong, our Ambassador to the United States, officiated at the opening of an exhibition of Canadian paintings at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. It was an occasion worthy of ambassorial attendance, for this is the first large exhibition of modern Canadian painting to be held in a major American gallery. The exhibition was assembled by the National Gallery of Canada at the request of the Boston museum. About a hundred canvases are on display, representative of trends from Tom Thomson and the Group of Seven to yesterday's work of Henri Masson and Louis Muhlstock. It is an indication of the growing stature of Canadian painting that an important foreign museum will exhibit in a special large showing Canada's painters—like Franklin Carmichael, Emily Carr, A. J. Casson, Charles Comfort, Pegi Nichol Macleod, Lauren Harris and A. Y. Jackson—who, well-known at home, are, we think, deserving of larger repute abroad.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Already three times this summer my dog has had encounters with skunks, and each time has come back defeated, looking most woeful and smelling you-know-what. Is there any way to teach a dog to let skunks alone? Apparently ours does not learn from experience.

ANSWER: I suppose you could tie up your dog, but even then a skunk might skulk around after sundown on a scavenger hunt, and spray him. I do know of a way of decontaminating or deodorizing a dog. Pour tomato juice over him. In ten minutes he will be smelling unrepulsive, if not sweet. I know one family with two dogs who have gone through a case of tomato juice already this summer, putting it to such use.

It is surprising that the smell of skunk musk should be so quickly neutralized by the common tomato. Is it possible that perfume manufacturers have overlooked tomato juice as a substitute base for perfumes? The musk of skunks is of course still the basis of the very best perfumes (there are skunk farms in North Africa to supply the perfumeries), but musk is becoming increasingly more expensive and difficult to secure in sufficient quantities. Alcohols are used as substitutes, but their retaining powers are poor.

SIR: Who rides free on the Peterborough buses?

ANSWER: The blind, the Public Health Nurses (including V.O.N.), policemen, firemen, postmen, busmen, certain women working with the Children's Aid, student nurses when they are specially on Public Health Work and in the care of a V.O.N. or some such, and the occasional other person who happens to scrounge a ride by making himself obscure in a crowd entering the bus. This latter is difficult. In addition, children in arms ride free.

The blind and the nurses are supplied with passes by the Bus Company (which is, incidentally, the Border City Bus Lines, out of Windsor) on recommendation of the Institute of the Blind, or the Public Health officials. Policemen and firemen in uniform ride free by courtesy of the Company. Postmen have passes, which are paid for on a monthly basis by the Post Office department.

One other person who rides free is the secretary-accountant of the bus company office, who is, of course, known to all the bus drivers. She tells me that when some honest ladies see her getting by the driver without dropping in a ticket they cluck and tut and suspect that there is some collusion of an ignoble kind between her and the driver.

I have twice or thrice ridden on the bus when I had neither ticket nor money. However, each next time I have conscientiously given in two tickets to compensate for the 'free' ride. I do not recommend getting on a bus ticketless or coinless, even by chance. The first time I was in the awkward plight the driver gave me a forceful lecture. It amused if not instructed the whole bus load, abashed me and lasted for four blocks. Its subject was the stupidity of my getting on a bus with only a twenty-dollar bill. (As a matter of fact, I had the twenty, incredible as my story seemed to the driver.) On the second 'free' ride the driver said nothing, but his lip curled. I now prefer to endure the walk rather than the lecture or the lip-curling, for I like having neither my intelligence nor the honesty of my motives questioned by a driver in a crowded bus.

ALPHA: What are these "seven wonders of the world" to which everybody seems to add his own eighth? Even Peterborough is guilty of it, adding the Lift Lock!

ANSWER: The seven are wonders of the limited world known to the ancient Greeks, and not of the modern world. They are the seven structures regarded as the most remarkable monuments of antiquity, viz. the Egyptian pyramids, the Mausoleum at Halicarnassus, the Hanging Gardens of Bablyon, the temple of Artemis at Ephesus, the statue of Zeus by Pheidias at Olympia, the Colossus at Rhodes and the Pharos at Alexandria, or according to another list, the walls of Babylon.

Here is the list in a rhyme of unknown authorship:

The Pyramids first, which in Egypt were laid;
Next Babylon's Garden, for Amytis made;
Then Mausolos' Tomb of affection and guilt;
Fourth, the Temple of Dian in Ephesus built;
The Colossus of Rhodes, cast in brass to the Sun;
Sixth, Jupiter's statue, by Phidias done;
The Pharos of Egypt comes last, we are told,
Or the Palace of Cyrus, cemented with gold.

SIR: Would you please publish a brief biography of the Hon. C. D. Howe, including the ministries he has held?

ANSWER: The Right Honourable Clarence Decatur Howe, P.C., B.Sc., LL.D., was born Jan. 15, 1886, at Waltham, Mass., U.S.A. He came to Canada in 1908. He has five children. He was professor of civil engineering at Dalhousie University (Halifax) 1908-1913; Chief Engineer, Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada, at Fort William 1913-1916; had his own firm of consulting engineering at Port Arthur 1916-35. He was first elected to the House of Commons in 1935, and became Minister of Railways and Canals in that year. In successive King and St. Laurent cabinets he has been Minister of Transport, Minister of Munitions and Supply (1940-44), Minister of Reconstruction, 1944; of Reconstruction and Supply, 1946; Minister of Trade and Commerce, 1948, which is the portfolio he now holds. He is senior member of the Cabinet, next to the Prime Minister. He was appointed to the Imperial Privy Council (hence the word Right in front of Hon.) three years ago. He sits in the Commons for Port Arthur.

FOR THE RECORD: Nothing at all. Peterborough has been more quiet than usual this week, and so has the County. No murders, no wife-beating, no righteous wrath—except about the poor sewage disposal facilities. One farmer sold out his farm lately (keeping the house to live in). He gave as his excuse that he could not get hired help. That was nonsense. What he should have said was that he could not get hired help at ten dollars a week, and also that he had made so much money during the war that he did not need to work any longer, and had no reason to make more since he had no children to leave his property and money to. I do not blame him for selling out and taking a life of ease; I do censor him for giving a false reason.... Some tourists are catching fish, some are not. Some are buying goods in the shops; more than last year are not. When will it enter the heads of tourist-resort people that many tourists, especially women, are bored by fishing, and need other distractions? It is a good thing for the tourist industry locally that this year Peterborough offers a season of plays as an enjoyable and excellent diversion from the dull routine of fishing and bridge and gin rummy to which so many cottagers are condemned.

ARNDON VOICES ON SEWAGE

Sir: We had a skunk in our vicinity the other night. Although no one relishes the perfume of the lowly animal, it came as a relief from the filthy smell of the sewage plant.

A lot of us are new-comers and home owners in Peterborough and knew little about the past history of the sewage disposal plant but we knew plenty about the present stink. We are fed up with taking short sniffs of stench rather than deep breaths of clean smelling air. Like the old timers of Peterborough we feel action should be taken now and rid the city of this unsanitary condition. We put up with it all day and get no relief from it at night.

We appreciate the interest shown by Mr. Allan Barnes, a non-resident of the south. If he can be so keenly interested so should the City Council who is responsible to see sanitary conditions are in order.

The sewage disposal plant has long since been a proposition tabled and left over to be looked into. It will not better itself but is steadily growing worse. Why not clean it up, and make a swimming beach for the children in the south end who cannot get to the city parks unless accompanied by a parent.

Let's see some action in 1949 in ridding the city of this filthy menace!

Arndon Subdivision residents: Mr. and Mrs. W. Monette, Mr. and Mrs. John Liberty, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. LeGroulx, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Therley, Mr and Mrs. H. Pickell, H. Siddons, B. Wannmaker, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Scott, Mrs. Gladys Todd, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Szafranski, Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. John Holt, Mr. and Mrs. H. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mathison, Mr. and Mrs. A. Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Masters, Mr. and Mrs. A. Croasdale, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. James, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Vilneff, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. G. Zwicker, Mr. and Mrs. L. Sage.

WHITE GLOVE, RED LIGHT

Sir: A number of years ago, a policeman was stationed at the corner of George and Charlotte streets when traffic was heavy. Motorists and people on foot were obliged to wait for the signal of that policeman's white glove—remember those days?

Those were the days when I stood on the curb, and patiently awaited the policeman's signal; then—and then only—I walked across the street!

How I envied those lucky drivers of four-ninety Chevs and model T Fords; not to speak of Baby Grand Chevs and Buicks and others. Then I became a car owner — and traffic lights appeared in our fair city. I purchase markers; I purchase an operator's license; I purchase gasoline, tires, tubes and changes of oil; not to speak of a costly ring job once in awhile. Of course, I've lived in Peterborough for quite a spell. I've seen taxes increase; and I've paid them too!

Now, I am worse off than when I stood on the curb years ago! Now, nobody stays on the curb! (Here I would like to correct that statement.) Today, an elderly lady, wearing a smart hat did stop on the curb, at the corner of George and Simcoe streets. While a motley crew of the younger female sex watched the traffic for a chance to dash across, she calmly studied the traffic lights. She evidently knew that the motorist, who pays and pays and pays, would stop when the traffic light changed to red! When the signal light gave that elderly lady the go sign, she proceeded to cross the street. My hat is off—definitely—to that elderly woman in the smart hat! Who ever you are; congratulations and best wishes for a long life. You sure made those young things look like about two cents worth of dog-meat in my humble estimation!

Have the city police ever taken in a flagrant case of jay-walking? If they have—why has it not come out in your paper? I could finger out a flagrant case every day! Why should a motorist pay a fine for neglecting to obey a red light, when the man on foot in Peterborough, whether he's a beggar or a thief, ignores them?

While I'm on the subject, Mr. Editor, did you ever attempt to drive from Brock to King streets and hit the traffic lights at GO?

Try it sometime!

Thanking you for your attention, I am,

A TAXPAYER, A MOTORIST.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the king spake unto Asphenaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring certain of the children of Israel, and of the king's seed, and of the princes; children in whom was no blemish, but well favoured, and skilful in all wisdom, and cunning in knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability in them to stand in the king's palace, and whom they might teach the learning and the tongue of the Chaldeans. And the king appointed them a daily provision of the king's meat, and of the wine which he drank; so nourishing them three years, that at the end thereof they might stand before the king.

Now among these were of the children of Judah, Daniel, Hananiah, Michael, and Azariah.... But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.... And the prince of the eunuchs said unto Daniel, I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed your meat and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse liking than the children which are of your sort? then shall ye make me endanger my head to the king.

Then said Daniel to Melzar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, Prove thy servants, I beseech thee, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat, and water to drink. Then let our countenances be looked upon before thee, and the countenance of the children that eat of the portion of the king's meat: and as thou seest, deal with thy servants....

And at the end of ten days their countenances apepared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat the portion of the king's meat. (Dan. 1: 3-6, 8, 10-13, 15.)

Warn Christians Resist Dictators

CHICHESTER, Eng., July 15—(AP)—The World Council of Churches issued a militant call Thursday for all Christians to resist totalitarianism.

It reminded those who may be subject to persecution that "the liberty they receive from their Lord cannot be taken away by violence, . . . or destroyed by suffering."

"A totalitarian doctrine is a false doctrine," said a resolution adopted by the 44-country organization of Protestant churches. The council concluded a six-day policy making meeting here.

Principal speaker at the session was Dr. Joseph L. Hromadka of Prague. In Czechoslovakia the Roman Catholic church is engaged in a bitter struggle with the Communist government.

Hromadka told the council the Protestants had so far managed to stay out of the church-state war, but 'we will have to say 'no' if there should be any attempt to interfere with the substance of our church."

Protestants would resist readjusting their preaching to conform with Marxist ideology, he said. But so far they have managed to achieve a way of living with the government.

This dramatic picture was taken minutes after the crash by a passenger on the freighter. The Dona Aurora took the survivors aboard and reached San Francisco two days later.

Crazed Lifer Descends Pole

LIMA, July 15—(AP) — Raymond Jutila, a crazed lifer, late Thursday gave up a 29-hour rebellion atop a 130-foot water tower at Lima state hospital.

Weary and ill, the 35-year-old convict stepped to the ground, enticed by a telegram that asured him his family is unharmed.

Jutila is suffering from a mental delusion that escaped convicts threaten his family.

No trickery or cajolery could lure down Jutila until he read the wire from Police Chief William Johnson of Warren, O., his home town.

Convinced it was genuine, Jutila descended, posed silently for a picture and turned voluntarily to the door of the hospital 300 yards away.

After a bath, a physical checkup and some food, Jutila spied Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent. Straight up to Dr. Bushung he walked.

"Doc, I'm awfully sorry for all the trouble I've caused you," he said.

"It's all over now, Ray," replied Dr. Bushong.

That was the final public event of a fantastic dream that gripped Jutila so strongly yesterday he tried to escape, then mounted the tower ladder like a steeplejack after escape was thwarted.

In his confused mind, Jutila dreamed ghost convicts were out to harm his children. Jutila has no children.

Life Insurance Big Business For Canadians

By ORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canadians big life insurance buyers themselves apparently believe in getting other people to do likewise.

Their companies now have in force, outside of Canada, something like $4,750,000,000 worth of business.

Commenting on this, the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association says:

'The extent and importance of the 'foreign' business of the Canadian companies is not generally known—even to Canadians. In 1948, nearly 40 per cent of the total business of the Canadian companies was transacted outside of Canada, and at least one company wrote more life insurance in the United States than it did at home.

"The largest agency of one Canadian Company is in South Africa and of another in Cuba. Prior to the Second World War, Canadian companies had branch offices or agencies in some 64 foreign countries; indeed, they wrote business in most parts of the world except continental Europe, the USSR and Australia.

"Canadian companies have more than 1,000,000 policyholders resident outside of Canada. The life insurance companies of no other country have ever developed such extensive operations abroad.

"More than $2,800,000,000 of their insurance in force is held in the United States, nearly $1,000,000,000 in the United Kingdom; more than $480,000,000 in Asia and Africa; and nearly $500,000,000 in the Caribbean area embracing the West Indies, Central America and South America."

While the Canadian companie sell abroad they meet strong competition at home from United States and British companies.

More than 4,500,000 Canadians, or more than one-third of the population, carry more than $13,000,000,000 in life insurance, an average of around $3,000 each. Of this, Canadian companies hold about two-thirds, and United States and British companies the rest.

Says Gold Influences Canada's Growth

OXFORD, England, July 15—(CP)—Many of Canada's legislators do not appreciate to what extent gold has been responsible for the development of Canada, Dr. Charles Camsell, former Deputy Minister of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, said Thursday in a prepared address.

In Camsell's absence, the paper was read to the fourth Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress by Dr. B. R. MacKay of the Geological Survey of Canada.

"The influence of gold on our Canadian economy has been vastly greater than mere production statistics would indicate," Camsell said in the paper.

"It has provided stimulus to more than any other resource, mineral or otherwise, for the opening of our northern regions."

A casual trip through the belt extending through northern Ontario and Quebec revealed the influence of gold deposits in developing the country and making it possible for permanent industry or agriculture to "live and thrive."

Take Driveway Row For Court Decision

ST. CATHARINES, July 15 — (CP)—The fight by Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Moffatt to have a driveway open onto the Queen Elizabeth Way two miles west of here is going to the courts.

The Ontario Department of Highways has started court action against Mrs. Moffatt, owner of the lot with the driveway, for $5,000. The suit will probably be heard this fall.

Highway regulations state that no entrances may be made off the Queen Elizabeth Way without a permit, nor may any building be erected within 150 feet of the highway without a permit.

About a year ago the Department closed the Moffatt driveway and put a fence across it. Moffatt cut the fence several times. Then loads of sand were dumped at the driveway entrance and Moffatt dug away the sand.

1,600 Steel Workers Decide To End Strike

TORONTO, July 15 (CP) — An immediate return to work by 1,600 employees of National Steel Car Company of Hamilton is provided for under terms settling the wages strike which started last May 27.

Main issue in the strike called by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) was a demand for a general pay increase of 10 cents an hour. Alan Wright, a union spokesman, said Thursday that settlement terms provided for an increase of six cents an hour for piece workers and for four per cent plus four cents an hour for hourly-rated workers. The basic rate was not given. Hours of work were reduced from 47 to 45 a week and the number of paid statutory holidays was increased to eight a year from six.

Home ownership is the best investment for the average person. At the end of a given period of time, he has a clear title to a piece of property which will always have a market value. All authorities agree that the trend in residential construction costs will be upward. It will pay to buy now.

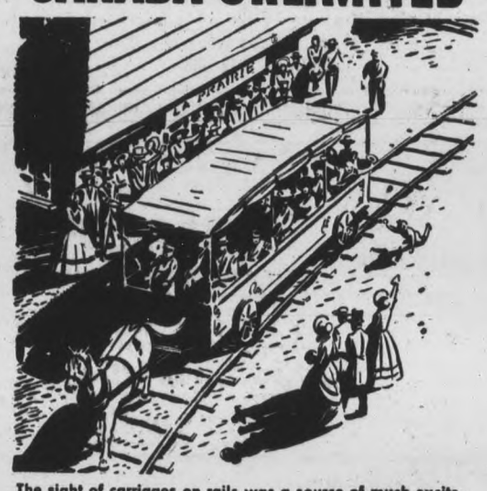
TURNING THE PAGES OF
"CANADA UNLIMITED"



The sight of carriages on rails was a source of much excitement in the little town of La Prairie, near Montreal, in 1836. Clanking and rattling on their way to St. John, Quebec, these horse-drawn cars were Canada's first railway.

A line from Montreal to Sarnia was finished in 1856. It covered 1,100 miles, and was at that time the world's longest railway. The first trans-Canada railway was built by the Canadian Pacific and completed in 1885. Overcoming great hazards, railroad men pushed across the prairies and foothills, through rugged moutain passes—then on to the Pacific coast.

Today Canadian trains travel on rails that would twice encircle the world, and carry more than 40 million travellers swiftly, safely and comfortably.

Canada has grown with the railways. With the appearance of diesel-electric locomotives and the gradual change-over to this more modern form of motive power, a new era of transportation is beginning. This new era offers vast opportunities for Canadians. Yes, there's room to grow—in Canada Unlimited.

Jewellers Get Close One From Cosmos

Peterborough Credit Jewellers pulled another City Softball League surprise at the Bowl last night to eke out a 3-2 win over Cosmos, knocking that team out of top spot in the standing. Mongraw pitched two-hit ball and had good backing to earn the verdict, while Crowley also threw a fair game in seven innings. Cosmos couldn't seem to connect with Mongraw's little curves and slow balls for anything but rollers or pop-ups. Pagett pulled off a fine catch on short to stop a potential rally and the winners also came up with a double play in a good spot. No batter got more than one safe blow, but Byrnes connected for a double.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Canada's Olympic athletes last year were about the nattiest dressed of the 62-nation show with their blue blazers, flannels (the girls were issued white pleated skirts) and red, white and blue ties. But, brother, that's nothing compared to the uniform designed for the Dominion British Empire Games competitors going to New Zealand.

Jack Davis of Montreal, honorary secretary of Canada's BE Games Association, held a private showing for the Canadian Press of Toronto Thursday. He came up with:

The same uniform (blazers and flannels) but this time the tie is: blue (for lakes), white (for snow), green (for forest) and red for the Maple Leaf). The red and white Olympic "Canada" crest also has been slicked up with the additional blue and green colors.

To top it all, the athletes—men and women—will wear panama hats with the outside band dressed up in blue, white, green and red colors.

Another addition is a lapel crest in the shape of a maple leaf, and in you-know-what colors.

Manitoba and Alberta will be matched in the opening game of the Dominion Cricket Championships in Edmonton July 24, the Alberta Cricket Association announced at Edmonton Thursday. On the same day Ontario, Dominion champions, will meet British Columbia.

Games will continue in Edmonton July 25 and 26 before the teams move to Calgary to complete play on July 28, 29 and 30

Each team is to play six games and the province amassing the most points will be declared the winner.

The Ontario Lacrosse Association senior schedule may have to be shortened in order to take in the Mann Cup finals in western Canada, secretary Chuck Rowan announced at Toronto Thursday night. Finals are slated to start Sept. 18.

He said an emergency meeting will be held in Mimico Sunday to discuss possibility of shortening the Ontario playoffs by at least a week, and cramming remaining games into the time left.

Two postponed games have been rescheduled, Rowan said. Mimico will play in Brampton July 28 and Hamilton moves to St. Catharines July 25.

Both Ezzard Charles and Gus Lesnevich, will be suspended by the Cincinnati Boxing Commission if they go through with their scheduled heavyweight boxing bout in New York Aug. 10.

The Commission, which is affiliated with the National Boxing Commission, made the announcement at Cincinnati Thursday night. It said letters will be sent to the New York State Athletic Commission and the NBA.

Lesnevich, former lightheavyweight champion, signed a contract recently to box Joe Maxim of Cleveland here Sept. 19 in a return match for the NBA American 175-pound title.

In the contract Lesnevich and Joe Vella, his manager, signed, they agreed that the New Jersey boxer would not engage in any other bout or exhibition before the contest with Maxim.

Harold Eidsvig, pro at Winnipeg's Assiniboine Course, Thursday won top honors in the Manitoba open golf championship played at Winnipeg.

Eidsvig carded scores of 71-70 for 142 in the 36-hole tournament

Knights Take 9-2 Win Over Outlaws

Knights of Columbus beat the Irwin-Godson Outlaws 9-2 at the Bowl last night in a slow men's softball tilt. They pounded out Eakins in a seven-inning drive in the fourth frame, Gordon finishing better. Ernie Saraceni, former Toronto twirler, made his mound debut for Knights and worked well with a six-hit score. Buck Legrow led the winners at bat with three for three, on a double, Tompkins getting two in four and Woods a two-bagger. Castle led the losers with two in three. The winners worked one double play as they took a firmer grip on third ahead of Outlaws.

Cobourg In Front In Kawartha Loop

The standing of the Kawartha Tennis League including games of July 13:

	Points
Cobourg	31
Quaker A	29
Quaker B	22
Lindsay	5
Kawartha	3
Port Hope	1

At the half-way mark in the schedule, Cobourg led the rest of the teams by a small margin. The lakeshore outfit is a vastly improved aggregation this semester and their improvement has been in no small way due to the presence on the team of Jack Adams, a former Manitoba men's singles champion, and his wife Marg Adams. Both of these players have helped to lift the Cobourg team from a position well down in the standing last year to the top of the league this season. The Quaker "A" team is playing heads-up tennis and easily within striking distance of the top team. Quaker "B's" are not too far back with 22 points and with any kind of a spurt could make it tough for the first two clubs. Lindsay, Kawarthas, and Port Hope are too far back in the standings to cause any trouble for the leaders at this time, and barring something sensational, none of them will rise in the standing.

Several of the outstanding players on last year's Kawartha team have transferred this year to Quaker. Notable among these performers are Ron Lye, last year's men's singles champ at Kawartha, and Willard Elmsley who was the runner-up. Besides this the above pair combined to win the doubles championship so their presence on the Quaker teams this year aided those squads greatly.

Lost Power

Around the league they are attributing the lowly position of the Lindsay team this year to the absence on that club of Jim Doran and Rick Runnett who were the real back-bone of the Scugog team last summer. Other years this twosome shone for Lindsay and made that team a real power in inter-club competition.

From the form shown in hard-fought practice sessions this week by various members of the Quaker teams, including Ralph Charlton, Willard Elmsley, Al Conlin, Roy Johnson, Walker Jones and many others, it would seem that opponents of the club from the banks of the Otonabee are in for some rough sessions in the near future.

Hurls One-Hitter

HASTINGS, July 15.—(ENS).—Hastings defeated a weakened Colborne team 20-1 in a TVL tilt at Colborne, Don West coming through with a one-hitter, taking out eight by strikeouts and walking one. R. Carter spoiled the perfect game with a triple to right field. Only two men reached first base. Beavis fattened his average with two homers with a couple of mates aboard Teams:

Hastings—Phillips, cf; Thompson, 2b; Beavis, ss; Wilson, 1b; Morrow, 3b; Bonds, c; Stevens, lf; Mueller, rf; West, 6.

Jack Dugan, the Peterborough pugilist who turned pro a spell back, is in demand now in Toronto as well as Buffalo. Pete Calderone is trying to sign up Pete Zaduk to fight Dugan at Oakwood Stadium, July 26, in the main bout. An item says: "Sammy Keller, manager of Zaduk is demanding $1,500 for Zaduk's services against the hard-hitting Dugan, who owns a string of 25 consecutive wins. Calderone has offered $1,000. 'Keller says I'll be robbing him if he doesn't get more than $1,000 for Zaduk,' said the Diamond Club matchmaker; 'at $1,500 what's he doing to me?' Calderone asked.

Weston and Petes tangle at 8.45 tonight in an OLA senior "A" encounter in Miller Bowl. This is a fine chance for the local lacrossers to start climbing again as they feel they can whip the Weston wielders of the webbed sticks, especially on local terrain. It should be a rip-snorting scrap before another capacity crowd, if the weather remains right. Win or lose, the Creighton crew dish up dandy duels at home and the fans keep coming out in large numbers. Between quarters tonight, two midget squads, Americans and Irwin-Godson, will strut their streamlined stuff.

Batawa And Petes

Saturday afternoon attraction this week is the COBL contest at three in Riverside Park between Batawa Shoemen and the Petes. Local club will be striving to regain top spot in the standing, as Oshawa Merchants moved up a game on them through the week. Shoemen no doubt will be battling hard, too, to get in position for a play-off spot next month. We imagine they'll pitch Gordie Muffitt, their curve-ball control artist. Ed Murphy hasn't mentioned yet his slab selection, but we'll guess at Gunner Ed Whitehill or Lefty Bill Dadson. Mayhap a change or two in the home lineup this fray, and the game ought to draw a big crowd as there's been no senior ball here for a couple of weeks.

* * * * * *

Let's see what's doing in other baseball here. Cobourg and Young Petes are slated to go at 6.30 tonight in a Lakeshore Loop tussle at Riverside, which should prove interesting. Dit Clapper says the City Baseball League meeting the other night cleaned up on a lot of details and they've decided top two teams in each section will tangle in playoffs the second week of August. Thus giving 'em time to work in holidays and catch up on postponed games. Victors proceed into OBA playdowns the last half of next month. Meantime, games go as scheduled in this circuit.

Bad Night On Cosmos

Three men's frays at the Bowl last eve before a nice turnout. Stan Houlihan's young Jewellers came up with another neat performance to edge Cosmos 3-2 on Mongraw's two-hit hurling, and Uniteds squeezed out a 2-1 win o'er Cosmos as Greenlaw gave up but one hit. The double setback shoved Cosmos into second place behind Uniteds by a game. Knights used a new twirler, Ernie Saraceni of Toronto, and beat Outlaws 9-2 to take a firmer grip on third and last playoff spot. Two thoughts keep recurring to us lately, one being how the inexperienced Jewellers are starting to come now late in the race, and the other is that Bob Greenlaw is pitching the best ball in the circuit in recent weeks. Two tilts tomorrow: Knights vs. Uniteds, and Jewellers vs. Outlaws.

* * * * * *

Reg Cox of Lindsay writes: "Dear Sir—In your issue July 13 under Sports Show Window you remarked: 'No soccer match in Lindsay last night, though Petes made the trip; Lindsay didn't have a team and won't be here tonight.' I cannot permit this to go unchallenged and therefore give you the facts and request you to publish them. The Lindsay team was on hand at Kawartha Park, Lindsay, at seven p.m. and waited till 7.45. There being no sign of Petes showing up, I advised those of our team who wished to return to work to do so. I left shortly after, accompanied by our president. I have since been advised Petes showed up on the field at 8.10, obviously too late to play." Looks like the Lindsay manager has a legitimate beef there—and, Petes, it's now your move.

Giants Maul Newark In 14-1 Victory

By The Associated Press.

Andy Tomasic, who gained renown as a halfback with Temple University, is winning recognition as a star pitcher for Jersey City Giants of the International League.

The 29-year-old righthander who advanced to the Giants last season after two excellent years in lower company, sports one of the best records in the league, a 9-2 slate.

Tomasic, who won 11 and lost 16 for the Giants last year when he led the league in serving up home run balls, 36, still is bothered by a gopher pitch.

He has lost one game as a result of a home run and has been deprived of three shutouts for the same reason.

Tomasic turned in his ninth victory Thursday night as he pitched the Giants to a 14-1 victory over Newark Bears. Fat Pat Seerey homered in the sixth for the lone Newark run. The homer was the 10th yielded by Tomasic this season.

Wallop Four Pitchers

The Giants walloped four Newark pitchers for 16 hits with Ray Noble and Pete Milne collecting three apiece. Noble and Rudy Rufer chimed in with homers.

Another gopher-ball artist, 19-year-old Tom Poholsky of Rochester Red Wings, pitched the Wings to a 7-6 triumph over Montreal Royals.

Poholsky, who has allowed 20 four-baggers, didn't give up one to the Royals. The Wings' Russ Derry clouted his 22nd four-master of the season to highlight a three-run fourth inning rally that gave the Wings the lead for keeps.

The victory allowed the Wings to take over fourth place from Toronto Maple Leafs by one percentage point. The Leafs and Buffalo Bisons were idle. A scheduled game between Syracuse Chiefs and Baltimore Orioles was rained out.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Program for tonight: Mixed tournament with the compliments of the board of directors. Draw from the board at 7.30 o'clock. All welcome.

Tonight is the last night for receiving entries for provincial play-off games, rinks, doubles, singles.

The other day Mrs. Renaud, Mrs. Dyer and Mrs. Henry played down at Campbellford and came second with three wins. They played three 12-end games; in each game they scored 12 points, and the games were played on the 12th.

This is a bit of advance information: Already many outside paid entries have been received for the Black memorial mixed doubles tournament, Wednesday, Aug. 24. Two came in today from Barrie. This is just a hint—don't be left out like so many were in our recent open doubles tournament. Contact W. Jeffries or A. Black tonight.

Playing in Lindsay yesterday, at their annual trebles tournament, Mrs. Dyer, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Cullen from this club came second with high for two wins.

The ladies' games committee asked us to make this announcement: The rained-out games of June 21 must be played on or before Aug. 8.

Today's thought: The law may give you the right of way, but it makes no provision for paying hospital bills or funeral expenses.

Uniteds Gain Top Spot Over Cosmos

Uniteds edged Cosmos 2-1 at the Bowl last night to take over first place in the City Softball League before a big crowd. They tallied two unearned runs in the fourth as Cosmos' defence slipped and the latter team got one unearned marker in the seventh of a fine snappy fray. Bob Greenlaw came up from vacationing in Perth to pitch one-hit ball and continue his hot mound streak, while Ron Akers for Cosmos gave but four safeties. There wasn't an extra-base blow in the keen contest and no one got more than one safety. A catch by Spencer was the only fielding feature in the joust which went just 45 minutes.

Heintzelman Shows 'Em As Phils Nose Out Cards

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Boston's Billy Southworth couldn't see Ken Heintzelman when he selected his National League all-star pitchers. He has nothing on the batters. They can't see him either.

The 33-year-old southpaw, who is making a contender of the once-feeble Philadelphia Phillies, is pitching the best ball in the National League. He is tied for most victories with 11. He has lost only three.

Heintzelman Thursday night pitched the Phils to a 1-0 victory over Max Lanier and the Cardinals.

His 11th victory, which incidentally tied his best previous winning total, resulted when outfielder Del Ennis crashed his 13th home run with one out in the last half of the ninth. The victory advanced the Phils to within one game of the Braves, who were beaten by the Cubs, 3-2.

Heintzelman scattered eight hits in extending his latest winning streak to seven. Lanier gave up only five in absorbing his first decision since his reinstatement.

Nose Out Reds

The defeat dropped the Red Birds a game and a half behind the Dodgers, who nosed out the Cincinnati Reds 6-5 in a 10 inning struggle after tying the score in the ninth with two runs. A single by Marv Rackley and a double by Billy Cox, both off pitcher Ewel Blackwell, gave the Dodgers their seventh straight triumph over the Reds at Ebbets Field.

Dutch Leonard, the Cubs' hard-luck knuckleballer, who in five of his 11 defeats gave up two or less runs, finally won a close one. At that, he had to bat in the winning run himself with a single in the eighth. The blow scored Frank Gustine and broke a 2-2 tie. Vern Buckford, trying for his 12th victory for the Braves, was charged with his fifth defeat.

Johnny Mize clouted his 14th home run with one on in the first inning to lead New York Giants to a 4-3 triumph over Pittsburgh Pirates.

Larry Jansen, except for one lapse when he threw a home run ball to Johnny Hopp with two mates aboard, pitched airtight ball, allowing four hits. Bill Werle was the loser.

Retain Lead

New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox won their games as the Yankees retained their American League lead of 5½ games over the Indians.

Allie Reynolds shut out St. Louis Browns 5-0. He allowed three hits and fanned 10 as the Yankees collected nine off three Brownie flingers. It was Reynolds' 10th win against one defeat. Carl Drews was the loser.

Bob Lemon won his 10th game for the Indians and rookie shortstop Ray Boone drove in three runs with a home run and a long fly as the tribe won its ninth game in the last 10 starts with a 7-1 victory over Philadelphia Athletics. Rookie Alex Kellner was charged with his fifth defeat as the slumping A's dropped their sixth in a row. Kellner has won 12.

Joe Dobson pitched the Red Sox to their eighth straight victory as Joe McCarthy's forces turned back Detroit Tigers 5-2. Al Zarilla cracked a two-run homer for the victors.

Three bases on balls, an error by Eddie Robinson and George Metkovich's bases-loaded single gave Chicago White Sox four runs in the third inning and helped them defeat Washington Senators 6-2.

Billy Pierce was the winner and Sid Hudson was the loser.

Pitches Hay, Baseball Scores 9-1 Victory

LINDSAY, July 15 — There are baseball pitchers who play for big salaries and there are twirlers who play for the love of the game and work hard at their chosen occupation.

Gerald Tamblyn, southpaw with the Cambray nine, is one of the latter. Thursday Jerry pitched 10 tons of hay and in the evening was on the mound for Cambray of the Tri-County Baseball League against Lindsay seniors of the Lake Shore League.

He registered a 9-1 triumph.

Infantry Still Supreme On Battlefield

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, July 15 (CP—If recent British army demonstrations are an indication, the infantry still reigns as "Queen of the Battlefield."

Britain's better military brains—the atomic bomb notwithstanding—are working hard at devising better means of supporting the foot-soldier.

They have perfected ways of throwing long-range bomber aircraft into close support of the infantryman, have reached almost pinpoint control in radar-guided high-level bombing, and have introduced new uses for radar in the battlefield.

Rocket projectiles carried under the bombers were brought into direct support of ground troops on a recent exercise.

The rockets easily disposed of heavily-fortified positions obstructing the infantry's progress and the aircraft then returned to base.

Pinpoint Bombing

Another force of bombers, flying above clouds at 14,000 feet, dropped bombs on targets the crews couldn't see and obtained hits within 100 yards of the pinpoint.

They were given courses and bombing instructions by control officers watching a radar screen 25 miles from the operation.

Radar also has been developed to observe the fall of our own artillery fire, as well as ranging, to detect enemy mortar bombs in flight and locate them, and not only to detect enemy movement in darkness or fog but to observe fire upon it.

Although anti-aircraft radar sets were introduced in late 1944 to counter deadly German mortar bursts, Britain has so perfected this weapon that it can detect a 25-pounder shell burst, or a truck in motion, at 30,000 yards.

A Canadian wartime development, t eh30-barrel-type rocket projector, has been experimented with and undergone some modification.

Disturbed At Middle Grade PCI Examination Failures Board Asks Investigation

Peterborough's Board of Education is "greatly disturbed" over the high number of academic failures this year at PCVS and Superintendent of Schools K. S. Wightman has been asked to make a study of the situation to avoid any further repetition. Members avoided laying any direct blame for the results which Dr. H. G. Carleton described as "the worst I have ever seen in a collegiate," but there was ample criticism.

Grade 11 was singled out as the greatest cause of dissatisfaction. Of 115 students who wrote June examinations in that grade only 53 passed; 32 failed outright; and another 30 will be writing supplementals. Four of those that got through passed on their farm service. Twenty-one of the students were repeating their year.

Unanimous Resolution

The resolution introduced by G. Wilson Craw and Dr. Carleton and supported unanimously by the Board is as follows:

"That this Board of Education is greatly disturbed over the results of some of the grades in the academic department of the PCVS, and while it may be too early to pass judgment on the final showing of the pupils the fact remains that in some of the grades more than 50 per cent of the pupils failed to get all their examinations. The Board believes this standard to be below that which might be expected at the Collegiate and requests the Superintendent to make a study of these failures, reporting on the various members of the staff involved, and what steps can be taken to improve this standing in the future."

Dr. Carleton minced no words describing the report of the Academic Department examination results as "shocking" and "a bad report."

Grade 11 Results Shock

He described Grade nine as "not too bad" but was highly critical of the others. And he contended that where there was more than 25 per cent failures the fault lay in one of three directions —the teaching, examinations, or the marking. Under these conditions it was not generally felt the fault of the students, he stated.

Mr. Craw said he was astounded at the results in Grade 11.

"The year's work can only be judged on these results," he said. "A careful survey should be made to see if we can improve them. We have children in Grade 11 this year carrying supplementals who previously were in the 70 per cent bracket."

"I think it is the duty of this Board to see that an arrangement can be made another year to continue school for an additional two weeks, and to have other premises used for writing exams," said Mr. Craw.

"A course in modern methods of teaching might be taken by some members of the staff. Surely more than 50 per cent. of the pupils who entered Grade II last year with the instruction given them during the term have the ability to pass this year."

Lengthen School Year?

The school year may be lengthened if some Board members have their way. Several thought this might be a partial answer to the problem of cutting down the percentage of failures.

Dr. Carleton said he thought the abolition of Department of Education exams in Grades nine, 10, 11 and 12 was a mistake. Examination papers varied from school to school and even within the school if there were more than one class in that grade.

Carl S. Browne, principal of PCVS, also said he was in favor of a uniform Departmental examination instead of leaving it to the individual teacher.

"Same Efficient Staff"

Referring to the examination results he said they were lower than usual but he rejected any suggestion this might be due to slackness on the part of the staff. And he claimed that Grade 11 had been difficult to conduct through examinations.

Other years Board members had been reasonably satisfied with the June results and this year the Collegiate had "the same efficient staff."

"The important thing to me is that the standard of education be maintained," he said, "and the only way it can be measured is by the number of pupils successful in examinations." He pointed out that less conscientious teachers could have given higher marks in order to make a good impression on the Board.

Following is a quick breakdown of academic standings this June: Grade nine—268 wrote; 233 wrote and passed; 35 failed; and seven passed on farm service; Grade 10—130 wrote, 82 passed, 14 failed, 34 will write supplementals, and eight passed on farm service; Grade 11—115 wrote, 53 passed, 32 failed, 30 will write supplementals, and four passed on farm service; Grade 12—108 wrote, 70 passed, 38 failed in one or more, and two passed on farm service.

Ninety-four students applied to write the Grade 13 Senior Matriculation examinations but the results are not yet known.

GAME CALLED OFF

The game scheduled for tonight between the Westend midgets and the Southend midgets has been postponed until Tuesday night. Permission was received through the secretary of the City League due to a large number of the boys being on holidays this week.

64 Foundations Already Laid New S-W Lot

Work is going ahead rapidly on 96 houses being constructed by Reynolds Construction Co. west of Monaghan Rd., opposite McKellar St. Sixty-four foundations have already been poured, and the company expects that all concrete work will be completed within three weeks.

The company has more than 200 men working on the project and work is being done at a great rate. Company officials feel that they will be able to have some houses ready for occupancy six weeks after water services are provided for the section.

At present, the Utilities Commission has taken all their men off the smaller jobs to concentrate on getting the new mains laid from the filtration plant into and through the city. With the present shortage of water, reports are that the newly-built sections of the city will have to wait for water until the low-pressure parts of the city are receiving better service.

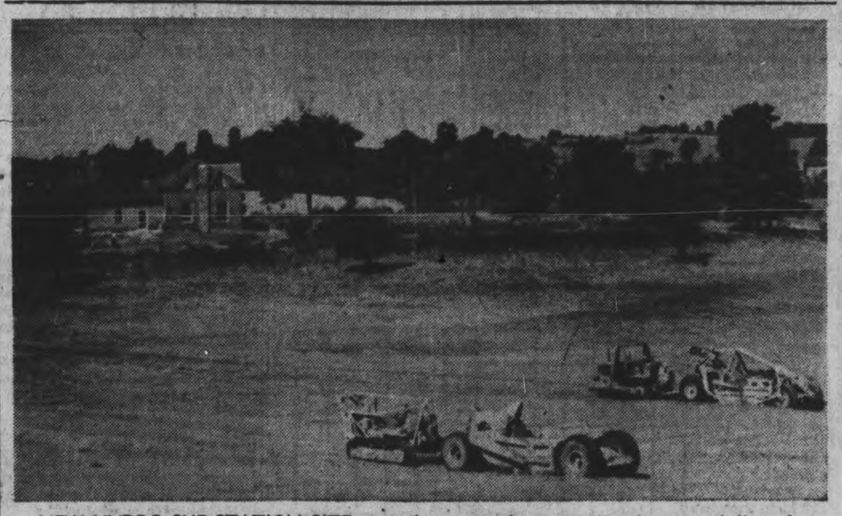
Farm Worker Found Hanged

WARKWORTH, July 15 (ENS) —Stewart Seeney, 22, a farm worker living with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Carr near Dartford, was found dead with a rope round his neck Thursday evening in the barn on the Carr's farm.

Seeney took a friend home after working in the fields during the evening. When he did not return Mr. and Mrs. Carr became uneasy and went out in search of him. They found him at 11 p.m. dead in the barn, apparently having jumped from the hay loft with the rope round his neck.

Two years ago Seeney lost the sight of one eye playing hockey at Warkworth and two months after that mishap he was kicked by a horse. His doctor says that these incidents may have accounted for Seeney's melancholy state of mind.

Seeney's parents live in Timmins.



NEW HYDRO SUB-STATION SITE, covering 15 acres in Smith Township, one-half mile west of Lily Lake on the farm of F. W. Rowland, is taking shape. Two large graders are shown cutting down two hills before actual construction can begin. It is reported that the project will cost about two million dollars and will assist the Peterborough area.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Kenneth Graham Liquor Board's General Manager

TORONTO, July 15—Chief Inspector G. Kenneth Graham, formerly of Peterborough, has been appointed general manager of the Liquor Control Board and given new disciplinary powers, Provincial Secretary Arthur Welsh, board chairman, announced yesterday.

Mr. Graham will deal with complaints as to drunkenness and uncleanliness on licensed premises and will have the power to close an establishment temporarily, if conditions warrant. The matter of suspending a license indefinitely, however will still be left to the Liquor License Board under Judge W. T. Robb.

Another step toward more efficient administration is the division of the province into six zones, each of which will be supervised by a divisional inspector, whose duties include making spot checks on premises and on the inspectors under him. The divisional inspectors will be responsible to Mr. Graham.

Premier Frost, in elaborating on Mr. Welsh's announcement, said that in Mr. Graham the Board has "a most capable man, well qualified to carry out the executive duties that the new post entailed."

Mr. Graham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Graham of Peterborough and for years was connected with his father and grandfather George Graham in the management of the Empress Hotel.

Navigation Course In Trent Marked By 1,100 Buoys

Many compliments in praise of the courtesy and efficiency of lock officials and of the condition of navigational aids on the Trent Waterway System have been received in recent weeks from launch owners and heads of cottagers' associations, T. J. Ryan, superintending engineer of the Trent and Murray Canals, informed The Examiner Thursday. Mr. Ryan volunteered this information after an Examiner reporter had approached him for comment or criticisms of the system expressed in an editorial in this newspaper on Tuesday.

Mr. Ryan said that his department is continually on the alert to see that navigation of the system is made as easy and safe as possible. Toward this end there are maintained 1100 buoys and a large number of navigation lights and targets (triangular wooden frames). In addition, two tugs are kept in operation throughout the year to make a close check on the condition of these aids, the vessels being in charge of master mariners who are thoroughly familiar with the whole system.

Placing Additional Buoys

The superintending engineer stated that work has been underway during the past year on still further improving the efficiency of the canal system's aids to navigation. This includes placing of many additional buoys, targets, and location signs, as well as affixing reflectors (or cat's eyes) to the buoys so that they can be seen better at night. Another improvement recently inaugurated is the attaching of metal mileage plates to the buoys, starting from the Trenton end of the canal and working up. These have been furnished to the tugs to be affixed.

Mr. Ryan said that the article published in a recent issue of Boating Magazine, on which the editorial's criticisms were based, was full of vague generalities and did not cite specific instances of navigational aids being improperly maintained. He added that the system of having buoys painted red on the right side of the channel going up-stream and those on the left black, is based on an international convention which applies all over the North American continent.

Regular Inspections

The engineer said that the work of the skippers of the two tugs in looking after the aids to navigation is inspected regularly by officials of the Department of Transport and has been found to be satisfactory. He stated that the department is only responsible for seeing that the channel in the centre of the river is properly protected, and that it cannot be held responsible for the manner in which individual launch owners operate their craft. A good knowledge of seamanship and experience in operating vessels of this type is just as necessary for safety as are the department's various warning signs, he said. It is not necessarily the fault of the canal system's navigation aids when a boat runs aground.

Durham Tobacco Growers Not Dismayed By UK Cuts

Great Britain's latest austerity program presented to the people on Thursday by Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Stafford Cripps, will affect a great many Canadian imports, and among them tobacco.

Tobacco is one of the chief items on which the U.K. is reducing its imports by 25 per cent.

The region north-west of Port Hope is a thriving tobacco-growing area and the Examiner conducted a telephone survey today to gather growers' feelings about the new British ruling.

Dr. R. McDermott, of Port Hope, who grows 60 acres in the Osaca district, north of Newtonville, on shares basis with Walter Kluz and Nick Serniak, said that such a move was anticipated by the Tobacco Growers' Marketing Board in 1948.

They cut the acreage by 15 per cent. and whether large buyers will take this year's crop to fill dwindled backlog stocks, Dr. McDermott would not venture to say. It was his opinion that if buyers took but a portion of 1949 havest, it would go hard with many small acreage growers, especially those who were trying to pay off mortgages on small holdings.

Fair Harvest Expected

Steve Katchit, who has 19 acres under cultivation this year, said that the crop looked pretty fair and that last Saturday's rain was a crop saver. However, it needs more rain soon, he said.

It was estimated that the harvest went about 1,200 pounds of tobacco to the acre in 1948 but that this year it would be less due to various factors. First, those farms with extremely light soil suffered from "blow out" earlier in the season, that is seedlings were beaten out of the ground by high winds. Plants that withstood it were subject to discoloration. Plants now are about two feet high and at the stage where topping is necessary. Following that, suckers will have to be clipped constantly until the crop is harvested. General opinion of growers was, "the outlook for tobacco harvest and marketing is in the lap of the gods."

Tourists Claim Canadian Prices Higher

The average American tourist does not appear to have quite as much money to come and go on this year as he had in previous tourist seasons; he is much more concerned about the prices of this, that and the other thing than is traditional with him. This is the main impression formed by Bill Duignan, first full-time clerk of the Tourist Bureau operated by the Peterborough Junior Chamber of Commerce on No. 28 Highway, since he took over his duties one week ago. Many have commented with wry faces, he said, that prices of many Canadian commodities are higher than their U.S. counterparts.

Rivalling this impression for first place is the fact that he has received many expressions of appreciation of the service rendered by the bureau. He told an Examiner reporter yesterday that quite a number of his "patrons" had stated that they had encountered very few information bureaux as helpful as the local one on their trips.

Want Good Accommodation

It has only taken Bill one week to get to know pretty well what most American visitors' likes and dislikes are. For instance, the majority don't want to "rough it," judging by the large number who have asked if a particular resort was equipped with flush toilets. Most appear to desire accommodation as closely approaching city conveniences as it is possible to obtain. The accommodation has to be pretty superior in other respects, such as entertainment facilities, etc., to counteract the lack of such things.

Two other things insisted upon in the main are good bathing beaches and paved highways. A number of resorts have lost business because of inadequacy of these two features, Mr. Duignan said. Other things many tourists inquire about, he said, are availability of golf courses, good fishing spots, liquor regulation, and proximity of theatres and dance halls.

Then there are quite a number who are just coming "for a rest" and desire accommodation where they can relax without interference from juke boxes and other modern types of noise maker. These are mostly people in the upper middle age bracket.

Another thing Bill has become very sure of is that those resort owners who go to the trouble and expense of printing a booklet to advertise their lodge get more business than those who don't.

About 50 persons have signed the bureau's register since he took over, Mr. Duignan said. This represents a total of approximately 200 people, counting the other occupants of the cars which have stopped at the bureau. This is not the sum total for the whole season so far, however, as the bureau was operated for a few weeks by Jaycees before he was able to start work. Bill graduated from St. Peter's High School this year and plans to enter St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N. S., next fall to enrol as a "pre-law" student. During the past year he was president of the St. Peter's Key Club, which is fathered by the Kiwanis Club.

In New Location

The booth is in a new location this year, its present home being at the eastern end of the "Hitching Post" service station property. Last year it was located about a mile closer to the city. It was at first planned to locate the booth this year at the junction of Numbers 28 and 7A Highways, bu the Department of Highways refused to grant the necessary permission. Actually, the bureau was moved twice, as at first it was placed at the western end of the garage property. It was moved a second time when it was found that many tourists drove by without noticing it.

A telephone was installed on Wednesday and it is expected that hydro will be connected up by the end of the week. It will then be possible to operate the booth in the evenings after dark. When the booth is in operation full time, various Jaycees will provide relief work for the clerk in the evenings and occasional weekends.

SIX-LEAFED CLOVER

Who ever heard of a six-leafed clover? The answer is Mrs. E. Fraser, of 28 Victoria Ave.

Reading in the Examiner that two people had recently found four - leafed clovers, Mrs. Fraser told today about a six-leafed variety she found beside her house last week.

"My husband was up on some scaffolding cleaning the house when I strolled round to talk to him" she said over the telephone today. "I just looked down and saw a clover with six leaves."

It took some time to convince Mr. Fraser, but he came down from the scaffolding and there it was—a stem bearing six leaves. H.P.

New Water Main Completed To Waterworks

Utilities Commission workmen today tested the new water main from the filtration plant which was connected Thursday and will be ready, for use as soon as the final check is completed.

This testing marks the end of a project started before the war to relieve the low water pressure in homes in some parts of the city. An 18-inch pipe was laid north to Parkhill Road, but stopped there when the war intervened.

The project was resumed last year and 24-inch pipe was laid from the filtration plant north of the city to the corner of Aylmer and Bennett Sts.

This work was done by contractors but when the acute water shortage accompanied by crippling low pressure in some areas developed about three weeks ago, the Utilities swung into action to relieve the situation.

Workmen were taken off almost every job the utilities was doing and put on the job of completing the vital five-block link from Parkhill Rd. and Bethune to Aylmer and Bennett Sts. The pipe was laid up the east side of Bethune St. to Wolsley, west on Wolsley to Aylmer and north again along Aylmer one block to Bennett.

If any low pressure develops in the west end another 18-inch pipe can be connected to the 24-inch ending at Aylmer and Bennett Sts. The 24-inch main direct from the filtration plant is capable of comfortably feeding two 18-inch branches.

GUESTS OF KIWANIS

Kiwanian Nat Prentice, South Akron, Ohio, was a guest at Thursday's weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club in the Empress Hotel. Other guests were James Juby and Cecil Williams of Peterborough. Four members of the club will attend next Tuesday's luncheon of the Lindsay club to present the travelling gavel, symbol of inter-club solidarity.

Expert Thieves Take Radios From Four Cars

Expert car thieves were at work in the city Thursday night when radios valued at least $580 were taken from four cars parked in the west end of the city.

As the Examiner went to press reports of losses from four motorists who left their cars outside their houses overnight, had been received at city police headquarters.

First man to discover that his radio was missing was Donald Bannerman, 537 King St. who notified the police at 8 a.m. that his built-in radio had been stolen.

Mr. Bannerman had delivery of a new 1949 Meteor sedan only two weeks ago, which was equipped with a Marconi Ford special radio valued $115. When Constable George B. Shaw investigated he found the thieves had taken the radio by springing open the no draft ventilator on the body of the car.

"Who ever did it must have been an expert," Constable Shaw said today "because they were all nice clean, tidy jobs with no unnecessary damage—not even to the dashboards."

While looking at Mr. Bannerman's car Constable Shaw was called across to 305 King St. where H. T. Cranford was inspecting the empty space where his car radio had been. Mr. Cranford had left his car door unlocked and the radio had been taken without damage to the car. His is a 1947 DeSoto with a special Chrysler built-in radio. The radio he values at $130.

B. O'Toole, 213 Maitland Ave., was the next to report his loss. His car was locked and had been broken at the "no draft" the same way as Mr. Bannerman's car. Mr. O'Toole's car is a 1946 Chevrolet with a GM Custom radio. He values the stolen radio at $115.

Leo Bennett, 569 Homewood Ave., was the fourth to report that his built-in radio was taken from his car.

All four motorists agree that the thefts took place between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m.

Identification Officer Bill Aggas took finger prints.

PLAN ADDITION

The Waterloo Memorial Arena Commission has approved a $20,000 to $25,000 addition to the Arena which will provide 300 more seats and room for 500 more standees. This will bring the total accommodation up to 3,500 for OHA games.

Four Youths Fined For Street Fighting

A fight on the corner of George and Hunter Sts., June 28, resulted in a cut on the face requiring eight stitched and a $5 fine with $2.50 costs for Raymond Cornell. He came off worse than the other three youths who were in the scuffle.

William Howard, who was fighting against Cornell was also fined $5 with $2.50 costs, when all four pleaded not guilty in city police court Thursday. William Martin and Raymond Lester were each fined $1 with $2.50 costs for their part in the scuffle.

Don Cowan and Ted Bosley, who were also charged with taking part in the disturbance, were not convicted when evidence revealed that they were merely onlookers at the fray.

Cowan said he had been cycling along George St. when he asked Bosley "What's cooking?" He said Bosley told him he thought there was "going to be some action" and then he saw the four youths fighting. He was an impartial witness, he told the court.

Generous Action

VANCOUVER, July 15—(CP)—Relatives of Canadian servicemen lost at Dieppe have a chance to share an English couple's pilgrimage to the French city. Writing from Brighton, England, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wise offered to place wreaths on the graves of Vancouver men who died in the assault in August, 1942.

Peterborough Public Schools Graduate 271 Children

There was a slight increase this year in the percentage of pupils who failed to get their High School Entrance. In 1948 failures were 5.4 per cent, and this year 6.9 per cent.

Last year 301 pupils were promoted and 17 failed, while this year 271 became eligible for entry to secondary school and 20 did not make the grade.

Queen Mary School under Principal O. M. Steer had the best record. All pupils were promoted: 28 were recommended and the three that tried their examinations passed.

Following are the figures for the other public school—promotions and failures listed, respectively: Central 40 and 5; Confederation 36 and 2; King Edward 26 and 4; King George 55 and 4; Prince of Wales 55 and 4; and Queen Alexandra 27 and 1.

Examine 132 Children

In his June report to the Board of Education, Superintendent of Schools K. S. Wightman said that 132 children, 4½ years and over, were examined in the pre-school survey. About a dozen younger children who came with their parents were also examined.

While the number of those taking advantage of this service was not as large as expected, the Superintendent said it was valuable from an educational point of view. Parents could discuss the child's dental problems with a competent authority.

He said that, according to the survey, only 29 per cent of children in this age group had sound teeth. And in the remaining 71 per cent defects ranged from one or two small cavities to as many as 14 cavities, making an over-all average of 3.2 cavities per child.

Less than 10 per cent of the pre-school children showed any signs of previous dental care, Mr. Wightman reported. Only one had received what was considered adequate treatment. There were 25 deciduous molars slated for extraction, seven cases of thumb-sucking, and one mal-occlusion case.

Mr. Wightman spoke highly of the work done by Cameron Craig, a fourth year dental student, who assisted at the dental clinic during June. A temporary operating room had to be set up so he could carry out his dental duties, and the Dominion Dental Co. loaned the Board sufficient equipment for the purpose.

During the school year the dental officer reported that approximately two-thirds of the public school pupils required dental treatment. Best record was shown by Queen Alexandra with 60.7 per cent needing attention. Next were King George, Queen Mary, Central, Confederation and Park Hill, respectively.

In May's School 73.2 per cent required treatment, the highest percentage in the group of 10.

Altogether 3,706 children were examined and 1,252 were found OK; 4,485 temporary teeth were found defective and 575 were extracted; 3,422 permanent teeth were defective and 81 were extracted.

Medical Examinations

The Board of Education doctor's report for June shows that 376 pre-school children were given medical examinations. A breakdown shows 52 of these at Queen Mary, Parkhill 17, Queen Alexandra 32, Prince of Wales 66, Central 39, King George 49, King Edward 29, Confederation 47, May's 32, and Grove 13.

Complete physicals with parent consent were given in six cases, and there was one complete physical with written consent as well as one special examination.

A total of 41 physical defects were found among pupils during the month: abnormal tonsils, 26; anaemia, 1; speech defect, 2; malnutrition (underweight), 5; pulmonary 4; cardiac, 2; and hernia, one.

Fear Lake Disappears

ST. THOMAS, July 15 (CP) — Coiservationists here are worried about the possibility of Lake Whittaker disappearing if a proposed drainage project in East Elgin is carried out. Lake Whittaker is a natural body of water about a half-mile long and a quarter mile wide and is a scenic spot in the district. The Elgin county committee on soil conservation and land use is recommending to the committee of the Ontario Legislature that Ontario's drainage laws be amended to prevent overdrainage.

Gable Helps Garter Makers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 15. — (AP).—Ah, there's good news tonight for the garter makers. Clark Gable is going to give them a boost.

A studio drum-beater breathlessly announced the news: King Gable was working in a Little Lord Fauntleroy costume. So I hastened to the "Key to the City" set to view the historic event.

Sure enough, there was the king in his costume-ball get-up, looking sheepish as a boy who had to play an elf in a high school version of "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Lace collar, velvet knee-pants and all. But what interested me most were the garters on his exposed calves.

Movies' Influence

Movie historians are fond of recalling a famous instance of filmdom's influence. It happened in the "Walls of Jericho" sequence of "It Happened One Night." Gable started to doff his shirt and—horrors! — revealed his bare chest. Undershirt makers were said to have taken a severe beating because of this one scene.

I now predict a sharp upswing in garter stock —provided the scene on Clark's curvy calves is not a cut or reshot.

The abashed actor confessed in his dressing room: "As you get older, you'll do anything for an honest buck."

Liquor Board Job

TORONTO, July 15 (CP)—Appointment of Chief Inspector G. Kenneth Graham as general manager of the Ontario Liquor Control Board with power to act on certain matters was announced Thursday by Provincial Secretary Arthur Welsh, chairman of the Board. Mr. Graham will deal with complaints as to drunkenness and uncleanliness on licensed premises and is authorized to act immediately if corrective measures are required.

Dismiss Theft Charge When Witness Fails

Lorne Fontaine, 146 Aylmer St., was acquitted Thursday in city police court by Magistrate E. A. Gee of Lindsay on a charge of stealing a wheel insert.

When Crown Attorney John Bradshaw asked Fergus Crowe, RR7, Peterborough, a Crown witness, to identify a wheel insert as the one stolen from him, he claimed that the one produced in court was not his.

"Did you not tell a police officer previously that this was your insert?" Mr. Bradshaw asked. "Yes," Crowe replied, "but it was not this one."

"I suppose you are telling us this after speaking with Fontaine," Mr. Bradshaw asked, but Crowe denied having discussed the matter with Fontaine.

Unable to produce further evidence, the Crown asked for a dismissal.

4 Hurt In Blaze

BRANTFORD, July 15 (CP) — Four men were critically burned in a flash fire at the Canadian Durex Abrasives plant here on Thursday. Injured were Bill Ritchie, Harold Glenholme, Donald McKay and Jack Wood. They were working in the mixing room of the plant when the explosion occurred. A fan used for diffusing gases, stopped and while preparations were being made to fix it, the flash occurred.

3,000 Scouts Jam Ottawa For Jamboree

OTTAWA, July 15 —(CP)— There's a hustle and bustle at Connaught Rifle Ranges today as advance parties and volunteers set the stage for the greatest show the Boy Scouts of Canada have ever produced.

Nearly 3,000 of them will be there Monday when the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, officially opens the first Canadian Boy Scout Jamboree.

Four tent-villages are springing up on the shore of the Ottawa River, 14 miles west of the capital. They will accommodate Scouts coming from al over Canada and the United States.

Each village has a name—Goodwill, Loyalty, Friendship and Courage, typical Boy Scout attributes.

Scouts wielding brushes and paint are busy "signing"—painting dozens of directional signs and posting them in their appropriate places.

Lots of Food

Workers are shouldering carcasses of beef, sides of bacon and sacks of potatoes from trucks rolling steadily up to quartermaster stores. Food supplies are running into thousands and thousands of pounds. The canteen anticipates a great rush of business.

The volunteers are Scout leaders, Cub masters, lady Cub masters and Rover Scouts. Lady Cub masters will act as camp mothers.

A 39-bed hospital equipped with cots, white sheets and pillow cases and staffed by the St. John Ambulance Brigade is ready for anyone requiring hospital care.

Special trains carrying thousands of the campers are converging on the capital today. A train in three sections is bringing Scouts from the west. A Maritimes special is bearing more than 500 from the east and a Toronto special will carry most of the huge Ontario contingent.

US Gov't Faces Tough Going On Atlantic Pact Arms Plan

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, July 15—(CP)—The government's $1,130,000,000 arms program for western Europe faces tougher going than the north Atlantic treaty it complements. That fact stands out after the Senate's debate on the pact itself. Individual senators returned time and again to the bothersome question of whether support of the treaty commits them to vote for the arms program.

The best answer they got was that there need be nothing "automatic" about it. But, in the words of State Secretary Dean Acheson, "if you ratify the pact, it cannot be said that there is no obligation to help. There is an obligation to help, but the extent, the manner and the timing is up to the honest judgment of the parties."

Psychological Factor

So the Senate accepted the subtle difference between "commitment" and "obligation" and some who support the treaty made it abundantly clear they will not give the same backing to the follow-up military aid—"obligation" or not.

Under the pact, the United States, Canada and 10 Western European countries promise that an attack against one will be regarded as an attack against all. But the treaty leaves each country free to take whatever action it considers necessary.

Most Senators string along with the government to this extent: The treaty is powerful psychologically; it is a strong deterrent to any potential aggressor. Many, in fact, say privately that they think the United States would go to the aid of Western Europe—treaty or not—if only to preserve its own security.

But the government and a big part of the Senate think in different terms when it comes to the next step. The government argues that stronger European defences would be an even greater deterrent. Some Senators contend it would be better to conserve United States military strength at home.

Many a law-maker is starting to wonder how long the United States can go on helping Europe without injuring its own economy.

Ax Killer Hanged At Walla Walla

WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 15 (AP)—Jake Bird, who hacked a trail of slaughter across the country, died on the gallows of the Washington State Penitentiary today. He was hanged for the ax murder of Mrs. Bertha Kludt Oct. 30, 1947, in Tacoma, Wash.

Bird appeared to be fairly calm as he walked the 10 feet from his cell to the gallows. Cell and gallows are on the same level. The Negro was accompanied by two guards, but needed little help.

He said nothing to the 100 to 125 spectators in the room, but addressed an unintelligible remark to one of the guards.

Rev. Arvid Ahrnell, who had been Bird's spiritual adviser during his final days, read a note written by the condemned slayer in which he said he bears no malice toward anyone and seeks forgiveness.

The trap was sprung while the minister was reading the note.

Goethe Still Lives

ASPEN, Colo., July 15 (AP)—Joahnn Wolfgang Goethe, dead for more than a century, could talk to Americans of 1949 as a contemporary, the Goethe Bicentenary celebrations was told Thursday. G. A. Borgese, professor emeritus of Italian literature of the University of Chicago, said the poet-philosopher is not a figure of the past, out of touch gese said the German genius' with 20th century realities. Borthinking was the kind that never became dated.

Can't Frighten Cows

OTTAWA, July 15—(CP)—Provisions of a seldom-used section of Ontario's Highway Traffic Act was invoked in country traffic court Thursday, and it cost Yvon Castonguay of Ottawa, $10 and costs. The charge—not taking care to prevent frightening—was laid after Castonguay drove his automobile past a herd of cattle on the Russell road, south of here. He pleaded guilty to striking one of the animals.

Fighter of '20s Dies

TROY, N.Y., July 15 (AP) — Frankie Laureate, welterweight and middleweight fighter of the early 1920's, died Thursday in Samaritan Hospital at the age of 48. He suffered a heart attack. He was born Frank Cupolo but adopted the name Laureate for the ring.

Czech Archbishop Defiant, Held By Reds

PRAGUE, July 15 (AP)—Gagged and literally under lock and key, defiant Archbishop Joseph Beran sat tight in his palace today waiting for the Communist government to make the next move against him and the Roman Catholic Church.

All sorts of charges have been made against Beran and his bishops by government officials and the controlled press — charges such as incitement to insurrection and "espionage for unfriendly foreign powers."

Would the Communists dare now to arrest the country's primate when Slovak Catholics have demonstrated they will rise with primitive weapons in defence of village priests?

Roman Catholic and diplomatic quarters appeared convinced that the government would not deviate from its aim of crushing and shackling the church. The question was when and by what measures it now would proceed.

Expected Plan

Informed diplomatic sources took this view of the situation:

1. The government by sheer power won the first round of the state-church fight by isolating Beran and his bishops, placing them in semi-captivity and cutting them off from the faithful.

2. The government is pushing its separatist organizations, such as a Communist-sponsored Catholic action movement. But the general view is that these are not doing as well as expected.

3. There seems now to be a period of "marking time" in which the Communists are producing daily a series of charges in their press against the bishops.

4. This period of trying to build up a case was prompted by strong resistance encountered especially in volatile and strongly-Catholic Slovakia against repression of the church.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Teen Marriage Handicaps, Youthful Pleasures Missed

DEAR MISS DIX I have two boys, one 11, the other 8. When we go out riding I always put the two boys in the back and sit with my husband. My mother - in - law thinks this is terrible. She says I should let one sit with the father and the other with me. My neighbors also gossip about this. I am young and I am crazy about my husband and like to be with him. What must I do?

A WORRIED WOMAN.

ANSWER Quit bothering about what your mother-in-law and your neighbors think on this subject. Laugh off their criticisms It is none of their business, anyway. Let them sit where they please in their cars and you do the same in yours.

As a matter of fact I think the arrangement you make is the wise one. If you consider it from the children's point of view, which I suppose is your mother-in-law's angle, the two boys are far happier and have more fun skylarking together on the back seat than either one would have if forced to sit demurely by his parents. Grownup people and children bore each other stiff. They have nothing that they are really interested in to talk about together but two kids about the same age can giggle and chatter for hours together over nothing.

Your husband certainly would find your society much more entertaining than that of one of the boys, and as you enjoy being with him it certainly seems that the happiness of the greatest number would be conserved by your following your own plan instead of that of his mother's and your neighbors'.

And there is another side to the question, too, that of your keeping yourself your husband's companion instead of being relegated to the back seat like a nursemaid. In my opinion no woman ever makes a greater error than she does when she becomes ALL mother with no thought except for the children and when she devotes herself to her children to the exclusion of her husband. That is the beginning of more alienation between husbands and wives than any other thing.

So I think a wife is wise when she keeps herself at her husband's side and when she dolls herself up and steps out with him and keeps him feeling that she is a Lady Love instead of just the children's mother.

DOROTHY DIX.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX I am 16, deeply in love with a man of 26. But although we intend to marry I yearn for an education and a career. I have now reached the cross-roads of life. Which should I choose—a career or marriage.

IRENE.

ANSWER Well, at 16 I should certainly urge you to gratify your yearning for at least three or four years more of education, for whether you marry or not you will need to learn a lot that you don't know now.

Sixteen is too young for any girl to marry. You don't know your own mind then and the man that appeals to you one day you will tire of the next. Your tastes are unformed and the man you are crazy about at 16 you wouldn't have on a bet when you are 20. And if you marry at 16 you will miss all the playtime of life and just at the age when other girls are joyriding you will be pushing a perambulator, and when they are looking their prettiest, you will be a faded, draged-out married woman sitting at home wishing you hadn't been such a fool as to tie yourself down too soon.

As for choosing between a career or marriage, that question will settle itself if you will give it a little time. For you will probably find that you have no great talent that will urge you into following any especial line of endeavor. But if you marry you can have your cake and eat it, too, because you can make a career of marriage and in that a woman achieves the greatest success and finds her highest reward.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think a successful business woman in her late 30s shows good judgment in marrying a man past 40 years of age who has never been successful in business nor saved any money? She is not particularly in love with this man, but feels that as the years go by a woman needs a companion and that this man is probably her last chance to marry. She admits that this man is weak where women are concerned and she would not trust him very far if there was a good-looking one around. Personally I think she is idiotic to consider such a poor risk. What is your opinion?

MAE.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I agree with you. There would always be pretty women around, and so she would have to add jealousy to the burden of caring for a husband who would probably knock off work altogether as soon as he got a wife who could support him comfortably. Nothing on earth, except being wildly, crazily in love, could justify a woman in committing the folly of marrying a man who has nothing to offer her but a part interest in his society.

DOROTHY DIX.

Designer's Models Show New Trick To Fool Public

NEW YORK, July 15—(AP)—Designer Pauline Trigere has solved the problem of where to pin your brooch when your dress is mostly neckline.

In her fall fashion showing, Trigere's models wear jewelry pinned to their bras, showing discreetly through a neckline that plunges all the way to the belt. The glittering pin also serves to cover the part of the bras that might otherwise show, as well as to create the dramatic illusion that the brooch is pinned to the skin.

It's just another of the tricks of fashion that keep the public wondering what the resourceful designers will pull out of their sleeves next.

Trigere's collection climaxed the fourth of five hectic days of fall fashion previews viewed by fashion editors of newspapers throughout the country as well as a few foreign correspondents, and the dynamic Frenchwoman, who opened her New York showroom during the war, provided plenty of drama for her audience.

A curtain-raiser was her steamer costume, planned for transatlantic commuters and consisting of a long cape in rough tweed woven in wide stripes ranging from black to light gray, with a matching skirt.

Buttoned-back revers are used in various ways on coats and suits, and capes are all over the place. Trigere likes pastel hats, shawls and gloves in pink, pale blue or mauve with slim black dresses, often edges the small triangular shawls in jet or braid fringe.

She revives the cocoon cape and jacket this season—little hip-hugging affairs that are wrapped around the wearer like a cocoon.

Unexpected combinations of fabrics are used, such as a circular full length cape of rough green tweed with a lining of lustrous green brocaded satin matching the restaurant dress beneath.

A featured silhouette is the "sidewinder skirt," with a circular cut draped up at one side, shown both as a part of the dress and as a removable overskirt on a wool sheath dress.

6—In Memoriams

MORDEN—In loving memory of Mrs. J. A. Morden, who passed away July 15, 1948.
A loving smile, a heart of gold,
Dearest mother this world could hold.
'Tis sad but true,
I wonder why,
The best are always first to die.
She never failed to do her best,
Her heart was true and tender,
She toiled too hard for those she loved
Then left them to remember.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

TAYLOR—In loving memory of my dear husband, William Taylor, who passed away one year ago today.
Many a lonely heartache,
Many a silent tear,
Always a faithful memory,
For him no longer here.
God gave me strength to bear it,
Courage to fight the blow,
But what it meant to lose him,
None will ever know.
Alone yet not alone.
—Ever remembered by his loving wife, Emma Taylor.

ROBINSON—In loving memory of a dear mother, Margaret Robinson, who passed away twelve years ago today.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.
In our heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by Jean and Bobby.

Two Good-Sized Pike Caught Bradley Bay

CAMPBELLFORD, July 15 — (ENS)—Earl Myers of Clairton, Pa., landed a 12-pound pike at Bradley Bay yesterday. It measured 39 inches in length.

Lyle Hendricks shortly after caught another pike weighing 6¾ pounds and measuring 30 inches.

Reports from the bay regarding pike and bass are quite favourable but muskies are proving too elusive for even the most expert anglers.

Former Member For Durham Dies In Hospital

BOWMANVILLE, July 15—The death of Frederick Wellington Bowen, a former Conservative member of parliament for Durham took place in Bowmanville Hospital, folowing two and a half years of illness. Mr. Bowen was aged 72.

Fred Bowen, as he was known to many throughout his native Durham, was a son of the late Wellington A. Bowen and his wife, the former Susan Horner. Educated in Durham schools he eventually took over the family farm on which he was born and continued there as a highly successful farmer.

The chief farming interest of Mr. Bowen was beef cattle and he also succeeded in extensive apple production.

Keenly interested in civic affairs, Mr. Bowen became a member of Clarke Township Council in 1914, was later elected reeve and in 1921 was elected Warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. Near the close of his term he was nominated to contest the riding as a Conservative in the Dominion election and sat in the House for 14 years.

Mr. Bowen's grandfather was a man of great public service, in whose footsteps the younger man followed. His grandfather was the late Henry Munroe who was MPP for West Durham in 1859, representing the Liberal party.

The first Reform convention in the riding was called by Mr. Munroe at which Hart Massey of Newcastle was elected to the executive.

During 20 years public service Mr. Bowen was never the extreme partisan. Genial and friendly, quiet voiced and generous, he would go out of his way to do a favor without regard to political persuasion. Generous almost to a fault, he helped many a person financially without thought of return except the feeling of rendering a service.

In fraternal and church circles he was equally indefatigable in rendering outstanding service. Member of Durham Lodge No. 66, AF and AM for almost half a century he was the recipient two years ago of the William Mercer Wilson medal awarded by Masonic Grand Lodge "for meritous service to the craft." He was the 12th Mason to receive the honor and the first in Ontario.

Mr. Bowen was also a lifelong member of the Newtonville Orange Lodge. The family were adherents of Newcastle United Church. On the formation of the county Ganaraska Commission, Mr. Bowen was named first chairman and continued in this work until incapacitated through ill health.

Say Time Not Ripe For New Labor Party

MILWAUKEE, July 15 (AP)— The time is not ripe for the formation of an Independent Labor party in the United States, the United Auto Workers (CIO) decided Thursday.

The 2,400 delegates in convention here voted instead for increased political action in support of "Liberal" candidates after the author of a one-man minority report withdrew his recommendation for an immediate new party.

Paul Silver of Detroit voluntarily withdrew his minority resolution after several speakers argued from the floor that this was not the time for such action. The convention promptly adopted the majority recommendation.

A proposal to raise monthly dues of members from $1.50 to $2 was withdrawn by the constitution committee before it got to the floor.

Fears Gov't Control Of Blind Institute

TORONTO, July 15.—(CP).—Col. E. A. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, said Thursday that a service organization for the blind can be more effective as a philanthropic group than as a government agency.

Addressing delegates at the C.N.I.B.'s national convention, he said it was felt by some persons associated with the Institute's work that government grants should be larger than at present. But he felt that government assistance should not be more than 50 per cent of operating costs, lest higher proportion lead to government control.

Boat Blast Kills 5 In Family

Seven Enjoying Trip Through Islands As Explosion Occurs

SOREL, Que., July 16—(CP)—Five members of a family of seven were killed when a motor boat exploded in the St. Lawrence River near here late last night. All seven were in the boating party.

The dead are: Herve Cournoyer, 27; Marcel Cournoyer, 17; Lucienne Cournoyer, 29; Giselle Cournoyer, 20; Therese Cournoyer, 21.

The survivors are: Yvan Charbonneau, 24; Lucien Cournoyer, 30. All were from Sorel.

The explosion occurred about 15 feet from Ste. Anne de Sorel, one of the many islands in the region.

Some of the bodies had been recovered early today, but which ones were not specified.

Police said the five killed died either in the explosion or were thrown overboard and drowned.

Hours after the accident details were still lacking but police said the party of seven set out Friday night for a motor-boat ride in the island-dotted region, a favorite rendezvous for many seeking a summer evening's pleasure.

Motor Backfires

When the boat was about 150 feet from the island there was suddenly a back-fire from the motor which appeared to touch off the explosion.

A sheet of flame and black smoke shot into the air.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately known.

A search for bodies went on throughout the night. This morning "several" had been found but identification was still vague, it was reported.

Later it was said two bodies had not been found, those of Lucienne and Therese Cournoyer.

THAT'S MORE THAN one and a half million dollars that Mayor Max J. Swanston is handing to John R. Marshall, chairman of the board of governors of the Civic Hospital, while city treasurer Stanley Couper looks on. Two cheques, one for $1,500,000, the other $1,498.03 in interest, representing the money estimated necessary to finish the job.

Hospital Board Chairman Gets Big Cheque

More than a million and a half dollars changed hands casually in the office of city treasurer Stanley Couper as Mayor Max J. Swanston handed over two cheques to John R. Marshall, chairman of the board of governors of the Civic Hospital Friday afternoon to pay for the new Civic Hospital.

One cheque was made out for $1,500,000; the other was for $1,498.03 interest. The money became available with the record sale of debenture bonds last week.

"We're very glad to get this," Mr. Marshall told the city officials when he accepted the cheques. He said he thought the hospital and nurses' residence would be ready by next May.

"It's going to be something of which the city will be very proud," he added. Great public interest in the hospital has been shown by the number of people who have driven or walked up to the west end of Weller St. to see how work was progressing.

Mr. Marshall reported he was quite pleased with the hospital's progress. He said the new east wing has been roofed over and bricklayers are beginning to apply the exterior. Plastering is well advanced in the west wing.

Next Wednesday the city council is going to confer with landscape architects to decide on how the grounds will be laid out.

Swallows Nickel While Shopping

BELLEVILLE, July 16.—Friday was the opening day of a new five-and-dime store here and one little fellow who will long remember it is 3-year-old Billy Stovin.

While visiting the new store, Mrs. Stovin, who had taken her 3-year-old son with her on a Friday afternoon shopping tour, was suddenly startled by the little chap's loud screams. Another lady shopper informed Mrs. Stovin that she had seen Billy swallowing a nickel. A swelling on the outside of the boy's neck indicated where the coin had lodged itself in his throat.

Soon all the customers in the store, not to mention the manager two floor walkers and numerous clerks, had gathered around the frightened child with suggestions as to how best to retrieve the nickel. One helpful customer kept telling Billy to cough it up. Finally, the little tot, between heavy sobs and shrieks of terror, sputtered: "I don't want to spit on the floor. The floor is too clean."

After a spell of coughing, a few hardy pats on the back and being held head down by his quick-thinking mother, Billy finally coughed up the nickel.

Street Cars Run Wild

TOKYO, July 16—(Reuters)—Ten persons were killed and 14 injured in suburban Mitaka Friday night when three street cars ran away, struck several pedestrians and crashed into a house. Police today investigated the possibility of sabotage. The three runaway cars belong to a train of seven which were taken from the car barn by unauthorized persons during the night.

Call Union Leaders To Discuss Dockers

LONDON, July 16—(CP)—The government called in leaders of two waterfront unions today to try and end London's 20-day dock strike.

There was some optimism that an agreement might be reached to get the 14,638 idle stevedores back to work this week-end.

Sir Robert Gould, the Labor ministry's top negotiator, met with executive committees of the lightermen's union and the stevedores and dockers unions.

More than 6,000 troops are at work on 50 to 60 of the 170 ships now tied up along the miles of London docks. Ninety-one ships are idle. Others are being worked by the 10,000 union dockers still on the job.

Will Lay Treason Charges If Pope Obeyed By Czechs

PRAGUE, July 16—(AP)—Czechoslovakia's communist government today had declared a fight to the finish to throttle the Roman Catholic Church here and smash the influence of the Vatican. Red spokesmen had: Publicly accused the Catholic hierarchy led by Archbishop Joseph Beran of treason against the state. They threatended that anyone who tries to carry out in this country the Pope's orders of excommunication of communists will be prosecuted for treason.

Officials announced the drafting of a bill for control of churches which will give the government a stranglehold rule over approval of any pastor or high church official, on political any pastor, priest or high church grounds. The bill would make official as much a government employee as any bureaucrat.

After a few weeks of resting on their oars while the controlled press blasted Roman Catholic leadership in the embittered state-church fight, government spokesmen unleashed several broadsides Friday.

"Provoke Revolt"

The heaviest blast was fired by Justice Minister Alexei Cepicka, in a fiery address he charged Beran and his bishops with treason, and trying to provoke revolt in Czechoslovakia.

Cepicka accused the Vatican's diplomatic representation here with master-minding plots against Czechoslovakia and called Pope Pius the "chief enemy of our state."

Cepicka gave no indication if or when the government might jail Archbishop Beran. The primate has been under close police watch in his palace for nearly a month since Communist hecklers hooted him out of St. Vitus Cathedral during a sermon criticizing the government.

Chiang Outlines Anti-Red Pact

CANTON, July 16 (Reuters)—Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese Nationalist generalissimo, announced today that China, the Philippines and South Korea had decided to establish a Far East anti-Communist pact.

Chiang made the announcement at a joint meeting of the Kuomintang Central Political Council and central executive committee.

He added that invitations would be sent to other Far Eastern countries to join in the pact.

Chiang returned earlier this week from the Philippines where he discussed plans for dealing with the spread of Communism in the Far East with President Quirino of the Philippines.

15 Germans Die In Dump Blast

PRUEM, Germany, July 16 —(AP)—A French explosives depot blew up Friday night killing 15 Germans, injuring scores more and destroying hundreds of homes in this West German town. German police said the death toll may go still higher.

Cause of the explosion was not determined, but no sabotage is suspected. Police said a short circuit in an electric line might be responsible.

Shatters Streets

The blast shattered whole streets in some sections of the town, and fires were breaking out all over. The hospital and post-office were among the buildings destroyed. French Army units, German police and fire brigades were moving here from Coblenz.

Firemen tonight fought the flames and cleared debris. All lights were out for some time, and telephone service was disrupted but later partially restored. Firemen from Trier and other neighboring towns joined those from Pruem and Coblenz in clearing rubble and fighting flames.

Provincial Police Dept. Reorganized At Belleville

TORONTO, July 16 — (CP)—Commissioner W. H. Stringer announced Friday he has started to reorganize the Belleville district headquarters of the Ontario Provincial Police.

He said Cpl. Sam Ervine, veteran highway patrol officer, has been transferred from Belleville to Perth and replaced by Sgt. John Kay of Perth. Resignation of Constable Charles E. Siple of the Belleville detachment, effective July 21, has been accepted, the commissioner said.

Reorganization at Belleville was one of the major recommendations of Mr. Justice J. Keiller Mackay, whose Royal Commission report on Belleville headquarters was released Thursday.

The report recommended the retirement of Inspector W. A. Page and Sgt. E. F. Hartleib, and the immediate dismissal of Const. J. E. Keays whose charges of misconduct and maladministration of justice against fellow officers led to the Royal Commission inquiry.

Commissioner Stringer said retirement of Page and Hartleib would take effect as soon as replacements can be made.

Mr. Justice Mackay's report exonerated Commissioner Stringer from the charges which Keays had levelled against him.

10 Guests Flee Fire At Laurentian Resort

VAL DAVID, Que., July 16 — (CP)—Ten guests escaped when fire early today destroyed the hotel Labelle Chaudiere at this Laurentian Mountain resort.

The 20-room, three-storey building was destroyed and loss estimated at $50,000. It was owned by Paul Quesnel.

The guests are reported to have had no difficulty escaping, although cause of the fire was not stated.

One fireman was slightly injured.

Child Tied To Fence For 3 Hours

Youngster Disappears For Five Hours Back And Knees Raw

TORONTO, July 16 (CP) Two boys, aged eight and 13, who allegedly tied a five-year-old girl to a downtown fence and beat her with sticks for three hours, will appear in juvenile court here today.

Police arrested them Friday night, a few hours after five-year-old Carol Surge was found in bed by her mother, Mrs. Frank Surge, who had just come home after scorching the streets for five hours for the tot. Carol disappeared around 5 p.m.

Carol's back was raw; she had heavy bruises on her legs and arms, a bright red welt across her chest and her knees were cut open. She was covered with dirt from head to foot.

Mrs. Surge took the child to hospital, where doctors put stitches in her knees and treated the cuts and abrasions. Hospital nurses said the girl had not been criminally attacked.

Seized By Boys

Carol's story, as pieced together by police, was this:

She went out from her Gerrard Street West home to play. On a nearby street two boys grabbed her and hustled her behind a brewery. There they stripped her clothes off, tied her to a fence and beat her for hours with sticks.

She said the boys tried to make her swallow stones. When they untied her, they put her clothes back on, then pushed er in a mudhole and left her crying.

An unidentified woman found the child and took her home.

Carol is one of six children. Her father, a painter who works out of town, said "if I could only get hold of one of these people myself, I'd really show them."

Check Suspects In UN Offices

WASRINGTON, July 16 (AP) A Senate committee pressed the State Department today for information on how many aliens might be using diplomatic immunity as a shield for subversive activities.

Attorney General Tom Clark revealed Friday that more than a score of foreigners attached to United Nations headquarters in New York are under investigation by the Justice Department.

His disclosure came in answer to questions by a Senate judiciary sub-committee on the extent aliens in the United States representing foreign governments or international organizations are engaged in spying or other subversive work.

Clark told the committee his department currently is making "espionage and intelligence investigations" of approximately 685 aliens. Of these, he added, four per cent involve persons attached to the United Nations. That would be 27 or 28 individuals.

He said this does not imply that these persons "are actively engaged in espionage or intelligence work but merely that available information requires these investigations."

4 Seriously Burned In Fire At Cottage

SUTTON, July 16 (CP)—Four persons were burned Friday, three seriously, when a gasoline stove exploded in a summer cottage at Mossington Park, near this Lake Simcoe village, 40 miles north of Toronto.

Admitted to hospital in Toronto were: Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cox, of Long Branch, and Mrs. Ethel Slottery, of Toronto. Mr. Slottery was allowed to leave after treatment. Hospital uthorities said the condition of the three others was "satisfactory."

The blast blew fruniture about the kitchen and lifted a few shingles off the roof of the cottage. Police said someone placed a small gasoline stove on top of the kitchen range, which was burning, and the tank on the small stove exploded.

Berlin Plane Crashes

BERLIN, July 16—(CP)—A British air-lift plane crashed and burned while taking off from Tegel Airfield in Berlin today, killing five crew members. Airfield attendants said the R.A.F. Hastings plane stalled at an altitude of 50 feet and plunged to earth. It was the second fatal air-lift crash in four days.

Train Derailed At Bridge Over Trent River

Three railway men narrowly escaped death early today when the Belleville to Toronto CNR passenger train was derailed at the entrance to the swing-bridge over the Trent River, a quarter of a mile west of Hastings.

The cab contained three men—Engineer Fred Hall of Lindsay and the fireman and brakeman. A tender and baggage car also went off the tricks. Two coaches were left on, a baggage coach and a passenger one containing 29 people.

A boat was passing through the swing portion of the bridge over which the railway tracks are laid, and the train ran into the automatic block and was instantly derailed.

It is not known whether the signalman at the bridge had raised the automatic arms indicating there was no thoroughfare.

The train carrying passengers, express and mail from Kingston and Belleville left Hastings on schedule at about 7.30 a.m. It approached the east end of the bridge situated a quarter of a mile west of Hastings and was de-railed by the automatic block.

Had it run off less than a foot more to the right of the track it would have plunged over the steep 25 foot railway embankment, bringing possible serious injury to the three men in the cab. The block is situated about 200 yards from the bridge.

Nomal sevice is not expected to be restored on the line to Peterborough until about 3 p.m. A freight engine arrived at the scene of the accident by 10 a.m. to help put the de-railed cars back on the track, and another was expected from Lindsay.

Killed In Crash

TORONTO, July 16.—(CP).—A man tentatively identified as Earl Coventry of Windsor or St. Catharines, was killed Friday night when his automobile crashed into a cement post on the Queen Elizabeth Highway eight miles west of here. Identification papers found on the body carried both Windsor and St. Catharines addresses.

Canada Has Biggest Year In Trade History, Exports $1,464,000,000

Dominion Sends Sales Promotion Staff To Major U.S. Cities To Bring Products Before American Buyers

OTTAWA, July 16—(CP)—In the wake of its biggest peace time trading year, Canada is away on a campaign to sell more goods to the United States. A sales-promotion staff is being sent to major American cities to help bring Canadian products before American buyers. A trade department spokesman told of the move Friday—the day after Sir Stafford Cripps announced in London that British imports from dollar areas—including Canada—will be cut 25 per cent this year. Earlier this week, Trade Minister Howe said the adverse balance of trade with the United States was the only "disturbing aspect" of Canadian trade.

A Dominion Bureau of Statistics trade survey Friday showed 1948 was the biggest peace time trading year in the Dominion's history.

In 1938 Canada exported goods worth $849,000,000 and imported $678,000,000. In 1948 exports rose to $1,464,000,000 and imports to $1,223,000,000 in terms of 1938 prices—an increase of 73 per cent in the volume of exports and an increase of 81 per cent in the volume of imports.

Cash Counts

But the war-inspired rise in prices meant the value of imports and exports increased a lot more quickly than the actual volume of goods. So in terms of 1948 prices, 1948 exports were worth $3,110,000,000—an increase of 267 per cent over 1938—and imports were worth $2,635,000,000—an increase of 290 per cent over 1938.

Last year also saw an "unprecedented increase" in trade with the U.S.—48.9 per cent of all Canadian exports went there and 68.5 per cent of all Canadian imports came from there.

Those figures, however, leave the Dominion with a deficit on trade with the U.S. and the sales campaign is designed to overcome it.

At the same time, the Dominion will try to cut purchases in the U.S. by reimposing import controls that have gradually been relaxed in the last 10 months. The controls went on in November 1947 when Canadian reserves of gold and U.S. dollars sunk to less than $500,000,000.

Huge Waterfall Discovered On Ocean Floor

PLYMOUTH, England, July 16 (AP)—The world's most stupendous waterfall has just been discovered by a group of British scientists—at the bottom of the ocean.

Scientists of the Marine Biological Laboratory have been studying samples of ocean water all around Britain's once-rich fishing grounds. They have been trying to find out why they aren't rich any more, and haven't been since about 1930.

Then they discovered the waterfall, so tremendous that it stumps the imagination, it drops off of the continental shelf just west of Britain in the Atlantic ocean. And it gives the scientists a clue as to why there aren't any fish around those parts any more.

The water is continually dropping off the shelf. But some years the movement is more than others. In an extremely cold winter, such as the one most of Europe had in 1930, the shallow coastal waters became thoroughly chilled and therefore increased in weight.

The heavier cold water, naturally plunges to the bottom in "stupendous quantities," according to Dr. Leslie Cooper, the man who discovered the waterfall.

And in the rush, all the rich food—the worms and minute organisms on which fish feed—is washed out to great depths beyond the 100 fathom mark.

Railroad Union President Dies Suddenly

CLEVELAND, July 16 (AP) — Alexander Fell Whitney, 76, fiery labor leader who was the friend and sometimes bitter opponent of presidents of the United States, died at his home early today of a heart attack.

The peppery president of the 215,000-man brotherhood of railroad trainmen was stricken after spending a full day at his office and an evening with friends at his home.

It was in recent years in relations with President Truman, however that Whitney came into breakfast-table view of the American public.

The crippling railway strike of May, 1946, was in full swing. All but 100 of 17,500 of the scheduled passenger trains in the United States and 240 of 24,000 freight trains were out of operation for a 48-hour period.

President Truman called Whitney and Alvanley Johnston, grand chief of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers, to the White House for a closed conference.

The labor chiefs called their men back to work, but soon after Whitney shouted "double cross."

He said they were induced by the president to postpone the strike for five days on the promise that an agreement would be forthcoming from railroad management.

Instead, he said, the brotherhood officials were given the runaround.

President Truman asked Congress for an automatic draft for striking railroaders.

Wants Eye Bank In Hospitals

TORONTO, July 16.—(CP)).— An eye bank in every hospital, where the sight of those who have just died may be transferred to the eyes of the blind, is the dream of Col. E. A. Baker.

Col. Baker, managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, outlined some of the difficulties in the transplanting of corneas in an address to the Institute's national conference here.

He said the cornea of an eye could be used a few hours after death but it was difficult to get authority from relatives of the deceased. Eyes left in wills were not usually available until some time after death and they could not be preserved for more than three or four days.

In the coarse grains futures market, oats and barley recovered from an early recession, with buying from local interests and some routine shipper demand. Processors and United States accounts took barley.

Rye gained on local and American demand, influenced by a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report on crop conditions. Early trading was dull but picked up later in the day.

Quiet Friday Night

Behaviour of Peterborough residents was more orderly Friday night than on any other Friday in the year. There were no instances of drunkenness on the streets, a rare thing for the end of the working week.

Two men were arrested for drunkenness in the late afternoon but there were no evening arrests.

Gilbert Jones, Cavan and John Cahill, RR 2, Peterborough, were the two afternoon drunks. In city police court today they were remanded by James Fleming, JP, until Monday.

Douro School Captures Trophy

Winner of the Rural School Improvement Competition for Peterborough County this year is SS 12, Douro. With this honor goes the Gordon K. Fraser trophy and the right to enter the provincial competition.

The Douro public school was officially opened this year and through a co-operative effort involving pupils, trustees, teacher and inspector, the grounds were judged the most improved in the county.

A cement walk has been put around the newly-erected building, a top put on the well, the playground area graded, and it together with an expanse of lawn sown with timothy seed. Shrubs have been planted and the whole site generally tidied up.

Judges James Rigden and R. F. Downey picked SS No. 1 Harvey and Verulam as runner up. The school will receive an award from the Peterborough County Teachers' Institute.

Others inspected by the judges were SS No. 12, Belmont (Cordova Mines); SS 3, Belmont, made a start but not graded; SS No. 6, Chandos (Glen Alda), given honorable mention; SS No. 12, Smith, and SS No. 3 Harvey, visited but not graded.

The annual project received the support of both inspectors—K. O. Birkin, Peterborough East, and E. C. Anderson, Peterborough West—as well as the Peterborough Horticultural Society. It is sponsored by the Department of Education among those school sections with at least 80 per cent of the ratepayers being farmers.

The provincial judgings will be held later.

10 Active Cases Found In TB Survey

Of the 19,016 people who were x-rayed in the recent county-wide TB survey only 10 were found to be active cases. The survey was sponsored by the Peterborough County Tuberculosis Association working in conjunction with the Department of Health. Organizational work was carried out by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

According to the final figures there was one case of active pulmonary tuberculosis for every 2,000 people given the chest x-ray.

Following is the summary: Total number x-rayed 19,016; no evidence of disease or abnormality 18,549 or 97.5 per cent; pulmonary tuberculosis 54 or .3 per cent; pulmonary tuberculosis suspects, three; other diseases and abnormalities 410 or 2.2 per cent.

The 54 pulmonary tuberculosis cases are further broken down in to three classifications: active 10—six in the minimal stage, two moderately advanced, and two far advanced; activity questionable, four—three minimal, and one moderately advanced; and inactive, 40—25 minimal, nine moderately advanced, and six far advanced.

For survey purposes the county was divided into four groups: Peterborough community; Peterborough rural; school children (including PCVS students, Grade 8 public school pupils and other public school pupils who had a positive reaction to the Board of Education skin test); and industrial.

Five Cases In City

Altogether there were 10,434 schoolchildren and city residents examined and 98 per cent of them showed no evidence of disease or abnormality. Twenty-five or .2 per cent had pulmonary tuberculosis but only five were active cases—two of these far advanced.

Rural people included in the survey had no active cases of TB although there were five inactive ones. The percentage was .3 per cent compared to .2 per cent for the city. X-ray plates also showed that residents outside the city were more prone to other diseases and abnormalities than their urban cousins; the figures being 2.5 per cent and 1.8 per cent, respectively.

Five of the active pulmonary TB cases were found in the industrial survey which embraced a total of 8,582 workers. Four of them were found in one company (all in the minimal stage), and the fifth was in the moderately advanced stage.

Farm Machinery Sales Slow Up

Drought and heat have slowed down farmers' orders for agricultural machinery although a still large number of back orders in some types of equipment keeps the level of sales as high or even higher than they have ever been.

Local farm equipment dealers said they have seen signs of the market tightening and they are getting to the point where they may soon catch up with back orders.

One dealer said the drought cut his orders in half, but recent rains have increased orders.

"If it rained today, I would have a bunch in here tomorrow placing orders," he said.

Shortest in supply are heavy duty tractors. The demand for light duty tractors has been met almost completely.

Bishop Vacationing

BUCKHORN, July 16—(ENS)—His Lordship Rt. Rev. R. H. Waterman, D.D., of Halifax, Coadjutor Bishop of the Diocese of Nova Scotia of the Church of England in Canada, is vacationing with his wife and family at a cottage in Sandy Lake, three miles north of here. Kingston, Primate of All Canada, Bishop Waterman was Dean of the Diocese of Niagara and vicar of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton.

Call Off Strike In U.S. Steel Industry

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP) —A presidential fact-finding board in the steel labor dispute took over one of the biggest economic questions in the United States today—should there be a "fourth round" of postwar wage increases?

The three-man board was appointed Friday by President Truman to end a tense 72 hours speculation over whether the steel industry, or a big part of it, would shut down indefinitely today.

About 1,000,000 steelworkers called off plans for a walkout to begin last midnight when the industry's giants, including United States Steel, reluctantly gave in to Truman's 60-day strike truce plan.

UE Protests To Pat Conroy

A lengthy telegram of protest from the officers and executive of Local 527 UE-CIO has been sent to Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the CCL, over the suspension of five top UE officers.

The telegram described the move as "a complete violation of the autonomous rights of our union and must be looked upon by our members as an attempt to dictate to them who they may or may not select as their representatives."

It further claims that the suspended UE district officers have done "a tremendous job" in advancing and protecting the welfare of union members in Peterborough. As an indication of this it pointed out that the UE has contracts and working conditions second to none in Canada.

"We call upon you in the interests of all Canadian workers, both organized and unorganized, to end the policy which already has forced the UMMSW out of the Congress and now threatens the UE, before further damage is done to the unity of the Congress," said the telegram.

(C. S. Jackson, president of District 5, and four other officers named on the masthead of the Canadian UE News including Mervin Chambers, vice-president, of Peterborough, were suspended by the Executive Council of the Congress for an editorial in that publication attacking the Congress.)

Five Motorists Lost Their Car Radios

A fifth radio stolen from a car in the west end of the city Thursday night was reported to city police Friday.

The built-in radio was taken from the car of a visitor to Peterborough from British Columbia, who left his car overnight parked on the street in front of 476 Gilmour St. He is Robert Fortye, 1045 Belmont Ave., Victoria.

The radio was taken from his 1947 Meteor, the thief gaining access to it through the no draft ventilator on the car.

Although most of the five motorists whose car radios were were stolen Thursday night have their cars insured against theft, they may not recover insurance.

Roy Dixon, Peterborough insurance agent, told the Examiner that policies taken out against theft or fire do not cover radios even if they are built into the car. A special radio endorsement costing either one or two dollars according to the policy, is required to cover radios.

Identification Officer Bill Aggas of City Police, who has been taking part in investigations, says only three of the five motorists have recorded the serial numbers of their radios.

Open 4th Day Of Talks On Dollar Scarcity

LONDON, July 16. (Reuters)—The Commonwealth finance ministers today opened their fourth day of talks on the dollar-sterling problem.

They resumed Friday's discussion of short and medium-term measures to bridge the dollar-sterling gap.

Sir Oliver Coonetilleke, Ceylon high commissioner to the United Kingdom, said before today's meeting began that the ministers would discuss the final details of the provisional short-term measures.

Britain is understood to have suggested that the Dominion governments should consider an over all cut in Commonwealth dollar imports at the rate of about 25 per cent.

These cuts would be on the same basis as those announced by Sir Stafford Cripps, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, in parliament this week.

Honor Anglers Who Caught Extra Big Fish

Thomas Miller of Rittman, Ohio, is the first recipient of a crest and certificate emblematic of membership in the Order of the Kawartha Angler. He was presented with them this week by James M. Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, after having caught a 10½ pound pickerel in Chandos Lake while he was staying at Dunwurken Cottages.

The order was recently established by the newly-organized Resort Operators' Section of the Chamber of Commerce. It followed creation a few weeks ago of "The Order of the Kawartha Muskie." The new orders covers small-mouth bass, as well as pickerel; the former must be at least four pounds in weight to qualify for the award and the latter eight pounds. The orders have been set up to assist in publicizing the attractions of the Kawarthas, particularly in the U.S.A. Permanent residents of the Kawarthas are not eligible.

Second Big Pickerel

Second tourist to be enrolled in the "Order of the Kawartha Angler" was Nelson R. Douglas of Orrville, Ohio, who caught an 8¾ pound pickerel in Stony Lake. None have been presented as yet for small-mouth bass. The order will not apply to large-mouth bass.

Of the six membership in the "Order of the Kawartha Muskie" presented so far, four have been women, as follows: Mrs. E. Zingey, Beach City, Ohio; who caught a 35-pounder in Rice Lake; Mrs. May Prentice, Akron, Ohio, 22-pounder from Pigeon Lake; Mrs. C. S. Zingey, Brewster, Ohio, 27½-pounder, Rice Lake, and Mrs. Charles Skelly, Canton, Ohio, 20½-pounder, Trent River. Male recipients of membership have been presented to W. V. Kayser, Akron, Ohio, who caught an 18-pound muskie in Pigeon Lake; and H. E. Mott, Brantford, Ontario, who landed a 27-pounder in Buckhorn Lake. All expressed much pleasure over receipt of the mementos, Mr. Fraser said.

Aussie Mines Adopt Treatment

TIMMINS, July 16—(CP)—Dr. W. D. Robson, co-discoverer of the aluminum therapy method for prevention and treatment of silicosis, announced Friday that state authorities are preparing to use it in the gold mines of West Australia.

Dr. Robson, medical director of the McIntyre Mines Foundation of Porcupine, recently returned from Australia where he inspected mines on request of the governments of Victoria, Queensland, Tasmania and West Australia.

Officials of the Ontario Department of Mines said that the method, although not officially approved by the department, is in wide use throughout the gold mines of this province.

Powdered aluminum in small quantities is blown into the air of the miners' locker rooms. Breathing the impregnated air is said to have a therapeutic and preventative effect on silicosis — an ailment of the lungs.

The late James J. Denny, former mill superintendent of McIntyre Porcupine Mines, was co-discoverer of the treatment with Dr. Robson.

WRIST WATCH STOLEN

Allan Hagan, 217 Mark St. lost a wrist watch Friday from the glove compartment of his car. He told city police that he left his car parked in a yard off Simcoe St. and missed the white gold watch when he returned. He values it at $35.

Now Up To Seven

Clover leaves are the latest medium of competition between the women of Peterborough County. It started when Mrs. Evelyn Townsend of Douro brought a five-leafed clover into The Examiner office thinking it was probably a unique specimen.

The next day Mrs. Reg. McMillan, wife of Constable McMillan brought along several five-leafed stems which she had found in her garden.

Next came Mrs. E. Fraser of 28 Victoria Ave., with a six-leafed clover which was, by general consent, a rare find.

Friday afternoon Mrs. Thomas Kemp, 384 Stewart St., exhibited a seven-leafed clover at the Examiner office which she picked last Summer in Lindsday behind the Collegiate.

RCAF Organizes Striking Force

GIMLI, Man., July 16—(CP)—The R.C.A.F. has a hard-striking force of reserves for any possible emergency.

This was proven during a two-week operational training period by reserve squadrons from Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg. The exercises ended Friday.

The reserve camp focussed attention on the Air Force's role as defender or attacker. Friday, with 55 aircraft and personnel from all parts of western Canada participating, the Air Force put on a mock war show.

Some of the aircraft were designated as defenders of the airport near this town 60 miles north of Winnipeg, others were assigned as stackers.

The show was only a preview, however, of a larger operation to be held early next month in northeastern British Columbia. Dubbed "Operation Eagle," the pending manoeuvres will include army as well as air force personnel and will be extended over four days. Actual battle conditions will be stimulated.

World's Top Cowboys Square Off For Laurels

CALGARY, July 16—(CP) — The world's top cowboys squared off against each other today in their final bid for championship laurels at the Calgary Stampede—the largest stampede in the history of the city.

An all-time attendance record for Canada's biggest and most colorful western show was set Friday as thousands of children swarmed over the grounds to set the turnstiles clicking to the 78,612 mark.

The figure represented an increase of 186 over the previous high set on the same day last year. It also boosted this year's total attendance for the first five days of the six-day show to 337,114, an increase of 29,145 over the same number of days in 1948.

United States cowboys maintained their domination of all major cowboy events except the dangerous steer decorating event, where dare-devil Canadian cowpunchers were making a runaway of the title race.

Army Worms Marching Against Crops

TORONTO, July 16 — (CP) — The army worm, a tiny, crop-chewing caterpillar with a king-sized appetite, is on the march in sections of western and northern Ontario.

Friday brought fresh reports of the furless, striped-backed worms invading the farmlands and consuming an increasing amount of grain and vegetable crops.

Agricultural officials say drought conditions have hampered the development of parasites which normally keep the worms under control.

At London, agricultural experts said they saw no end to the worms' crop-damaging cycle. They recommend use of poison to curtail the onslaught.

Between 800 and 900 acres of Huron County were added to the western Ontario area invaded by the spiral-like insects and a strong echelon continued to pierce through Perth. Isolated reports from points in Grey, Hastings, Dufferin and Simcoe counties were far from encouraging.

A Kitchener item said the pests were crawling into Waterloo County from the northwest, not only through the fields but along highways as well.

A Woodstock resident said the first worms moved into that area Friday. Officials are inspecting damage and hope to find a solution to prevent further damage in Oxford County.

Plan To Fight Stock Racket

WASHINGTON, July 16. — (CP).—Officials Friday disclosed a new international line-up in the fight against promoters of bogus Canadian oil and mining stock.

J. Stewart Smith, deputy superintendent of brokers for the British Columbia government, discussed the "sucker racket" with members of the United States Securities and Exchange Commission.

"We have a definite step in view," he said after the talks, but he declined to elaborate. "There will be three or four months of planning before we can announce anything."

Smith said he believes securities administrators in other Canada provinces will hasten to cooperate with the S.E.C. The goal is to smash a dishonest minority which is reported to lure vast sums of United States capital into wild-cat Canadian ventures.

Canada has no Federal body comparable to the S.E.C. Each province has its own laws for protection of risk capital.

"(Earlier this week, in an address to the National Association of Securities Administrators at Richmond, Va., Smith criticized the Ontario Securities Act. United States officials have charged that most of the bogus stock is peddled by promoters working out of Ontario).

Court Acquits Man Of Raping Own Wife

LEEDS, Yorkshire, England, July 16—(AP)—Edward Clarke was acquitted Friday of a charge of raping his own wife. Clarke, a 35-year-old truck driver, admitted making love to his estranged mate but said she was willing.

The wife's version was different. She compiained that Clarke cajoled her into an out-of-the-way place, lifted her over a wall, and was intimate with her despite her struggles. Clarke's lawyer argued at the start of the trial Friday that Clarke could not be accused of rape while the marriage was still in force.

Discuss Rail Wages

MONTREAL, July 16—(CP) — Spokesman for the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CBRE) met representatives of Canada's two major railroads to discuss wage-and-hour demands Friday but no statement was issued after the meeting. The CBRE is seeking an hourly increase of 10 cents effective July 16, a 40-hour week in place of the present 48 with no reduction in take-home pay, and check-off for union dues.

Tourists Set Record

TORONTO, July 16 — (CP)— The trend in the first five months of this year indicates the number of United States tourists coming to Ontario will reach record proportions, the Department of Travel and Publicity reported Friday. In that period the number of U.S. parties checked through at border points was 204,222, an increase of 13.3 per cent over the corresponding period in 1948. The previous high in the last 10 years was established in 1946 when 163,807 parties entered the province.

Board Rejects CCL Application

TORONTO, July 16 (CP) — The Ontario Labor Relations Board Friday dismissed the Canadian Congress of Labor application for certification at the International Nickel Company plant at Port Colborne and upheld the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers as the official bargaining agent at the refinery.

Although the CCL refinery workers had a five-vote edge in the labor board conducted ballot, the board's judgment was based on the fact that the CCL union did not obtain a majority of all those eligible to vote, as required by the labor regulations.

The company and the two unions still are involved in a court action to decide which of the two unions is entitled to check-off dues which have been accumulating in trust with the company since the inter-union dispute.

PORT COLBORNE, July 16 (CP)—O. Breton, representative of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, said Friday night a special meeting has been called to discuss an Ontario Labor Relations Board decision.

Ford Workers Vote Strike Approval 7-1

DETROIT, July 16.—(AP).—Ford workers across the country have voted strike approval by a 7-1 margin, the United Automobile Workers' Union (C.I.O.) reported Friday.

Strike approval does not necessarily mean there will be a walkout. It simply gives union officers authority to call one.

Friday—expiration date for the present Ford contract—was the deadline set by the U.A.W. for filing of strike vote returns by locals at Ford's 49 plants. The company employs 106,000 production workers.

The Ford contract, under a company-union agreement, will be extended on a day-to-day basis from now on. Either side may cancel the agreement on five days' notice.

The union is seeking pensions, health insurance and cost-of-living wage boost at Ford.

Break Lord's Day Act

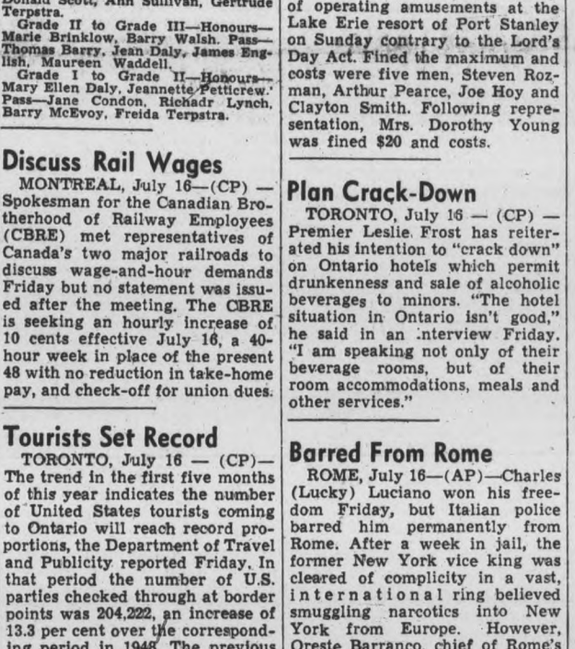
ST. THOMAS, July 16—(CP)—Five persons, one of them a woman, were convicted here Friday of operating amusements at the Lake Erie resort of Port Stanley on Sunday contrary to the Lord's Day Act. Fined the maximum and costs were five men, Steven Rozman, Arthur Pearce, Joe Hoy and Clayton Smith. Following representation, Mrs. Dorothy Young was fined $20 and costs.

Plan Crack-Down

TORONTO, July 16 — (CP) — Premier Leslie Frost has reiterated his intention to "crack down" on Ontario hotels which permit drunkenness and sale of alcoholic beverages to minors. "The hotel situation in Ontario isn't good," he said in an interview Friday. "I am speaking not only of their beverage rooms, but of their room accommodations, meals and other services."

Barred From Rome

ROME, July 16—(AP)—Charles (Lucky) Luciano won his freedom Friday, but Italian police barred him permanently from Rome. After a week in jail, the former New York vice king was cleared of complicity in a vast, international ring believed smuggling narcotics into New York from Europe. However, Oreste Barranco, chief of Rome's mobile police, said Luciano would be expelled from Rome and forbidden to return.



FRESH START—Because he preferred Canadian standards of freedom to those of his Communist-dominated homeland, 36-year-old W. A. Zbik gave up a $6,000-a-year job as second secretary in the Polish legation at Ottawa to take a desk clerk's position at $24 a week in neighboring Hull.

AMONG AMERICAN TOURISTS who have recently voiced enthusiastic praise of the summer attractions of the Kawarthas and particularly its fishing, is Dr. Van B. Weber, of Pittsburgh, Pa., who has been paying annual visits to Buckhorn Lodge for the past 26 years. Dr. Weber was quite elated early this week when he caught a large-mouth green bass, Above, which weighed five pounds, 10 ounces, 21 inches long and with a girth of 17¼ inches, in Upper Buckhorn Lake. He caught the fish by casting with a Rex Weedless spoon. John Jacobson was with him as guide.

Second Oldest Canal Discovered Near Fort

MIDLAND, July 16 (CP)—Wilfred Jury of London, Ont., curator of the Department of Indian Archaeology at the University of Western Ontario, now is excavating what is believed to be the second oldest canal on the continent at Fort Ste. Marie, Ont. The oldest canal is in Mexico.

The canal is believed to have been constructed about 1647, when incursions of the Hurons' hereditary enemies, the Iroquois, indicated that a war of conquest had begun.

Fort Ste. Marie was the home of the Jesuit missions to the Hurons, and an outpost of New France. The canal is supposed to have been dug to transport rock for defence construction.

Tour With US Navy

OTTAWA, July 16—(CP)—The Navy announced Friday that 35 officers flying as pilots and observers with the 18th Air Carrier Group have begun a three-month tour of training and manoeuvres with the U.S. Navy. The group, two squadrons of Firefly anti-submarine aircraft, flew from the naval air base at Quonset Point, Rhode Island, July 7. They include John M. Steel, Preston; William J. Spencer, Trenton; Henry F. Utting, Woodstock; Robert H. Williamson, St. Thomas; Howard V. Clark, Stratford; Edward G. Brooman, Sarnia and Oakville.

$500,000,000 (American)

In the fifteen months that the Marshall Plan of aid to Europe has been in operation Canada has received about half a billion American dollars through it. Canada has not been given the dollars directly, but sixteen European countries participating in E.C.A. (Economic Cooperative Administration, the agency through which the European Recovery Program, E.R.P., is effected) have been able to buy that quantity of Canadian goods with dollars made available to them by the United States.

* * *

The figure means that in fifteen months, $500,000,000 of Canada's exports were financed by E.C.A. It becomes more meaningful when compared with the total value of Canadian exports to the same countries. An exact comparison is not yet possible for the same period of time. However, in the fiscal year 1947-48, a twelve months' period rather than the fifteen months of E.R.P., our world exports, excluding exports to the United States, totalled $1,735,200,000. Thus, E.R.P. dollars may be said to have accounted for more than a quarter of our total foreign trade, and it may fairly accurately be said that these Marshall Plan dollars have made possible nearly half our exports to Britain and the fifteen other European countries in the last fifteen months. One wonders what would have been the condition of our foreign trade during that period without E.R.P.?

The Glamour Of The Stage Coach

We read with interest that stage coach drives have been arranged in London this summer; a four-in-hand stage coach will make morning, afternoon and evening tours through Kensington, Hyde Park, Trafalgar Square, Charing Cross, Westminster and Buckingham Palace. We have no doubt that many tourists will patronize the coaches, just as they patronize the caleches in Montreal, and the ancient barouches which drive through Central Park in New York. Tourists have a fondness for bygone methods of transportation.

But a summer drive through the well-paved streets of London will give little notion of what coaching was in the days when it was the chief method of passenger transport. In the novels of Dickens and Washington Irving the stage coach has been idealized. Bowling merrily along the country roads, with flowering hedgerows on either side, the tooting of the guard's horn to announce the arrival at a village, and the witty conversation of the driver, coaching may have had its agreeable side. But what about the winter months and the rainy days?

The most expensive seats in the stage coach were those inside. Six people could be accommodated inside a coach by squeezing; the passengers brought their own rugs and shawls, but the coach was supplied with some dirty straw which was intended to keep the feet warm. If the windows were open it was cold; if they were closed it was stuffy. Gentlemen often drank, and to excess, to pass the time on the journey. The jolting was severe, and if the road was muddy passengers were expected to alight and walk until the horses pulled the coach through the muck.

The outside passengers rode on the top of the coach on seats of penitential narrowness. When the coach rocked, as it did on bad roads, they might be thrown to the ground. When the coach turned over, as it often did, they were pitched into the hedges. They were soaked, snowed on, and blown by the wind. To travel from York to London as an outside passenger, was an ordeal.

Every twenty miles or so the coach stopped to change horses. The passengers trooped into the inn for food and drink, for which they were often charged exorbitant prices. Travel at night was particularly disagreeable, for some passengers wanted to sleep, and others wanted to sing, converse and tip the bottle. And, in the eighteenth century, there was the continual threat of highwaymen.

We like to think about stage coaches and indulge in romantic fancies about coach travel. But we are glad that we live in the age of the train and the automobile.

An American Outdoor Columnist, Friend Of The Kawarthas

Few residents of Peterborough will have seen the outdoors column which Morris Ackerman of the Cleveland Press has been writing for 35 years, nor will they know how favourably and serviceably he has reported our own Kawartha Lakes to Ohians. It is not only because Mr. Ackerman wrote the first daily newspaper outdoors column on the continent 35 years ago this week that we mention him here, nor because he has continued that column, day in and day out, for 35 years—a doughty achievement. He has our notice and merits the warm appreciation of all citizens of the district for constantly befriending the Kawarthas, and preaching their virtues and delights to his American readers.

When Morris Ackerman began writing his column in 1914 few strangers from distances farther than Toronto were ever seen on our lakes and along Peterborough streets. Today the Kawarthas are a widely-known tourist resort, frequented annually by thousands of Americans. It is no casual chance that so many of our American friends come from Cleveland and Ohio where Morris Ackerman's "Outdoor's With Ack" is most read.

May his column continue in influence and readership, and may the Kawarthas continue to give him cause to commend them.

Margarine Defeated In Victory

After a battle of several generations, margarine became a legal food in Canada by ruling of the Supreme Court. As in other kinds of battle, the victor has not emerged triumphant nor remarkably better off. Here is what has happened to margarine across the country.

Newfoundland has been like a neutral. Its laws on margarine have not changed. It is the only province in which there are no restrictions on the product; there is not even a sales tax, by reason of the terms of union.

Prince Edward Island has banned the sale, but grocers can and do give margarine away as free premiums. Nova Scotia has passed a law regulating the colour.

New Brunswick at first planned to ban it entirely, but changed its mind because of a public clamour. The margarine bill that passed through the legislature includes a colour regulation.

In Quebec the sale of margarine is banned absolutely. Housewives near the Ontario border do truck it across.

Ontario has forced margarine to become the colour of ivory—that is, very pale cream. Some manufacturers are including little packages of colouring matter with each pound, for home tinting.

Manitoba's margarine must also be ivory in colour. The Manitoba bill against margarine forbids advertising that shows a dairy scene or makes any suggestion that margarine is a dairy product.

Saskatchewan has also forced margarine to become ivory-coloured. In Alberta the province's margarine bill did not mention colour at first. That omission was rectified in Government caucus. Householders may colour the margarine, but restaurants must serve it white. British Columbia's margarine is pale yellow, but enclosed with the package is a wafer for home-tinting.

The battle for margarine has been won, but the dairy defenders have succeeded in excluding the product in two provinces and raising a colour-ban which stretches right across the continent. It is the measure of the strength of their fear and rancour.

NOTE AND COMMENT

At Jamestown, N.Y., a thief got away with two sets of bases from the city's baseball diamond. Players who pride themselves on "stealing third" will have to look to their laurels.

Great Britain, in spite of being in a tight spot for money, is paying her debts to Canada faster than any other country which owes us money. Much of Britain's great reputation is founded on this admirable quality of always paying up as fast as possible.

In Windham, Maine, a boy threw a firecracker into a lake and knocked out a bass. The Brantford Expositor tells of a local boy who baits his hook with fireflies, and pulls in ready-cooked fish. Perhaps it is time we mentioned the Peterborough custom of using a specially sharpened hook, which enables us to catch gutted fish

A Scotsman Writes Home From Canada

By W. A. S.

DURING a recent debate in the British House of Commons on the question of the tourist trade I observe that "more food and more petrol were amongst the suggestions for the foreigner's entertainment." To me, in all my human frailty, both of these would seem to be admirable suggestions more proper to the better entertainment rather of the native Briton—why should he not be entertained now and then?—than of the foreigner. I am sure that in my lifetime no statesman has more justifiably won to himself a reputation for moral rectitude than the present Chancellor of the Exchequer. But throughout the many changes of this world's history one thing has unchangeably persisted in notable degree and that is the popular distaste which those who speak the truth attract to themselves. Truth-speaking I have not anywhere seen included in the catalogue of devices for entertaining the foreigner. The Chancellor, I sometimes think, seems to be constitutionally incapable of speaking anything else, and the bare, unvarnished variety at that. There are times when I find his speech remarkably unentertaining, and possibly foreigners would also react to it unfavourably if they were anything but Argentines.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANYWAY, I groan within myself whenever he comes away with another of his exhortations to tighten my belt; and, not being exempt from the perversities of human nature, I groan only all the more loudly because during the years of Crippsian austerity my actual and lamentable experience has been that my belt has had to be progressively loosened, and now has extreme difficulty in meeting round that area of the self which a belt normally encompasses. If this is the consequence of starvation rations, you will understand that I am all for having far more food in order that, by one of those curious paradoxes of which I find life to be so marvellously crowded, I may slip my buckle into that notch, now of a quite asphyxiating tightness, which was so easily and gracefully familiar to it in the days of unrestricted plenty. Yet when, in my present surroundings, my eye glances, as it cannot avoid doing now and then, in the direction of the stomach of the middle-aged Canadian male, it would appear that an abundance of veal chops and peameal ham does not always have as an end-result, a nation of willowy-waisted Adonises.

◇ ◇ ◇

THEN, again,—throwing my ancient and very ordinary pass in Political Economy to the winds,—I am very much in favour of more petrol, with the added condition, in my case at any rate, that the money with which to pay for it is also provided, together, of course, with a new, and gleaming, and high-powered motor-car. The desirability of such a highly anti-social service is urgent and self-evident. Ever since the day when petrol-rationing was instituted I have been sorely vexed and tormented by ever-present thoughts of all the far and therefore lovely spots I have never driven to. Not very noticeably before but certainly ever since the autumn of 1939 I have been sick of a passion to accelerate up all the hitherto unvisited mountains of Wales; coast down Cheddar Gorge still remote and unknown; dash through the cider-orchards of Somerset; send the chickens flying amid the unexplored Cotswold villages, toot my horn at Land's End, and do sixty round all the English Cathedrals. Daily, for ten years now, I am gnawed by a very cancer of frustration, previously quite undiagnosed, when I think that I have never watered my ten iron horses at Loch Maree, never even urged them round the Devil's Elbow and down to Braemar. I am therefore a perfervid advocate of far more petrol for the Scots and the English: given that I am sure I shall immediately realize anew that it will make little difference to my immortal soul, and be much more comfortable for my lazy and mortal body if I never see any of these places. Let there, then, be an unlimited gush of gas for Britons, so that we shall be delivered from all the tedious journeys attendant on being honestly able to tell the Petroleum Officer that we have used up every drop of our ration.

◇ ◇ ◇

ON the other hand I would say that there should be far less for the visiting foreigners who, by my present observations, seem to have too much of the stuff anyway. One of the more civilized contraptions of which there seem to be relatively few in Canada is the deck-chair. I commented on this to a Canadian friend the other day, and he said, "Aw, for Goodness sake, what would you do with a deck chair?" I said, "Sit and stare". And he said, "Shucks!" And I said, "What is this life if, full of care, you have no time to sit and stare?" And he said, "Aw, hum! Wal I reckon we just don't like to stay put anywhere for long: we like to git around." And git around I'll say they certainly do, in endless streams of fleet and enormous automobiles. They are a very attractive but, it sometimes seems to me, a very restless people; and it does not surprise me that coronary thrombosis, to a surely exceptional degree, is responsible for imposing on many of them the long rest which, in their proud free-will, they will not voluntarily take. Therefore, out of concern for their best interests, I would present to each of them visiting wild Caledonia a one-way ticket to the Hebrides, say Gigha or Iona, and a deck-chair. Perhaps also, therewith an oilskin and sou'wester, an umbrella, and a sheepskin great-coat. But not a drop of petrol.

Receive New War Reparations

War reparations from Germany comprising 10 factories and consisting mainly of machine-tools have recently been announced for sale by the Norwegian Department of Industry, Crafts, and Shipping. Of the 3,900 units allocated, only 400 represented chemical or electrical equipment usable in Norwegian production. Many of the units are over-aged and have been shipped to Norway primarily for their scrap value. Of the 3,300 units which had arrived in Norway by June 1, 1949, 2,800 units with a sales value of 9,500,000 kr. have been distributed. All reparations goods have been received through the Inter-Allied Reparations Bureau.

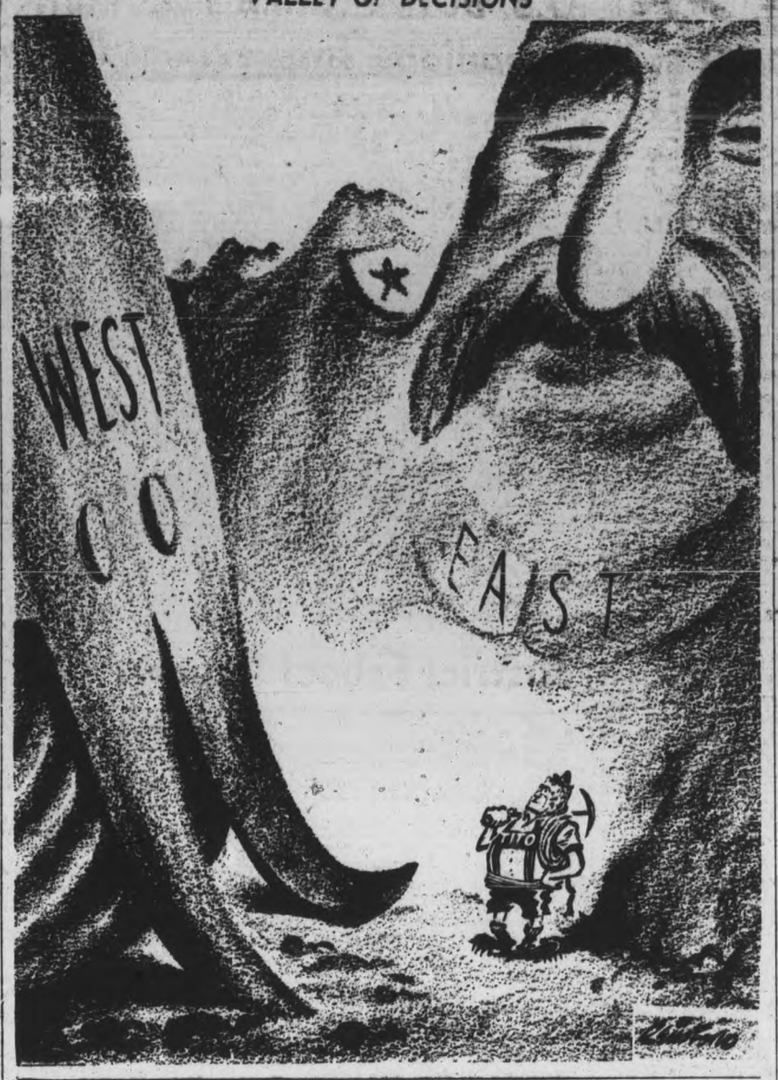
VALLEY OF DECISIONS



Letters To The Editor

WHERE ARE THE HEALTH AUTHORITIES?

Sir: It is with much interest that I have been following the letters in your paper regarding the Sewage Disposal. What we really need is a little more action and a little less talking.

In your paper the other night there was a letter saying the river was a breeding place for polio. That very word sends shivers up and down my spine as I am the parent of two small children.

Why do we have a garbage collection when surely throwing it in the street wouldn't cause any more danger of disease than the Sewage Disposal? But no, garbage has to be wrapped and put in a covered container and collected, then burnt.

I have only lived in the South End a short time and not too near the river, thank goodness, but we still get the odour on a balmy evening and when we do, how the people nearer, stand it is beyond my imagination.

Where is our Sanitary Inspector and Medical Health Officer that a condition like this is allowed to prevail? Too bad they don't live down here and all the members of the Council too. Why not continue our Beautiful Scenic Drive down here so the tourists can see, or I should say smell, our beautiful river? I'm sure they'd never come back.

The other day we got a notice that our taxes are up three dollars a month. What are they going to do now, charge us three bucks a sniff? Let me say I've had enough and had

A SNIFF.

SHIPPING AND SALE OF WHEAT

Sir: Two points in the Examiner's newscolumns looked good to this rural reader: (a)—The 1949 target of 16 million bushels of outbound wheat through the Hudson Bay port of Churchill; and (b)—The announcement from Parliament Hill saying that the feed grains (oats and barley) on the prairies will be marketed through the wheat board, commencing Aug. 1.

In the course of the former story, it was particularly encouraging to learn of the gradual beginning of in-bound traffic—500 tons of window glass etc., from U.K. firms—because it is obviously undesirable (if not uneconomic) to have to charge the two-way mileage, including westbound from, say, Halifax to Churchill, against a single cargo of revenue freight? As I see this problem, this aspect of the traffic may well be the core of it? Even if the navigation season is only around 65 days (Aug. 5 to Oct. 10), with enthusiasm and teamplay from all concerned, I believe that an increasing tonnage can be handled? Unfortunately, as in so many new experiments or enterprises—ranging from winning the peace to the recently-ratified international wheat agreement—there are always people who think that their interests will be better served by failure than by success.

The unfavourable weather over wide areas of Southern Ontario has clipped hundreds of thousands of tons from crops and pastures, and has accented the feed grain inter-dependence as between the eastern and western provinces? Moreover, drouth has been 'doing things', also, over thousands of square miles of the south-central prairies? In the circumstances, if the new technique can give us a measure of price stability and tend, eventually, to save us from speculative activity in these feed-grains, I'm all for giving it full support.

"BACK-CONCESSION."

ENGLISH HEAT

Sir; "They Think It's Hot", I have just read the above heading in your issue of The Examiner of recent date.

Who ever thought up this heading and put the writeup in the paper, should have been on rations as we have in England for some years. The person concerned would find, the stamina is not up to the standard as of the people who can eat, what they like, just when they desire.

It is so easy to ridicule, and sarcasm as well as being the lowest form of wit also shows poor personality.

The folk over there can "take it" as was shown to the world not so many years ago.

Yours sincerely,
C. F. HARDING POTTER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Lord, thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting to everlasting, thou art God. . . . For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past, and as a watch in the night. (Ps. 90: 1, 2, 4.)

◇ ◇ ◇

That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life; for the life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and shew unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us;) that which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ. (1 John 1: 1-3.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Let that therefore abide in you, which ye have heard from the beginning. If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father.

And this is the promise that he hath promised us, even eternal life. (1 John 2: 24, 25.)

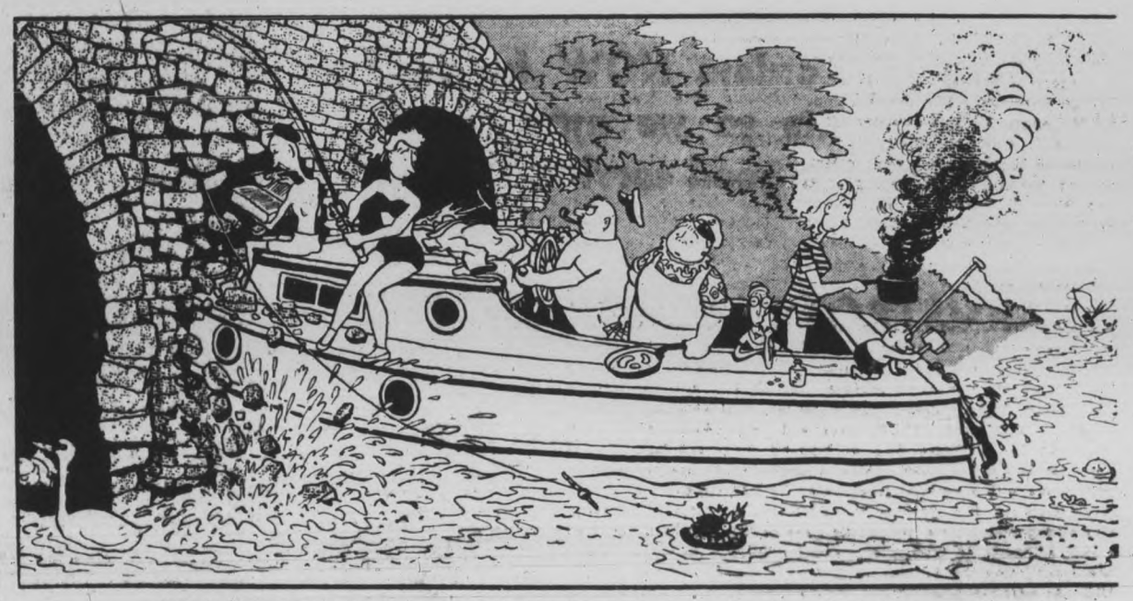
A BRITISH OPINION



"Father, dear, let's be honest—let's admit that we haven't got the call of the sea in our veins."

"Blueberries," barked the grocer, "are 29 cents a pint." To him they are a commodity to buy and sell, nothing more. But to many settlers in the back townships and the Indians on the Reserves, they are a cash crop. Berryin' has been a tradition with them for at least four generations, a family outing following the Walk on the Twelfth.

Berryin' is not so colorful as it used to be. A few years ago it was a familiar sight to meet a settler and his family in a buckboard bound for the hot Plains country. East of Stony Lake, north of KOSH and various areas in BURLEIGH and ANSTRUTHER attracted the greatest number of pickers.

The parents occupied the only seat on the sway-backed buckboard and numerous sunburned children clung to tent rolls and grub boxes as the vehicle bounced along the rutted roads. Starting from their farms in the clearings before sunup, they arrived at the berryin' grounds by nightfall. The father freed the patient horse to graze in some beaver meadow and erected a couple of tents while the mother cooked a hasty meal.

Family With Pronged Picking Cups

Next morning all the family fanned out over the granite ridges, the elders equipped with pronged picking cups, youngsters, with small pails and toddlers with tin cups. As the pails were filled, emptied and refilled, dancing heat waves simmered over the rocks carrying the smells of scorched brackens and sweet berries.

Buyers often bought the lot at the campsites and when the commodity dragged at the finish of berryin' time, they were peddled to cottagers by canoes. Modest prices and often old clothing were means of barter.

No one will ever forget the odour of bubbling blueberry pies in the oven or the flavour of this delicious natural dessert. The late MRS. HATTIE LOWE of Cleveland was famous for her pies. She added a liberal dash of vinegar to each pie before she popped it into the oven. Try this for a master touch that any amount of sugar will not produce.

Sorry to report that there is no Big Fish contest, with cash or merchandise rewards, in Peterborough this year. Many fishermen have been phoning me lately as to where they should bring record catches and have them weighed in and testified to; this is in answer to their various inquiries. If you live outside the district, however, don't overlook phoning Jim Fraser at the Chamber of Commerce who will let you know if you are eligible for the Order of Kawartha Muskie and the felt badge that goes with it. Sheen of Surfaces For Sea-Planes

If the Kawarthas could talk, they would plead with the powers-that-be to publicize the district to tourist seaplane operators. Small club planes are as common in the Uniter States as a second family car, in some cases, and those why fly up here and land at Skyboro Airport are amazed at the web of lakes on which they could land at will, on floats. Airman TOM MATHIAS at Chemong said that at least six visiting seaplanes have called at his base this season and that he has checked out five more landplane pilots on floats. They are debating whether to buy floats and store them at Toronto Island or at Chemong Lake to have them handy for change-over whenever they have the chance to take a quick hop to our district in future. How about some new comprehensive literature slanted at this trade?

Fish Reports From Afar

FO S. Allan Marshall, No. 413 Photo Squadron, RCAF, based at Yellowknife, N.W.T., tells of taking 50 northern pike in half an hour up in that area, just for the sport, too; he let them go. On another occasion, he caught ten gray trout averaging ten pounds each, kept them. He has seen a great deal of wild life, notably six white swans, and hopes to have a close look at muskox and caribou through the summer. Further west still Jim Ferguson, CPA, Edmonton Airport dispatcher, tells of his honeymoon trip in Wairton Lake National Park. Says he has no news of note, the first letter in seven years, but speaks of rainbow, cuthroat, Montana grayling and Dolly Varden of the trout family with some authority. The Park elevation of 8,000 feet is just about the place you would expect an airline man to go for a honeymoon, up in the wild blue yonder with his feet still on the ground.

U.S. Businessmen's Opinions Of Canada Canadians' Impressions Of The U.S.A.

How much do American businessmen know about conditions north of the border and how familiar are Canadian businessmen with the United States? To find out more about the extent of mutual knowledge among these two groups, Time International conducted a pair of surveys in February of this year, the first among a sampling of U.S. businessmen across the country, and the second among Canadian businessmen in one rapidly expanding area: the Vancouver section of British Columbia. Time had the co-operation of two Vancouver advertising agencies in these surveys.

I.—American Impressions of Canada

American businessmen generally underestimate the importance of Canada to the United States. That is the most obvious conclusion of the survey. Forty per cent. do not realize that the two countries have the greatest mutual trade of any pair of trading areas in the world. They are more apt to underestimate Canada's population than to overestimate it, and on the average they underestimate by $100,000,000 the amount spent annually by Canadian visitors to the United States. Most of them also understate total U.S. investments in the Dominion.

Here are the detailed results. On each question, the correct answer is marked with an asterisk.

II.—Canadian Impressions of The U.S.

In general the Canadian businessmen appear somewhat more familiar with the U.S. than American businessmen are with Canada. But again they underestimate the importance of the U.S. to their own country's foreign trade. Only 9% of them guessed correctly that 54% of Canada's exports in 1948 went to the U.S. The rest checked much lower figures. One-fifth of them think that England rather than the U.S. is the country with the largest private investment in Canada.

TALLY-HO LONDON!—To capture the true atmosphere of London, where the past still lingers in cobbled streets, quaint courtyards, picturesque inns and ancient buildings, the ideal mode of transport for sightseeing is the stagecoach. With this in view an enterprising company has put into service a small fleet of genuine 100-year-old vehicles which will operate three times daily during the tourist season on a 90-minute tour of the British Capital. Each coach carries sixteen passengers, twelve on top, four inside. They are drawn by four horses in charge of the same coachman who drove the Lord Mayors of the City of London.

A Lot of Policeman's Lot Is Not Ugh-Happy

By HAZEL PAULL

What constitute the duties of a policeman? That is a question which even a constable of many years' experience would probably fight shy of answering. In the city of Peterborough it includes just about every job ever done by man. It's not all an exciting chase after criminals nor, at the other extreme, a routine collection of drunks from the streets on Friday night.

The sergeant's desk at the police station is manned every minute of the day and night to meet any emergency that may arise. Between the calls which police regard as real business there come an amazing variety of enquiries and requests, with the result that one never sees a look of surprise on a constable's face. He's ready for anything.

Most frequent service given to the public, apart from what is normally regarded as police assistance, is an answer to those wanting to know the time. The request is not usually phrased as a polite enquiry. Usual reply after the constable has stated that the caller is speaking to the police station is a straightforward "What's the time?" This question is answered by the police some 30 times every 24 hours. There is no peak period for the enquiry; it is made at all hours of the day and night.

"The line has to be drawn somewhere and it is usually at the cat calls."

Another frequent call goes something like this: "There's a cat on my verandah and it won't go away and will you come and fetch it." On such occasions the police are usually busy doing the work for which they were appointed. The line has to be drawn somewhere and it is usually at the cat calls.

One lady called the police because at cat—not her own—had kittens on her verandah. She thought the police would remove them for her.

A frequent request which is usually very much resented by all members of the city force is to "keep an eye on my bike, I want to leave it while I go across the road." It may appear to those who do not give it a great deal of thought that constables standing on street corners are merely idling their time away.

There is enough for a policeman to keep an eye on without acting as custodian for cyclists. Peterborough's police are usually happy to offer all the protection they can to the citizens of the city but they regard some abuses on the part of the public as a total disregard of respect.

Much of the work of the city force follows the old maxim that prevention is better than cure. Some industrial plants keep in touch with the police station throughout the night to ensure that all is in order when the buildings are left to the care of the night watchman.

"There is enough for a policeman to keep an eye on without acting as custodian for cyclists."

Foul play some 18 years ago at the Nashau Paper mill, when the night watchman was found one morning with a fractured skull after intruders had broken into the building, prompted this procedure. Hourly calls throughout the night are made to the police station by more than several industrial firms.

People leaving town often ask the police to keep a check on their houses in case of break-ins. At the present time there ar 65 houses in the city which are being kept under police surveillance in the absence of the occupants.

Red Wings Whip Montreal In 5-2 Decision

By The Associated Press.

When Bob Hannegan purchased St. Louis Cardinals and its farm clubs in the winter of 1947 he promised to give Rochester's long suffering International League fans a contender.

Hannegan stocked the Wings as best he could for 1048 and the Red Birds finished fourth, then advanced to the final round of the post-season playoffs which they carried to seven games before losing to Montreal. The first-division finish was Rochester's first since 1941.

Hannegan sold out his stock in the Cardinals to his associate Fred Saigh, last winter and the new owner also promised to give the Wings all the Cards could spare to make them an International power once again.

Saigh has kept his word. The Wings are the hottest club in the league at the moment.

Jim Hearn, recently dispatched to Rochester, pitched the Wings to their sixth straight triumph Friday night and into third place.

Hearn defeated the second-place Montreal Royals 5-2. The triumph moved the Wings to within three percentage points of Montreal and to within five games of the league-leading Buffalo Bisons.

Hearn gave up five hits in besting Clyde King who suffered his second loss against 12 victories.

Split Doubleheader

The Bisons split a twin bill with Toronto Maple Leafs, taking the night cap 11-10 after losing the opener 1-0.

Veteran Nick Strincevich blanked the Bisons on five hits in the opener. The Leafs nicked Clem Hausmann for four blows with Bill Glynn singling home Ed Sanicki with the lone run in the fourth.

The Bisons piled up an 11-2 lead for Bob Hooper in the nightcap but the Bisons' ace couldn't hold it, the Leafs clipping him for three runs in the seventh and shelling him out with five in the eighth. Hooper however, received credit for his 11th victory without a loss. Gene Markland paced the Bisons drive by banging out two homers.

Newark's last place Bears upset the fourth place Jersey City Giants 4-3. Jimmy Dyck homered with the bases loaded in the first inning to account for Newark's runs.

Al Widmar hurled the seventh place Baltimore Orioles to a 5-2 victory over Syracuse Chiefs, the triumph was Widmar's 14th, top output in the circuit.

MOVES UP—Martha Doyle moved into the fronk rank of Hambletonian contenders at the half-mile Historic Track, Goshen, N.Y., by winning the $15,600 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks in the world record time of 2:05 for the mile. Martha Doyle defeated Miss Tilly, the early Hambletonian favorite. Owned by A. L. Derby of Wichita, the roan filly is trained and driven by Frank Ervin of Aiken, S.C. The $65,000 Hambletonian will be raced over Goshen's triangular Good Time track, August 10.

Cobourg Loses Ball Tilt To Young Petes

By FRED MAYBEE

McGinniss' Young Petes ended Cobourg's three-game winning streak last evening at Riverside, winning 7-4 in a well-played Lakeshore League baseball contest.

Brian Wade was in good form again to win his third game of the season as his mates gave him very good support afield and came through in the fifth with a strong rally to salt the game away after the visitors had tied the score in he third.

A walk to Pagett, followed by two solid hits by Sullivan and Menzie, Stewart's fly to Quigley and Millar's timely single accounted for four rapid tallies and the ball game. Sullivan led at bat with three for four. Quigley's fielding featured for Cobourg.

Marines yanked out a 9-8 Girls Softball League victory over Lindsay lasses at the Bowl last night in a tight but slow struggle. Both teams played good ball most of the way and Marines got the winning run in the ninth inning. Williams, who took over the slab in the sixth, gave but three hits, all against the latter, they issued a number of walks. H. White fanned six, and B. Williams whiffed five. M. Owens relieved M. Chase in the fourth. V. Mitchell had four hits for Marines and H. Deyell two for Lindsay.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

That was a nice crowd that came out on Friday night to enjoy the board of directors' complimentary tournament. The night was ideal and the boys and girls played just as hard as ever. One wag said to us: "There are more than Scotchmen out here tonight." The winning skips were S. Shields, J. Harrison and W. Perks.

Now don't forget the Family Hour tournament this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

The leading skips, up to date, in the club's four groups, are:

Group No. 1—R. Hopkins.
Group No. 2—P. Moore.
Group No. 3—V. Hill.
Group No. 4—S. McCauley and J. Adams (tied).

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

In case officials of the Civic Arena here were thinking of getting Barbara Ann Scott to put on a show for city and district folk next cold spell, they'd better forget it for awhile. Maybe on the second time around. Word from Tommy Gorman of Ottawa, now promoting the skating star in Canada, is that more than 400 requests across the country have been made to include centres on Barbara Ann's coming tour. All the way out to Victoria and Nelson, B.C. "It's impossible to accommodate them all in one tour," Gorman says; "we have train connections and other problems to face. Perhaps we'll get around to the points we miss this time in our next tour."

Just a reminder of this afternoon's COBL offering at three in Riverside. It's between Batawa Shoemen and the Petes and will be well worth seeing. An item out of Kitchener says Sam Mulholland has been given his release by Kitchener. The outfielder-pitcher wasn't playing good enough for this strong Intercounty Loop club. Sam was purchased this year by Detroit Red Wings of the NHL from Philadelphia Rockets. He's a husky youngster from Kingston and played fine ball in the COBL last season for the Locos. either the Kitchener club is mighty classy or Sam has slipped some to be given his ticket.

Some Donkey Baseball

Down in Norwood they're looking forward to a game of donkey baseball on Monday. The weekly sheet there says the tilt will be played between teams from Hastings, Havelock, Warsaw and Westwood against the Norwood business men. This is definitely not inferring that any of the men from these villages are donkeys, nossuh! Seems that the men play ball, using mule locomotion. Batter swings and hits the ball, then hops aboard the donkey and tries to persuade it to trot toward first. Fielders meantime ride merrily—that is maybe—after the bouncing ball. It's been tried here in the past and results in lots of laughter. We've seen the odd ballster who looked more like an ass than these trained donkeys.

City Baseball League is rapidly running out of schedule, though there are postponed games to work in yet ere playoffs start. Peewee section was to wind up with west playing north today in the Bowl. East and north bantams are listed for a tussle Monday at Bonnerworth, but we haven't any more bantam or juvenile schedule. There's been some good minor ball games so far this semester and a lot of promising talent starting up the ladder toward senior success. Weather generally has been kind to the diamondeers, who go best when it's hot. Interest in the loop will mount as playoffs and the chance of OBA playdowns approach shortly.

Concerning The Lasses

Two girls' softball games at ye olde Bowle last e'en, with Marines just edging Lindsay 9-8 whilst CGE won 8-2 from Woollens. First fray was good, though slow, and 'twas anybody's till the big run tallied in the ninth. Woollens made a good run of it in their tilt till the last few frames when CGE earned it behind nifty pitching by Mary Perrin. Lock Works apparently have dropped out, and the standing is in elsewhere. While Westclox and Ashby's lead the parade, they've got fewer games played—owing to holidays—and the next week or so may see some changes in the standing. Games Monday: Westclox vs. Woollens, and Ashby's vs. Marines.

Local lacrossers didn't pass up their chance last eve to climb out of the cellar, as they deposited Weston in that dank spot with a 17-11 thud before a goodly gallery at Miller Bowl. A revamped Petes' lineup—some of the forwards on former lines were only passing to their buddies—started off shaky but soon settled away to dominate play pretty well the rest of the route. A clean contest and the homesters looked okay most of the way. Ron Horton (El Chico, we call him) was in on five goals, and he's one of the local players who keeps trying all the time. We liked his work and also that of Jack Foote, Rowan Chute and Ralph Speck. As well as the other chaps who kept up the attack. The Petes are strictly an offensive team, and just so-so on the defensive. But they're coming along okay in senior "A" for the first year up.

Doing Nicely

SUDBURY, July 15.—(CP)).—A strong wind and light rainfall failed to chill the efforts of Toronto Scarboro's Bobby Fair Friday as he stroked his way to a two-over par 70 to lead the qualifiers in the 13th annual Seagram trophy invitation tournament at the Sudbury Golf Club.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Sammy Snead shrugged off a storm and a bad hole Friday to shoot his second straight 67 and take the lead in the $16,500 Dapper Dan Gold Tournament at Pittsburgh.

Snead's total of 134 for 36 holes put him three strokes ahead of Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., who also had a 67 today.

That 67 is five under par for the 6,850 yard Alcoma Golf Club course, where par is 72.

Delayed by a driving rainstorm, Snead needed five strokes on the par three, 250 yard second hole but from there on he played virtually perfect golf.

Gene Webb, of Clayton, Mo., also had a 67 to enter a three-way tie for third place at 138. Deadlocked with him were Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who finished in the rain for a 71, and Otto Greiner of Baltimore, who came in with 70.

At Chaumont, N. Y., Tramp Royal, skippered by Col. L. F. Grant of the Royal Military College, Kingston, won the "Big Boat" class race Friday as the anuual regatta of the Eastern Yachting Circuit got under way.

Kitchener - Waterloo Flying Dutchmen have signed nine seniors for the 1949-50 Ontario Hockey Association Senior A season, it was announced at Kitchener Friday.

Don Bauer, Mike Dziura, Ted Grasser, Mickey Roth, Billy Flick, Jack Shewchuck, Art Hurst, Bill Walsh and George Blake are all back on the team's roster and Dick Wray, of Stratford, who played forward position in the Maritime League last year may also turn out. Coach Punch Sherer said the Dutchmen need a first rate defenceman and also a goalie to replace Marcel Pelletier.

Teams from various countries taking part in the 1952 winter Olympic games in Oslo may be asked to come in their own ships and use them as floating hotels.

This plan has been proposed by the Oslo Tourists Association because of a shortage of hotel and other accommodation for the many competitors, reporters and spectators expected.

Teams could also bring with them any special supplies unobtainable in Norway.

Toronto's youthful baseball hopefuls are panting with pride—and hope.

Thirty-three who impressed Cy Morgan, scout for the Philadelphia Phillies, parent club of Toronto Leafs in the International Baseball League, are going to get a tryout before them today. Morgan said their performances during two days of looking them over justified a "second look."

The 33 were selected during trials here.

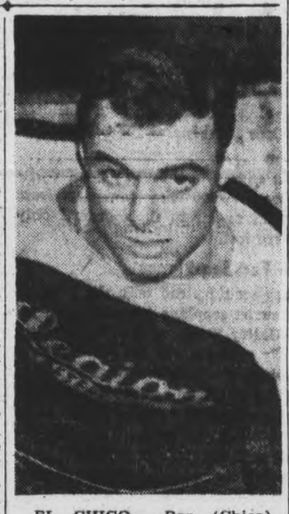
Petes Climb In Senior OLA With Victory Over Weston

The Petes beat Weston 17-11 at Miller Bowl last night to climb into sixth place in the OLA senior "A" standing and deposit the Weston squad in the cellar before more than 1,700 fans. After a shaky first quarter, when they were down 6-4, the revamped Creighton crew got rolling to take a 10-8 lead at the half and keep in front 15-9 going into an even fourth frame. Play was fairly fast and quite clean throughout.

The locals' playing was disorganized for a time after the start, as several lines had been switched around in an effort to produce a winning combination, but they clicked before half time and dominated play most of the way after that. Weston were shy two subs but were well beaten before the finish of a fairly good game. Only the speedy breaks of J. J. Hill, who scored five goals for them, kept them in the hunt at all after the initial inning.

Chico Led Way

Ron (Chico) Horton was top scorer for the Petes, having five assists and going well all evening, especially for a defenceman. Em Creighton and Leo Teatero were each in on four markers, while Jack Howse scored three goals. Two were counted each by Jack Foote, Dootch Vitarelli, Jerry Creigton and Bob Thorpe, as Arn Dugan and Rowan Chute got singles. Jim McNulty led some of them with three assists, and Lou Vitarelli and Whitey Frick aided once each. Besides Hill, Hal Downer and Jesse James were sparkplugs for Weston with two goals each, as James also helped on a pair, and Jeffries was in on four. Venner scored one, and Gair and Chard each assisted once. Speck looked good in goal.



EL CHICO — Ron (Chico) Horton led the Petes' lacrossers in scoring last night here as they beat Weston 17-11 to climb a notch in the ladder, Horton being in on five goals.

The summary:

Weston: Goal, Hartley; defence, James and Chard; centre, Gilkinson; wings, Downer and Venner; rover, J. J. Hill; alternates, Jeffries, Reddy, Lovelace, Gair and Elliwell.

Petes: Goal, Speck; defence, J. Creighton and Chute; centre, E. Creighton; wings, Foote and L. Vitarelli; rover, Teatero; alternates, Horton, D. Vitarelli, McNulty, Dugan, Thorpe, Howse and Frick.

BETHANY, July 16 (ENS) — Janetville defeated Bethany 11-10 in a Durham Baseball League playoff tussle on the former's diamond on Thursday, the return game being next Wednesday here. Bethany rolled up a lead of 9-0 in the second but Janetville came on with five in the fifth and then four to tie it up, and win out in the last inning. Cards Eke Out 1-0 Victory Over Philadelphia Team

By JACK HAND,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Howie Pollet, who peddles insurance for skipper Eddie Dyer in the winter, is selling many National League fans a pennant policy on St. Louis Cardinals.

The slim pitcher is helping boss Dyer meets his premiums as Card manager with a fine 12-5 record that makes him top winner in the league.

He lost his first two games this season and readily retired to the bull pen to find his stuff. After four relief jobs he went back on the starting routine May 14 and edged Pittsburgh. Then he lost a heart breaker, 2-0, to Brooklyn.

Since that loss to the Dodgers he has been a whiz, winning 11 of 13, including three shutouts.

With Harry Brecheen still missing fire and Max Lanier needing a little more conditioning before he hits his old peak, Pollet has been forced to carry a heavy load.

Comes Through

Knowing that Brooklyn already had protected its lead by whacking Cincinnati in an afternoon game, 11-5, Pollet took the hill Friday night in Philadelphia. A victory was a must for the Birds.

Pollet and Robin Roberts hooked up in a 0-0 duel. It went down to the seventh with no score until Pollet's single drove home Eddie Kazak, who had walked. Joe Garagiola's single had moved Kazak around in to scoring position. That was all the scoring of another 1-0 game.

Brooklyn's lead remained at 1½ games because the Dodgers helped Don Newcombe hobble home to his seventh win with homers by Tommy Brown, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson to give him an 11-5 decision over Cincinnati. It was the eighth straight victory for the Brooks over the Reds at Ebbets Field.

Newcombe allowed 10 hits, including Walker Cooper's 12th homer, but the big margin his mates piled up on Ken Refensberger and Bud Lively pulled him through.

Good Support

Warren Spahn of Boston, victim of four unearned runs in the first inning of Tuesday's all-star game had errorless support from the Braves in his 6-1 win over Chicago. Spahn hit a two-run homer in the second off Warren Hacker.

The Pittsburgh-New York game was rained out.

Another shutout pitching job stretched New York Yankees' American League lead to 6½ games. Eddie Lopat blanked the St. Louis Browns, 6-0, while runner-up Cleveland lost to Philadelphia 8-0.

Yoki Berra, who had never hit a home run in his home town of St. Louis, finally made the grade with two blasts while Lopat turned in a five-hitter.

Philadelphia Athletics knocked Cleveland's Bobby Feller out of the box, ruining his five-game win streak. Dick Fowler made the world champs look bad with a seven-hitter that broke a four-game win string. The A's had lost their last six.

Boston's fancy eight game win splurge was halted by Detroit on a four-run rally in the ninth inning 8-7.

Paul Campbell led the 17-hit Tiger attack with two doubles and two singles.

Washington came up with a big eighth inning, scoring six runs to dump Chicago 9-4. Six hits and Luke Appling's throwing error sent Bill Wight down with his seventh loss. Sam Mele knocked in three runs with four singles

Lindsay Team Edges Whitby Merchants 5-1

LINDSAY, July 16.— Whitby Merchants came up with a run in the seventh to avert a shutout as Lindsay Merchants took a 5-1 Lakeshore Baseball League victory here Friday night. Lew McTaggart limited Whitby to three hits, after taking over from Doug Loucks in the second. Bill Shill, Rod McEachern, Arn Karrys and Loucks led Lindsay's 10-hit attack with two safeties each.

Remember When—

Whirlaway buried Seabiscuit's all time money winning record seven years ago today when he came from almost out of sight to win the $43,850 Massachusetts Handicap. With the money he won as he zipped across the finish line the colt brought his earnings to $454,336 for two and one-half years of racing, thereby wiping out the $437,730 mark the Biscuit took so long to pile up a few years back. Whirlaway earned $561,161 during his entire racing career.

St. Thomas Youth Junior Golf Champion

TORONTO, July 16.—(CP).—A member of a family of golfers who thinks he's the poorest player, Don Pullen of St. Thomas, is the new junior Ontario golf champion.

The 17-year-old St. Thomas lad completed the rout of Toronto 'teen-agers in the 27th annual Provincial championships at suburban Weston Friday by annexing the crown with a 36-hole total of 152. His card was made up of a 78 and 74 for the par 71 layout.

His victory in the 17 to 18-year-old age group gave him possession of the Lady Eaton trophy.

CLOSE CALL—Two-year-old John Barry, left, and his sister, Barbara Ann, are recovering in hospital after the 10-year-old girl tried to pull her brother from the path of an electric train near their home at Mackayville, near Montreal. Both children suffered fractured skulls as the train flung them 15 feet. At first, neither child was expected to live.

3 Church Groups Stage Annual Picnics

MILLBROOK, July 16—(ENS)—Thursday afternoon was picnic day in Millbrook, three groups all choosing that date for their annual outings.

A party of 45 consisting of members of St. Andrew's W.A., with their husbands and families, chartered a bus for Cobourg beach. While the younger members of the group enjoyed the bathing, playing in the sand, using the playground equipment and such confections as taffy apples, spun taffy, ice cream and potato chips from the booths, the WA members, under the direction of Mrs. A. Payne, president, spread long tables under the trees.

After supper some went back to the attractions of the beach while others watched a ball game. Before boarding the bus for home the whole group came together again in front of the bandstand to enjoy a concert put on by Cobourg kiltie band, assisted by artists from the Cobourg local CGE plant, Arthur Jones baritone, and Miss Mary Graham, elocutionist.

At Nichols Oval

On Thursday afternoon about 70 children and adults of St. Thomas Anglican Sunday School left by car for their annual picnic in Nicholls Oval, Peterborough. The afternoon was spent swimming in Inverlea Park, and in playing ball. After the youngsters had done justice to the picnic feast each one was presented with a balloon and a horn.

Also on Thursday afternoon 32 children under the care of Joe Burns, superintendent of Grace Presbtyerian Church Sunday School, their teachers and Rev. and Mrs. Walter Patterson went by car to Orono Park for their annual picnic. The afternoon was spent in swimming in the pool, and in taking part in novelty races. A guessing contest, "How many cherries does it take to make a cherry pie?" was won by Miss Jean Hubbeard. The count was 339. After supper the picnic party went on a tour of the beautiful rose gardens.

July Meeting Held By Cottesloe WMS

COTTESLOE, July 16. (ENS).—The July meeting of Cottesloe Women's Missionary Society was held at Mrs. Wm. Forsythe's home on Wednesday. The president, Miss Helen Tedford, presided. Mrs. J. S. Kidd was secretary.

A letter of acknowledgment for the bale of clothing recently forwarded was read. Mrs. Chas. McMillan read the Scripture. Evelyn and Ruth Lloyd, Norma and Margaret Ann Tedford sang "Let It Shine." Readings were given by Misses Lenore Patterson and Helen Tedford and Mrs. Russel Tedford. Prayers were given by Mrs. Maitland Forsythe, Mrs. John Galloher and Miss Helen Tedford.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Wm. Forsythe and Mrs. Maitland Forsythe of Smith.

Has 104th Birthday

GANANOQUE, July 15.—(CP).—Severe Dorey, whose father once owned the land on which Canada's Parliament Buildings now stand, Friday observed his 104th birthday. He was born at Ottawa which was then known as Bytown, later moved to Montreal and then to Gananoque.

Hold Dedication Service In New Church

GILROY, July 16 (ENS)—The new United Church in this community, which is part of the Coe Hill charge of which Rev. T. Edwin Hancock is pastor, was dedicated on Sunday, July 10, by Rev. Dr. J. I. Mackay, superintendent of Home Missions for the Montreal and Ottawa and Bay of Quinte Conferences of the United Church of Canada. The dedication marked the culmination of two years of much planning and effort on the part of the congregation.

The Coe Hill United Church choir led in the service of song with Miss Marguerite Hanthorn as organist. Mrs. Andy Campbell and Miss Marguerite Hanthorn sang a duet and the choir rendered an appropriate anthem.

W. N. Gilroy gave an historical outline of the building, which until two years ago had been a school for over sixty years, and also used each Sunday for worship. Now after much renovation and an addition of a kitchen it has been dedicated as a church. Mr. and Mrs. Gilroy had both lived in the community and attended this school. Mr. Gilroy commended the people of Gilroy who shouldered the responsibility of converting this school into a church.

Gives Sermon

The service was in charge of the pastor and Rev. M. S. Lehigh, a former pastor, assisted. The special speaker was Rev. Dr. Mackay. The sermon was challenging and inspiring, from the text, "He steadfastly set himself to go to Jerusalem."

Dr. Mackay commended the people for their accomplishments and challenged them to continue on in greater service following Christ, so that this church would be a blessing to the people.

Rev. Mr. Hancock, on behalf of the congregation, thanked all who had helped in any way to make the dedication service possible including Wm. Garrett and Chas. Vicks, for their labour in building the kitchen and painting; to the congregation of the Wolf Island United Church for their kind donation of the pews, to Mr. Gilroy for the stove in the kitchen; to Howard Gunter for the loan of his jeep; to Lloyd Hancock, Bowmanville, for the use of his spray painter, to the ladies of the W.A. for their cash donation and many hours of work, to all the men of the community who helped in the numerous bees, and to any others who helped in any way.

Psalmists Were Well Aware Sins Were Of Man

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

The poet Walt Whitman, who wrote more wisely in other matters, thought lighly of the sense of sin. He wrote somewhere about animals not having any sense of sin, and suggested man's inferiority in this respect.

The Hebrew Psalmists-poets knew better. They lived in times, like our own, full of violence and man's cruelty to man. They had either experienced, or they lived close to, exiles and disruptions of peoples. There were plenty of "displaced persons" in those days, and the Psalmists knew that these inhumanities and cruelties were of man's purpose and design, and had their root in sinful hearts.

They were realists about life and man. They had no illusions about man's natural goodness and innocency. Surely in times when we have seen the wickedness of men sending millions of innocent persons to cruel death in extermination camps and ovens, and to even more cruel torture we, too, should have no illusions about sin, as the Psalmists had none.

They knew, too, that the evils so deeply perpetrated were not matters of chance or circumstance. Everything proceeded out of the heart of man, and in that heart of man, they saw mirrored what they themselves might be, or become.

The writer of Proverbs 27:19 expressed this grim fact in a beautiful figure: "As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man." I suppose that stooping down somewhere to drink in a clear, limpid pool, he had seen his features mirrored there, and the thought had come to him, "That is like the heart of man, a vast depth in which man may see himself reflected and understand his nature."

He knew that in that heart of man there was evil as well as good, and it was this that made him so earnest and determined that his own hear should be free from evil.

His deepest prayer was that God would give him a clean heart, and renew a right spirit within him (Psalm 51:10). Nor was his prayer always a confession of conscious guilt. In moods of despair or contrition he might bewail the depth of his sins; and as for Psalms that King David may have written, he had plenty of cause for contrition, for he had adultery and murder on his conscience.

But often the prayer was a confession of the Psalmist's integrity, not a confession of evil, but of his deep sincerity about being free from evil. So it was that he called on God to search his heart, and to know his thoughts, and to see if there was any wicked way in him (Psalm 139:23).

That was a matter of rare spiritual courage. We all know that God sees our hearts and knows us for what we are, but I wonder how many of us rejoice in the fact, or really want God to search us.

I make bold to say that the deepest defect of our American life today is the lack of the sense of sin. How can we ever build up a good life without standards of judgment, and a deep and unswerving purpose to be and do right?

The Important Discovery

REV. E. R. JAMES.

Then Jesus began to teach that the Son of a Man must suffer many things and be killed. St. Mark 8:31.

Only St. Mark writes these thought provoking words "that they might be with him" in intimate touch and fellowship with the Christ that they might discover His secret. St. Peter has made the wonderful discovery "Thou art the Christ of God." The Master is deeply moved and exclaims: "Blessed art thou, Simon Barjona, flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but My Father in heaven."

Now they must pass on to a more painful discovery. "Then Jesus began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things and be killed."

The mind of the people had been filled with the thought that the Christ, The Messiah, was to be a man of many spiritual gifts of wisdom and power and drive the Romans into the sea and thus become The King of The Jews. The Apostles had gladly drunk in this ideal and the new teaching was a fearful thought to them. Simon, speaking for the Apostles, cries: "Lord, be it far from Thee."

The Lord's mind had been fascinated by the fifty third of Isaiah. The Messiah was to be the suffering Servant of Jehovah and save His people by suffering for their sins. To be the Christ meant that He must suffer and die on the Cross for the sins of His people.

He hath poured but His soul in death, He was numbered with the transgressors; He hath borne the sins of many and made intercession for the transgressors."

We stand in the presence of the great problem of the Cross and its meaning. In every generation it has been the stumbling block. The Lord was convinced that His death was necessary as an offering for sin. "I lay down my life of myself; no man taketh it from Me."

In the Upper Room the Lord taught the same truth. He broke the Bread and said "This is My body, which is given for you. And of the Wine He said: "This is my blood of the New Covenant, which is shed for you."

Christianity is the only religion which places the Cross at the very centre of its teaching, a self sacrifice oblation and satisfaction for the sins of the whole world.

As Son of God and Son of Man, He alone could offer this sacrifice to the Father.

His Name shall be called Wonderful.

Wartime Quarrel

TORONTO, July 16.—(CP).—A wartime quarrel over alleged collaboration with Nazi troops in Poland wound up in court here Friday with both parties flinging charges and denials. Magistrate Prentice dismissed an assault charge against Hyman Rosenfeld and Morris Grenenbaum, both of Toronto, and advised them to recognize you are living in a free country." The two were charged with assaulting Leon Silverberg, 24-year-old Polish-Jewish immigrant, whom Rosenfeld accused of being a Nazi collaborator. Silverberg denied the charge.

Double-Tasseled Now

MARMORA, July 16—(ENS)—Walter Revoy, formerly a guide for fishermen on Beaver Creek and Crowe Lake, has observed something different about the flags growing by the west bank of Beaver Creek near his home from what he has seen before. This year they have double tassels, he says, whereas they only carried single ones in previous years.

Bus Convoys Handle Scouts

OTTAWA, July 16 (CP)—Convoys of buses stand by today to meet special trains bringinng some 3,000 Boy Scouts across Canada and the United States to the first Canadian Scouts jamboree.

The buses will move the boys out to spacious Connaught Rifle Ranges where one of their first tasks will be the erection of sleeping quarters—bell tents.

One trainload, carrying some 500 of the Ontario contingent, will pull right out on a siding to the ranges where the jamboree will officially open Monday.

The boys will pitch their tents alongside the ones put up yesterday by volunteer advance parties. They'll sleep under canvas for the next eight nights.

They'll cook for themselves. They'll also build their own stoves—outdoor barbecue style.

Tourists Praise Lockmasters On Trent Canal

Praise of the service rendered by lockmasters all along the scenic route of the Trent Canal system, as well as of the services obtainable at various docks at which they have tied up, has been extended during the past two days by two American launch owners, James M. Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, today stated. Tribute was also paid to the efficiency of the Department of Transport's system of aids to navigation, although one of the boat owners offered a couple of what he termed "constructive" suggestions for further improvements.

"The men on the locks are real gentlemen," declared Frank W. Simons, of Pittsburgh, Pa., whose twin-screw, double-cabin, enclosed-bridge cruiser "Dauter III" tied up at the George Street wharf Thursday night and left for the Simons cottage on Sparrow Lake, at the head of the Severn River, Friday morning.

No Hold-ups In Locks

"The lockmasters couldn't do enough for us," said Mr. Simons. "They put us through the locks without an instant's delay, so that we did not suffer any loss of time." He referred to the service of these men as "almost unbelievable."

Mr. Simons told Mr. Fraser and an Examiner reporter that he had made six or eight trips by cabin cruiser between his winter and summer homes, both via the Trent Canal and the Georgian Bay routes. He said he much preferred the Trent waterway because of its scenic beauty and ease of travel.

His suggestions for improvement in navigational aids were: first, that charts be made available at entry points in color rather than just black and white, and second, that two additional buoys be placed in Rice Lake just this side of Margaret's Island, off Prickly Point

Mr. Simons said the colored charts are easier to follow than the type presently available and that he would be glad to pay more for them. In regard to the suggested extra buoys, he stated that while he did not get into any serious trouble, nevertheless he did get off his course.

Craft 40 Feet Long

The Pittsburgh visitor's craft is 40 feet overall in length and is equipped with ship-to-shore telephone and eight sleeping berths. George Kellner of Buffalo, N.Y., was with him as far as Hastings, where he left the boat Wednesday night to return home. Mr. Simons was joined at Peterborough by another friend, Norman Brodeur, of Midland, who will help him navigate the rest of the way up the system.

Mrs. Simons said she had never seen "such beautiful scenery" as that on the Trent system. It was "away ahead of the Muskoka Lakes" and she particularly liked the "picturesque shore lines and rolling countryside."

Disagrees With Article

Shown a copy of the recent issue of "Boating Magazine" which contained an article criticising the canal's system of aids to navigation, Mr. Simons said he did not agree with it, as apart from the two suggestions which he made, he had found everything very satisfactory.

The other launch owner, A. Brown, of Oneida, N.Y., who was making his first trip through the waterway, also praised the service rendered by the lockmen, local authorities, and the navigational aids. He was accompanied by his wife and young son and had a 32-foot cabin cruiser. He had no complaints to offer whatever about the system of buoys, markers, etc.

Mr. Brown expressed particular pleasure over the ready facilities for securing fresh drinking water at the George St. wharf. He did, however, have one suggestion to make, namely: the provision of some means of disposal of garbage, being reluctant to throw it into the river if it could be avoided. Mr. Fraser told Mr. Brown that he would take this matter up with the Chamber of Commerce.

Gannon Family Resided At Narrows 124 Years

By BOB HATTON

Isolated from the rest of Peterborough county for 125 years by Chemong, Buckhorn, Pigeon and Bald lakes, the township of Ennismore and part of its neighbour to the north, Harvey, have begun to overcome their handicap through the building of one causeway across Chemong lake and rumours of another across Gannon's Narrows between Pigeon and Buckhorn lakes.

The southern part of Harvey is almost an island surrounded by Buckhorn, the northern arm of Pigeon and Bald lakes.

Neither Ennismore nor the "island" of Harvey were completely sealed off from the rest of the world. There were first scow ferries and later wave-washed floating bridges spanning the water. And of course there was the long way around.

Still it was easier for people of the district, once they were settled there, to stay. It was even easier for people outside to forget all about the district, except as a good fishing ground.

Typical Pioneers

But bustling life was going on all the time since the first group of settlers went into the area in 1825. Typical of the stories of these pioneer peoples is the life of Mrs. Maria Gannon, whose father-in-law John Gannon, gave his name to the shaft of water connecting Pigeon Lake and Buckhorn Lake.

Mrs. Gannon at 87 years of age is still a lively lady with a vital interest in all that goes on around her. The day after the Chemong causeway was officially opened, Mrs. Gannon was taken by her son to see it. She wanted to be there opening day, but her family persuaded her it was too hot.

She is looking forward to the day when there is a causeway across Gannon's Narrows as well.

"I'd love to see the causeway, for safety," she said. She remembers when disaster nearly overtook people crossing the Gannon's Narrows bridge.

About 25 years ago a nervous bank clerk who had collected a large sum of money from a bank in the district to bring back to Peterborough nearly lost his life trying to escape what he thought were bandits.

He was driving toward the bridge when several men started to wave at him. The men were waving to stop him because the swinging bridge had been turned out. The bank clerk stepped on the gas and hung grimly to the wheel. Both he and the car went sailing into space and landed in the water.

He was fished out with his soaking bank notes and both were taken to dry in the Gannon home. The bills he had been so careful to guard were spread all over the furniture to dry.

Bridge Built in 1903

The Gannons often had unexpected visitors at night before the floating bridge was put across in 1903. Back to 1887 travellers crossed the narrows by ferry. But often a strong wind whistled down the narrows and the ferry could not cross until one or two a.m. when the wind died down.

The scow could take three or four teams at a time when the weather was good. It was hauled back and forth across the narrows by a chain operating through a windlass.

Before the ferry went into operation John Chase who still lives on his farm on the north side of the narrows in Harvey township, used a raft to cross the water. In those days he was operating a sawmill.

Mrs. Gannon tells of the old days in her soft Irish brogue which she learned from her parents. She was born near where the Chemong bridge was later built. Most of the neighbors of her parents were part of the Irish migration which came into the district in 1825 and later.

Site of Trading Post

When Mrs. Gannon's father-in-law entered the township, he worked with the manager of the Hudson's Bay Post, a Mr. Smith, near the spot which is now Gannon's Narrows. Old Mr. Gannon helped in the post, trading with the Indians, but when Smith left, he turned to farming and it was a farmer's wife that Maria Gannon has lived her years at Gannon's Narrows.

Old Mr. Gannon added to the long structure which was the trading post. He and his family cleared back the land and in time had enough land for a farm. The house in which Mrs. Gannon still lives is the same house, now more than 100 years old. In the intervening years clapboard has been nailed over the logs. The original

Tax Collections

City tax payments are coming in a trifle slower this year than they did in 1948 although the amount of money received is greater, city treasurer Stanley Couper said Friday.

By June 30, $804,410.77 representing 49.23 per cent. of the $1,634,047.61 due, had been paid by city property owners. By the same date last year 50 per cent., or $702,358.47 of the $1,404,335.50 had been collected.

Windows Scratched

Store keepers on the east side of George St. in the block between Hunter and Simcoe Sts., discovered this morning that their plate glass windows have been badly scratched since they closed shop Friday evening.

The windows of every store on the block have deep scratches which appear to have been made by some truant running a diamond across the windows as he walked down the street.

None of the windows is broken but some of the cuts are more than 18 inches in length.

City Groups Have Adopted 3 War-Torn French Lads

Three French waifs have been adopted by organizations in Peterborough through the Unitarian Service committee of Canada. They are three of 2,000 children orphaned, half-orphaned, homeless or suffering from malnutrition and disease who are in 139 children's convalescent homes in Europe.

In February Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, Executive Director of the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada, spoke to the Local Council of Women. She told the women of the plight of the children of Europe, urging them to adopt a child for periods of three months.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion Branch 52, whose members' husbands and sons fought either in World War 1 or II, agreed at their next meeting to adopt one of these children for the three-month period.

The cost is $45. This will entitle the child to three months of proper food, clothing, rest and medical care. In return the organization or group receive a picture and case history of the boy or girl they have adopted. The committee urges the people to correspond with the children and send parcels. At the end of the three months if desired the child can again be adopted.

Another Adopted

Wishing to adopt another child a group of women in the Local Council of Women pooled $45 between them. Twenty of the 30 women who adopted the boy are life members of the Council. The Local Council cannot undertake such a plan with the result the women did the work apart from the Council.

Pierre Meslin, 16, is the French boy adopted by the Ladies' Auxiliary. In 1945, when he was returning from school, Pierre, who was on foot, was trying to keep up with his brother who was riding a bicycle. As his brother got ahead of him, Pierre climbed a telegraph pole to try to see him. The pole had been damaged by a grenade, and there were many live wires jutting out. He touched one of these wires and fell to the ground unconscious.

When he awakened, he was at home. Two fingers had to be amputated; but when gangrene set in eight days later, his whole left arm was amputated. Last year he was fitted with an artificial arm.

Although his mother is dead and his father a poor farmer, Pierre hopes to overcome his handicap to be an accountant.

At present Pierre is at the Centre d'Enfants Mutiles, Chateau de Villepatour par Presles-en-Brie (S. and M.) At the same place but in the Maison d'Enfants is the boy adopted by the 30 women, Guy Van de Pitte, 13.

Injured By Mine

Guy has had a similar experience to Pierre only with more disastrous results. On April 15, 1945, Guy lost his right hand and his left eye due to an exploding land mine. Some splinters penetrated his left eye and abdomen which caused him trouble resulting in sending him to Villepatour. Guy is described by the nurse as an intelligent boy and a good pupil. They add that he is a remarkably clever with his one hand at wood-carving.

His mother remarried, having one child besides Guy.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion sent a box of chocolates to Pierre in June. They planned to send him a box of clothing but other welfare projects interfered. Mrs. William Addyman, during her trip to Europe, plans to visit Pierre at the Home.

For the past couple of years the pupils of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School have adopted a French child in Alsace-Lorraine. They make two six-month contributions each year to the "Save the Children Fund," enabling the child to be kept under proper conditions. Letters have been received by the students from the mother and the child.

Dr. Hitschmanova will speak at an open meeting next September in the Legion Hall. At present she is in Europe touring the convalescent homes.

Sewers Foul, Disposal Plant Inadequate, Not Obnoxious Additions Will Improve It

Complaints from southend residents that bad odors from the sewage disposal plant have been blanketing the neighborhood have been at least partially met by city council in its action to call for tenders for an addition to the plant. The tenders are to be in by August 8. In an effort of determine the legitimacy of the protests, an Examiner representative spent Thursday afternoon and Friday morning in the district.

Despite statements of citizens in the district that the odor was rotten and stifling, this reporter got no more than one or two slight whiffs of any sort of stench. Admittedly it is not possible to assess accurately the conditions on a casual visit, yet the air was not repugnant either day.

Even though the water in the river for miles below the plant has been delared polluted, the actual water that drips over the edge of the clarifiers into the river at the sewage plant is 86.75% pure. These are the figures of Walter Pollard, superintendent of the sewage disposal plant. This water, technically known as "overflow affluent," is emptied into the Otonabee at an approximate rate of 10,000 gallons per hour. Odor from the trough was slight, but what there was of it was definitely offensive.

More than a week ago tenders were asked by the city council through Gore and Storrie, consulting engineers, for the work of enlarging the plant. Inspection of the present plant Friday morning showed that the facilities on the job now are inadequate, particularly on peak days.

Storm Drain Offender

The sewage enters the plant from the city by two pipes, each 16in. in diameter, that cross under the river bed at the foot of Park St. The sewage from all the city is converged at this point, and Mr. Pollard said that some of the smell that is bothering the residents comes from a storm drain vent there, which has the ordinary grilled opening to the sewer below it.

People in the neighborhood said that even with a fair breeze, the stench is present, and with a south wind, the perfume of rot is lifted from the plant and deposited over the land. One resident said that it is so thick and dense at times "you can almost see it."

From the two pipes the raw sewage is drained into a tank that is roughly 45ft. x 30ft., with an average depth of 20ft. This receptacle is covered by boards, and there was no odor coming from it until the boards were lifted. Once the boards were up, a gaseous odor was present, but its actual power was weak.

Pumps Outdated

Three pumps, with a combined capacity of 4,000 gallons per minute, pump the sewage from the tank up to a height of 26 feet into the sand traps and aeration tanks. Mr. Pollard considers that these pumps are outdated, since they are all of 28 years old, and that when the new plant is erected, pumping efficiency will be increased.

An operation which Mr. Pollard described as the "dirtiest, smelliest job we have to do," pumping out the sand traps, was being done Friday morning, and although there was a definite odor, it was possible to stand next to the machines and feel no ill effects. The job is done an average of 12 times a year to keep the plates in the aeration tanks from clogging.

After the sewage passes through the sand traps, it is routed into two aeration chambers that are approximately 250 feet square, with a depth of 17 feet. In these chambers are 666 "diffuser plates" which are used to break the solid sewage into smaller parts. The operation is done by forcing air from one or more of three air blowers at a pressure of 10 lbs. per sq. in. through the sewage by means of the diffuser plates.

Grease Balls

After the sewage has been agitated in the aeration tanks, the liquid goes into two clarifier tanks, each of which is 14ft. deep, the two having a combined area of 110 sq. ft. Any of the heavy material that has not been broken up in the aeration chambers is swept from the clarifiers and sent back to be reagitated.

Noticed in the aeration chambers Friday morning were great quantities of grease balls, many as large as grapefruits, which are lifted out and buried by the workmen whenever enough of them collect. They are too heavy for the equipment to handle, and that is the simplest way of getting rid of them.

Additions to Ease Situation

Mr. Pollard has seen the plans for the new plant, and is quite satisfied that it will serve the community well. He estimates that the present aeration chambers will have only one-third of the work to do that they are doing now, and will be proportionately more efficient. He is quite willing to admit that the present machines are badly overworked, particularly on washdays and other peak periods, but realizes that only so much can be done.

At present, it is estimated, it takes from four to four-and-a-half hours for one gallon of raw sewage to be converted to one gallon of 86% pure water. Mr. Pollard denied rumors that raw sewage had been pumped into the river during one period recently when a large gear wheel on one of the clarifiers was broken. It definitely was broken, he said, but they limped along with one clarifier until the other could be repaired.

The facts are, the sewage plant smells. Yet it is not so bad that the employees, of which there are five including the superintendent, cannot hold picnic lunches on the lawn not 30 feet from the plant. It is overworked, but it is hoped that that will be remedied in the near future. Again, it would be nearly impossible to have a sewage plant that did not smell to a certain extent.

Posse Hunts Wildcat

ST. CATHARINES, July 16 — (CP) — A black-spotted wildcat reported seen in this area will be hunted today by a posse of 100 riflemen. Four persons said they saw the yellow-coated cat in wooded areas. Police Chief Norman Fach of Gratham Township said a posse will encircle the Niagara escarpment gam. preserve in an attempt to flush the wildcat.

Hewitt-Handley Marriage In St. James' Church Today

White lilies decorated St. James United Church today for the wedding of Mary Theresa Handley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Handley of Sydney Mines, N. S., to Mr. Howard Robert Hewitt, son of Mrs. Jessie Hewitt of Peterborough and the late Robert Hewitt.

The marriage was performed by the Rev. E. J. Whan. Wedding music was by Mrs. Chas. Renaud, organist, and Mrs. G. H. Cutmore sang. Her solo before the ceremony was "O Perfect Love" and at the signing of the register, "Because."

Mr. Gerald Patterson gave the bride in marriage. She wore a lovely gown of blush slipper satin fashioned on princess lines with a full skirt, the waist, with sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves, fastened at the back with covered buttons. A coronet of orange blossoms held her embroidered veil which fell just to the hemline of her dress. She carried a bouquet of lilies.

Bridal attendants were Miss Thelma Baker and Miss Dorothy Menzies and Miss Gail Patterson was junior bridesmaid. Their frocks were made on exactly the same lines as the bride's dress of blue, pink and yellow net, over matching taffeta. Each wore a sweetheart halo of matching net and carried a nosegay of garden flowers.

Mr. Leslie Hewitt was the groomsman and ushers were Mr. Robert and Mr. Ross Cutmore.

The reception which followed the ceremony was held at the groom's home, 223 Prince St., with his mother receiving, gowned in delf blue taffeta and wearing a hat of cerise flowers and a corsage of cerise sweet peas. Mrs. Gerald Patterson also received and she was wearing powder blue crepe and black accessories.

Hydrangea blooms and Polyanna roses decorated the altar table for the ceremony. Mr. J. Armstrong played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. C. Connelly, who sang "On This Day" while the register was being signed.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Donald Lee, the bride was attired in a white crepe dress made with moulded bodice and full skirt with a low scalloped bertha collar. Her open-crown hat was of white silk straw with a navy feather and she wore short white gloves and carried a nosegay of red roses and white sweet peas. Her only attendant was Miss Elayne Webster from Toronto who was wearing a dress of powder blue waffle silk, featuring a scooped neckline on the fitted bodice. She wore a hat of navy straw and navy gloves and carried cream roses and powder blue sweet peas in a nosegay.

The groomsman was Mr. Girard Connelly and Mr. Jack Connelly ushered.

Joyce Mein Is Married In Double Ring Ceremony

In St. George's Anglican Church today rings and nuptial vows were exchanged as Joyce Mein became the bride of Gerald O'Connor. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mein of Peterborough. The groom is a son of Mrs. A. O'Connor of Chemong and the late Mr. O'Connor.

Setting for the ceremony performed by the Rev. E. C. Moore was baskets of summer flowers and ferns at the altar. Wedding music was played by Mr. R. H. Potts and Miss Elsie Wagstaff sang "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride's gown of white embossed marquisette featured a full hoop skirt which was caught up at the bottom with tiny satin bows to show an underskirt of silk lace. The neckline insert of net was edged with a soft draping of marquisette caught with tiny pearls and the sleeves were long and tight fitting with points over her hands. Her slightly trailing veil of embroidered silk net was caught to a halo of mohair and she was carrying red Bettertime roses and stephanotis. Mr. Mein gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Dorothy Mills was her maid of honor and Miss Betty O'Connor, sister of the groom, and Miss Jean Walker, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. Miss Mills wore a dress of pale green embossed marquisette, fashioned similarly to the bride's dress. The bridesmaids' frocks were of daffodil yellow and pale blue nylon marquisette and were made with swirls of ruching on the full skirts and had soft draping edged with ruching encircling the shoulders and forming cape sleeves. Each wore a shoulder veil of net to match her dress, caught to her head with tiny flowers and carried a nosegay of roses, gladioli petals and cornflowers.

The groom was attended by Mr. William Junkin of Detroit. Ushers were Douglas Clark and Bud Genge.

The wedding reception was held at the bride's home, 247 King George St. Mrs. Mein was gowned in mist grey mesh and wore a hat of pink mohair trimmed in tulle and a corsage of pink Butterfly roses. Mrs. O'Connor, the groom's mother, assisted her to receive, wearing navy sheer dress with a hat of white straw trimmed in navy and a corsage of white Killarney roses.

For a wedding trip to New York City the bride chose a travelling dress of turquoise bengaline and white accessories and her going-away corsage was of pink Briarcliffe roses.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connor will live in Peterborough.

Former Reeve To Observe 90th Birthday

HAVELOCK, July 16—(ENS)—A resident of Havelock for 61 years, J. W. Bryans will celebrate his 90th birthday on Monday. Mr. Bryans has been ill for the past three weeks, and although his conditions is improving, the observance of his birthday will be confined to his immediate family.

Mr. Bryans came to Havelock in 1888, before it was incorporated. When the village was incorporated in 1892, he was the first clerk of the municipality and afterward served as clerk and treasurer for 18 years. He was also reeve for three years and a member of the Board of Education for six years. During his tenure of office as reeve, he was instrumental in having the town hall built in 1900.

Mr. Bryans worked as a building contractor until appointed superintendent for Swift and Company, meat packers of Chicago who built a large ice-house here, a position he held for 18 years.

Operated General Store

He then purchased a general store from Harry Andrews and after operating this for 20 years, he sold out to A. Leeson and Son and retired.

Born in Perrytown, near Port Hope, Mr. Bryans is the son of the late Jonathan Bryans and Elinor Howden. He spent his boyhood days in Bethany. In December, 1881, Mr. Bryans married Elizabeth Ann Jackson, who died in August, 1941. He has three daughters, Mrs. H. W. Roche of Havelock; Mrs. R. F. Covert of Toronto and Mrs. T. W. Quinn of Peterborough.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Men Bypass Worthy Women Bold Females Get Husbands

The most discouraging thing about being a woman is that our virtues are our greatest handicaps. We collect no dividends on our good qualities. All that we get for being sweet and pure and unselfish and noble is the reward of a clear conscience.

Men don't love us and marry us, which is what we all want most in life, because we are pin-feathered angels, but because we have large violet eyes or are blondes built on streamline effects. The wives who have the most adoring husbands are never the Patient Griseldas but female Simon Legress who work them to death to provide them with pearls and limousines and trips to Europe. We can't even do our duty to our husbands without the danger of losing them to some woman who will treat 'em rough.

Dorothy Dix

And that is what makes us mothers sigh and tear our hair in bewilderment when we look at our little daughters in the cradle and wonder how we should develop them so that they may get the most out of life. Shall we bring them up to be meek and modest? Well, the shrinking violet doesn't get anywhere these days. We haven't noticed any men going out of their way to hunt up the hidden flower to wear in their buttonholes. The one they plucked was the one that planted herself right in their pathways and bumped them in the nose.

Shall we teach them to be domestic and thrifty so that they can make their husbands comfortable and save their money? Well, observation shows that it is not mother's little helper who gets the Fairy Prince but the best rhumba dancer, and the maiden who catches the masculine eye is not the one who wears homemade clothes but she who looks like a daily hint from Paris.

Look about you. Who are the popular girls? Who are the girls who always have dates to burn? Who are the girls who get married in their first or second season, and who have their pick of the eligibles? Are they the girls who are best fitted to make good wives and helpmeets? Are they the girls who are noted for their sweet and amiable dispositions? Are they the self-sacrificing maidens who make over their old frocks so mother can have a new dress, and who help take care of their little brothers and sisters?

Nay, verily. The girls who are fitted to make the best wives never get to be wives at all. All of us know dozens of lovely, gentle old maids who can cook like a chef and pinch pennies like Hetty Green, who are witty and entertaining and would have spoiled husband to death, yet who have been passed over by men for lazy, extravagant, stupid little shrews who happened to have peaches-and-cream complexions and naturally wavy hair.

Of course, we are all awfully proud when our daughters develop into splendid characters, and we boast about it when they are fine students and carry off the honors at college. If they are goodlookers, they may be able to live down a reputation for brilliancy, or if they are supernaturally clever they may have sense enough to conceal it, but the fact remains that men prefer feminine brains scrambled, and there is no arguing with taste. The only consolation the intellectual woman gets is that she is good company for herself, and that's lucky, for it is most of the society she has.

Nor does a wife get any more percentage on her virtues than does a girl, so far as men are concerned. The best wives are rarely the best loved ones. Ninety-nine times out of a hundred it is the exacting, demanding, gimme wives whose husbands grovel before them and kiss their feet.

Take the adoring wife who simply hasn't a thought of herself where her husband is concerned. She considers it a privilege to make a burnt offering of herself on the kitchen stove preparing the dishes he likes best. She stays at home with the children so he may go off on pleasure trips, free and untrammeled. Her whole life is a perpetual sacrifice of her tastes, inclinations and desires for him.

Does he in return simply worship this self-abnegating saint? Not a bit of it. He comes to think of her as nothing but a doormat and kicks her around like one. He doesn't in the least appreciate what she does for him. He thinks that she is an eccentric who doesn't care to go places of amusement and have pretty clothes, as other women do.

And there is the woman who is a real helpmeet to her husband. Very often she has more intelligence, more ambition, more vision than he has, and she makes her shoulders a ladder on which he climbs to success. Does he repay her by eternal gratitude and devotion? Sometimes. Not very often. Frequently he deserts her for a young woman who hasn't got callouses on her hands and a stoop in her back from pushing him on.

We have all seen plenty of old wives pensioned off on a little alimony while the second wife blew in the money they helped make. Often it seems nowadays that the only way a wife can keep her husband is by keeping him so poor he doesn't attract the golddiggers.

So this is why it is so discouraging to be a woman. So often your wisdom turns nito just plain dumb foolishness.

DOROTHY DIX.

British Women Dissatisfied With Shop Wares

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, July 16 — (CP) — Now that clothes rationing is over, British women are looking around the shops more closely—and finding fault.

Dress racks are jammed but housewives question whether manufacturers are producing the sort of clothes women really want.

"To ge a dress is easy, but to get one in the size, color and material you have set your heart on is next to impossible," one shopper said.

Here are a few of the items many women want to buy but have trouble finding:

Cotton frocks for five-year-olds at less than £1 ($4) and size-24 cotton frocks with matching panties.

Light, cool, efficient foundation garments at £1 or less.

Light-weight black skirts at less than £3.

Little boys' white shirts.

Furnishing fabrics in soft grey-green at less than £4 a yard.

Light-colored cleanable raincoats.

Hat Prices Soar

Another hard-to-swallow pill is hat prices. One example is the "eggshell" cap designed last February by Christian Dior. It can be bought today in New York for $5 but will not be sold in Britain till August and then will cost £6 17s.

Many women ask: "What is the manufacturers' answer to all this?

"When it's a question of high prices they push 'quality' on us. Then they talk of imported materials, and finally say 'well, we sell everything we make'."

"No doubt they do," agreed one overwrought shopper, "but there is vast difference between an immediate sale to an overjoyed customer and the prevalent 'Oh, well, I suppose I'll have to take it'."

"It's this dispirited aftermath of rationing, this 'take the best you can get' attitude is responsible for half the trouble," said a buyer for a big London store.

"When women once more stand up for what they really want and refuse to take 'the next best thing' the manufacturers will start producing according to the demand."

Plays Harvey For Last Time

VANCOUVER, July 16—(CP)—Elwood P. Dowd, an amiable lush, and "Harvey," a big white rabbit who took Broadway by storm, will wander down to Charley's Place tonight for their last drink together.

Dowd, portrayed by actor Frank Fay and Harvey are ending one of the most beautiful friendships in show business. Tonight's stage performance here will be their last.

"I'm sending Harvey back to his family for a while," Fay said today. "And I hope he doesn't go to Hollywood."

After nearly five years of warming millions of hearts with Mary Chase's Pulitzer prize-winning play, Fay is giving up Harvey for "Hamlet."

For fabulous Frank Fay, a bland and garrulous elf of 51, his association with Harvey has been a profitable one. He owns a chunk of the play, which since it opened in October, 1944, has taken in $14,000,000.

"I've played the role about 2,000 times and I get the same old kick out of it every time I do it."

Bride's Mother Gives Tea

WARKWORTH, July 16 (ENS) —Mrs. D. R. Johnston entertained at a nicely-arranged trousseau tea in honor of her daughter Doris whose marriage to Albert Edmond of Larder Lake will take place Saturday, July 23 in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Warkworth.

Mrs. Fred Skinkle greeted the guests at the door while the hostess and her daughter received in the living room. Mrs. Harold Grant exhibited the gifts from showers held where the bride-elect taught school at Larder Lake—one a cup and saucer shower held by Miss Audrey Avery and one at the home of Mrs. L. Millin where she was presented with a silver salad fork, and gifts from a linen shower held by girl friends at Malton. Her sister, Miss Lenore Johnston displayed gifts from a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. R. M. Potter, Warkworth, and some wedding gifts, while the trousseau was shown by her sisters Mrs. Frank Mallory and Mrs. Milton Baird. Mrs. Wm. Johnston a sister-in-law, was in charge of the register.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. C. E. Meiklejohn and Mrs. Andrew Weatherson while Mrs. Leslie Hermiston, Mrs. Louis King, Miss Jacqueline Potter and Miss Jane McNair served Replenishing was done by Mrs. Ray R. Mallory and Mrs. R. M. Potter.

Stock Markets Showing Recovery Moves

By The Canadian Press

The recovery movement that started in mid-June stretched into another week on the stock markets this week.

Increased demand in mid-week pushed industrial issues to the highest price level in seven weeks. Markets practically ignored pessimistic rumors.

President Truman's economic message early in the week rolled off the back of the stock market and despite a threatened steel strike, prices climbed.

Current financial discussions in London barely created a ripple on exchanges when the rise was in full swing.

Trading activity continued comparatively slow. Some signs of jitteriness appeared as the week drew to a close.

New York moved narrowly Monday but began to roll ahead Tuesday, climbing briskly to the highest level since mid-May. Continued buying raised the market even higher Wednesday with observers reported that the general public had re-entered the market.

Steel workers in the United States threatened to strike shortly after Wednesday's close but Thursday's market failed to respond. The advance continued and the market was about at the peak of rally.

A jittery session yesterday steadied when danger of the steel strike faded. The fourday advance came to a halt as the Associated Press 60-stock average dipped .1 at 62, but still showed a gain of a full point from last Friday.

Gannon Family

trading post is now occupied by two bedrooms, on the north side of the house.

About the time Mrs. Gannon was born the population of Ennismore was 862. Records of 1860 showed the township was a young growing community with 32 births and 172 children going to school and only three deaths in that year.

Mrs. Gannon had 11 children, of whom nine are still living. Most of them left the township and settled in Ottawa, New Jersey, Quebec, Omemee and other centers. She has seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Her son, Tom, runs the farm now which prospered under her husband's hands. With modest pride, Mrs. Gannon recalled the farm supported the large family and all the children were well educated as well.

But Mrs. Gannon doesn't dwell in the past. Like all the people of the district she hopes for the day cars will no longer have to slither cautiously over the wet planking of the old floating bridge. The bridge which now crosses the narrows was the first floating bridge at Chemong. When a new bridge was built in Chemong Lake in 1901, part of the old structure was floated up Chemong lake into Buckhorn lake and finally lodged across the narrows.

For the past 30 years the bridge tender of the southern end of the bridge including the swinging bridge, has been George Freeburn.

While he has been on the job three cars have slipped into the lake, but he has managed to save them all. Little repair has been done on the bridge he said. Many of the boards in the top planking are rotted. This top planking has been replaced occasionally, but little structural repairs have been made.

Like everyone else in Ennismore and Harvey, Mr. Freeburn will not be sorry to see the last of the old, but dangerous, landmark.

TORONTO, July 16.—(CP).—A baseball game, arranged to be played here Sunday to test the validity of a city bylaw which bans Sunday spectator sport, has been called off. Alderman Roy Belyea, in whose ward the game was to be played, said he had advised Donald North, president of the North Toronto Baseball Association which sponsors the league, not to have the game played. "I told him there were proper channels to follow and that breaking the law would only aggravate the situation," Ald. Belyea said.

HOUSE NO. 101—We know you've seen lots of one-floor homes, but this one is something twice as smart as the usual variety. Builder S. P. Kirkpatrick erected it. Walls are of wide red cedar siding, relieved with painted brick. Roof is of red cedar shingles. This intriguing house is the work of Architect C. B. K. Van Norman, famous for his new approach to home planning. Functionalism and traditional beauty of line and mass are happy partners in his designs. As is apparent from the floor plan shown here, this house has been built to take in the view to the rear. It has a fine cedar-decked terrace which stretches the full width of the living room. Floors are of edge-grain Douglas fir, and interior trim of western white pine. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Use of Proper Colors Overcomes House Defects

If you're troubled with a room that looks too long and narrow . . . or perhaps a ceiling that appear too low . . . . take heart! Color can work miracles in overcoming architectural defects in the home. Here are a few ways paint and wallpaper can be used to make your home more appealing.

First, let's see what can be done with a room that appears too long and narrow. To make it look wider and shorter make the short walls contrast with the long ones. Try some of these ideas:

(1) On the long walls, use a plain light color like green or blue to make the walls seem further away.

(2) On the short walls, use a plain, dark color, or a warm one such as peach, brown or warm red to make them come forward . . . or use wallpapers in warm colors. Or you might have open shelves, filled with books, with a low storage cabinet underneath extending all across the end wall from floor to ceiling. A fireplace with bookshelves on either side will also achieve the desired effect of bringing the short walls for ward.

(3) Where windows are located on the short walls, hang colorful draperies at them to increase the appearance of width of the wall. Draperies may be hung from ceiling to floor, extending from corners of the wall over to the windows and covering window frames.

CEILINGS TOO LOW: Low ceiling can be made to appear high by:

(1) Making the ceiling lighter than the walls.

(2) Having a white paint or paper tinted a little with the wall color.

(3) Using a wallpaper with vertical stripes or a vertical floral design reaching from baseboard to ceiling, and without a border.

(4) Hanging draperies having a vertical stripe design for plain walls, or plain draperies a different color from the walls.

ROOM TOO SMALL: Small rooms appear larger when plain as soft greens and blues are used, and when walls and woodwork are of the same color. Where wallpaper is patterned, various tones of one grayed color may be chosen, or a pattern in soft colors that leaves large open spaces in the background. Dark colors, all-over patterns (even though small), or those having strong color contrasts, tend to draw the walls inwards. If you use a figured wallpaper it will be best to have its background color and that of the woodwork match.

A plain rug, or one with a soft-colored all-over pattern covering most of the floor will enlarge the room. Draperies matching the wall color, or in a little lighter tone, will produce the same effect.

ROOMS TOO LARGE: Large rooms appear smaller and cozier when wallpaper has a large or medium-sized all-over pattern in warm colors. Woodwork and draperies in contrast to the wall-color will also make the room look smaller by drawing in the walls. Small rugs or a large figured one might be chosen to break up the expanse of floor.

WALLS CUT UP BY TOO MANY DOORS AND WINDOWS: A room with a number of doors and windows usually has small spaces. Here, patterned paper is very likely to look spotty. Your room will look much more restful if plain wallpaper or paint is used, with woodwork and walls of the same color.

Plain colored draperies or curtains should be chosen a little lighter or darker than the wall, or of a contrasting color. You might also use patterned, dull-colored one with a background matching the wall.

UAW Starts Fund Of $10,000,000 For Big Strike

MILWAUKEE, July 16—(AP)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO) set up machinery Friday which would produce up to $10,000,000 to finance any major strike.

And with just such a strike threatening at the Ford Motor Company, delegates at the union's convention tooled the plan so the maximum funds could be raised in only three months.

Just before the 2,400 delegates approved the emergency assessment plan which would tap working members for $1 weekly for a maximum of 12 weeks for a major strike, they had given a unanimous nod to this year's economic program. The union's contract negotiations will centre on demands for $100-a-month pensions, health and welfare funds and a four-round wage increase.

Though the assessment move may have a tremendous bearing on the crucial automobile industry bargaining ahead, it was much less dramatic than two other convention actions.

In one of them two left-wing unionist who admitted publishing what UAW President Walter Reuther called "filthy propaganda" were expelled from the union.

The two are Tracy M. Doll, former president of the Wayne County (Detroit) C.I.O. council, and Sam Sage, the council's former secretary-treasurer.

Expulsion of Harold Christoffel and six other former officers of Local 248 at the sprawling Allis-Chalmers plant here also was upheld by the convention.

She told the officers she had held the baby's blankets over his head until he stopped struggling.

Canadians Put Play Across In Great Britain

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, July 16—(CP)—Six Canadians, six Americans and a Briton are drawing large audiences nightly to their spirited performance of "the Male Animal" at the fashionable new theatre near Trafalgar Square.

When this American satire by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent made its west end debut recently, the trans-Atlantic cast took no less than 10 curtain calls. London theatre critics saluted the performance as a triumph for producer Henry Sherek, who took a chance on the play after its trial run at the Arts Theatre Club.

Previously no London management would risk money on importing "The Male Animal" into Britain, as it was feared the satirical appeal might not survive the Atlantic crossing.

So far, Sherek's enterprise has been rewarded and he is prepared to back the play for at least three months.

Much of its success is credited to the lively acting of Vancouver's Arthur Hill and Barbara Kelly in the leading roles. Hill plays the middle west university professor suspected of communist sympathies.

Blonde, vivacious Barbara Kelly broke into theatreland via CBC drama in Vancouver. Earlier she appeared in an open-air production of "Midsummer Night's Dream" at the theatre under the stars in Stanley Park.

Has 3 Children

On the stage Barbara is the much-bewildered professor's wife. In private she is married to Canadian broadcaster Bernard Braden. They have three children—Christopher, Kelly and Kim—all living with them in London.

Both Kelly and Hill say they believe the theatre has a future in Canada.

"Eventually," Barbara said, "it will not be necessary for Canadian troupers to migrate to New York or London to make a stage career."

Jon Farrell, formerly of Vancouver and Toronto, recently quit London journalism to play an eccentric role in "The Male Animal." He was at this same theatre 12 years ago in a production of Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

No Private Ottawa Offices Available For Busy MP's

OTTAWA, July 16—(CP)—Woe to the new member of parliament who pictures himself occupying a nice, private office when he comes to the capital for the fall session. The scene would be more accurate if he pictured himself crowded into an office with at least one and possibly two of his colleagues. The space shortage is a familiar headache to veteran members of both the Commons and the Senate, but some newcomers have already expressed surprise that the spacious centre block does not contain enough rooms to assure everyone an individual office.

The last parliament was made up of 245 members of the Commons and 96 of the Senate. As a result of Newfoundland's entry into Confederation and of the redistribution act which became effective with the June 27 general election, there will be 262 members of the Commons and 102 in the Senate, if all 13 vacancies in the Upper House are filled.

No Action Taken

So far, said a member of the Commons staff, no action has been taken to provide additional space. He believes that as soon as Parliament meets—probably about Sept. 15—a joint committee of the Commons and the Senate will be appointed to recommend a solution.

There have been various suggestions. One is that additional storeys be built on the centre block. There are two inner wings where storeys could be built without harming the architecture of the building.

The wierdest suggestion was that the Senators be moved to a government building in Hull, across the Ottawa river from the capital. The suggestion came from Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) who said during a debate on the space problem:

"Let the Senators go to Hull."

Face - Lifting

The East Block, one of Ottawa's older landmarks, is undergoing an interior face-lifting, but the architects say that as far as they know it is not being done to provide more space for members of parliament. They were told the work was necessary to provide better office accommodation for the Prime Minister and his staff, the Privy Council and the External Affairs department.

WA To Assist In Selecting Church Lights

ROSENEATH, July 16 (ENS)—Mrs. James Timlin was hostess to the W. A. of St. James' Anglican Church on Thursday. In the absence of the president, Mrs. C. R. Spence, the first vice-president, Mrs. Earl Braithwaite presided.

Mrs. Ray McCracken was appointed secretary pro tem in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Jas. Webb.

Mrs. James Brown, treasurer, presented the financial statement showing a balance on hand of $189.89.

The ECD treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Robins, reported a balance on hand of $4.25.

A donation of print material was received from Miss E. Coyle, a former member, now visiting in Winnipeg.

Cancel Bazaar

It was decided that each member would make a donation of $2 instead of having the annual bazaar on the civic holiday weekend.

Much discussion took place regarding lights for the church, which will be wired for electricity shortly. Mrs. H. J. McCracken and Mrs. James S. Timlin were appointed as a committee from the WA to assist the Wardens in selecting lights.

It was decided not to have a meeting in August, but plans were made for the September meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Braithwaite, with Mrs. Ross McCracken as program convener.

Readings were given by Mesdames Edgar Braithwaite and Ross McCracken.

Has Kind Neighbors

SIMCOE, July 16 (CP)—Alvin Loucks, Clear Creek tobacco farmer thinks he has some fine neighbors. Last week Loucks' 14-year-old son was killed when struck by a truck and work on Loucks' farm has been neglected. Wednesday, 40 of his neighbors were organized into a "bee" and hoed his entire tobacco crop.

16-Foot Cruiser Hobby-Made Ready For Run

Built for pleasure the 16-foot red and white cabin cruiser, The Swan, moored at the T-wharf, was built by Robert Killingbeck, 151 Rutherford Ave. Mr. Killingbeck is an employee of the Peterborough Canoe Company and his main hobby is building boats. This sturdy little craft, painted white with red trimmings, will make its trial run sometime next week.

Starting work on it last August in the garage near his home Bob launched the Swan last Saturday with a small ceremony at the T-wharf in Little Lake. There the Swan is undergoing the final touches until today when the motor will be fitted into her for the final tests.

During his holidays last year he got the desire to have a boat. With assistants Art Shewell and Elwood Cannon the framework and equipment were set up in the Killingbeck garage. In their spare time they worked on the boat trying to have her ready for this summer. But winter made things too cold and all work was postponed until late spring.

Now the Swan is launched and in its final stages. Last Tuesday Bob secured in Lakefield a two-cylinder motor which he hopes will give the cruiser a speed of 20 m.p.h. A local car wrecker's provided him with the steering mechanism. Today he is setting in window frames, glazing and wiring the lights.

Even now Bob is planning to build a larger craft, a 30-foot job with a couple of cabins, and expects to being work on it as soon as the Swan is ship-shape.

ARREST 3 BARRIE YOUTHS AT GUNPOINT

Suspend Two U.S. Generals During Investigation Of Army Contract Handling

Congressman Also Demands Truman Aide Be Relieved Of Post; Charge Officers Took 5% Of Contract Fees

WASHINGTON, July 18—(AP)—An investigation of contract handling by the United States Army was still under way today. Thus far it has led to the suspension of two Major-Generals and a Congressman's demand that President Truman send his military aide to the sidelines. The Inspector-General's office has orders from Army Secretary Gordon Gray to continue its investigation of Maj.-Gen. Herman Feldman, the Quartermaster-General, and Alden H. Waitt, Chief of the Chemical Corps.

Both were relieved of duty Saturday after a Senate investigating committee produced evidence which Gray said indicated they exhibited "a lack of judgment and sense of propriety."

On the heels of this development Paul Shafer (Rep. Mich.) demanded that the president suspend Maj.-Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, White House aide.

Aide Implicated

Shafer, who is a member of the House of Representatives Armed Services committee, said in a statement that Vaughan was "implicated in the same case" with Feldman and Waitt. He gave no details but said the aide's conduct "has been, to put it mildly, in the poorest taste."

None of the Generals has commented on the developments.

Their names were mentioned in a recent newspaper story telling of agents who allegedly use their influence to obtain government contracts for fees of five per cent.

Gray said the Senate group findings indicated that Feldman, who has been in charge of buying food for all United States armed services and furniture, clothing and other equipment for the army, "furnished to a contractor's representative procurement information under circumstances which appear irregular."

The evidence concerning Waitt, he added, indicates he "improperly furnished personnel data to an individual not in the military service and who was not entitled to receive such data."

Ship Owners Refuse To Intervene

LONDON, July 18 (CP)—The Shipping Federation, organization of British shipowners, today rejected a request by British dockers' unions that the Federation try to arrange a meeting between Canadian shipowners and striking Canadian seamen.

The Stevedores' and Lightermen's Unions made the request in an attempt to end the strike which has tied up London's vast dock area. Official figures showed 15,341 men are idle on the waterfront and 71 ships are tied up.

Under a state of emergency proclaimed last week by the government, troops are working 52 other ships, unloading food and loading export cargoes. Seven thousand soldiers returned to work on the waterfront after a week-end rest.

The Shipping Federation said in a statement it had noted that the request of the unions was first addressed to Labor Minister George Isaacs, "who had more than once explained that he could not entertain it."

Isaacs has said in parliament that he feels unable to interfere in what he regards as a purely Canadian dispute.

"The Federation could not, any more than the Ministry of Labor, move in this matter," it said in the statement.

Representatives of the owners of the Beaverbrae and the Argomont were present today at a meeting of the Labor Shipowners' Dock Labor Committee but no conclusions were reached.

UEW Prepares For CCL Parley

TORONTO, July 18.—(CP).—The red-tinged United Electrical Workers of America, cut off last week from the executive council of the Canadian Congress of Labor, is preparing for a voice on the C.C.L. convention floor at Ottawa this fall.

Meeting here during the week-end, the U.E. District Council named two of its top officers as delegates to the Congress sessions—despite the fact they are under suspension for an open attack on the C.C.L.'s policies and leadership.

They are Clarence S. Jackson, president of District 5 Council and George Harris, its secretary-treasurer. Jackson, one of the five ousted last week from the Executive Council, told reporters Sunday night the U.E. would remain within the Congress but would fight for a return to "original" C.C.L. policies.

The union represents an estimated 25,000 workers in Ontario and Quebec.

Czech Priests Refuse To Bow To Red Rule

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

PRAGUE, July 18.—(AP). — Defiant Czechoslav Roman Catholic priests rejected Sunday Communist government demands that they desert Archbishop Joseph Beran and the Vatican.

"We stand loyally by our bishops and our archbishops in their fight and will continue to do so even if it means presecution," said a resolution read in Progue's big St. Ignatius Roman Catholic church at services Sunday morning.

Cooling Mass Of Air Aiding Firefighters

VANCOUVER, July 18.—(CP). —A cooling mass of air, dotted with showers, clung over the Vancouver forest area today and cut fire potential to some extent.

There wasn't any indication of a drenching rain to come but neither is there any uncontrolled blazes reported so far.

Damage and expense continued to run heavy toay from vigilence required for the more-than-120 fires burning. But at the latest action spot — where Saturday flames whipped out of control—forest service officials said they hope to be able to salvage much of the burned over standing timber and some of the bucked and piled logs of fir and hemlock.

Quakers Urge A-Weapons Sealed Away To Aid Peace

PHILDALEPHIA, July 18 — (AP)— The American Friends Service committee urges that the United States take the lead in promoting world disarmament by putting its stock of atomic weapons under United Nations seal and halt its concentration of fissionable material.

In a "state of the world" report released during the week-end, the Quaker organization—winner of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1947—also recommended a resumption of normal exports to Russia and her satellies as a step toward solution of the east-west conflict.

The report, based on a six-month study of global conflict, was drafted by 16 persons who conferred regularly with specialists on Russian-American relations. Volumes of history and theory also were studied while experts of all countries were questioned.

The core of the cold war, the report stated, is economic and "economic warfare is a two-edged sword."

The report listed as crippling moves the United States embargo on trade with Russia and the Soviet refusal to participate in the Marshall plan. But it added those moves do not have "any substantial bearing on the retarding of a country's relative war potential."

The committee said the report is tentative and is released for discussion and constructive criticism.

It stated there is no substantial evidence "that economic recovery and further industrialization in the Eastern European countries would result in any increased threat to the security of the United States or Western Europe.

"On the contrary, recovery and industrialization are in face, at least likely to lead to these countries being able, in the long run, to take a more independent position and play a more mitigating role in the East-West conflict."

Want Pied Piper

LONDON, July 18 (Reuters)—A "Pied Piper of Hamelin" would make a fortune in Britain today. Britain's 40,000,000 rats are costing the country £25,000,000 ($100,000,000) in damage a year and their annual food consumption is 2,000,000 tons. A single rat is estimated to eat 50 pounds of food a year and spoil twice as much.

U.S. Navy Base Opened Near Greenland

WASHINGTON, July 18 (AP) —New indications of quiet moves by the United States to improve its military lookout in the far north have been disclosed in official quarters.

Among the projects is work on a small naval operating base located in a fiord at Grondal, near the southwest tip of Greenlnd.

This little-known installation is used to provide limited repair and general supply service to ships operating in that area, the United States Navy says. As far as is known, this is one of the most northern of the navy's secondary bases in the Atlantic and Arctic regions.

Increasing emphasis is being placed on the possibility of air attack on the United States across the Polar regions. Thus both the United States Navy and Air Force have been intensifying efforts to maintain patrol of those regions.

Converting Ships

The navy, since the war, has begun building or conversion of ships and submarines into specially-designed radar picket craft. Their mission is to watch for strange planes stealing in across the top of the world. The work of these craft is supplemented by the routine operations of small naval craft operating on ordinary survey missions along the lonely coast lines of the far north. Landing craft and vessels up to 50 tons do much of this coastal survey work.

The USAF already has asked work of radar aircraft detection Congress for funds to build a net-stations along the northern rim of the North American continent. It also is seeking funds to improve aerial navigation of its planes.

The status of United States bases in Greenland is obscure.

No Knowledge

COPENHAGEN, July 18 (AP) —The Danish Foreign Ministry today denied any knowledge of a small American naval operating west tip of Greenland, as reported base in a fiord near the south-by official quarters in Washington.

Qualified sources said today negotiators in Belgrade are now busy on a final winding up process." The pact is expected to provide Yugoslavia with between $24,000,000 and $40,000,000 worth of British bank credits to buy essential imports such as machinery.

16 Rescued In Muskoka Boat Blast

Four Boats Team Up, Pull Passengers Out Of Wreckage

GRAVENHURST, Ont., July 18 (CP)—Prompt action by rescuers saved 16 lives Saturday when the motor cruiser Sarah Maude blew up and sank in nearby Lake Muskoka within 90 seconds.

Team work among occupants of four rescue boats, who hustled to the scene, had the struggling victims out of the water within a few minutes after the Sarah Maude explosion.

Rescuers included the internationally - known speedboat driver, Harold Wilson, of Ingersoll, who dived in to help hoist the stunned and burned victims from the water.

The blast occurred during speed trials of Wilson's entry for the Harmsworth Cup race at Detroit later this summer. The Sarah Maude was acting as a marker around which his speedster could cut a trail course. Cause of the explosion is unknown but it is believed a pocket of gas fumes in the engine well may have become ignited by the starter.

Ten Injured

Ten injured were taken to Bracebridge, 10 miles north of here and 90 miles north of Toronto. Of these, one, Joy Brown, of Toronto, was discharged. Of the others, only one, Mrs. Gerald Richardson, Sr., of Toronto, is considered in a critical condition.

The other injured: Mrs. L. K. Coles, Ingersoll, first and second degree burns; her sons, Roger, three, broken leg, and Bobby, seven, broken leg and broken arm; Mrs. Gerald Richardson, Jr., of Toronto, burns; Miss Mabel Clark, Ingersoll, burns; Miss Margaret Start, Ingersoll, burns; Mrs. Millicent Myles, Ingersoll, head injuries; Dorothy Uren, 13, Ingersoll, burns to back and legs.

Wilson, in his Miss Canada IV, had made one circuit of the course at about 90 miles an hour when his wife, in the Sarah Maude, noticed her anchor had broken loose. She switched on the engine starter and the blast followed.

Screaming Mob Attacks 4 DP's

TORONTO, July 18 (CP) — A screaming mob of 30 drape-suited youths attacked two Lithuanian couples in Toronto's High Park and robbed them of $53, police said today.

Eight police cars were dispatched to the park minutes after the alleged robbery but none of the assailants were found.

Bleeding from face cuts, the four victims were taken to hospital for treatment and later released. They are: Jonas Sahalasskas, 30, who said he was punched in the face and robbed of $50; Lita Lanartae, 19; Algis Ciuzas, 23, who was beaten when he went to protect Miss Linartae; and Zena Kirejawate, 19, who was robbed of $3.

An eyewitness to the assault, a teen-aged youth, told police he saw the gang attack the two couples and watched the fight but he thought it was "just a big gang fooling around." When the girls started screaming, the youth called police.

Togliatti Attacks Vatican's Decree

ROME, July 18 (AP)—Attacking the Vatican's excommunication decree, Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's leading Communist, Sunday told 2,500 of his followers they could be Communists and good Roman Catholics at the same time.

He labelled the decree a tactic "dragged from the darkest ages of humanity's history."

"We do not enter into the consciences of the militant (Communists) where there can reign faith and the convictions which satisfy them," he said.

National Guards Foil Armed Mob

GROVELAND, Fla., July 18. — (AP)— Tension gradually eased today after a touchy week-end during which an armed mob tried to take two negroes out of jail. National Guard troops moved in to maintain order in this central Florida town, but left early today.

A touch of the Ku Klux Klan" was here too. Pamphlets titled "Ideals of the Ku Klux Klan," were tossed from a group of about 20 cars which passed through.

Residents said three or four men were in each car; none wore the traditional Klan hoods and robes.

Sheriff W. V. McCall, who quieted the mob of about 100 men that gathered at the county courthouse in Tavares Saturday night, said he wasn't around when the Klan litertature was tossed.

The two negroes had been moved to another jail before the mob arrived, McCall reported because he expected trouble. They were arrested on an open charge in connection with the robbery of a white man and the kidnapping and subsequent rape of his wife Saturday.

Most of the town's 400 negroes were moved to surrounding towns on trucks a few hours earlier.

About 80 Guardsmen patrolled the main street for several hours Sunday night. There was no sign of trouble and they dispersed early today.

Wrong-Way Aussie

DARWIN, Australia, July 18—(AP)—Edward Arnold, 54, is a little short-sighted, but he loves to swim. He went for a dip in Darwin Harbor last night and a swift tide carried him out to sea. His glasses were on the beach and he couldn't tell which way it was to shore. So he paddled around for 12 hours, until a police launch picked him up this morning.

Lost In Woods For Days Prays For Rain, Saved

KIRK, Ont., July 18—(CP)—Lost in the bush 65 hours before stumbling out to a highway, 68-year-old Mrs. Thora Bydal Sunday told of her harrowing experience in the cold, mosquito infested wilderness.

She was picked up by a truck Saturday after being lost since Wednesday while on a blueberry-picking expedition north of this community, 50 miles west of North Bay.

"I got down on my knees and prayed," she said in an interview. "And when I was thirstiest, rain fell. I caught a few drops in a honey pail, enough to wet my throat. It gave me courage, helped keep me alive."

All she had was the honey pail and a small bottle of insect repellant.

She said she ate berries during the ordeal. On Friday she came in sight of a road and saw a bus, but in her hurry became lost again.

All day Friday 40 persons tramped the rugged terrain looking for her, including three carloads of North Bay residents. Relatives feared she was dead.

IN TOUCH WITH U.S.

LONDON, July 18 — (AP) — The Foreign Office admitted today it is in touch with the United States concerning "general atomic subjects."

Estonians Love Canadian Home

HALIFAX, July 18—(CP)—Twenty-three political refugees from Estonia are waiting aboard their tiny escape ship here today for the go-ahead signal to start a new life.

"It is good to be here in Canada," said Capt. Theodore Vompa. He skippered the 32-ton schooner W. E. Gladstone through stormy seas that kept the decks awash for eight conscutive days.

The tiny, two-masted vessel left Sweden June 23, called at Sligo, Ireland, for fuel and food, then headed for Canada.

"The people are so friendly here," said Capt. Vompa's blonde young wife. "Everybody is so nice to us. Our impression of Canada is good."

The refugees lived in the same district in Estonia. When the Russians took over their homeland in 1944, they fled to Sweden along with 25,000 of their countrymen.

New Communist Advances Panic Officials In Canton

CANTON, China, July 18. — (AP).—Fighting Nationalists and Communists flamed into new activity in Central China today.

Official dispatches reported several Nationalist setbacks.

(Chinese press reports in Hong Kong said the new Red drive had caused fresh panic among Nationalist officials in Canton. The defence ministry, these accounts said, had chartered 21 civilian planes to ferry important equipment out of the provisional capital.)

The objective of red troops—on the march after a two-month stalemate — appeared to be Changsha, Hunan provincial capital and a Nationalist strongpoint. The official dispatches told of these developments:

Four red divisions (possibly 30,000 men) captured Ichang, Yangtze port 600 air miles west of Shanghai and 200 miles north of Changsha.

Nationalists, yielding to strong attacks, abandoned Paochi, Shensi province, western terminus of the Lunghai railroad, but counter-attacked west and south of the town.

A big battle is shaping up in western Kiangsi province, east of Hunan and directly above Kwangtung — where Canton is situated.

Nationalists lost—but regained —the Kiangsi highway town of Anfu, 300 miles north of Canton.

Find Trio Carrying Small Arsenal

Trying To Steal Car When Police Halt Robbery Plan

BARRIE, July 18—(CP)—Provincial Police arrested three Barrie youths at gunpoint today on charges of theft and illegal possession of firearms. Police said the youths, Elmer Wright, 19, Elmer Corbett, 17, and Carl Matthews, 17, were carrying revolvers.

Police said the youths, arrested while trying to steal a car, were found in possession of guns, ammunition and clothing stolen from a Barrie store several days ago.

Police nabbed the youths downtown after receiving a tip that they were trying to steal the car. Stepping from their cruiser, they caught up with the trio as they were walking away down nearby St. Mary's St. The youths surrendered quietly when they saw the police were armed.

Police said they found the stolen goods at the youths homes after questioning them. They said the revolvers, ammunition and clothing was hidden in their homes.

Police believe that the goods were stolen from Twiss Men's Wear store last week when thieves entered through the coal chute while townspeople were attending a fair.

Report Experts Form Committee

LONDON, July 18—(Reuters) — The Commonwealth finance ministers today concluded their talks on the sterling area's shortage of gold and dollars.

Walter Nash, finance minister of New Zealand, said after the conference that further consultation will take place this week on proposals to establish permanent Commonwealth machinery in London to review the dollar position.

He said it is planned to establish a committee of technical experts.

The conference, which began last Wednesday, was held behind closed doors. Sources close to the delegates indicated yesterday a communique will be issued covering the discussions.

It was understood from observers close to the delegations that some of the experts who came to London will remain to sit on the technical committee.

At their final meeting the delegates, who included Finance Minister Douglas Abbott of Canada, agreed on the text of a minute to be sent to the Commonwealth governments.

This will outline to the dominion governments the cuts in dollar imports which it is estimated could be made almost immediately by Commonwealth countries in the sterling area to help close the sterling-dollar gap.

Judge Seeking Home For Rejected Boy 7

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18 (AP)—Juvenile authorities hope someone will come forward today with an offer of a home, love and understanding for a seven-year-old boy who killed a man.

Teddy Moreno, housed in the nursery of of the Juvenile home, is completely unaware that he killed Fred Throckmorton, 67, his grocer friend, Friday.

Judge Hilton D. Sapiro said the shooting was accidental. There is no thought of punishing the boy, he added. The court just wants a new home for him.

"He comes from a distrubed family," the judge said. The eldest of six children, little Teddy lived with his father and stepmother. His mother abandoned him when he was a baby and nearly four years of his life have been spent in foster homes.

Commented Judge Sapiro: "He's a rejected child. He seeks affection he isn't getting at home. The boy was never a disciplinary problem."

Russia Uses Superspeed Jet Airplane

Foreign Observers Impressed With Smart Display

MOSCOW, July 18 (AP)—Russia celebrated aviation day Sunday by showing off four new planes officially described as "superseded jet aircraft."

Foreign observers, high Soviet leaders and the general public watched hundreds of fighters and bombers streak across the sky in an impressive display of Soviet air might.

One foreign air attache said the new jets "seemed extraordinarily fast."

Prime Minister Stalin, who appeared in good health and spirits, watched from the club house veranda at Tushino airfield throughout the two-hour show. His son, Lt.-Gen. Vassily Stalin, commanded the military section of the demonstration.

The new jets, three single-engine and one two-engine type, whizzed past the reviewing stand at extremely low levels. The weather was excellent.

Tail-Less Glider

The Russians demonstrated a tail-less glider which did loops, turns and spirals as a crowd of almost 1,000,000 watched.

The audience also saw three familiar types of jet fighters, Jakovlev, Mikoyan and Lavochkin, breeze over the field singly and in formations of three, five and nine.

Rear Admiral Leslie C. Stevens, United States naval and air attache, said it was "a very interesting show."

"Especially noteworthy was the fact that it was restricted completely to modern aircraft. There were absolutely no obsolescent types.

"As usual, the formation and acrobatic flying was magnificent. Such performance comes only after great practice." Stevens has seen two previous aviation day displays here.

Prices Slip Slowly In Dull Trading

TORONTO, July 18.—(CP).—Prices slipped slowly as trading slowed to a snail's pace here today. Base metals held against the downward trend following news of increases in the price of zinc. Industrials dipped on steadily widening fractional losses and gold producers weakened from early firmness. Western oils held firm.

A half cent increase in zinc by a United States custom smelter and Consolidated Mining and Smelting in Canada tended to tighten the base metal group. Waite Amulet added 40 cents at $9 in active dealings and United Keno Hill, Normetal, Pend Oreille and Falconbridge were moderate gainers.

Papers slipped slightly in an easier industrial list. Changes were held to fractions with the slightest bit of pressure tending to depress prices. Liquors ease and a few utilities were mixed.

Early gains in golds were cut into and in some cases wiped out as trading progressed. Kerr Addison slipped into the minus column and junior producers showed losses ranging to eight cents. Eldona was in demand early in the day following a report from the property.

Fries, piloting an outboard motor boat, was thrown into 30 feet of water in a collision with a power boat driven by C. Nicholson of Kitchener. Fries' body was recovered two hours after the accident.

Two passengers with Fries, Oliver Bisch, Bridgeport, and Ted Driscoll, 14, of Guelph, were also thrown clear of the boat. Bisch, after rescue, was taken to Guelph General Hospital. The boy was rescued as he clung to the wreckage of the boat about 150 yards off the Butler Hotel dock.

None of the six passengers in the Nicholson boat was injured.

The accused admitted in court being the driver of the car which struck and injured two deaf girls, and their companions, on a city street here on the night of July 14.

Say Panic Takes Lives Of Five

SOREL, Que., July 18 (CP) — The story of a St. Lawrence river party which ended in tragedy when five persons were drowned after leaping from a flaming motor launch is scheduled to be told here today at an inquest.

Lucien Cournoyer, 21-year-old survivor of the seven-member party, said Sunday that if all had remained in the 18-foot boat after a gasolene explosion flared from the engine cockpit, they would have been saved.

He blamed panic for the accident, near the little island of Ste. Anne de Sorel, nine miles from this south shore city and about 50 miles down river from Montreal.

The dead, all of Sorel, are Herve 27, and Marcel Cournoyer 17, brothers; Lucienne, 29, and Gisele Cournoyer, 20, sisters; Therese Cournoyer, 21, a cousin of the others.

Lucien Cournoyer, a brother of four of the dead, and Yvon Charbonneau, 24, a friend, helped each other through the inky blackness of the river to shore.

The accident happened about 11:30 p.m. Later, a resident of the Sorel group of islands put out the fire aboard the launch and towed it to shore. Ironically, it showed little evidence of the fire.

Party To Aid Children Raided At Club

SUTTON, July 13 (CP)—Five slot machines were seized at the exclusive Briars Golf and Country Club Saturday by two York County plainclothesmen who mingled with prominent guests at a children's charity fund party.

Paul Higgins of Toronto, president of the Club, said its members were holding a "millionaires night" to raise money for a children's party Aug. 13 and the money in the slot machines was to contribute toward the fund.

"No one was making a cent on the show," Mr. Higgins said. "The money was all going for the children's party. Only members participated."

He said the money in the slot machines was to go toward the party. "I understand that the officers were only doing their duty, but some one must have gone and got a warrant out."

The Briars Golf and Country Club holds a big party for children living in the township every year, he said, and children from the Georgina Island Indian reservation usually attend.

None of the club members was questioned by police and after the raid was over the "millionaires' Night' continued.

Only in the slot machines was real money used. As each member entered the club he paid a fee aond in return received play money to use in the other games.

More Telephone Workers...

AND HIGHER WAGES HAVE GREATLY INCREASED OUR COSTS

IN THE PAST five years the number of employees has doubled and our payroll has gone up from 20 million dollars to over 50 million dollars. Yet, up to now, despite rising costs on all sides there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 22 years ago.

To meet unprecedented post-war demand for more telephones, our expansion and improvement of service have of necessity taken place in a period of rapidly rising costs. Most businesses have offset their higher costs by higher prices for their products. We have not yet done so.

You can be sure we will keep on doing our best to provide you with adequate and constantly improving telephone service — and to provide it at the lowest rates consistent with a fair return to our investors and employees.

Three Convicted One Remanded In Police Court

COBOURG, July 18 —(ENS)— James McColl, 17-year-old transient, charged with setting fire to K. Haas' barn in Haldimand Township on July 5, was remanded for another week when he appeared in court on Friday.

Sentence of 10 days in jail was imposed on Joseph Cleary of Hastings, who pleaded guilty to a charge of drunken driving. Constable R. Smith of Port Hope said that as a result of a complaint he was on the lookout for a car driven by Cleary on the night of July 13. When he spotted it, he drew up alongside and signalled it to stop. Instead the driver swerved toward him, forcing the constable to apply his brakes. Cleary then waved and sped away.

The constable caught up to him again. Cleary again swerved his car, but this time vehicles sideswiped and both automobiles came to a stop. Provincial Constable W. Baluk of Cobourg said that he found one empty and one full liquor bottle in Cleary's car. The driver was intoxicated, police said.

Gets Four Months

Nelson Noakes, 65, of Trenton, pleaded guilty to a charge of indecent assault on a four-year-old Trenton girl and was sentenced to four months definite and one month indefinite in the reformatory. Defence counsel told the court that Noakes wanted to take some kind of treatment at Sunnybrook in order to correct his abnormal sex tendencies. Constable W. Westfall of Trenton testified that he caught Noakes bothering the little girl near the golf course at Trenton. Noakes has a previous record of sex offences.

Magistrate W. R. Philp of Peterborough brought in a judgment finding Charles Sequire, RR 1, Brighton, guilty on a charge of having liquor other than on his permit. He imposed a fine of $100 and $38 costs. His counsel, T. B. Horkins of Toronto, immediately filed notice of appeal. The charge of keeping for sale was dismissed.

Police found 248 bottles of beer and 35 bottles of liquor and wine when they raided Sequire's home on June 5.

Taft Upsets Supporters With Opposition

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, July 18.—(CP)).—Some of the most ardent admirers of Senator Robert A. Taft (Rep. O.) are in a highly upset state these days.

The reason? Taft's flat opposition to the North Atlantic treaty—and all the repercussions his anti-pact attitude may have between now and 1952.

Taft's backers—and there are many—think he is the man for president when Harry Truman's present term ends. Lots more spadework will have to be done during the netx three years but Taft undoubtedly rates high among candidates for the Republican party's presidential nomination.

But there may be a political boomerang in his statement that he thinks the Atlatnic past increases the danger of war. Some observers think the old "isolationist" label now may be slapped back on the 60-year-old Ohioan.

Out of Step

On many an issue he has been out of step with the majority, but none has ever justly questioned his motive. The heart of his Atlantic pact statement shows how unfair the "isolationist" tag would be. This is what he said:

"I would like to be able to vote for a policy that will commit us to war if Russia attacks western Europe. I would be glad to join in an agreement to occupy Germany indefinitely to guard against a third attack from that quarter.

"I cannot vote for a treaty which, in my opinion, will do far more to bring about a third world war than it will ever maintain the peace of the world."

He explained that he thinks the arms-for-Europe program slated to follow the pact will make it a military alliance—and military alliances, he said, have always led to war.

See First Sign Of Strike Break

CANBERRA, July 18 (Reuters) —First signs of a break in the three-week Australian coal strike came today with the return to work of miners at Collie, Western Australia's chief coal mine.

In New South Wales, members of the Australian railroads union rejected an order of the Federal Council not to handle coal already mined.

Several mines were working in Queensland.

In Melbourne, the Australian Council of Trade Unions ruled that the "black" ban on the 7,000 ton British-manned collier Haligonian Duke, with nearly 7,000 tons of coal aboard, had been improperly imposed by the Australian Seamen's Union.

Because of the ban the Haligonian Duke has been idle in port for nearly five months, and last week the executive council proclaimed a limited state of emergency so that volunteers could unload her.

But it was stated today that the government would stay its hand until the unions which have observed the ban had an opportunity to obey the ruling of the Council of Trade Unions.

Cripps Taking Rest Cure In Switzerland

LONDON, July 18—(Reuters)— Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, will go to Switzerland to undergo treatment for a digestive ailment as soon as the current Commonwealth financial talks now going on are completed, it was announced today.

The official announcement said Sir Stafford would enter a Swiss nursing home for the ailment which recently has become more acute. Treatment is expected to take about six weeks, but Sir Stafford probably will be able to attend the important dollar-sterling talks due to take place in Washington next September.

Prime Minister Attlee is to make a full statement about Sir Stafford's health in the House of Commons Monday.

Attlee will probably then outline arrangements for filling Sir Stafford's place during his absence and for coping with the immense volume of work that is falling on the Treasury because of the dollar negotiations.

One possibility is that Attlee will himself take responsibility for some of this work.

It was understood on the highest authority that the official statement meant precisely what it said, and was not concealing any more serious development in the chancellor's health.

The Commonwealth finance ministers' talks may end Monday, and in that case Sir Stafford should be able to leave for Switzerland by the middle of the week.

Sir Stafford, 60, is a vegeterian. He took to his vegeterian diet on a doctor's recommendation. Once a heavy smoker, he gave it up this year on medical advice.

An Age Of Depravity?

Modern adults may be mad. Their amusements, the crazy speed at which they live, their nationalisms, their wars, and their devilish inventions point to a universal madness. A perversion of human nature and a vast depravity of action and spirit seems to permeate the modern adult world. Of it the atom bomb seems to be the symbol. But the young in the supposed innocence of childhood—surely they are not infected? The horrible story of the molestation of the tiny Ottawa girl last week, and at the week's end, the stripping and beating of a five-year-old Toronto girl by two boys are indications that the young are as mad as the adults. Since their scope is more limited, their depravity is expressed in more vicious and personal ways than used by adults who make wars. Is it a matters of the sins of the fathers being visited upon the children?

* * *

These are isolated but nevertheless shocking instances. Is society diseased that even its children of eight are warped? Is it so sadistic, ruthless and crazy that even its young must be sadists, brutes and idiots? These manifestations by the young of the adult ethos in which they are being reared must be stopped. If there is no cure there must be palliatives. What these palliatives may be the experts in child psychology should be able to say. Should the children be kept away from the horror movies? Should comic books be banned? Should the radio air waves be cleansed of their blood-chilling noises and stories? Should there be sterner discipline in the homes and schools? These are the questions which we may expect from the supposed experts.

* * *

It is a remarkable fact that the seeming increase in child delinquency and depravity has coincided with the development of the science of child psychology, and that as more child psychologists and social workers make their appearance, so there are more children who run off the tracks. Perhaps we should not depend too much on the expert sociologists and psychologists, but as ordinary citizens and legislators, take the matter into our own hands. And at the same time, as adults, we should try to cure ourselves and give the children a saner world in which to live.

"There Are Strange Things Done"

While it is freely granted that Robert W. Service was well supported by fact when he wrote that "There are strange things done in the midnight sun," he could have found equally strange things done in the sun that shineth over the roofs of governments. Weird happenings in government circles may be the exception in almost all nations, but when the lads in the bureaus really put their minds to it, they get amazing results. One of their recent products, in Washington, D.C., offers an outstanding example.

Over the years, we often publish reports of lawsuits of various kinds. Occasionally, one of these records that John Doe has sued Richard Roe for mismanagement of partnership occurs, we mildly deplore the necessity for suit and proptly forget about it. But if John were to bring suit against himself for mismanaging his affairs, we would perk up and ask questions about the wisdom of letting John run at large.

That, however, is exactly what is happending in Washington. The United States Government recently applied for permission to sue itself. It seems that the Government, as shipper, wanted to bring suit against itself, as railroad regulator (Interstate Commerce Commission) to force itself to pay itself a refund on certain wartime transactions. The U.S. Attorney-General appeared in court for the plaintiff, and for the defendant.

It seems that the matter is legally sound, since the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that the Government can go sue itself. To say the least, however, there appears to be something impractical and unbusinesslike about one department of a great corporation suing another department of the same corporation. But, by the repeated admission of its own commentators, the United States is a nation of litigants, and this may be the supreme flowering of that national characteristic.

It isn't the only case of governmental split-personality on record, of course. There is also the little matter of the U.S. Government borrowing from itself (social security funds) and paying itself the going rate of interest. And while that particular form of borrowing and lending may seem a bit silly, we shouldn't like to wager very much that it has never been done in any other national capital.

Modernizing Quebec's Citadel

Hundreds of thousands of tourists look at the Citadel in Quebec every year, and are awed by its age and its historic associations. But as well as the old Citadel, there is a modern barrack inside the heavy walls, where the Royal 22nd Regiment has had its headquarters since 1920. This year the quarters of the Royal 22nd are being modernized, and it is expected that the result will be one of the most completely equipped and comfortable army barracks in the world.

One barrack for eighty men is finished and two more are under construction; a museum which will display the 2000-odd items of military interest which the Citadel possesses is also in the plans. These improvements will not alter the exterior appearance of the Citadel, however; it will remain as it was when it was completed in 1832.

Of course the oldest parts of the Citadel date from early in the eighteenth century; it was built by French engineers on the model which the great military architect, Vauban, made popular in Europe. But after the British took Quebec in 1759 the fortifications were extended and improved, and in 1820 a complete overhaul was given to the fort, which took twelve years to complete. This work was done under orders from the Duke of Wellington.

Inside the Citadel is a commodious residence for the Governor General, and that is where he lives whenever he is in Quebec. The old fort joins the past with the present in a most interesting manner, and when the new quarters are completed the contrast will be sharper than ever.

The King's Health

Although the official bulletins regarding the King's health are reassuring, there are rumours and evidences that His Majesty is far from well. He appeared at the Trooping of the Colour in a carriage, although his father, even when advanced in years, always rode his horse; the King's physicians have been reluctant to let him go for a holiday in Scotland, for fear that the weather might be bad; if he were not in delicate health would the prospect of bad weather make much difference? And the news magazines—those busy collectors of backstairs gossip which is sometimes right—persist in referring to him as a sick man.

If this is true, we are sure that the sympathy of all his subjects will be with King George. He came to the throne under difficult circumstances; he bore a heavy burden during the whole length of the war; he has won the love and respect of his people by his devotion to duty, even when (as when he has to speak in public) it is obviously painful for him. It will be hard luck indeed if, now that things are a little easier, he is burdened with prolonged illness. Everyone, we are sure, hopes that he will soon, and literally, be on his feet again.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Professional berry pickers are said to be scarce this season. A professional, of course, is any picker who eats less than half of what he picks.

A reporter in Medicine Hat claims that he has seen a strange animal with a head like an alligator, and a body covered with hair. The Ottawa Citizen thinks it was probably just his city editor.

A "believe it or not" cartoon makes reference to a bottle "thrown into the sea from Ontario, Canada". After due consideration, we have decided not to believe that one.

A newspaper filler says that "Texas contains 59 counties larger than the State of Rhode Island". An even more interesting piece of information, in our opinion, is that glorious Texas contains considerably less paved highway than the Province of Ontario.

An Almanac For Paris

By ANDRE BEUCLER

PARIS'S store of magic formulas, of mysterious echoes, of silent poetry, has just been enriched by a new expression: 2,000 years. A further decoration will soon be pinned on her breast by the very genius of her long life: 2,000 years. We used to speak of the power of Paris and of the enchantment, the primacy, the magic of Paris. Now we shall speak of the two thousandth anniversary of the founding of Paris.

The Parisian who has the most fertile imagination and the greatest sensitivity will hear this delightful secret whispered as it is wafted through the streets of his beloved city. In the Place Saint-Michel, in the Rue Coquilliere, on the quai aux Fleurs, in the Avenue des Champs-Elysees, in the square of the Palais-Royal or in the Boulevard des Capucines he will say, "Paris is two thousand years old." And when, while strolling idly, or following the road which he takes every day to go from his home to his workshop or office, this same Parisian looks up at some sign-board or some roof, when he sees that this bridge by which he crosses the Seine, this street which he takes, these dormer windows, these balustrades, these arches, these shops and these squares all spring from the same foundation and all share in the same anniversary, he will invent words and phrases and songs, to perpetuate the idea, inaccurate, doubtless if one wishes to be precise, but true in its splendour and its signification: Paris is two thousand years old.

* * *

WHAT does it matter if one is half an hour or three weeks out, the fact remains visible, exciting, accomplished: Paris is two thousand years old. Two thousand years of "Purely mental mobility" as Valery said when treating that vast subject, the capital in his "Regard sur le Monde actuel" (View of the present world). Two thousand years of application, of great conceptions and of petty labours, two thousand years of almost marine climate which produces such lovely delicately-coloured skies, two thousand years of image-makers, of song-writers, of rioters, of well-dressed women and of architects, of painters and vagabonds, two thousand years of kings and of the people. Valery was right in saying purely mental mobility, Paris was first imagined, and filled with inspiration. Paris gives birth to the beings which create it. But one must also remember what Ramuz said of it; Paris has been uplifted as it were, so that it shall be seen not only by the whole of France, but by the whole world.

* * *

THIS anniversary will be celebrated throughout the year 1950, in high places and in popular fashion. Here there will be high festivals, there exhibitions; a high commissioner, charged with watching over the facets of this diamond year, will be appointed as soon as possible. Programmes are being studied. In the rue Saint-Honore, around the Madeleine, in the Avenue Matignon, the Faubourg Saint-Antoine and rue de Paradis in the municipal buildings, as at the limners' there is not a single place in the town where the past and present do not meet and mingle, not a workroom where this wonderful cake with two thousand candles is not thought of.

THE first celebration of this glorious anniversary and by no means the least, for it will last a year, or exactly 365 days, and will be seen on tables and in shop-windows, in libraries and collections, like a living thing, will be presented in the form of an almanac. An almanac etc. in the finest tradition of that of the bonhomme Richard (goodman Richard) or of the Messager boiteux de Strasbourg (the Lame Messenger of Strasbourg.) A plain real calendar with the present-day indications and divisions. One will even find in it a little space to note one's appointments.

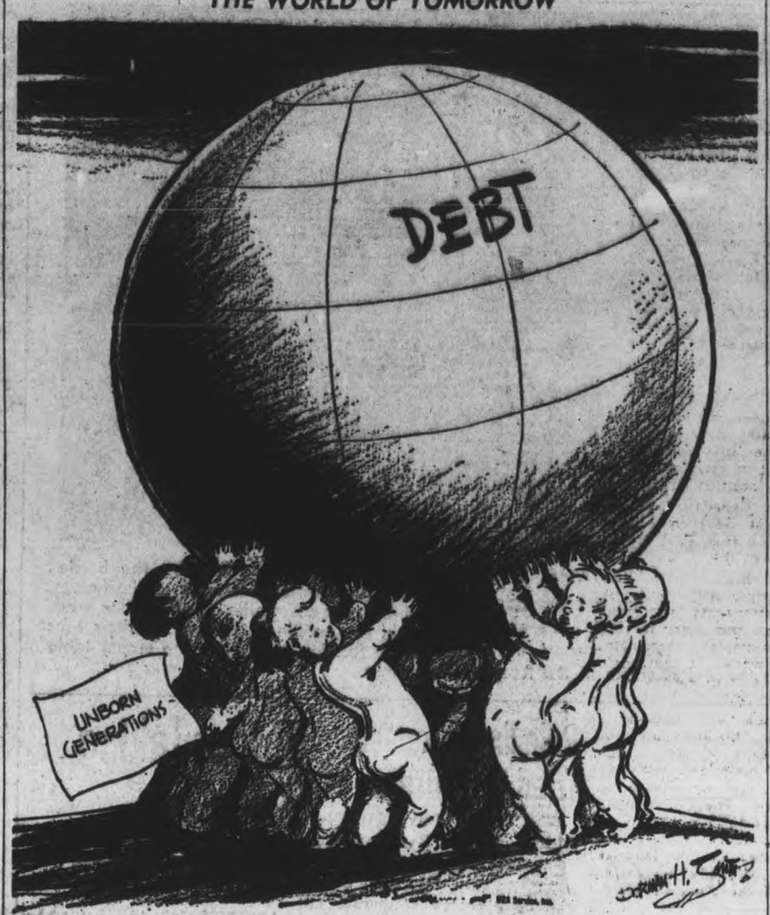
But its great originality lies in the fact that the calendar of events was written up by Colette. Sunday, January 1st 1950, Monday January 2nd 1950 and so on until Sunday December 31st. For this exceptional year begins and ends with a Sunday. It is placed beneath the sign of the Lord and will be holy. It needed an almanac as it would have done in the good old days of superstitions, of astrology and of the muses. To give it its full weight, its spice and its homely aspect. Colette has composed three hundred and sixty-five phrases, a new novel, that of the days to come.

* * *

WHO will dare not to fall in with the advice of wisdom and poetry, with the glimpses into the heart and the world which the author of Claudine and Mitsou will give us in this book? And how could one better choose one's daily pen? Writers, painters, artists and Parisians have gathered round Colette to say what they think of their ancient town which is two thousand years old, what they think of its treasures, is appearance, its effect, of what have been so aptly called its "doigts de fee" (its fairy touch,) and of its great maternal murmuring: Raoul Dufy, Duneyer de Segonac, Marie Laurencin, Brianchon, Andre Maurois, Pierre Benoit, Denise Bourdet, Daragnes, Pierre Martin, Gerard d'Houville, Alexandre Arnoux, Maurice Chevalier, Jean Effel, Galanis, Gus Bofa, Jean-Louis Vaudoyer, Edmec de la Rochefoucauld, Dignimont, Claude-Roger Marx, Thevenet, Heron de Villefosse, Jean Cocteau, Yves Gandon, Germaine Beaumont. ....There would never have been enough room to welcome all the citizens of Paris who would have liked to say a few words in this festival of remembrance.

This fine album, which is at present being made, will appear in the autumn, presented by the Cercle d'Echanges Artistiques Internationaux (International Circle of Artistic Exchange,) the president of whose Comite d'Honneur (Honorary Committee) is M. le Professeur Pasteur Vallery-Radot, and of the committee of direction, M. Jean-Jacques Guerlain, significant and wondrous patronage. It is under this form that Paris proposed to wish a Happy New Year to the younger capitals and to mark her anniversary with a little souvenir containing news and pictures.

THE WORLD OF TOMORROW



Mounties And Tourists

PORT ARTHUR NEWS-CHRONICLE

THE News-Chronicle met up this week with a party of early season tourists from one of the south middle states. The party consisted of family, father, mother and two boys of junior school age. They had with them, among other things, a tourist advertising folder on the front cover of which was a picture of a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in scarlet tunic and mounted on a horse, one of those attractive pictures so well known in this country and across the line as well.

The parents pointed to the picture and explained that, having originally intended to drive no farther north than Minnesota, they had been induced to come to Canada on the prospect of seeing one or more members of the famous police. "The boys were just crazy to see a Mounted Policeman and they have been bitterly disappointed that they have not been able to do so", said the mother. The party voted the trip a failure because there was apparently no chance of seeing what was pictured on the front cover of the advertising folder.

How many other visitors to Canada are similarly disappointed it would be impossible to estimate. Probably, however, the number is large. Canada does quite a lot of advertising for tourists in the United States. Many of the advertisements, especially in the magazines, are nicely dressed up with pictures of the Mounties and reference is frequently made to them as the representatives of British institutions, law and order. But in how many cities are the visitors able to see them as they have been led to expect from the advertisements? The answer is not many. It is only occasionally one is to be seen in Port Arthur or Fort William. In many other places they are not to be seen at all.

No doubt there are those associated with the Royal Canadian Mounted who resent the suggestion that they should be put on display as a tourist attraction. Maybe they are right and justified in that. But the fact is they are so used. They are used when pictured in the national advertising and they are so used in the City of Ottawa and some other centres.

The Red Coated Mounties are on constant duty around the Parliament Buildings in the Capital and it is well known that they are posted to some extent for tourist purposes. They talk with tourists and they pose with them. Many a young girl visitor from the United States has found her greatest thrill in being photographed in company with a Mountie, taking the picture home for display among her friends and acquaintances.

If the practice is good at Ottawa it should be good in other cities. This newspaper is inclined to think that it is good practice because there is nothing in it that detracts from the dignity of the force. There is much in it to impress visitors with the supremacy of the law and the administration of justice in Canada.

Certainly it is not right to create, by advertising and otherwise, an expectation on the part of visitors that they will see men of the Royal Mounted if they visit Canada, only to be disappointed when they do come.

The Biters Bitten

The London Economist in its comments upon the findings of the Royal Commission on the press in England has played an unkind trick on the persons mainly responsible for the Commission's appointment. These were the National Union of Journalists, and a handful of Socialist M.P.'s who were also professional journalists.

The Report contains various instances of distortion and untruth that were thoroughly proved. These were condemned, but, says the Economist, some of the most remarkable examples of inaccuracy exposed in the Report are not drawn from the newspapers at all but from the evidence of the socialist-journalist M.P.'s whose allegations led to the Commission's appointment.

"We called before us," says the Commission, "several of the journalists who spoke in favour of the (parliamentary) motion demanding the appointment of the Commission, but neither they nor the N.U.J. produced much positive evidence in support of their criticisms, and some of what was produced did not stand up to examination. The Memorandum submitted to us by the Union was not a survey of the press as a whole but rather an attack on the right-wing portion of it."

The Economist's conclusion is that the Report provided an impressive demonstration that the capitalist owners of the press have a much better sense of fairness and accuracy than the Socialist partisans among their employes.

One other section of the Report is worth quoting in view of the constant references in every free country to the presumed influences at work in newspaper offices. It says:

"The public can therefore dismiss from its mind any misgiving that the press of this country is mysteriously financed and controlled by hidden influences, and that it is open to the exercise of corrupt pressure from self-seeking outside sources."

Letter To The Editor

FABLE TO ILLUSTRATE

Sir: Kindly allow me a wee space in your valuable payer. I noticed a very amusing speech of a Mr. Murphy of Toronto on the 12th of July. It was in the Toronto Globe and Mail. He said he stood for freedom for all races and creeds. Then he said they didn't need Rome or want it either. That is so similar to the fable the Gnat and the Bull. The Bull represents Rome, the Gnat the Orange Order. When the Gnat excused himself for alighting on the Bull's horn. Bull replied, I didn't even know you were there.

Thank you. Yours truly,
ONE WHO KNOWS.

English As She Is

Contempt of court has just acquired a new meaning from what lawyers may call a new meaney. Judge Thomas F. Meaney of the United States District Court in Newark, N.J., discloses he has been collecting verbal gems out of the mouths of lawyers for six years. And here are a few for which he displays a judiciously judicial contempt:

"The war will not be over until it is finished." (That, as it turns out, was the statement of an optimist. But Judge Meaney attacks it on other and obvious grounds.)

"That in a kernel is the gist of what the case is concerning." (Order in the court!)

And then as a grand climax: "In these cases such as these, in so far as my sworn duty, I shall prosecute these cases to the last breath of my dying body which I am prosecuting only for the sake of justice and not for vengeance."

Such language invites justice with a vengeance. And reports say Judge Meaney feels he may have a case (murder) against lawyers who talk like that in court. So perhaps the day will come when a dangling participle will be followed, after due process, by a dangling lawyer.

But law is often built up from small beginnings. Probably the first step in Judge Meany's campaign should be to get a law passed against contempt of English

HIYA—BUD!

Canada Obliged To Act Soon To Straighten China Tangle

(CP Special Newsfeature)

OTTAWA, July 17 (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, is expected to return to Ottawa early this week to deal with some of the work which has accumulated since the federal election June 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew left the capital shortly after the election campaign which saw them cover more than 18,000 miles of Canadian territory. They chose an island in Georgian Bay as their holiday resort.

It is not known how long Mr. Drew will remain in the capital. He recently moved out of his Toronto home and his family will spend the summer in Guelph, pending selection of a home here.

Some political omservers are predicting that the leader's arrival here will be followed by some changes in the party's headquarters staff. R. A. (Dick) Bell, national director of the party, C. V. Charters, public relations director, and Geoff Hewelcke, editor of the party's monthly publication, "Public Opinion," are all reported as considering new positions.

However, some sources close to the party say they doubt if any extensive changes in the headquarters staff will be made. They say Mr. Drew is reluctant to see any of his helpers leave despite the outcome in the election in which Progressive Conservative representation in the Commons dropped from 69 to 41.

There is a feeling in some informed quarters in Ottawa that some diplomatic move will have to come in the fairly near future to clarify and re-establish Canada's official position in China.

At present, Canada recognizes the Nationalist Government but her ambassador, Hon. T. C. Davis, is in Nanking, the Communist-held capital.

Official diplomatic business with the Nationalists is carried on through the British at Nationalist capital at Canton. Mr. Davis, meanwhile, is cut off physically to a large extent from the outside world.

His one link with Ottawa is by telegraph. Blockade has shut off other means of communication. He and his five or six aides live quietly and unmolsted in their embassy. The Communists apparently treat them as private foreign individuals. There are no formal negotiations because neither side officially recognizes the status of the other.

Snowball Back Home After 500-Mile Trip

KITCHENER, July 18—(CP) — Snowball, a nonchalant and stout-hearted racing pigeon, is back home here after a 500-mile trip in which he evaded death by a tail feather.

Pride of Skee Wicks' pigeon loft, Snowball was sent on a trip to Decatur, Ill. A heavy rainstorm threw the birds off course and the first racers did not return to Kitchener until a day later. Snowball was missing.

Five days later a Brantford pigeon fancier telephoned Wicks. Apparently Snowball was hit by a charge of buckshot outside Brantford. A motorist found him walking down the highway with a damaged wing and took him to a Brantford fire hall. Later the firemen gave him to the man who telephoned Wicks.

Indian Inventor Introduces New Spinner

By FORBES RHUDE

Canadian Press Business Editor

Did your brother or grandmother use a spinning wheel? Or, perchance, if you are a woman, do you?

If so, here's an interesting item from India. Someone there has invented a machine which does the work of 18 spinning wheels and still can be used down on the farm.

The current issue of India Commercial News tells us about it, and says it is expected to revolutionize the spinning industry in India. It is the work of an Indian inventor, and, says the News, can be used in both cottage and big industries. It also does knotting and can be worked by hand, foot, or by means of bullocks.

If the invention is all that is claimed for it, it is, of course, an important development for India. For, while that country is embarking on some very large agricultural products, its priary aim is to improve the lot of its millions of small cultivators.

Basic Business

Spinning and knitting there is not just a hobby or a minor chore, but one of the basic pursuits of its people, as witness the emphasis which Mohandas Gandhi always place on it.

Incidentally, the current Commercial News, issued by the India government trade commissioner in Ottawa, points up the great pace which India is taking in foreign trade, and the growth of her trade with Canada.

In April India bought from Canada goods worth $8,676,000, or four times what she bought last April; and she sold here goods worth $2,588,000, or nearly five times what she sold here the preceding April.

Her total exports in the last per cent. to $1,248,000,000; and two years have increased by 39 her imports by 80 per cent. to $1,554,000,000.

Say Sidney In Midst Of Worst Crime Wave

SYDNEY, Australia, July 18—(CP)—Sydney now is in the midst of its worst crime wave since the end of the war, city police officers said Sunday.

Police attributed the increase in crime to the fact that more than 500,000 persons are jobless as a result of the strike of Australian coal miners.

Police said that many men who deserted a life of crime for steady jobs during a post-war anti-crime drive now are becoming criminals again. They are aided by the lighting restrictions and the fact that 200 of the picked police force of this city of 1,500,000 population now are in the coalfields to guard against violence are helping them.

WINS DOW AWARD

MAYOR "EDDIE" SARGENT of Owen Sound, Ont. smashes his way into burning house

Realizing that his neighbour was trapped in the blazing house, Mayor Sargent, 33, climbed onto a porch roof and smashed a window with his fist. The blast of heat was so terrific that he was knocked to the ground. Entering the back door he saw his neighbour on the floor. He tried to drag him out but twice the heat drove him back. On his third try he was successful in getting the man out.

We salute the courage of Mayor Sargent, of Owen Sound, through the presentation of The Dow Award.

1. An all-round athlete, Mayor Sargent was determined to rescue his trapped neighbour. Climbing to the porch roof, he smashed the window with his fist.

2. The blast from the broken window was so terrific that it knocked the young Mayor off the porch roof. Picking himself up, he decided to try the back entrance

3. After being driven back twice by the intense heat and smoke, the courageous Mayor finally managed to drag the victim from the burning house.

WHY You Should Own Your Home in Parkdale

Home ownership is the best investment for the average person. At the end of a given period of time, he has a clear title to a piece of property which will always have a market value. All authorities agree that the trend in residential construction costs will be upward. It will pay to buy now.

The table to the right shows what rent amounts to in ten, fifteen and twenty years with 6% interest, compounded annually, and gives an idea of the value of the house one can pay for by applying the rent-paying habit to the task of purchasing a home.

Petes Pound Out COBL Win Against Bata Shoemen, 8-5

Beating Batawa Shoemen 8-5 here Saturday, the Petes moved up to within half a game of the COBL leading Oshawa Merchants, dropping Batawa further into the cellar. A fair-sized crowd saw the homesters comb the offerings of Max Smith for 20 safeties, though they left a bunch stranded, while Gunner Ed Whitehill threw five-hit ball for the Petes. Two double-plays by Batawa pulled them out of holes and kept them pretty well in the race all through.

Pat Wilson led the local attack with a double and four singles in five appearances, while Joe Lowrey got four for five. Joe Stewart was good for three in five trips, Al Menzies hitting two in four—though he retired in the sixth with a sprained ankle—and Bob Crowe got two for five. Fred Garvey hit a triple. None of the losers got more than one safe blow. A liner grab by Stewart was a fielding feature.

Early Lead

The Petes rolled up a four-run lead in the first frame on Garvey's triple and singles by Lowrey, Menzies, Stewart and Wilson, with two errors. They added two in the fifth on hits by Crowe, Stewart and Wilson, with a steal and an out. Two more tallied next son, Estlick, Whitehill and Lowheat on hits by Wilson, Edwardrey. The losers got three in the fourth on two walks, Bridgeman's hit, an out and an error. Spencer singled in the eighth, moved up on Smith's hit, took third on a miscue and counted on a wild pitch. Their last came in the ninth when Rankin strolled, tore to third on Solmes' single to right and raced in on an out. Knotty Lee, Vern Dawson and Lloyd Grose conducted the home club's prize draw at the end of the seventh inning.

O'Hallorans Get Soccer Win Against Petes

An excellent brand of soccer was played Saturday afternoon between O'Halloran's and Petes in a league game with the former gaining a 3-2 verdict. Best for the losers were T. Foster, E. Lane, N. Lane and J. Hennessey; for the winners Smart, Dunn and Dyer.

Within a minute, Newt Downer blazed a way through the full backs to find the far corner of the upright. The same performance was enacted at the other end except that Cribbis fell back in time to kick clear. Exchanges continued even until a concentrated attack by the Petes was repulsed by O'Hallorans when T. Foster in front of goal kicked back the ball to the custodian who had to conceded a corner kick. Duffus was entrusted with a spot kick that whizzed past the upright. Just before the interval, Eddie Lane dribbled his way in to climax a perfect goal.

With 10 Men

On resuming, Petes continued to play with 10 men and opened up a terriffic barrage on goal where Hutchinson held them. Smart repulsed the pressure with a timely pass up the centre where Dunn connected with a smashing drive that bulged the rigging. Encouraged by their success O'Halloran's went right back to get the equalizer with a shot that found the net. After half an hour of play O'Halloran's took the lead on a Dyer-Duffus-H. Foster combination that the latter registered with a smart effort to make it 3-2. Don Downer at centre-forward for the Petes made his presence known with his energetic drives towards goal. Towards the finish a succession of flag kicks went abegging by the Petes in their anxiety to get the even count.

Petes—J. Hennessey, goal; T. Foster and W. Cribbis, full backs; H. Payne, Alf Downer and N. Lane half backs; L. Payne, Don Downer, N. Downer, G. Downer and E. Lane forwards.

O'Hallorans — J. Hutchinson, goal; C. B. Smart and Art Downer, full backs; H. Murduff, T. Scott and H. Latham, half backs; H. Foster, F. Dyer, C. H. Duffus, A. Dunn and M. Buchan, forwards. Sub—J. Byers.

Referee—J. Buchan. Linesmen, T. Foster and D. Duncan.

Canadians Place Well At Bisley

BISLEY CAMP, Surrey, England, July 18 (CP)—Canada's official team of 18 riflemen quit Bisley's famed ranges with a nice reputation for consistent straight shooting at the 80th annual Commonwealth rifle shoot, even if they failed to place close to the top in the King's Prize event.

Although many coveted awards eluded the Canadians during the meet which ended Saturday, there was hardly a senior event in which one or more of the Canadian sharp-shooters were not placed well up.

Of the 17 primary events in which the Dominion competed, three went to Canada. All were won by Officer Cadet Gilmour, of Toronto, in nerve-testing shoot-offs. These were the Southern Railway, the Donegall Qualifier and the Stock Exchange.

year-old Toronto civi engineer,

The imperturbable Boa, a 24-year-old Toronto civil engineer, was in the prize ists more than 40 times. His father, Lieut. James (Jim) Boa, of Toronto, a veteran of 50 years at the ranges, was next with more than 30 prizes.

Maj. William Strachan, of Ottawa; Capt. Richard Hampton, of Ottawa; WO. Jacob Young, of Victoria; Cpl. Geoffrey Coleman, of Toronto, and S. Sgt. Martin Ostergaard, of Calgary, also figured prominently in honorable mentions.

Hastings Victors

HASTINGS, July 18 (ENS) — Hastings defeated Cobourg in a junior ball game behind steady hurling by Don West, 17-6. It was an exhibition tussle here. Charles started on the Cobourg mound and was nicked for 15 runs before Flesch took over in the fifth. Teams:

Cobourg — Campbell, Brown, Medhurst, Fisher, Jones, Mickle, Wilcox, Flesch, Charles.

Hastings — Fennell, Fife, Beavis, West, Richardson, Thomas, Kelly, Oliver, Brown.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Thousands of citizens of this borough are quite busy vacationing right now, and we're going to join 'em this coming week-end. Yes, sir—and you, lady —we're hitting the highway Saturday for a secluded spot and snatch a good rest. We don't rate it, eh? A soft job we have, you think? Give a listen. Last week we box-scored nine ball games, wrote up six girls' games, covered two senior lacrosse jousts and a big lawn bowling tourney. Did the daily column, of course, and sundry stories on minor lacrosse, ball and so forth. Just worked late six nights. And it's still mid-summer. Yeah, we're looking forward to that two-week break.

Petes beat Batawa 8-5 in a COBL contest in Riverside on Saturday afternoon. They were hit-happy and pounded Max Smith for no less than 20 safe blows, including Fred Garvey's triple and Pat Wilson's double, Pat hitting five for five, as Joe Lowrey clicked for four in five and Joe Stewart three for five. Yet the locals could only fashion eight runs, as a flock were left stranded and Batawa had two twin-ply killings. The Shoemen were held to five blows by Gunner Whitehill, but bunched a few hits, and used a few walks and a wild pitch to make it fairly close.

Ed Gets Discouraged

Just a fair crowd and Manager Eddie Murphy is getting discouraged and talking of this as his last season. This hot summer finds a lot of fans reluctant to sit in uncovered bleachers for afternoon tilts. Things should improve when it turns a bit cooler, but the real answer for next year is floodlights. Glad to see Knotty Lee on hand for the game, he, Vern Dawson and Lloyd Grose conducting the prize draw. Al Menzies twisted an ankle in the sixth and had to retire. Joe Stewart came up with one fine catch at third, Howie Dalton being out of town. Petes go to Oshawa Wednesday and Saturday.

Couple of men's softball scraps at the Bowl Saturday eve before a pretty good gallery. Uniteds yanked out a 4-2 verdict o'er Knights to take a tighter grip on top spot ahead of Cosmos. Guilfolye and Wilson both pitched well and 'twas anyone's game till the final out. Second struggle saw the Outlaws beat Jewellers 13-9 and this one was strictly from Brooklyn. Some screwy base-running, a mess of errors on each side, all kinds of dinky blows going for extra-base bingles, and everything. We nearly gypped Jewellers a run in the seventh trying to keep up with the odd goings-on, though it would have turned up in the box score.

* * * * * *

Mighty Big Of Stew

We've heard of generous guys before but Manager Stew Richardson of Outlaws takes the iced cake. His team is still much in the race for city playoffs, being but two games back of third-place Knights—with the schedule going two weeks yet—and he grants releases to five players. So they could go out with other teams. Good players like Anderson, Hunter, Foster, Eakins and Castle. Knights and Uniteds strengthened by signing 'em ere the deadline. Loop officials are thinking of putting in a rule for next year whereby there'll be no transfers after a certain date, maybe June 15, or July 1. A triple-header Tuesday but we haven't heard which teams as yet.

Senior lacrossers are off tonight for Hamilton, and they entertain St. Kitts here Friday. Though the Petes lost 16-7 in Brampton on Saturday, the Creighton crew are still in sixth place as Mimico kept Weston in the cellar with a 12-7 shove. Meantime, St. Kitts trounced Owen Sound 15-7, so now Brampton are in front, with Mimico and Owen tied for the second slot. Goalie Ralph Speck saw a lot of hot rubber up Brampton way as the husky homers kept up a sizzling attack from the start. Game was rough in spots, and a couple of fist fights enlivened things. Teatero got two goals for the visitors, with Em Creighton, Foote, Dootch Vitarelli, McNulty and Thorpe scoring singles.

Mongraw replaced Killingbeck on the losers' slab in the third, while Gordon went the distance for Outlaws, fanning a dozen, but being nicked for 13 hits. None of the heavers got good support, though Jewelers pulled one double play, and Pagett and Sanderson had nice catches. Two men were arrested for drunkenness in the late afternoon but there were no evening arrests.

Gilbert Jones, Cavan and John Cahill, RR 2, Peterborough, were the two afternoon drunks. In city police court today they were remanded by James Fleming, JP, until Monday.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Tonight: Schedule games.

Tuesday, 2.00 p.m.: Ladies' dcubles; draw from the board.

Tuesday evening: Schedule games.

Thursday evening: Continuation of men's singles competition.

Thursday evenin: Ladies' cing tournament; draw from the board 7.30 o'clock.

We have heard nothing about the Globe and Mail doubles competition from either the ladies or the men's section.

Down at Cobourg on Friday, Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Dawe came in for high-two wins. It was the Cobourg ladies' annual trebles tournament.

The winning skips in the Family Hour tournament on Saturday night were: R. Dyer, J. Wood and A. Maunder.

Since C. Renaud and his partner scored a possible eight and lost Wednesday, there have been two more scored for the seconds.

On Friday night J. Wood's rink scored the big eight and against W. Perks on Saturday night Geo. Saulby's quartette did the same thing against J. Wood's. Three possible scores in less than a week is really something remarkable. Who'll be the next?

Don't forget that the Belkiste Trophy will be played for on July 28-29.

The entries for the Black Memorial mixed doubles are coming in. Don't be left out.

Today's thought: Too often there is a big gap between advice and help.

Minor Lacrosse

An open workout for Juvenile all-stars will be held Tuesday, 7:00 p.m. at Miller Bowl. Lou Vitarelli will handle the juvenile team this year and will be on hand Tuesday night to supervise the workout.

The following players are asked to attend along with any others who wish to try out for the team:

Batley, Collins, Belsey, O'Donnell, Kimball, Allen, Howren, McConnachie, Barker, Crough, Telford, B. Robinson, Heffernan, Mullens, G. Burns, Hickson, Ferguson, Fitzgerald, Dorris, Nicholls, G. Robinson, MacIlmoyle, Burns, Alberico, Basciano, Eason, Foster.

United Take Neat One Over Knights

Uniteds took a firmer grip on first place in the City Softball League at the Bowl on Saturday night by puling out a 4-2 win over Knights, who are still in third spot. A fair-sized crowd saw a tight tussle with Uniteds bunching three of their five hits with a walk to tally three runs in the fifth after getting one in the second. Knights counted a pair in the second but couldn't dent Dave Wilson's delivery effectively after that. Ken Guilfoyle was also effective but for one frame. Anderson had three hits for Knights, Conlin a triple and double, and Hunter two in four. None of the winners got more than one safety. Wade and Spencer had smart catches in the outfield.

Jimmy Courtwright, Ottawa javelin thrower, and Johnny Loaring, Windsor, Ont., sprinter, carried the Canadian colors in the Pan-American games at Dallas, Texas, 12 years ago today and placed Canada a distant second in the final score with six points. The United States finished with the high count of 123 and Courtwright won the only first place award not taken by US athletes.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Announcement of the signing of two more American imports came from Edmonton Sunday night from an official of the Edmonton Eskimos football club who also said that one eastern gridiron star may try to leave the club although he also is under contract.

Joe Schoctor, secretary of the Western Inter-provincial Football Union Club, said that Bill Radovich, a guard, and Andy Marefos both formerly of Los Angeles Dons, have signed Eskimo contracts and expect to arrive here for fall training Aug. 1.

The club secretary said he was aware of reports that former Hamilton Tiger Ralph Bartolini, a halfback, may try to leave the Edmonton Club. He signed with Eskimos about four months ago.

Schoctor said he did not know what would be done if Bartolini does leave. Is he skips his contract, Eskimos may issue an injunction refusing him permission to play elsewhere.

At Montreal, coach Lew Hayman of Montreal Alouettes of the football big four said Sunday he had received a telegram from Chuck Anderson, star lineman last year with the Dominion champion Calgary Stampeders, seeking a berth on the 1949 Alouette lineup.

The telegram came from Santa Barbara, Calif.

The veteran Negro lineman, rated one of the best snapbacks in the west last season, said he had an argument with coach Les Lear of the Stampeders and is not allowed to play in the Western Conference because of Lear's alleged refusal to let him report to another club in that circuit.

It will be impossible to have an Ontario team ready for the Mann Cup Dominion Play-offs beginning in Vancouver Sept. 18, the Ontario Lecrosse Association emergency committee discovered at a meeting in Toronto Sunday.

Officials said that because of the short notice given by the Canadian Lacrosse Association and the length of the OLA schedule, the necessary adjustments could not be made satisfactorily. The earliest date by which an Ontario senior representative could be declared would be Sept. 25.

Heavy, incessant rains Sunday washed out the final day of play in the $16,500 Dapper Dan golf tournament at Alcoma Country Club in Pittsburg. The tournament will be completed today. Slammin' Sammy Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., pro., was almost certain to bag the $2,600 first prize. His five-stroke lead at 203 for the 54 holes appeared insurmountable. His nearest rival, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, had a two-day total of 208.

At New York, Conniver, champion race mare of last season, finally returned to her 1948 form Saturday to defeat Palestinian by the margin of a pouting lower lip in the Butler Handicap at Jamaica. The race, with a gross value of $58,400, was worth $40,300 to Conniver's owner, Harry Montagne, retired New York wine merchant.

A surprisingly-strong Quebec team trounced Ontario by seven wickets in a two-inning interprovincial cricket game at Toronto Saturday and Sunday. The Quebecers declared with a 223 total with only three wicketh down. Ontario, all out for 98 in the first inning, could add only 119, all out, in the second. Ontario will play in the Canadian championships at Calgary and Edmonton starting next Saturday.

Trainer R. McGowan and groom George Coady have been suspended pending a ruling by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association, it was announced Saturday by the stewards of Fort Erie race track.

The suspensions followed a positive saliva test on Cheek, winner of the third race here Thursday. Cheek, owned by E. Marshman, has been denied the right to start until the ICRA has dealt with the case.

Meanwhile at Montreal, the "unsatisfactory performance" of Heath Fire in the fourth race at Blue Bonnets Saturday resulted in the indefinite suspension of owner R. Perrault, trainer J Johnston and Jockey A. Bavington.

At Chicago, a brown streak named Wisconsin Boy sizzled to a suprising 7½ length victory Saturday in the $74,975 Arlington Futurity at Arlington Park. The two-year-old son of the famed Speedster, Teddy's Comet startled a crowd of 27,470 fans with a $38 for $2 in the mutuel payoff.

Red Sox Divide Twin Bill With Cleveland Indians

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox fail to overtake New York Yankees in the American League struggle, it will not be the fault of Vern Stephens.

The stocky little shortstop is enjoying his greatest year at the plate. Barring injury or a sudden slump he should lead his circuit in the two power departments—home runs and runs batted in. He currently leads in both departments with 23 four-baggers and 93 runs batted in.

He stepped out well in front Sunday when he lashed out two homers and drove in all Boston's runs as the Red Sox divided a doubleheader with Indians in Cleveland before a crowd of 73,-599.

With first baseman Mickey Vernon knocking in three runs with a double and single, the tribe won the opener, 4-2. Stephens batted in both Boston runs with a home run and single.

The Bosox came back to win the nightcap 2-1 as young Chuck Stobbs outpitched veteran Al Benton. Again Stephens fashioned both Boston runs with a single and a homer.

No Gains Recorded

The split prevented the two clubs from making any gain on the pace-setting Yankees, but the Red Sox were able to vault past Philadelphia into third place. The Athletics dropped into fourth place, losing both ends of a doubleheader to the Tigers in Detroit 8-0 and 5-4.

The Yankees retained their 5½ game margin over the Indians by splitting a twin bill with the White Sox in Chicago. Joe DiMagio's sixth homer in the seventh inning gave the Yankees the opener 2-1 and Vic Raschi his 14th triumph against only two losses. The White Sox pounded Fred Sanford and Frank Shea for 14 hits to earn a 7-3 triumph in the nightcap.

Mow Down A's

Paul Campbell, little used first baseman, shared the hero's role with southpaw Ted Gray as the Tigers mowed down the A's twice to climb within 1½ games of the Mackmen. Campbell slammed a home run with the bases full and added two singles as Grey blanked the A's, 8-0 in the opener on three hits. The Tiger first baseman then won the second game with an 11th inning single that drove in the winning run in Detroit's second game 5- 4 triumph.

Virgil Trucks, in relief, gained his 11th victory. Bobby Shantz joined Joe Coleman in the losing side for the A's.

St. Louis Browns swept their first doubleheader of the season taking two from Washington Senators 15-8 and 7-4. Rookie outfielder Roy Sievers sparked the Brownie attack with five hits in seven times at bat.

Washington pitchers gave up a total of 20 bases on balls in the two games and Montreal's Paul Calvert, the loser in the nightcap, was charged with three wild pitches.

Brooklyn retained its 1½ game lead over runner-up St. Louis, edging out the Chicago Cubs 4-3 while the Cardinals were thrashing the Giants in New York 10-1. The third-place Boston Braves lost ground splitting a twin bill with Cincinnati Reds, while Pittsburgh moved closer to the first division, nosing out fourth-place Philadelphia 2-1. The Braves won the opener 5-4 but the Reds came back to win the nightcap 3-2.

Luis Olmo broke up the Cub-Dodger battle with a ninth-inning homer. The Dodgers, trailing 3-0, squared matters in the eighth in a three-run rally. Johnny Schmitz was the loser, and Jack Banta, in relief, the winner.

Red Munger had an easy time winning his seventh game as his Cardinal teammates Red Schoendienst and Eddie Kazak blasted home runs.

Cliff Chambers bested Russ Meyer in a hurling duel as the Pirates gained a five-inning triumph over the Phils. Chambers won his own game with a run-scoring triple. Rain washed out the rest of the contest as well as the scheduled second game.

By The Associated Press.

Old Doc Cramer still knows how to hit.

Cramer, who banged out 2,705 hits during his major league career is serving as player-coach of the International League's league-leading Buffalo Bisons and doing a bang-up job in both departments.

The 42-year-old outfielder is serving principally in pinch-hitting roles and has come through ofen in the clutch.

Sunday Cramer delivered a pinch-hit single that scored Ray Coleman from second base in the 13th inning with the run that gave the Bisons a 7-6 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs. Cramer has banged out 14 hits for the Bisons and driven home 14 runs.

The game, first of a doubleheader, twice was held up by rain. The second game was postponed. Saul Rogovin went all the way for Buffalo and gained his ninth victory.

Boosts Lead

The triumph jacked Buffalo's lead over Montreal Royals and Rochester Red Wings to six games. The Royals and Wings split a doubleheader, Rochester taking the first game 12-11 in 12 innings and the Royals the nightcap 9-0. The Wings are two percentage points back of the second-place Royals.

Russ Derry, who slammed his 23rd home run of the season with one on in the seventh, singled home Don Thompson with Rochester's winning run in the opener.

Pat McGlothin blanked the Wings on four hits in the second game.

Scheduled doubleheaders between Syracuse and Baltimore and Newark and Jersey City were rained out.

Have Pills, Gum To Prevent Dental Decay

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, July 18—(AP)—Now come pills and chewing gum against dental decay.

They are the latest in a variety of new dental products aimed at cutting down toothaches.

And some dental experts are worried that people are expecting too much. They feel there hasn't been time yet for really thorough tests of how effective the new things are.

Take a look at the line-up:

1. Ammoniated tooth powders and pastes. These are based on the idea that decay is caused by acids formed by the lactobacilli acidophilus bacteria, or L.A. bacteria for short They do reduce the number of L.A. bacteria. As for protection against actual decay, researchers who developed one formula said use of the amoniated powder reduced decay rates by 35 per cent on the average.

New Item

2. The pills and chewing gum with the same general ingredients have just come along. The pills are white wafers to be dissolved in the mouth after meals, like after dinner mints. They are said to help reduce the number of L.A. bacteria, and not to be harmful from swallowing the amonium

3. A toothpaste containing and urea.
chlorophyll, the green stuff that gives plants their color. University researchers report it was extremely effective in lowering the L.A. bacteria, even to eliminating them in most people after a time, and in preventing formation of acids.

4. Chemical roadblocks. Some dentists are testing a method based on the idea that decay is caused by bacteria invading tiny channels of living matter between the rods of tooth enamel. Two chemicals are applied to the teeth to form a barrier at the opening of these channels. Initial studies report up to 90 per cent reductions in decay. This treatment must be given by a dentist.

Seek Missing Bodies

PRUEM, Germany, July 18.—(AP).—Saddened villagers of Pruem burrowed today into the rubble of 76 homes in search of additional victims of Friday night's explosion in an underground bunker. German police said 10 bodies have been recovered and that at least two other persons are missing and believed buried in their smashed homes. The explosion, its cause unknown, came from 350 tons of stored dynamite.

Struck By Car

PORT CREDIT, Ont., July 18 (CP)—Mrs. John Darch, 74, of Bowmanville, was killed Sunday when struck by an automobile as she rushed from behind a bus near this suburban Toronto village. Police said the woman had just alighted from the bus and walked behind it into the path of the car.. The car was driven by Mrs. Madeline Bude, of St. Catharines, they added.

Aids German Officer

LONDON, July 18.—(CP). —Winston Churhchill Saturday contributed £25 ($100) to a legal defence fund for a former German field marshal, Fritz Erich Von-Mannstein. Von Mannstein's trial on war-crimes charges opens in Hamburg Aug. 9. Churchill was not available to give reasons why he contributed.

Dies In Collision

LONDON, Ont., July 18 (CP)—Murray, Lindsay, 26, of nearby Thorndale, was injured fatally Saturday night when police haid an auto he was driving was in collision with a car operated by Flt. Lt.. A. A. Harris, of Centralia Air Station. The crash occurred about 20 miles north of London.

Has Engine Trouble

LONDON, July 18 (AP)—A Pan American Airways stratocruiser plane, bound for New York with 42 persons aboard, developed engine trouble over the Irish Sea and returned to London airport early today. The plane, with one engine out, landed safely as ambulances and fire trucks stood by. It carried 33 passengers and a crew of 10.

Baby 2 Drowns

FORT FRANCES, Ont., July 18 (CP)—Sheldon Larson, 2½-year-old son of Russ Larson, publisher of the Fort Frances Times and Daily Bulletin, was drowned Friday night at Wasaw Lake, 15 miles northwest of here. The child is reported to have fallen into the water in front of a lakeside cottage.

Davies' Comedy To Edinburgh For Festival

Canada will make its first contribution to the world-famous Edinburgh Festival of Drama and Music when Robertson Davies' Eros at Breakfast is presented by the Ottawa Drama League in September.

The play and the company to present it were chosen by the Dominion Drama Festival. The Ottawa Drama League won the Sir Barry Jackson trophy for the best production of a Canadian play in 1948 with "Eros." Mr. Davies, author of the play, won a $100 award as writer of the best original play. He won the award again in 1949 with Fortune My Foe, which was recently presented here by the Peterborough Summer Theatre.

The award money was turned over to the Ottawa company to help pay expenses of taking the play to the Scottish festival. About $6,000 is still needed to pay for travelling expenses, new sets, properties and costumes. It is understood the Department of External Affairs may contribute some money to the project.

Rehearsals On Ship

Mr. Davies will travel to Scotland to be on hand for the play's production. Seven people, members of the cast and the producer, are slated to sail aboard the Empress of France August 26. Rehearsals will continue aboard ship. Mr. Davies will be in Ottawa late in July before the sailing date to watch rehearsals and offer suggestions where necessary.

The Edinburgh Festival pays for 10 days' lodging of the Ottawa group but other expenditures have to be met. Scenery for the play will be newly designed by the well-known Canadian artist, Grant Macdonald, Kingston, and a new wardrobe and properties are being planned.

Eros at Breakfast is a speedy, witty satire whose main character is never seen on the stage. He is Mr. P. S. (Psyche and Soma). The action takes place in the solar plexus, a department of the Mr. P. S.' permanent civil service.

RCMP Raid Hiawatha House

RCMP, Cobourg detachment, and Peterborough headquarters of the Provincial Police raided a house on the Hiawatha Indian Reserve Saturday night and confiscated beer and liquor. The raid followed complaints that the Indian Act was being violated by Percy F. Van Nest, from whom the drink was confiscated.

When two RCMP officers and two from the Provincial Police searched Van Nest's house on the Reserve Saturday they found 10 full cases of beer, 16 separate pints and five bottles of liquor.

The Indian Act provides that no intoxicating drink shall be kept, or consumed, on Indian Reserves.

Pleaded Not Guilty

In city police court today Van Nest was charged with selling, bartering, supplying or giving an intoxicant to a person on the Reserve, contrary to the Indian Act.

After Van Nest had pleaded not guilty before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, the case was adjourned to July 25.

Police officers who took part in the raid were Cpl. Cyril Dale, RCMP, Constable George Pickering, RCMP, Constable Emmett Crough, OPP, and Constable Harry Cook, OPP.

FLORAL NOTE

The unmatchable shades of delphinium blues are fading in the background of flower borders these days, but the portulaccas are flourishing in the midsummer sun. Even a long row of zinnias are in bloom along the south wall of the Colonial Weaving factory.

TINY TOTS?

Swings, teeters and the rafts were busy in Inverlea Park Sunday night until 2 a.m. On Friday morning the lifeguards found the benches in the water, the swings rapped around the steel framework and the jungle-gym tipped over. It has been suggested that mothers and fathers keep their strong-arm "tots" in bed at night.

LABOR MEETING POSTPONED

Because of the vacation shutdown affecting some of the larger affiliates there will be no meeting of the Allied Labor Council, Tuesday. The next reular meeting will be August 9 when final plans for Labor Day (Sept. 5) will be discussed.

MAY VOTE ON LIQUOR

For the first time since the days of the open bar the liquor problem is being posed in Pickering Twp. Now under local option Pickering may go "wet" if a petition currently being circulated is successful. A two-thirds majority would be necessary to change the township's status.

CAR CATCHES FIRE

Damage was caused to the interior of a car owned by V. Lazure of Orillia on Sunday when fire burned some of the seat cushions and the upholstery. Just what started the blaze is not known. The new model car was parked at the rear of 842 Monaghan Rd. when the outbreak occurred and firemen were called.

He was taken from the Oshawa airport in a Beechcraft cabin plane together with two friends after being brought from Peterborough by ambulance. He suffered a broken pelvic bone and several fractured ribs in the accident.

DOGS OUT; HORSES IN

Dogs are not allowed in the eight supervised parks of the city. For the past two Sundays horses have been in the park. A week ago rides were being either sold or given to the children all afternoon. Sunday night a troop on horseback paraded through the park at Inverlea. Early in the afternoon Sunday a horse and buggy were seen in the water on the east bank below the bridge.

BEGIN PAVING WORK

Employees of the Warren Paving Co., Lt., Toronto, started work Saturday on the construction of new pavement on Monaghan Rd., south of Charlotte St., with the result that the Charlotte St. West and Monaghan Rd. South buses ave been re-routed over several nearby streets. Work is also now well advanced on paving of Parkhill Rd., between Reid St. and Park St.

VISITOR WITH MEMORIES

Over the weekend Cyril Moore dropped into town, bringing with him a respected Peterborough name and memories of the place as it was before he left it in 1908. Mr. Moore is son of the late W. H. Moore, K. C., who before his death in 1920 was a member of the Utilities Commission and of its predecessor the Water Commission. It was to honor W. H Moore that the Filtration Plant grounds were given the name in 1922 of "Moore Park." Mr. Cyril Moore, a much-travelled man, has been in Peterborough but one night in the last quarter century.

Young Soap Box Speedsters Run Hunter St. Hill In 31 Sec.

Crack went the whistle over the Public Address system. Ten seconds shot past. Then they were in sight. Another 10 to 15 seconds and two streaks of yellow and black zoomed across the white line on Hunter St. at Mark St. Cries went up for Champion Herbert Jackson, 1949's Annual Y's Men's Club's Soap Box Derby at Armour Hill. Nearly 10 minutes before similar whistles and yells were heard for George Pollard who captured the Junior Championship from Eddie Inness by one length.

Crowds were beginning to form about the snow-fence placed at the sides of Hunter St. before 7 p.m. By the time all the soap boxes had been weighed in at 7:15 the men, women and children were four deep back of the fence with 500 children inside along the curbs. Policemen patrolled up and down, diverting traffic to another route. James Clarke, a Club member, filled the tracks at the foot of the hill with tarred gravel to make the crossing easier for the cars and to prevent accidents.

When all cars had been weighed there were five junior entries and five senior. Their weights were: Bob Jackson of Oshawa, 165; Herbert Jackson 180; David Jackson, 140; George Pollard, 200; Eddie Inness, 122; James Hardie, 90; Terry Whyte, 190; Richard Miller, 225; Raymond Cole, 225.

Rick Cochrane, Woody Roberts and Ernie Gibson were starters, and the timers were Mayor M. J. Swanston, Aldermen Hurrell Dodds and P. J. Anglesey.

First Heats

Then the crack of the pistol started the first junior heat between David Jackson of Peterborough and Bob Jackson of Oshawa. Crouching low in their cars dressed like drivers of the Indianapolis Speedway with crash-helmets, they crossed the finish line in 40 seconds. In the second heat George Pollard nosed out Eddie Inness by a length cutting across the finish line in 34 seconds. In the third heat Jimmie Hardie made the two tenths of a mile track in 39 seconds. This ended the preliminaries of the Junior events.

In the first Senior heat Franz Gruiniger of Three Rivers, Quebec, slipped behind Ray Cole to lose in 35 seconds by one length. Herb Jackson came up with the fastest time in the heats to this point in defeating Richard Miller in 31 seconds. In the third heat Terry Whyte ripped the pavement in 35.5 seconds.

Eddie Inness nosed out Bob Jackson in the junior semi-finals with a time of 34 seconds to earn the right to meet George Pollard in the finals. Pollard became champion of the junior events by dusting Inness off by one length.

The first heat for the senior semi-finals was washed out due to a poor start. In the repeat heat Miller crossed the finish line well ahead of Cole by eight lengths. Miller then met Bob Jackson This was the last and fastest heat of the Derby with Jackson emerging victorious in 30.75 seconds, two lengths ahead of Miller, the defending champion.

Prizes Awarded

At the Y's Men's Club carnival at Riverside Bowl Mayor Swanston awarded the prizes to the three victorious in each division. In the senior first and champion for 1949, Herbert Jackson, second, Richard Miller and third, Ray Cole; in the junior, Champion George Pollard; second, Eddie Inness and third, Bob Jackson. First prize was a CCM bicycle, second, a fishing rod and reel, third prize, a baseball and glove.

Summary:

Veteran Minister Dr. J. R. Cooper Dies At 70

Dr. J. R. R. Cooper, 70, assistant minister of George St. United Church, died Monday morning in Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Dr. Cooper has been working with Dr. James Semple at George St. United Church for past five years. He was a Divinity and Arts graduate of Victoria College at the University of Toronto. He later took his PhD. and S.T.D. degrees at Boston University.

His work in the ministry has been in the Montreal, Ottawa and Bay of Quinte conferences. He has held charges in Freleighsburg and Hemingford, Quebec, Lansdowne, Cardinal, Gananoque East, Cataraqui, Columbus, Warkworth and finally Peterborough.

Dr. Cooper is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Ruth Sloan; a daughter, Mrs. Ross Moore (Mary), Peterborough, and a brother, A. R. Cooper, of Chicago.

Strolling Kitten Only Sign Of Life In CGE Grounds

A gray and white kitten from the domestic neighborhood of Canadian General Electric Company became this morning a tiny symbol of the holiday season at the big works. It was idling down one of the ramps on which the fork trucks roll in their daily derbies of shifting and transporting materials and loading finished products into waiting box cars.

Incidentally, the fork truck is a comparatively new type of mobile labor-saving that is equipped with two steel arms for horizontal lifting, thereby preventing the straining of backs on jobs requiring sizable lifts to heights up to nearly seven feet.

The kitten appeared to know its way round the awesome yard on the east side of the machine shop, and north of the Albert St. gate. It was leisurely padding off toward the machine department from which the 40-foot boring mill is being moved to the new assembly building, that has been under construction for the last year and a half.

The giant boring mill has dominated that section of the works in recent years, and was immediately conspicuous from even the farthest bounds of the long spaces of the old machine shop. Holiday time recommended removal of the big mill, but further weeks will probably pass before it is set up in operation in the new building.

The gray kitten with the white spots was as much at home in this morning's calm as any watchman might have been if that group of the staff was still on the job. If it noticed such change in atmosphere and surroundings, it probably concluded that somebody had run in another Saturday, and wasn't aware that it can amble around the yard without threat of unseeing boots, trucks and other perils, during the next fortnight or more.

Close Lublin Cathedral

WARSAW, Poland, July 18—(AP)—Lublin Cathedral will be closed "for several days" to discourage the influx of Poles seeking to pray before the "miracle" portrait of the holy virgin, the Roman Catholic heirarchy announced Sunday. A church investigation proved there was no foundation to stories that tears of blood had been seen in the eyes of the picture.

Hay Prices High Supplies Short Due Light Crop

"That ain't hay", expressive phrase of petty values, usually by contrast, will have to be revised if the field product continues in the direction some farmers are trying to boom it.

"They just don't know what to ask for it," said one of Peterborough's food delivery men today. "I guess we don't either. Our own experience may be a sample. The farmer we've been buying hay from for some years recently tried to boost his price 100 per cent.

"The last we had paid him was $20 a ton. We were expecting an increase on our order for this fall and winter, but the blast we got was his demand for $40 a ton. So, we went shopping around. We certainly didn't pay that price or anything like it. And we filled our stable loft, thirty tons."

Present price of hay appears to be determined by dickering, on the rural producer's basis of whatever he can get for it, and that "whatever" means the highest.

The local dairies, bakers and others generally bought their timmothy and alfalfa directly from the fields at prices ranging between $25 to $28, and some paid $30 for special quality.

Go Far Afield

One of the good cattle breeders of the Peterborough area recently said he was forced to look around for sources of hay that he might buy. He motored as far as Brooklin and in other sections of Ontario county, one of the best in Central Ontario.

"The good farmers said they had nothing to sell. They were holding their hay for their own stock," this beef producer said. "I thought I was going to be all right early in the spring from the apearance of my own fields, but that prospect soon changed."

An Otonabee farmer with 40 head of dairy cattle reports about one-third of his last year crop. To supplement his own forage he bought fifty acres uncut.

Ald. J. A. Gillespie, chairman of the city's sanitation department, said the big barn on Townsend St. had a fair supply of hay in the mow. It is such a cavernous space that a vast quantity of grass would be required to fill it.

There is still the second crop to count on, but as a supply it rates only as an additional harvest. Farmers like to stack up the bales on the first trip over their fields.

Four Factories On Holidays

Machines are quiet and voices of maintenance staffs echo throught silent rooms of four local plants as employees take a holiday. Peterborough Lock, Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, Raybestos and the CGE are shut down for two weeks.

Up on the hill, workers at the Westclox are back after two weeks away from the hustle. During the shutdown there, some summer employees were kept on maintenance work, while others took the time off with the rest of the workers.

At the Raybestos, the time is being used to redecorate the office. This is the first year that the plant has used the complete shutdown system.

The Quaker Oats, following the custom of other years, will give holidays to its employees on the rotation system, with no complete shutdown. Other industries taking holidays are: Outboard Marine, July 22 to August 9, Brinton Carpet, July 23 to August 8, DeLaval July 23 to August 8.

Where's The Driver?

BARRIE, July 18—(CP)—Witnesses reaching the scene of an automobile accident south of here today were mystified when they failed to find either driver or passengers in the wrecked car. They said they reached the car seconds after it bounced into the ditch and rolled over but found nobody in the car or within a 150 yard radius of it.

One And 14 Snakes

Three feet of black water snake greeted Mrs. Roy Pilling Sunday morning when she went out on the back stoop of her home at 237 King George St. next to the river. After an exchange of slightly hysterical greetings, Mrs. Pilling called her son Dexter Pilling from next door. He despatched the snake with all speed, but instead of having one dead snake, he had 14 live ones on his hands. The young were about 10 inches long, and apparently came from the body of the dead female. Mrs. Pilling recalled that during the night dogs had raised a great fuss and it is thought the snake was the cause and she swallowed her young to save them from the dogs.

Lindsay Union Asks Minister To Intervene

Local 837, Textile Workers of America (CCL-CIO) of Lindsay has applied to Labor Minister Charles Daley for a Conciliation Officer to help settle the dispute with Knitters Ltd. The present contract expires August 31.

Poor relations have existed between the company and the union since the last agreement was signed November 15, 1948. The union claimed that the company, after signing a contract based on a Conciliation Board's findings, did not live up to clauses calling for retroactive pay to March, 1948, and a boost of 25 per cent in piece-work rates.

As a result of this the union asked for leave to prosecute Knitters Ltd., and the possible suit is still pending.

Staff Lay-Offs

A letter dated June 14 was received from J. D. Sabourin, manager of the plant, stating the agreement would not be renewed, according to A. E. Johnston of Peterborough, TWUA staff representative. Four days previously all but five of the approximately 35 employees were laid off.

Since then four of the five remaining employees have sent in letters of resignation from the union. Mr. Johnson said the resignations were written on company letterhead and were due to pressure by management.

"We believe that the company has acted wrongly in the closing of the plant which has taken away the livelihood of its workers and also re-acted on the general business of the town of Lindsay, said Ray A. Ruggles, director of the Greater Toronto Textile Joint Board, in a letter to the Minister.

The union also contends that it is part of company strategy to smash the Local as the recognized bargaining unit.

Loblaw Company New Block 3 Street Access

Tenders for a Loblaw Groceterias Company store on George St. will be received until Tuesday, July 19 by K. W. Bash, chief engineer of the company, Toronto.

Location of this store is on the west side of George St. in the centre of the Dalhousie-Sherbrooke St. block. The property lies immediately north of the plant and adjoining frontage of B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co., Ltd.

Construction firms figuring on the general contract are: Eastwood Construction Co., Lt., Peterborough; A. W. Robertson Limited and Foundation Company of Ontario, both of Toronto.

The Loblaw store will be approximately 70 feet by 160 feet, and there will be an adjoining store building 32 ft. by 70 ft. Plans were drawn for a one-storey structure with steel frame, masonry walls and built-up roof.

For this site the company bought from Charles H. Elliott the lot directly north of Ackerman Company land, and also the south two houses of the terrace on George St. owned by Goodfellow and Dougherty. The Elliott property was previously owned by Elim Temple, Simcoe St., who had intended to build a church there.

Side Accesses

The Loblaw Company has also secured two properties on Dalhousie and Sherbrooke Streets providing access to their projected store on George St., from the south and north. They comprise two houses on Dalhousie Street, west of the Ackerman building, and a frame terrace of three dwellings west of the Peterborough Automotive Supply building on Sherbrooke St.

Indication of the company's plan to proceed soon with the erection of their store was noticed recently in the recent survey of the George St. site lines and also in the removal of the small portable building which was occupied for some years by the late John Brownlee.

The announcement of the Loblaw companies' call for tenders will give further stimulus to the business development of the three block stretch of George St., south of Charlotte St., since the war ended.

Decision to build on George St. was preceded by negotiations with the council last winter for a large part of the market square at the Charlotte St.-Water St. corner. At one stage it seemed that terms were satisfactory to both parties, but agreement finally broke down on a question of financial cost to the company.

Iodine In Our Diet

By MARY MOORE

In some educational material that has been brought to my attention it is noted that there is a slight increase in the incidence of goitre in North America,—and this fact is coincident with the slight falling off of sales of iodized salt.

To function normally the body requires iodine.

To quote from a booklet by Drs. Curtis and Fertman:

". . the element iodine is to the normal functioning thyroid gland as water to cultivated ground. Deprivation of this necessary substance, even to a slight degree, produces change in the entire organism, harmful to the individual and significant to a people. A sufficient amount of iodine intake is a biologic necessity."

The articles I read gave dramatic instances of goitre prevalence in our own Great Lakes district—as high as 60 per cent of adolescent girls in 1922.

This high percentage was reduced to something close to 13 per cent by the prevalent use of iodized salt. But this rate is rising slightly again, as the sales of iodized salt decrease slightly.

Need I say more than this: "Remember to say 'iodized salt, please' when ordering your groceries. It contains sufficient iodine for normal body functioning. If you do remember this your family will not be troubled with goitre.

The marriage of Miss Beverley Kirk Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kirk Hughes of Peterborough, to Mr. Douglas Ian Wallace Bruce, son of Mrs. Bruce and the late Mr. W. Wallace Bruce of Toronto, took place Saturday afternoon at St. Andrew's United Church.

A beautiful setting for the ceremony was formed by pastel shaded snapdragon, delphinium, and gladioli at the altar and the sides of the church were banked with baskets of mixed summer flowers, palms and ferns. Tiny nosegays of pink snapdragon marked the family sats.

Barbecue Hamburg Supper Cooked By A Male Expert

By MARY MOORE

When visiting in Portland, Oregon, my hostess received a telephone call from the wife of the gentleman who designed the famous Bonneville Dam fish ladders—inviting her, and her family and guest to their home for a Barbecue Supper.

When those Americans invite you to a Barbecue Supper, they really put on a good show.

Tho host was clad for the occasion in white shirt and trousers, chef's cap and decorated apron, long chromium fork, and had more barbecue paraphernalia than I ever hope to possess.

But it is his private seasoning for hamburgs that I propose to share with you today (with his consent).

Maybe it was the perennial and glorious view of Mount Hood; or maybe it was the brilliant company I was in—something made these the best hamburgers I have ever tasted:

Could be the recipe:

Mr. Roy Clark's Barbecue Hamburgers:

To 3 lbs. ground round steak or shin beef add 1 medium sized onion finely grated or, if chopped, do so in chopping bowl, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ to ½ teaspoon white pepper, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce, ½ to 1 teaspoon French mustard (only ¼ teaspoon is needed if dry mustard is used) 2 eggs, ½ cup cream. Shake of cayenne is optional. Shape into large cakes size of hamburg bun—or a little larger to allow for some shrink—and fry in bacon or chicken fat in very hot "skillett".

They heated the split and buttered buns, and served coarsely chopped tossed salad, and Pacific berry pie with homemade ice cream and iced coffee. You could come pretty close to doing the same thing if you wanted to badly enough.

Buott-Kidd Vows Pledged In Murray St. Baptist Church

High standards of pink and white gladioli banked with fern formed a beautiful setting in Murray Street Baptist Church Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Maxine Violet Kidd to Mr. Keneth Richard Buott. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy R. Kidd and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Buott, all of Peterborough.

The marriage was solemnized by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan. Before the bride entered the church Mrs. Douglas Landry sang "Because" and at the signing of the register she sang "Through the Years". Mr. Stanley Northrop, organist, played the wedding music.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in a traditional wedding gown of white satin. An inserted yoke of nylon net was edged with a bertha collar which extended over the shoulder and had a deep peplum at the waist over the full skirt which swept gracefully into a regal train. The long pointed sleeves were trimmed at the wrist with tiny self-covered butons. Her train-length veil of tulle illusion was caught to a coronet headdress trimmed with orange blossoms and she carried a showered cascade of red roses and gypsophilia.

Mrs. Norman Lillico as matron of honor for her sister was lovely in blue taffeta designed with an unpressed drape neckline in front, tight fitting to waistline with unpressed Grecian pleats and skirt with hoop hipline. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Oswald Driscoll, sister of the groom, and Miss Joan Munro were frocked alike in pastel pink taffeta with unpressed pleated neckline drape and gathered skirt with hoop at the hipline. Each attendant wore long fingerless mittens of matching material and picture hats. The matron of honor carried an arm bouquet of pink Briarcliffe roses and the bridesmaids carried ring bouquets of sweet peas. Little Gail Lillico was a charming flower girl for her aunt in a floor-length dress of blue taffeta with matching bonnet and mittens and she carried a nosegay of sweet peas.

Mr. Leonard Parliament was groomsman. Ushers were Orland Kidd, brother of the bride, and Ernest Mills, brother-in-law of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kidd chose a grey sheer crepe dress with rose needlepoint pattern and she wore a navy straw hat with pink flower trim, navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore a black taffeta dress with black accessories and a corsage of white roses. Both assisted the wedding party at a reception held in the YWCA where a buffet luncheon was served by Misses Barbara MacMillan, Phyllis McKee, Bernice Robinson, Mrs. Howard Robinson and Mrs. Robert Russell.

For travelling the bride chose a heaven blue crepe dress, navy straw hat and navy accessories. Her going-away corsage was of white gardenias. The couple left on a motor trip to Toronto and the United States and on return wil reside at 1310 Monaghan Rd.

Of Interest to Women

Second Childhood Folly Often Leads To Disaster

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A young man in my office has fallen in love with a woman in the same office. They are both well-educated and their interests, both professionally and otherwise, are similar. The woman, however, is about twelve years the man's senior. Can there be lasting happiness in such a match? Why is it considered a perfectly normal thing for a man to be twenty or even thirty years older than the girl but a terrible thing for a woman to marry a man younger than herself? F. K. D.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I think that, generally speaking, through there are exceptions even to this rule, twenty-five or thirty years is too much differencen between a husband and wife, no matter matter which is the elder. Because that puts them in different generations and each generation has its own point of view, its habits and traditions, which make a gulf between the two that is almost impossible to span.

And that is particularly true of this present age in which during the last, even twenty, years the whole relationship of the sexes, the conventions, mode of dress, trend of thought and opinion has entirely altered, so that many things which are perfectly right and natural for the younger generation to do would be very shocking to the older generation.

As for the chances of happiness of a couple in which the wife is 12 years older, or even more, that depends on the age of the man. If he is a mere boy with unformed tastes, it would be pretty certain to be disastrous, and by the time he is mature he will have tired of his elderly wife and want a girl of his own age or younger. But if he is a man of, say 30, with tastes formed and knowing what he wants in a wife, there is no reason why the marriage should not be successful. He has found her more congenial than a young girl. He likes her sophistication and experience. They have the same ideals. And he is not likely to change.

Indeed, such a marriage is likely to be exceedingly happy, because the wife who is older than her husband is more anxious to please him than a younger one and would use more tact in managing him. Also, there are many men to whom the maternal appeals and who always need a mother more than they do a wife.

The idea that the wife should always be younger is based on the old theory that women age quicker than men, but that is not true in these days when keeping young has become a cult with women.—DOROTHY DIX.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband has been a respectable, business-like and dignified man all of his life until now when, at the age of 50, he has completely changed. He neglects the good business he has built up. He is taking all kinds of music lessons and is the laughing stock of the neighborhood, singing at the top of his voice. He has a regular beauty parlor of his own and spends hours tryin to beautify himself and grow hair on his bald head and takes all kinds of reducing tablets trying to get a boyish figure. He tries to chum with boys and girls of 16 and brags he is in younger condition than any boy of 20 or 30. He is always quarreling with his own children and making presents to young girls. My nerves are shattered and I am too ashamed to meet my friends. Is there any cure for him?—MRS. C.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: Oh, yes. A certain cure. Time. He is just going through the age of folly that afflicts a great many other men at his time of life and, if you will be just patient, he will soon get over it.

It is just the last flare-up of youth, a last call to the dining car, but while it lasts many men do tragic things, such as imagining they are too young for their wives and that they have fallen in love with flappers. While they are under this delusion, they often break up their homes and divorce their wives and marry girls young enough to be their granddaughters only to repent it ever afterward.

Summon what sense of humor you can to understanding the situation and be thankful that it is not worse.—DOROTHY DIX.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR MISS DIX: I was spanking my 9-year-old daughter the other day when an "unmannerly" neighbor came into the room unannounced. She said that she was afraid that the other mothers in the neighborhood would not want their children to play with a girl who had to be punished so severely. I told her the child had done nothing very naughty, but that I believe in Solomon's motto, "Spare the rod and spoil the child." What do you think of corporal punishment?—ANXIOUS AND WORRIED MOTHER.

◇ ◇ ◇

ANSWER: I have too often seen a peevish, fretful child who was making life a torment for everybody about it turned into a sweet and smiling little angel by a judicious use of the hairbrush, not to subscribe to the spaking theory when it is put in operation at the psychological moment by the humane mother.

Before a child is old enough to reason, it has to be controlled by force, but there should be some way of appealing to a girl of 9 by other means than a beating. You should ruled your children through love and respect.

There is only a short time in which they will be afraid of you, and if your hold upon them is fear, you can do nothing with them when that is gone.

Woman Helps Fight Forest Fires By Radio

GERALDTON, Ont., July 18—(CP)—Jean Calder, 24-year-old short-wave-radio dispatcher from London, Ont., helps fight forest fires by radio.

Seated in the radio room of the district forester's office in this northern Ontario town, Jean receives and relays messages which regulate and organize forest fire fighting throughout the province. When an outbreak is located, she joins other senders and receivers of the Lands and Forests Department in covering the area with a radio blanket of communication.

Although she's been at it only two weeks, Miss Calder is becoming well-known in her district. Pilots and rangers recognize her voice now and all agree that "it's nice to hear a woman's voice for a change.

Up until recently her life was relatively quiet. She suffered an attack of poliomyelitis as a baby and was prevented from playing the usual childhood games. Instead, she turned to radio and soon became an accomplished radio "ham".

In the daytime, she worked for a London insurance company and at night studied radio. A few weeks ago she applied, with little hope of acceptance, for a job with the radio communications branch. She was accepted for the Geraldton district.

She uses canes to get up and down stairs.

Audrey Sargent Takes Vows With Wm. Burley

In George St. United Church on Saturday afternoon the Rev. Dr. James Semple officiated at the marriage of Audrey Marguerite Sargent to Mr. William John Mansel Burley. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sargent of Peterborough and the groom is a son of Mrs. I. Fee of Omemee and the late Mr. William Burley.

White lilies with delphinium formed the floral setting in the church. Mr. Chas. Allen played the wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Nelson McConnell who sang "Because," prior to the ceremony, and "Through the Years" at the signing of the register.

Shimmering white satin fashioned the bride's dress which was quaintly styled with tight bodice and wide neckline with insert of sheer nylon net, outlined with tiny folds of satin, and very full skirt falling into a long graceful train. Her fingertip veil of embroidered net formed a halo, caught to her head with orange blososms and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses. Mr. Sargent gave his daughter in marriage.

She was attended by Mrs. E. Ballantyne, matron of honor, Miss Jean Hunter and Miss Doris McCarfell, cousins of the bride and groom, as bridesmaids, and the groom's sister Miss Evelyn Fee as junior bridesmaid. Mrs. Ballantyne wore a frock of French lilac tissue taffeta and the bridesmaids' dresses were similar in Buttercup yellow. They were styled alike with softly shirred folds outlining the open neck and continuing over the shoulder to end in a tiny turn-down collar at the back. The bouffant skirt was cleverly draped into a full bustle back. The junior bridesmaid was frocked in green moire taffeta made with square neckline and cap sleeves, full skirt with front gathers and a peplum falling to the floor at the back. Each wore a braided headdress of the material of her dress and long fingerless mittens of the same. The matron of honor carried yellow roses, the bridesmaids Talisman roses and the junior bridesmaid pink roses, each bouquet made up with pastel shaded sweet peas.

The groom was attended by his cousin Mr. Earl McCarrell. The ushers were R. McCarrell, cousin of the groom. Ronald Sargent and Freeman Fee, brothers of the bride and groom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home at 524 Charlotte St. Her mother was wearing grey figured crepe with a hat of black mohair and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted in receiving by the groom's mother who wore blue figured silk jersey with black straw hat and a corsage of red roses.

The bride and groom have planned a wedding trip to points in northern Ontario and on return will live at 674 Park St. S. For travelling the bride chose a brown figured crepe dress with matching accessories and straw colored hat trimmed with brown.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM MANSEL BURLEY who were married Saturday afternoon in George St. United Church. The bride is Audrey Marguerite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Edwin Sargent of Peterborough. The groom is the son of Mrs. I. Fee of Omemee and the late William Burley.

French Reds Woo Catholics

PARIS, July 18 (AP)—French Communist party leaders made clear in week-end speeches they will attempt to persuade Roman Catholics to work with the Communists on the political and labor fronts.

France's top Communist leader, Maurice Thorez, said the Vatican decree ex-communicating Communists and forbidding Roman Catholics to expose themselves to Communist doctrines would not halt "our efforts for a union of the men of good will."

"We will continue our policy of union," he said in a speech at Grenoble yesterday. "We will continue our policy of the hand extended to the Roman Catholics. We are sure that the hands that were joined in the battles of liberation will not be unclasped."

Thorez said the Vatican had adjusted itself to the regimes of Hitler in Germany, Mussolini in Italy, Franco in Spain and Marshal Petain in Vichy France, all of which, he added, were "condemned by history."

For having in the past taken positions which did not correspond with the march of history, the church of Rome suffered amputations from which it never recovered," Thorez said. "It thus lost all influence in two thirds of Europe."

Kiwanis International Meet In Atlantic City

"Aggressive Citizenship — Our Individual Responsibility" will continue to be the keynote of the work of Kiwanis International during the coming year, Vincent M. McCabe, president of the Kiwanis Club of Peterborough, has been advised by J. Hugh Jackson, Palo Alto, California, newly installed president of Kiwanis International.

Mr. Jackson is dean of the Graduate School of Business at Stanford University in California and was named head of Kiwanis at the 34th annual convention held a few days ago at Atlantic City, N.J. Mr. Jackson in his acceptance speech said that he would urge the 3,000 clubs under his jurisdiction to work for world peace and guard against subversive activities. He succeeded J. Belmont Mosser, St. Mary's, Pa., industrialist.

President Jackson will begin a speaking tour shortly that will take him into practically every state and province of the United States and Canada. Last year Mr. Jackson was International Treasurer of Kiwanis.

Other officers elected at the Atlantic City convention included: Don H. Murdoch, Winnipeg, vice-president for Canada, and J. R. Linklater, Noranda, Quebec, trustee (one year term.)

The 1950 convention will be held from May 7 to 11 at Miami, Florida.

Bombs Explode In Barcelonia

BARCELONA, Spain, July 18—(AP)—Two bombs exploded here Sunday night, one of them killing a man and injuring nine other persons in the city's main square, the Plaza de Cateluna.

Two large time bombs were discovered this morning in the largest hotel in Barcelona and removed by artillery officers before any damage was done.

The first bomb Sunday night shattered windows near the square. Two of the nine injured were women who were hurt so critically they were not expected to live.

The second smaller bomb exploded several hours later, about three miles from the first. No one was injured. The blast was in a garden near the Pedralbes Palace, the residence of Generalissimo Franco when he visited Barcelona last month. There were several bomb blasts during his visit to the city.

Police said the time bombs were of a completely different type from the two bombs exploded, indicating they possibly had been set by different groups.

Suspended Sentence On Theft Charge

After his wife had spoken on his behalf, William Purvis, 588 Bonaccord St. was placed on suspended sentence for two years today by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, at city police court. Purvis pleaded guilty to stealing a number of articles from the Canadian Department Store in Peterborough Saturday.

After J. C. N. Currelly had asked the magistrate for suspended sentence, Mrs. Purvis said that her husband was in poor health following an operation. She said he had taken a drink before committing the offence and explained that his condition did not allow him to drink without ill effect.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw said it was the second time the manager of the store had found Purvis stealing from the store. On the first occasion no court action was taken.

Have Little Fanfare As Stampeders Home

TORONTO, July 18 (CP)—With little fanfare except for a few subdued "yippees," Toronto's 250 goodwill stampeders arrived home today from Calgary.

When Mayor McCallum appeared, he was greeted with "Hi, Buck," by a small, waiting crowd, but he had no comments.

Many of the "Toronto-to-Calgary Stampede Special" train passengers said they were overwhelmed by the reception accorded them in the Stampede City, but were too tired to do anything but "head home for bed."

Boy, 6, Hurt, Six Accidents Over Weekend

Richard Cavanagh, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Cavanagh, 531 Rogers St., sustained a fractured thigh bone when knocked down by a car Saturday after running out into the road. The incident was one of six road accidents in the city during the weekend.

Constables Don Mackay and Sherman Keliele, who investigated, report that the lad ran from a laneway beside a house into the path of a car driven by Gerald McGrath, 566 Armour Rd., and was struck by the headlight.

Dr. C. F. Cahill attended the child and drove him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he is said to be progressing satisfactorily.

Collision On Charlotte

There was a collision at Charlotte and Reid Sts., Sunday between Dr. H. O. Richardson of Campbellford and George Elliott, 207 Ramsey Rd., resulting in a total of approximately $400 damage to the cars. Mrs. Richardson, who was a passenger in her husband's car, received a cut wrist, cut lip and a bruised leg as a result of the impact.

Constables Sherman Keliele and Ed Niziol report that the collision sent the doctor's car on to the lawn in front of the clinic on Charlotte St.

Damage to the truck included estimated at $300 consisting of a bent front bumper, both front fenders bent, grill and hood badly dented, right headlight smashed and the radiator was leaking. The car was towed away from the scene. The doctor's car had a dented rear fender, door panel and body, some chrome trimming was torn off and the rear left wheel was bent. Estimated damage, $175.

Soft Drinks For Pavement

The intersection of Reid and Stewart Sts. was flowing with Coca Cola at noon Saturday when the impact of a collision between a truck and a car sent several cases onto the road.

Don Howson, RR 8, Peterborough was driving the truck, Constables Douglas Farthing, George Shaw and Clairs McGillen report. The driver of the car was Cameron Bothwell, Cavan.

Police say the impact forced Mr. Bothwell's car round in a half circle. The truck skidded 30 feet, then zig-zagged 154 feet before stopping.

The right front fender of Mr Bothwell's car was smashed; the frame was bent, also the axle and a wheel was buckled.

Damage to the truck included the right rear fender and skirting smashed, right rear spring hangers torn off, and the drive shaft torn out from the transmission.

Other Accidents

Ben Boothroyd, 345 George St. S., and D. Leeming, R.R. 6 Peterborough, were involved in a collision Sunday afternoon at Reid and Stewart Sts. Mr. Boothroyd's car had a crushed left front fender and a cut and blown tire estimated at $100. Damage to Mr. Leeming's car was a crushed left front fender, broken left headlight and bent frame and grill.

Passengers in Mr. Boothroyd's car were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wood, 347 George St. S., and Mr. Leeming's passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Angus MacPhee, R.R. 4 Foxboro, Ontario.

A truck driven by W. Bebee, 122 Hilliard St., and a car driven by F. Evans, were involved in an incident Saturday at No. 7 Highway and Mason St. Constable Louis Rocregue reports that Mr. Evans was attempting to pass the truck when it turned and caught the right fender of his car.

Elmer A. Gardner, 220½ Brock St., told city police a hit and run driver struck the right rear fender of his car, tearing it loose from the body when he left it parked outside the Brewer's store on McDonnel St. Saturday.

Ask Concessions Enlarged On Rail Rates

FREDERICTON, July 18—(CP) —Enlargement of the freight-rate concessions granted Canada's Atlantic seaboard provinces under the Maritime Freight Rate Act of 1927 was proposed before the Royal Commission on Transportation today by the New Brunswick government.

The government also suggested a broad series of improvements in transportation services and facilities including the construction of a canal across the Isthmus of Chignecto, an 18-mile neck of land connecting New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The canal, which has been urged for many years in New Brunswick, would give shipping from the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River ports an inland water route as far as Saint John, chief port of New Brunswick. Also it would shorten the haul.

Favours Subsidies

The provincial government came out in favor of federal treasury subsidies where necessary to provide the Maritimes with transportation costs enabling them to get their products into central Canadian markets and it also registered an objection to the 21-per-cent general increase in freight rates allowed the railways last year.

That increase, it said, had "helped defeat" government policy aimed at equalization of the economies of different sections of the country. It had widened differentials in rates as between the Maritimes and central Canada.

The government submission was read to the commission as it opened New Brunswick sessions in this capital on its trans-Canada tour of investigation into the nation's transportation problems.

Pair In Car Attack Woman

TORONTO, July 18 (CP) — A 30-year-old Toronto woman was beaten and raped three times early yesterday by two men who forced her into their car on a deserted north Toronto street, police reported today.

Acting inspector James Harper said it was "one of the worst cases of rape in years." A police identification lineup will be held today.

The woman told police she was on her way to visit friends when a green car pulled alongside her and two men forced her inside. She said the car drove to three different spots in the northern part of the city and the men criminally assaulted her each time. The assailants then smashed her glasses, she said, struck her in the face and took $36 from her purse.

Ordered from the car, the woman boarded a street car and travelled north to city limits. She said the green car had followed the street car so she travelled back down to the downtown district and told her story to another passenger.

The victim, an unmarried woman employed in a telegraph office, told police the men called each other "Jack" and "Paul."

The colorful official opening to the week-long jamboree will culminate two years of planning at Canadian Boy Scout headquarters.

Jamboree camp site is Connaught Rifle Ranges, 14 miles west of Ottawa, which draws sharpshooters from across Canada every year for the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association competition.

American scouters set up a trading post where they swapped crests, troop flashes and other odds and ends of uniform and equipment with their Canadian colleagues.

Busy Spot

They brought supplies with them to start in business and there was a rush on the trading post most of the afternoon. The trading—encouraged by Scout leaders to promote international good will—went on under a big marquee tent on the American camp site.

Religious services were observed Sunday, the first full day Scouts have been in camp. Buses rolled up to the Ranges yesterday from morning to late afternoon, transporting Scouts from railway sidings and downtown Ottawa.

Pleads Innocent To Murder, Said Insane

LEWES, Sussex, England, July 18 (CP)—Debonair John George Haigh today pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to a charge that he shot a wealthy widow, drank some of her blood and then dissolved her body in a tub of acid.

At the start of Britain's most sensational murder trail in years, the 39-year-old business man walked jauntily to the bench to answer "not guilty" in a clear, ringing voice.

His lawyer, Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe, a prosecutor at the Nuremberg war crimes trial, then said he would show that Haigh was "insane so as not to be responsible for the act," and consequently not guilty of premeditated murder.

Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross, who is prosecuting the case, told the jury of 11 men and one woman he would show the primary motive for the crime was financial gain.

Careful Planning

He said Haigh's earlier statement to the police about drinking the blood was an indication of careful planning for an insanity plea.

Sir Hartley read to the jury Haigh's purported confession admitting all the police charges.

Sir Hartley said in his opening statement Haigh had admitted inducing Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon to visit a factory to discuss a scheme for manufacturing artificial plastic fingernails.

"And there, while she was looking at red paper for the fingernails," sir Hartley said, "he shot her through the head."

The trial is taking place in the white-walled court here before 81-year-old Mr. Justice Travers Humphreys. Justice Humphries has been associated with many famous cases. He helped defend Oscar Wilde and helped prosecute Roger Casement, hanged for treason in the first world war. He also tried several members of the Irish Republican Army.

Rochester Man Held In Slaying Of Woman 73

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 18 (AP)—William Draper, 29-year-old father of three boys, was held today as the man who raped Mrs Jennie O'Keefe, 73, and beat her to death in a dark field.

Mrs. O'Keefe, the mother of a Rochester policeman, was killed Saturday night as she started a two-week vacation from her job as a department store seamstress.

A mysterious telephone call from a mysterious woman yesterday led police to the battered body hidden behind bushes about four miles from the slaying scene. Her clothing was torn.

Draper was arrested last night as he started to drive away from his mother's home with his wife and three children.

Clarence Henry, Assistant District Attorney, said Draper denied the killing until he viewed Mrs. O'Keene's body, then broke down and confessed.

First-degree Murder

Draper was charged with first degree murder.

Henry said the suspect gave this version of the slaying in a signed statement:

By appointment, he met Mrs. O'Keefe Saturday night in a Rochester tavern where he had seen her several times previously.

He was to drive her to the rooming house where she lived.

When he proposed a longer ride, she agreed, but she resisted his attentions when the car was parked on a roadside.

He dragged her into the field, punched her with his fists, raped her and hauled her back to the car.

For some time he drove around, uncertain that she was dead. Then he hid the body.

Dr. Floyd S. Winslow, a coroner's physician, said it was "one of the worst cases of rape I have ever seen."

Hitler Antipathy Cost Germans Atomic Bomb

By ALAN DREYFUSS

HAIGERLOCH, French Zone, Germany, July 17—(Reuters)—Hitler's fixed idea that nuclear physics was nothing more than a 'plaything' of scientists may have cost Germany the atomic bomb and possible victory in the Second World War, according to the physicist who was in charge of Germany's largest uranium pile.

The scientist, Dr. Hermann Schuele, who now is the head of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Physics at Hechingen, declared:

"Hitler was so certain of the success of his blitzkrieg (lightning war) that he had no interest in long-term research in nuclear physics which he regarded as little more than a 'plaything'.

Hitler's first antagonism toward nuclear physicists, Dr. Schuele explained, rose from an interview with the German Nobel prize scientist, Max Planck, in 1937, during which Planck declared emphatically that he was a follower of Einstein's theories.

Hitler's attitude made it virtually impossible to initiate work on a scale large enough for producing atom bombs even if the principle of their composition had been discovered in Germany, he said.

Move To Cellars

In 1943 he was ordered to move Germany's only uranium pile from the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in the Dahlem district of Berlin to the cellars of a Haigerloch Inn.

A number of hand-picked German scientists began work on the secret research project.

The exact degree of success which the scientists achieved in their quest for the secret of the "bomb" is still classified as "secret" by Allied military authorities.

Some measure of the intensity with which the project was pursued may be obtained, however, from the fact that at the end of the war, according to Dr. Schuele, the wine cellar laboratory had 680 cubes of uranium totaling 1½ metric tons at its disposal, together with 3,000 pounds of "heavy water."

Universal Stars Say Cheesecake Good Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 18—(AP)—Here are some luscious lassies who claim Shirley Temple's tirade against cheesecake is strictly a bust.

Last week the former tot star told me she thought leg-art pictures are unnecessary. "If I had a choice between having sex appeal and being an actress, I'd rather be an actress," she declared.

Universal-International Studio, fast becoming Hollywood's cheese cake haven, now has a clause in its starlet contracts, pressing them to cheesecake duty for their first five years of service. (What happens then—are they too old for it, or have they risen above it?)

Oe Carlo Speaks

At any rate, the cleavage between the studio's beauties and Miss Temple is marked. Egged on by her press agents, curly Yvonne De Carlo took a deep breath and expounded:

"Rita Hayworth parlayed a $3 sweater into stardom and a multi-million-dollar marriage—what's wrong with that?" asked the Vancouver beauty.

"Lana Turner has done all right for a one-time soda jerk," she added. "She's jerking champagne now."

Shelley Winters chimed in with: "Marlene Dietrich can be a grandmother and still hit page one—just because she's got good legs and shows them."

GROW EXTRA LARGE

Grown by Bud Lloyd, 121 Hilliard St., his annual sweet peas have stems 14 inches long. In a good season with the correct amount of moisture the stems are a foot at the most. The sweet peas bloomed this year two weeks before last year. In the last couple of days he has cut 1,100 blooms.

When Money Takes Wings

MONEY takes wings today faster than ever before. True . . . many people are earning more—but the cost of living uses up a much greater proportion. Few indeed can hope to accumulate large sums for future emergencies.

How, then, can you ever hope to lay aside enough money to provide for your family in case of your untimely death—or for the years when your earning capacity will cease?

The only sure way is through Life Insurance. It would take years to build an adequate savings fund for your dependents, but a proportion of your savings put into Life Insurance will immediately guarantee to them a monthly income in case of your death. At the same time it will provide for your declining years should you live to old age.

Belleville Woman Left Million Dollars By Uncle She Never Met

Husband, Wife Both Obliged To Work Have Four Children; Niece Gets One-Quarter of Big Fortune

BELLEVILLE, July 19—(CP)—A Belleville woman says she has been left $1,250,000 by an uncle she never met. But Mrs. Dorothy McGuire, 28, has yet to receive the money, and, when asked about her apparent good fortune, says: "I still can't believe it." The mother of four young children works as a stenographer in a law firm. Her husband, Harry, 33, is a foundry order clerk. They and their children live in a four-room veterans housing dwelling.

Mrs. McGuire said Monday night she has been notified by executors of her uncle's estate that she has inherited one-quarter of a $5,000,000 estate, with the other three-quarters going to the uncle's widow. She said her uncle, whom she declined to name, lived in New York and was killed last March in an automobile crash near North Bay.

She said that at the time of the crash, he was on his way to visit her father in North Bay. She said she had never seen him and had no idea of the type of work in which he was engaged in New York.

In San Two Years

Mrs. McGuire's family name was Lalonde. She was adopted early in life by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Belanger. She attended Notre Dame des Lourdres School here and St. Joseph's Convent in Toronto.

She told the story of the bequest Monday night to put an end to rumors spreading in Bellville about "a couple who had inherited more than $2,000,000." She did not confide in her husband until last Wednesday.

Mrs. McGuire said she left a tuberculosis sanatorium a year ago after undergoing treatment for two years. She said her youngest child, four-year-old Sandra, has been in a similar hospital near Toronto since the age of five months.

Joan Blondell Involved In Drama Brawl

PRINCETON, N.J., July 19—(CP)—Actress Joan Blondell emphatically denied Monday night reports of a violent backstage brawl, complete with head-banging, choking and hair-pulling, at Princeton's Drama Festival.

Harold J. Kennedy, producer of the Festival, said he has asked the Actors Equity Association to suspend Miss Blondell because of the alleged brawl.

"All I did was to throw some face tissue," said Miss Blondell. "I was putting on lipstick at the time the argument started between my husband and Kennedy. I had the tissue in one hand and an antique mirror in the other. And I sure wasn't going to throw a valuable mirror at him. So I let the tissue fly."

She claimed the argument started because she objected to Kennedy pulling a "very good actor" out of the show and replacing him with another man on less than 24 hours' notice. She couldn't recall their names.

"I am not worried over what action Equity will take," she added. "I have been in the show business too long to worry over what a man evidently seeking a little publicity can do to me."

Kennedy claimed he was the object of the attack because he had asked the vistiing movie star to "quit using foul and abusive language against the cast."

$12,000 Houses Limit For Loan

TORONTO, July 19 — (CP) — After Aug. 1 Ontario Government second mortgage loans will be limited to houses costing $12,000 or less.

Since last November the loans, applying only to new houses, have covered homes up to $15,000.

When the scheme was launched in May, 1948, government spokesmen said it was intended to help persons with medium incomes and it was to apply to moderate cost homes ranging up to $8,500. Last November, it was enlarged, to cover homes up to $15,000.

The $10,000,000 originally allocated by the Ontario government to its Housing Corporation Limited will be used up within a few weeks. The change is said to have been made with a view to bringing the plan back near its orignal idea.

Further funds will be allocated for new applications.

Canadian Elections Model For Colombia

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—Impressed with the general absence of scandals in Canadian elections, officials from Colombia met with Dominion Electoral Officers today to find out how it's done.

Dr. Eduardo Zuleta Angel, Foreign Minister of the South American Republic, accompanied by Jose Camacho Lorenzana, Counsellor of the Colombian Embassy in Washingnton, met with Jules Castonguay Canada's Chief Electoral Officer.

Mr. Lorenzana said Colombia wants to close up any loopholes in its election machinery. Specifically the Republic wants to remove the possibility of election frauds and to prevent machines from taking power.

LUCKNOW, India, July 19 (Reuters)—A live bomb wah discovered Monday on a Lucknow airport runway shortly after tre arrival of Indian Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, police announced today.

Police experts who examined the bomb said it was "a highly dangerous type."

Five days ago Nehru escaped unhurt when a bomb was thrown while he was addressing a meeting in Calcutta.

Has Close Call

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP) —Two persons had a close call today when a 30-foot length of metal cornice plummeted down from the roof of a building and just grazed them. The heavy chunk of metal was so close to Miss Dorothy Gensell that it scratched her right arm and ankle while the jagged edges tore her blouse and traced a sooty line down the right side of her white skirt.

POLICE PATROL IS MAINTAINED on the London docks as a group of Canadian seamen picket during the wildcat dock tie-up. Strikers answered the state of emergency proclaimed by the King, July 12, by calling out 2,700 more dock workers and tying up 15 more ships.

Commonwealth Countries Plan Austerity

LONDON, July 19 — (CP) — Commonwealth Finance Ministers ended a six-day conference Monday and announced that all members, except Canada and South Africa will be asked to put austerity measures into effect similar to those Britain clamped on last week. The Finance Ministers, representing the Sterling-area countries, will recommend to their governments the "equivalent" of a 25-per-cent reduction in dollar imports, a Communique said.

This means that imports from Canada, the United States and other dollar-area countries will be reduced this year by $650,000,000 from last year's total.

Canada, a member of the dollar area, will not put any such measures into effect, but the results will be felt in the Dominion.

Other developments on the dollar front Monday included:

1. Foreign Secretary Bevin told the House of Commons he will accompany Sir Stafford to Washington in September for further talks with American financial experts on the dollar situation.

2. Prime Minister Attlee told the House he will take over the policy while Sir Stafford is in job of guiding Britain's economic Switzerland for treatment of a digestive complaint.

Go Lightly

3. During the lengthy debate on Britain's dollar position two opposition speakers urged the government to go lightly on Canada in any new economies that might be made.

COMMONWEALTH

Abbott Mistrusts Solution

LONDON, July 19—(CP)—Finance Minister Douglas Abbott of Canada indicated today he considers a long-term solution of the dollar dilemma depends on "translating into action" the general trading principles endorsed at the Commonwealth finance talks just concluded. He left no doubt that he personally considers these principles should lead in an expansionist rather than an restrictionist direction.

"I don't think dollar cuts are a sure cure for anything," he told Canadian correspondents at a press conference.

Everyone at the Commonwealth talks, he said, agreed on the main principles of what the long-term solution should be. It remains to be seen to what extent these principles could be put into effect.

Abbott did not disguise the fact that Canada will feel the effect of the 25 per cent. import cuts.

"There's no use trying to fool ourselves," he said. "There will be very real curtailment of their (Sterling area) purchases from Canada."

He indicated that timber, nonferrous metals and pulp and paper would be among Canadian commodities most sharply affected.

"I am extremely sorry to see this curtailment in timber and newsprint," he said, adding that reductions in this field would be made among other countries by Australia and South Africa.

He said Canada will have to start looking for other markets for wheat, but declined to speculate on possibilities.

Over and over again he stressed that the essential trading principle is that "products must be produced at a price that is right."

Danger of curtailing imports was that each cut tended to raise production costs as markets contracted. At the same time, everyone agreed that full multilateral trade is not immediately possible.

Atomic Energy Committee Will Hold Secret Meeting

WASHINGTON, July 19—(CP)—The Atomic Energy Committee of Congress has been summoned to meet Wednesday to discuss relations with Britain and Canada in the field of atomic energy. Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.), chairman of the joint Senate-House of Representatives Committee, announced the meeting. At the same time he confirmed that the hush-hush meeting called by President Truman last Thursday dealt with that subject.

Although McMahon did not say so, the principal problem is reported to be Britain's view that she should be given American secrets of how to produce the atomic bomb.

A majority of the joint congressional committee is understood to be opposed, at the present time, to passing this "know how" on to any other country — including Britain.

In Closed Session

McMahon said in a statement that the committee will meet in a closed door session Wednesday afternoon "to explore with the department of state, the national military establishment and the atomic energy commission the continuing problem of our relations with the United Kingdom and Canada in the field of atomic energy."

In the absence of any details about the 2½-hour mystery conference last Thursday night there are suggestions that a new atomic partnership is being arranged. Other informants indicate the changes might be minor, a mere "tidying-up" of existing points of friction.

Congress would have to act if this country were to share its atomic secrets with either Britain or Canada.

Master Flames At Oil Storage

MONTREAL, July 19.—(CP).—A spectacular fire at the storage depot of McColl Frontenac Oil Company at suburban Montreal East was brought under control today. The fire followed an explosion in one of the buildings housing pumping equipment at the company's tank farm.

No casualties were reported as a result of the blast, but columns of thick, black smoke rose high in the air. The small fire-fighting force of Montreal East and the plant's own protection force were reinforced by apparatus from the city of Montreal.

Firemen fought for more than an hour to prevent the flames from spreading to a neighboring tank farm where large quantities of gasoline were stored.

The actual cause of the fire could not immediately be ascertained and there was no early estimate of the damage.

Leaside Demands Resignation Inquiry

TORONTO, July 19 (CP) — Residents of suburban Leaside indicated Monday night they will demand a public investigation into the dismissal last week of Police Chief John McGrail.

A deputation of citizens conferred with councillors and requested a complete report on the dismissal. Mayor Trace Maneh declined to reveal the circumstances surrounding the dismissal except to say that the Chief Constable "had failed to promote harmony and maintain the necessary efficiency on the force."

Rev. John Galloway, retired Presbyterian minister and spokesman for the citizens, charged that Council was not justified in giving notice of dismissal if inefficiency was the sole ground.

"There's growing dissatisfaction in the town," he said, "and residents are going to demand a public hearing presided over by a judge."

WILL STAND TRIAL

MONTREAL, July 19 (CP) — Hal C. Banks, international representative of the Seafarers' International Union, (AFL) and four other members of the same union were committed for trial on charges of illegal possession of offensive weapons.

Jumps Into River Mother Saves Baby 2

BOLTON, Ont., July 19 (CP)—Plunging fully-clothed into the Humber River, Mrs. Eugene O'Reilly, of nearby Wildfield, pulled her unconscious two-year-old son to safety Monday after he fell into eight feet of water.

Mrs. O'Reilly, a non-swimmer, ran a quarter-mile to the river and saw her son floating face-down in the water. She jumped fully clothed into the river, grabbed her son and struggled to safety. Neighbors came to her aid and a doctor administered artificial respiration to the mother and child.

Neither suffered any ill effects.

Alert 2,000 More Troops For Duty At Waterfront

LONDON, July 19 (CP)—Another 2,000 troops were put on the alert today for duty on the strike-bound London waterfront.

The troops, due in the docks tomorrow, will increase to nearly 9,000 the number of servicemen unloading and loading ships tied up for 22 days by a work stoppage of stevedores and dockers.

The Labor Ministry gave this picture of the waterfront today: 70 ships are idle and seven are being unloaded with inadequate crews; 15,441 dockers are idle. 8,936 still are at work on 22 ships, troops are at work on 70 ships.

Forty-two crew members still on duty on the Canadian ship Beaverbrae, involved in the Canadian Seamen's Union dispute which led to the dock stoppage, urged the dockers to go back to work today.

As Transport Minister Alfred Barnes and Home Secretary James Chuter Ede this morning toured the docks another 100 men—mostly lightermen, stopped work.

It is estimated that so far the men have lost £335,000 ($1,420,000) in wages.

The executives of the Stevedores and Lightermen's Unions, to which the bulk of the idle dockers belong, held a joint meeting this morning to discuss latest moves to end the stoppage.

They had before them a letter from some of the crew of the Beaverbrae. The letter claims that 42 of the Beaverbrae's crew — more than 60 per cent—have returned to the ship, and calls on Dick Barrett secretary of the Stevedores' Union, to "keep his word."

Gerard Dennis Can Appeal After 18 Years To State Parole Board

Police Accuse St. Catharines-Born Man Of $600,000 Chain of Burglaries, 12 Break-Ins Committed In Montreal Area

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., July 19—(CP)—Gerard Dennis, 29-year-old St. Catharines-born society burglar, today was sentenced to 18 years to life in prison. The handsome native of Ontario was accused of a $600,000 chain of burglaries reaching from New York to Hollywood and into Canada. He pleaded guilty to seven counts. Judge Elbert T. Gallagher of Westchester County gave him a sentence of 18 years to life on each count. However, the sentences are to run concurrently.

Dennis was arrested last Feb. 16 in Cleveland. He was brought for trial to Westchester County, site of many of his alleged burglaries.

While being held in county jail awaiting trial, he was interviewed several times by Canadian police officers from Montreal and its suburbs. Chief Robert Byford of Westmount, Que., who led the questioning of Dennis, said the handsome thief admitted 12 burglaries in the Montreal area during 1944 and 1945.

A Long Trail

Dennis' arrest brought to an end not only a long trail on jewel thefts but also a series of romantic entanglements in Canada and the United States. The arrest itself was largely brought about through information given police by an attractive, 22-year-old model whom Dennis had used to dispose of stolen gems.

At the same time, it was learned Dennis had been sharing a west coast apartment with Betty Ritchie of Fenelon Falls and former Toronto schoolteacher. Miss Ritchie, 24, was charged with receiving stolen property after thousands of dollars worth of jewellery and furs were found in the apartment.

She was acquitted on the charges of receiving stolen property and charges of theft were dropped.

Miss Ritchie said at her trial that she and Dennis had lived as man and wife. Asked whether there had been a marriage ceremony, she replied: "Just between the two of us."

The "Lothario-Raffles," had been married earlier. In 1937 in Toronto he married and fathered two children. He left his wife several years before their divorce in 1947 and lived with Eleanor Harris of Toronto. They moved to Montreal and later to New York, where she used the name Eleanor Farrell.

Fear Communists Winning Jobless In U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP)—A labor leader said today that many jobless workers in the United States already are paying attention to Communist preachings.

Emil Rieve, president of the Textile Workers Union (CIO), told a "full employment conference" of Americans for Democratic Action that cities and towns hard-hit by unemployment make "a wonderful breeding place for Communism."

The A-D-A is a political organizaton. Rules bar Communists from its membership.

"All the agitation in the world by the Communist party in the United States during the years of full employment bore almost no results," Rieve said in remarks prepared for the meeting.

"During the past few months, however, it is clear cut that in desperation many of the unemployed workers are at least giving an ear to demogogic appeals of the Communists.

"You don't have to like Communism or be sympathetic to it to realize that so long as unemployment continues and grows in the United States, the Communists will have a field day."

The A.D.A. speakers called generally for integrated country-wide planning by all elements of the economy to avoid joblessness and reach the $300,000,000,000 annual national income goal suggested by President Truman in his July 11 message to Congress.

Heavy Rains Relieve Drought

TORONTO, July 19 (CP) — Heavy rains that accompanied severe electrical storms in most sections of Ontario today "brought untold relief" to the province's parched pasture and crop fields, agriculture officials reported.

"There is no doubt about it," they said. "The heavly downpour was a million-dollar rain and will bring untold relief and aid immeasurably the second-growth hay crops."

Hay crops cut several weeks ago in many sections of the province yielded generally about 50 per cent normal.

The welcome rains will also probably aid in curbing the destructive activities of aphids and army worms which have invaded many lush farm areas of Ontario.

British Vampire Slayer Condemned To Hang

LEWES, Sussex, England, July 19—(CP)—John George Haigh, self-confessed "vampire" slayer of nine, was condemned tonight to die on the gallows.

A jury of 11 men and a woman deliberated only 15 minutes before convicting the handsome, 39-year-old businessman of killing wealthy Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon, 69, last Feb. 18, drinking a glass of her blood and destroying her body in a barrel of acid.

Haigh had pleaded for "a special verdict in the form of guilty of the acts charged but insane at the time they were committed."

Chief Petawa-Wa-Much II Back In Belleville Haunts

OTTAWA, July 19—(CP)—A cigar-store indian that landed with Canadian troops in Europe early in the second world war lies buried on a beach in France.

It was the original Chief Petawa-Much, mascot of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, who was hastily buried when members of the unit were forced to leave through the port of Brest, and return to England in 1940.

As far as is known, the Chief is still there. Nothing has been done to bring him back because he now has a successor, Chief Petawa-Wa-Much II.

The chief has just returned to Belleville, home of the Regiment, after a brief visit to his birthplace. He accompanied the regiment to Petawawa Camp last week and was set up in front of the hut housing members of the unit training there.

Chief Petawa-Wa-Much II was carved out of the solid trunk of a 22-inch pine early in the war by a wood-carver at Pembroke, a few miles from Petawawa Camp. The seven-foot chief, after replacing the original mascot, accompanied the regiment through Sicily, Italy and northwest Europe.

Justice Murphy Dies In Detroit Hospital

DETROIT, July 19 — (AP) — Justice Frank Murphy of the United States Supreme Court died today in hospital. He was 59.

Doctors said his death this morning due to coronary occlusions, a heart affliction.

Murphy was appointed to the Supreme Court in 1940 by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Prior to that, he had served a two-year term as Governor of Michigan. He was defeated for re-election.

Before running for governor, Murphy served as the last Governor-General of the Philippines. He was also Attorney-General of the United States.

The justice had been ill for some time but his condition was not regarded as serious.

Violence Flares After Negroes Attack Woman

GROVELAND, Fla., July 19—(AP)—A riot of shooting and house burning flared in this farming section Monday night after a man was beaten and robbed and his 17-year-old wife raped early last Saturday.

Three Negro homes were destroyed after an armed mob set fire to them. As far as could be determined no one was in the buildings which had been evacuated by their occupants before nightfall.

Earlier, Lake County Sheriff W. V. McCall hurled a tear gas bomb into the midst of a heavily-armed mob of about 5 men who rode shooting through Stuckey's Still, a Negro community about five miles west of Groveland.

Three Negroes have been arrested and charged by Sheriff McCall with rape, kidnapping and causing bodily harm in connection with the Saturday offence. The Sheriff said the three had admitted the crimes and that a fourth suspect was sought.

Seek Fourth Man

He listed the prisoners as Charlie Greenlee, Samuel Shepherd and Walter Irvin, all about 20. McCall said they admitted they beat and robbed Will Padgett of Groveland, then kidnapped and raped his wife.

National Guardsmen Monday night ringed the Negro section here some distance from the flaming structures.

The mob at Stuckey's Still dispersed after the gas was thrown by the sheriff. He followed them to a country road where he talked them into disbanding. As the crowd broke up, one unidentified man said:

"We know we can't fight the law."

He and several others said there would be no more trouble. The house burning followed soon afterwards several miles away.

Ku Klux Klan pamphlets were distributed from automobiles Sunday night.

Find Gallons Of Oil Along Shore Of Lake

TORONTO, July 19.—(CP)—Greasy waves of oil rolled up along five miles of Lake Ontario shore line near here Monday night and police said they received complaints from several cottages and bathers. Origin of the oil still is undetermined.

Two large refineries (British American and Trinidad Leaseholds) disclaimed responsibility. Some cottagers suggested that a tanker was piping sludge somewhere near the shore. Officials estimated that several thousand gallons had been released.

Near Fatality As Boys Fight

BELLEVILLE, July 19—(CP)—Intervention by three adults in a fight between two young boys prevented a possible fatality here Monday.

The two lads, Max Turner and a companion, 13, were returning from a swim when an argument started and the fight ensued.

One of the adults, Leo Culhane, said the older boy was choking young Turner when they stopped the fight. Artificial respiration was necessary to revive him.

Police said they would not lay charges.

Farm Women Help Fight Army Worms

REDICKVILLE, Ont., July 19 (CP)—Farm women lent a hand Monday night in this Dufferin County area's fight against army worms.

Working beside their menfolk, they scattered grain treated with Paris Green across fields invaded by the worms. On seven farms in this section, they worked until darkness forced them to halt.

Old farmers here say they regard the advancing army worms as harbingers of war. They say the worms appeared before the outbreak of several conflicts in the past.

Crippled Girl Sings On Stage

BLACKPOOL, England, uly 7 —(CP)—Courage has won the day for pretty singer Lilian Gates.

Handicapped by after-effects of poliomyelitis, she fought back for years and has now gained her life's ambition—to appear on the stage in a big show.

Probably Britain's only crippled chorus girl she is singing in Noel Coward's "Bitter Sweet" at Blackpool's Grand Theatre. The lavish stage spectacle is expected to reach London's West End later this year.

Lilian, born in Newcastle-on-Tyne, was stricken with the illness before she was two years old. Her mother gave her every care and attention, but Lilian realized if she wanted to be cured she must hlp herself.

Gets Big Chance

At 17 she took up singing and developed an attractive soprano voice. After the war she went to London but, being still lame, was turned down by West End theatre managers. She managed, however, to obtain engagements as a solo variety turn. Then . . .

"The musical director of 'Bitter Sweet' heard me sing and invited me to attend an audition, which I passed. To be in the chorus of a show that will probably reach the West End is the biggest thrill of my life."

Gerard Dennis

Dennis, nattily dressed in a tan summer suit, stood handcuffed to a deputy sheriff, with head bowed ,as Judge Gallagher pronounced sentence.

Good Behaviour Counts

Gallagher told him he never could hope to be released from prison unless the State Parole Board was convinced he would behave himself.

Dennis' lawyer, Joseph F. Gagliardi, pleaded for leniency, saying that Dennis was a victim of a broken home and had been imprisoned with hardened criminals after his first conviction in Canada at the age of 16.

"In my opinion he was doomed from the very start," the lawyer said.

The distrcit attorney's office produced records showing Dennis was convicted of 14 crimes in Canada, ranging from breaking and entering to assisting in an abortion, before he transferred his activities to the United States.

During his confinement while awaiting trial, Dennis expressed remorse for his past life and indicated he wished to help police recover all possible loot so that he might have a chance to start his life over. He co-operated in leading police to pawnshops where much of the stolen property was recovered.

Army Staff Chief Slain Battle Rages At Palace

GUATEMALA, July 19—(AP)—Armored troops were reported battling for control of the National Palace today as confusion and violence gripped Guatemala in the wake of the slaying of her Army Chief of Staff. An attack on the Palace was launched Monday night after the Army leader, Col. Francisco Javier Arana had been assassinated. War planes zoomed over the city and armed civilians roamed the streets despite police curfew orders.

Early today Manuel Galich, a leader of the revolutionary action party which supports President Juan Jose Arevalo's regime, broadcast that the government had the situation "in control."

There have been no casualty reports, but ambulances clanged through the streets all night, indicating some persons had been killed or wounded.

Coup Under Way

Conflicting, confused reports prevented a clear picture of what was happening, but it began to appear that a coup was under way inside the barred doors of the palace itself.

A government employee said National Defence Minister Joacobo Arbenz and his supporters were holding the palace against troops loyal to President Arevalo.

Arevalo was reported barricaded in his own residence while the battle which may decide his political future raged outside the palace.

A truck driver told an Associated Press correspondent he witnessed Arana's slaying. He said six men with machine guns forced the army chief out of the station wagon near Lake Matitlan, southwest of the capital, and then cut down both Arana and a police official with a burst of fire.

Kitchener To Borrow

Finance committee of Kitchener city council recommended Monday night that a bylaw be submitted to the ratepayers authorizing the borrowing of $400,000 as a further substantial contribution for the building of a memorial auditorium.

A previous bylaw for $450,000 underestimated the cost of this community project which is generally similar to the Peterborough Memorial Community Centre, but is on a somewhat larger scale.

Ald. Harry Ainlay, finance committee chairman, said the Ontario Municipal Board would probably sanction the additional spending if the taxpayers were in favor of it. Mayor J. W. Wahsburn said it would involve only $1.75 per $3,000 assessment in the municipal tax levy.

Prices Turn Firmer On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, July 19 (CP) — Prices turned firmer from early weakness here today. Industrials recovered morning losses and climbed into the gain column while base metals showed a handful of small advances. Golds steadied.

Selected industrial issues came into slight demand in mid-session after moving at lower levels for the first two hours. Utilities steels and liquors showed moderate fractional advances. Activity was even slower than Monday when turnover was the lowest since late June.

Steep Rock Iron Mines featured base metals, climbing 12 cents $1.54 in a firming base metal list. Senior golds were slightly higher and junior producers showed signs of strengthening.

Activity in a few smaller issues were strong with a few new highs being touched. Companies with uranium prospects attracted considerable attention.

Central Porcupine was brisk for a slight gain following assay results from the property.

Commonwealth

4. Sir Stafford, at a press conference, described the Commonwealth conference as one of the most successful ever held. He said the recommendations were unanimous and expressed the hope they would form the basis for future united action by the Commonwealth.

Bevin blamed a large part of Britain's dollar crisis on high support prices paid American farmers by the United States government.

He told the House such prices are as much part of a "welfare state" as socialized Britain's free health service and Nationalization of industry.

Some Conservatives have denounced high taxation to finance social benefits as largely responsible for the current crisis. They have maintained that funds from the "free enterprise" United States should not be used to make up deficits incurred by socialist spending.

Leading the opposition attack in the debate, Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader, accused the government of trying to "play down the gravity of the economic situation."

Think Election To Quiet Bengali

CALCUTTA, July 19 (Reuters)—A general election is expected in west Bengal this year as a first step toward ending the unrest in the province.

The Indian Congress Working Committee in New Delhi is understood to have tentatively agreed to this step, the first of two major recommendations made by Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on his return from a three-day, fact-finding visit last week to Calcutta.

The Prime Minister, who told Calcutta congressmen that they should risk death if necessary in facing the problems of the day, is understood to have advised early elections and the provision of a broadly-based ministry, including all congress factions.

Nehru considered that these steps would restore congress unity and stabilize provincial administration.

Bengal has been fighting for economic survival since India's partition reduced the province to one third its former size, removed vast tracts of its agricultural land and its valuable jute trade, and saddled the administration with 2,000,000 refugees.

An influential section of public opinion here believes the 77-year-old Sri Aurobindo Ghosh, sage and philosopher, is the only living Bengali who can bring about a change of heart among Bengal's people.

Academic Lists Failures, Passes Being Studied

Latin and Algebra proved to be the two chief stumbling blocks for PCVS students writing Grade 11 examinations this year Of the 62 who failed outright or dropped at least one subject, 37 found these two subjects their nemesis.

The high proportion of academic failures at PCVS this year is a matter of concern to the Board of Education and a study is being made of them by the Superintendent of Schools, K. S. Wightman.

Thirty-five of the 268 students who wrote in Grade Nine will have to repeat this year. A total of 161 papers were below the pass mark with Mathematics, Geography and British History heading the list.

Maths and Latin

In Grade 10 more than 50 per cent who wrote did not pass: 14 failed and another 34 will be writing supplementals. Maths and Latin proved most difficult, closely followed by French.

In Grade 11 a total of 115 students wrote June examinations. There were 109 papers below the pass-mark, written by 32 who failed and another 30 who are facing supplementals. The remaining 53 got through.

It was pointed out, however, that although there were more failures in Latin (19) than any other subject, 82 of the 115 wrote on this subject.

The summary of Grade 12 follows: 108 wrote examinations; 70 passed in all subjects; 38 failed in one or more. There were 96 failure papers led by Chemistry (20), Algebra (15) and Modern History and French (10) each.

Other Departments

Home Economics Department: Six failed of the 21 students who wrote in Grade Nine — all of them on English, History, Geography and Science. One failed and two will be writing supplementals in Grade 10. Four failed and two will be writing supplementals in Grade 11. And there were no failures at all among the 12 who wrote in Grade 12.

English, Geography and Drafting each claimed 16 of the failure papers in Grade Nine of the Industrial Department. Fifty students wrote and passed in that Grade and 19 did not come up to the mark.

Of the 47 students who wrote in Grade 10 of the Industrial, 27 passed, seven failed and 13 will try supplementals. Two failed, six will try supplementals, and the other 17 who wrote in Grade 11 passed. Seventeen wrote and only two failed (both in Science) in Grade 12.

Fourteen failures and 21 supplementals were chalked up by the 57 who wrote in Grade 10 of the Commecial Dept. Mathematics claimed 11 victims and spelling 10, followed by stenography and typing with nine and eight, respectively. Five failures and 13 supplementals was the record in Grade 11 with stenography and maths causing students the most trouble. Only three failures were made in Grade 12; the other 14 of the 17 who wrote got through. Five failed and 15 passed out of the 20 in the Special Course.

Warns Against Driving Reds Underground

CAMPBELLFORD, July 19 — (ENS)—The nations of the world must bend every effort for peace because another war would practically end civilization," Dr. Fred Robertson, M.P., Cobourg, told members of the Rotary Club on Monday.

"The world is faced," he said, "with Communism, the most subtle of all evils."

He said that he did not believe in outlawing the Communist party in this country. "We must not drive them underground," he said, "where their nefarious work will be hidden from public view. Freedom of speech must be preserved," he declared.

"The home, school and church are the agencies through which we can successfully combat Communism," Dr. Robertson continued. "There is no substitute for the home in teaching children the true ideals of democracy. Teachers have great opportunities in inculcating in our youth the democratic way of life and the responsibilities of our churches are equally as great."

Just As Important

Dr. Robertson said that laborers and farmers were as important to our democracy as lawyers and leaders of industry. "I am not too proud of certain things in our political life," he said, "but we must not take a negative view and refuse to run for political office.

W. A. Hogle introduced the speaker and Ralph Locke moved the vote of thanks. President Charles Calver was in the chair.

Charged Nazi Follower

DETMOLD, Germany, July 19 (AP)—Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, former Hitler cabinet minister, who was convicted as a Nazi, Monday was re-classified as merely a "Nazi follower." A German court of appeals reduced his conviction to this classification—the mildest form of Nazism. Hugenberg was one of Germany's biggest industrialists.

Granted Adjournment To Secure Witnesses

COBOURG, July 19—(ENS)— Trial of Cecil Lowes of Brighton on a charge of drunken driving was adjourned yesterday after the accused informed the court that he would like an opportunity to call some defence witnesses. Magistrate W. Gee advised him to see a lawyer before his case resumed.

Corporal Douglas Wilson of Cobourg testified that on July 16 he and Constable F. Clough followed Lowes' car out of Brighton village and that Lowes was purcausing an accident on a number of occasions. When the police car suing an erratic course, nearly drew up, Lowes waved his arm in a "come-on" gesture, as if inviting the police car to race him. The police car pulled ahead and forced the other automobile to stop.

Lowes did not give evidence himself and asked the court for an adjournment in order to call some witnesses.

"I don't want to hinder his chances to defend himself," commented Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

The City Trust Principle

The State of Pennsylvania is establishing an agency which it calls the General State Authority, which will issue bonds backed with "the full faith and credit" of the State, and which will undertake a large program of welfare and natural resource projects. This is the first time that a state of the American Union has done anything of the kind, and the idea is attracting wide attention and comment in financial and government circles below the border. What particularly interests us about this project is that the General State Authority strongly resembles in constitution and power our own Peterborough City Trust. The Trust, of course, works on a municipal scale, but the principle is the same.

* * *

This leads us to comment once again on the fine work which the City Trust has done, over the course of the years, to keep Peterborough's finances on an even keel, and to bring our city to a condition of solvency which many similar cities envy. The last city issue of debentures was sold virtually as soon as it was put on the market, and at that time it was pointed out by financial authorities that Peterborough's credit is surpassed in Ontario only by Ottawa, Toronto and Kingston.

* * *

The City Trust is now relinquishing most of its powers, and in the course of time it will cease to be. There is no absolute necessity, however, for it to disappear if the citizens want to keep it in existence. We suggest that its past record, and the fact that so large a body as the State of Pennsylvania is setting up a similar body, provide arguments for retaining it, and we think that this matter might profitably be discussed. It is true that relations between the City Trust and the City Council in recent years have not been friendly, and that in one instance the Trust certainly acted directly contrary to the wishes of the citizens, as expressed by a municipal vote. However, the record of the Trust must not be considered in terms of ten years, but in terms of fifty years, and it must not be forgotten that the Trust is capable of reform. Is it wise to let it fade into nothingness, when its possible usefulness is so great?

* * *

We should be glad to hear from our readers on this subject. We should like to think, also, that the City Council is giving serious consideration to retaining the services of the Trust. It has been a good steward to this City, and it is possible that in allowing it to vanish we are making a mistake which we will find difficult to rectify.

A Century Of Fine Printing

We offer our congratulations to the firm of Rolph-Clark-Stone of Toronto, which this year completes a century of fine printing. Not all of this work was done in Canada, for it was not until 1857 that Joseph Thomas Rolph arrived in this country; but he associated himself with the firm of Ellis and Co., which began business in 1849, and this explains the reason for the present centenary. The firm has celebrated its hundredth year by reproducing three fine engravings of Quebec, Montreal and York (now, of course, Toronto) which were lent for this purpose by Dr. Sigmund Samuels from his unsurpassed collection of Canadiana.

Printing and lithography are crafts for which we have the highest admiration. As newspaper publishers we do not, of course, attempt any fine flights in this direction ourselves; the best we can do is to print clearly upon the type of paper which is best suited to our perishable, quickly-produced daily budget of news and advertisement. But we are keenly sensible of the benefit which fine printers confer upon the world. We all read a great deal; even the barely literate read many hundreds of words in a day. It is well to have the things which we read printed as finely as possible. And although we have the deepest respect for printers of fine books, we know that it is the work of the commercial printers—the men who make posters, pamphlets, labels and the like—which reaches the greatest number of eyes.

Rolph-Clark-Stone maintain a high standard; we cannot recall ever having seen a shabby piece of work with their imprint on it. They are craftsmen and, like all good craftsmen, they are also artists in a considerable degree. They make the world a pleasanter, more orderly, seemly place to live in by making so many things that we see and read, comely to the eye. We congratulate them on their century, and hope to live to congratulate them on the achievement of their 200th year.

Is Calling Hogs An Art?

Simcoe county recently held a hog-calling contest and attracted seventeen gifted entrants; the contest was won by Mr. Gordon Clark of Shanty Bay. His technique, we understand, is to call "PEEG-pig-PEEG!" in a low pitched but extremely powerful voice. Other contestants called "PIG-hoooey!" Some, conservative and austere in their approach to the job, simply shouted "Pig!" as loud as they could. We wish that we had been on hand to see the contest, because we are skeptical about hog-calling. We doubt if it is really an art.

We do not pretend to any great knowledge of pigs. In childhood, in a course of instruction then in vogue in the Ontario public schools, called "Agriculture" we learned a little about the principal breeds of pigs and can still tell a Poland China from a Chester White. But we have not sought the company of pigs, and their psychology is a closed book to us. Nevertheless we doubt if pigs care very much how they are called, and we wonder whether they need to be called at all. We used to visit a farm where the swineherd (who was also the cowherd, henwife, goosegirl, shepherd and hostler) called the pigs by beating a few times on the side of the swillpail with a stick; the pigs responded like guests at a summer hotel when they hear the dinner gong; we cannot imagine pigs moving faster, although he never used his voice.

What, then, is the art of hog-calling? Is it employed to lure fastidious, pernickety pigs to the trough? Is it needed to coax choosey, valetudinarian pigs to pick a little at their food? We repeat, we do not know much about pigs, but we do not think that most farmers have any trouble in persuading their pigs to eat.

Frankly, we suspect that hog-calling is just showing off— a type of barnyard swank, employed by frustrated opera singers. We are ready to be corrected, but that is our present opinion.

Could You Pass A Citizenship Test?

It is one thing to be born a citizen of Canada and quite another thing to become one. In order to be granted citizenship here the aspirant must pass a test which is by no means easy. Indeed, we wonder how many citizens by birth could pass it without doing some cramming beforehand. The trickiness of this test is exhibited in an article in the current number of Canadian Business.

For instance, what type of Parliament has Canada? The answer is "bicameral"—meaning that it has two chambers. But would that answer have occurred to you if a magistrate had asked you the question out of the blue? Can you name the Federal Courts? They are the Supreme, Exchequer and Admiralty Courts, but could you say what each court deals with? And what is the largest river in Canada? No, it is not the St. Lawrence, but the Mackenzie.

The immigrant who becomes a Canadian citizen must know these things and many more. We must be careful not to think that, because we were born in Canada, and perhaps boast of pioneer ancestors, that we know all there is to know about it.

NOTE AND COMMENT

"Bad cooking practices die slowly", says a writer. The victims, however, sometimes die quite quickly.

A Hollywood astrologer advises the United Nations that the next few months will be unfavourable for international conferences. An easy guess, if ever we heard one.

A Boy Scout Conference is now in progress in Ottawa. Life in that city should be blissful indeed with so many lads bursting with eagerness to do their good deed for the day.

Three beauty parlours were robbed in an Indiana town last week. Let's hope it isn't the beginning of a permanent crime wave. We also advise the beauticians that if they attend to their locks, get set, keep their powder dry and their irons in the fire, they may beat the burglars by a hair's breadth.

The Norwich Water-Colourists

By JONATHAN MAYNE

TO understand the contribution made by the painters of the Norwich School to the development of water-colour painting in England, it is necessary to look first at the general progress of the art during the last decades of the 18th century. For although the Norwich School represents a genuinely regional artistic movement, its leading members can now be seen to be of considerably more than regional importance, and John Sell Cotman (1782-1842), its undoubted leader in water-colour, is now held to be one of the glories of the national tradition. Thus the term "Norwich School" misleads to the extent that it suggests an isolated pocket of activity, having little or no reference to London, which was the productive centre of English art; it is illuminating and convenient in describing a circle of painters who had something more in common than the mere locality of their birth.

❖ ❖ ❖

PAINTING in water-colours became a consistent and systematic art in England during the 18th century. Its genesis was the result of various factors, but chief among them was the carrying over into a new medium of the landscape ideals — both Italian and Dutch—of the 17th century. A growing demand for topographical drawings—for portraits of places—provided the occasion for its development; and a growing class of antiquaries and connoisseurs formed its patrons. But during the last years of the century, new aesthetic ideas were making themselves felt, and topography, even though cast in a Classic, Italianate mould, began to prove insufficient for the later generation. Remarkable and wholly successful attempts were made by such artists as J. R. Cozens, and following him by the youthful J. M. W. Turner and Thomas Girtin, to raise topography to a new power and to create a romantic as opposed to a classic landscape art in water-colour. Their experiments were directed towards a greater breadth and fluency of handling their materials, a more intense feeling of spontaneity and an awakening to atmospheric truth. They continued to revere Claude, but a new naturalism in their artistic aproach to their subject-matter produced a new kind of reverence—for nature itself.

❖ ❖ ❖

SUCH was the state of water-colour art when, in 1797 or '98, John Sell Cotman came from Norwich to London. He was young—no more than 15 or 16—and determined, against his parents' desire, to be a painter. The other young men with whom he came to associate in London were, broadly speaking, under the stylistic influence of Thomas Girtin, and many of Cotman's earlier water-colours show much of Girtin's spirit and some of his mannerisms. Had it not been for a marked originality in his talent, Cotman might have continued, as he began, in the trend toward a romantic naturalism. But very soon he began to show other qualities—qualities which were rapidly to become typical of his best work, and which more than any others were to be reflected in the paintings of his later Norwich disciples: these were an exceptionally strong sense of pattern, unequalled by any other English painter of his time, and, arising out of this, a habit of breaking up natural appearances into flat planes of colour. The water-colour of Greta Bridge, Yorkshire, which he painted about 1805 and which is one of his best known works, admirably reveals the strength and the subtlety of the style which he perfected. The remarkable clarity and balance of his design—a true design in depth—guards against the water-colourist's besetting danger, which is the production of something merely delicate and pretty. There is in fact a solidity of structure about this and many other fine water-colours of the same period that makes one think forward to Cezanne, however far-fetched at first sight the comparison may seem. For Cotman was learning to take nature to pieces, so to speak, and to reassemble the fragments to form a picture.

❖ ❖ ❖

COTMAN continued to reside in London until 1806, and it is to the latter years of this period that belong the best water-colours in the style which he was to bring back to Norwich and which, in the medium of water-colour, must be held to constitute the foundation of the "Norwich School". In 1806 he decided to return to the city of his birth. It was already a fairly flourishing artistic centre, a fact which was largely due to the work of John Crome (1768-1821). Crome was the leading Norwich artist, who at this time was combining a growing practice as a drawing-master with the production of admirable landscapes in oil. His style was derived partly from the English landscape tradition, which was itself based on the work of Richard Wilson, but he would seem to have gained a greater part of his strength from a study of the Dutch landscapists of the 17th century. In 1803 Crome founded the Norwich Society of Artists, the first organization of its kind to be established in England outside London, and two years later the first of an annual series of exhibitions of members' work was held by the Society. His first works to be shown at Norwich included a considerable proportion of portrait-drawings, and in fact he was described in the early catalogues as a portrait-painter. But he gradually devoted more of his time to landscape-painting, both in oils and water-colours, and it was undoubtedly in this direction that his real gifts lay. And, like Crome, Cotman began to develop an extensive practice as a teacher.

❖ ❖ ❖

IT was in this way that Cotman's water-colour style triumphed in Norwich, for he brought home with him not only his own perfected talent, but also some of the progressive spirit of his London friends. Although his style was personal, it afforded a language of forms that was readily assimilated by his pupils. John Thirtle (1777-1839), for example, a Norwich painter who came early under Cotman's influence, developed rapidly a sense of design closely akin to that of his master. From his beginnings as a miniature-painter, Thirtle achieved a broadness of conception and a feeling for structure and pattern which clearly derive from Cotman's example. Even John Crome, who was some years older than Cotman and whose oil-paintings owe little or nothing to him, seems to have been affected by Cotman's influence in the few water-colours that have survived—for instance in that called Landscape with Cottages, with its broad masses and its bold articulation of form. In oils however the Norwich School continued to be led by Crome, whose indebtedness in that medium to the earlier Dutch masters has already been mentioned. Of those others who were primarily oil-painters, James Stark (1794-1859) has most claim to be considered also as a water-colourist; and alone of the Norwich oil-painters he carried into water-colour a style broadly based on his practice in oils—a very characteristic and charming derivation from his Dutch models. Stark's water-colours indeed deserve to be mentioned, but by the way, rather than in the main stream of the Norwich water-colour tradition.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE later phases of Cotman's art were perhaps less influential in their effect on the vision of others. His two sons, Miles Edmund and John Joseph Cotman, continued to take their cue from his earlier manner, and produced drawings which can sometimes be mistaken for those of their father. The drawings which Cotman circulated in large numbers among his pupils all showed the clarity and the almost sculptural quality of the works which he exhibited during his first years in Norwich. It is in fact of Cotman's earlier works that one instinctively thinks in order to epitomise the characteristic Norwich style. It is their subtly strong and massively delicate style which Cotman gave not only to Norwich but to the English tradition as a whole.

COMMENTS ON ELECTION

Sir: The election was an eye-opener; after all the fuss about income tax, people vote themselves those shackles for another four years: why?

One guess for the Conservatives failure is that, Canadians have become so sportsminded that they will not put up with any mudslinging no matter how justified it may be. The U.S.A. was the same in their last election. Perhaps they (Conservatives) should practice ball or hockey? And it is not too soon to start a campaign for the next election (if there ever is another), a constructive not a destructive one. And for goodness sake if you make the grade, harness something other than humanity.

As for the C.C.F., the horrors of Communism and unsuccessful socialism in England prevented their advance. We must know more about it—labour on a rampage encourages Communism, discourages Christianity.

SIMPLE SIMON.

FOR CLEARER VISION

Sir: Just read your "Cupid Medically Examined", which brought to mind a paragraph read in a book recently and copied because it intrigued so—not that the incidents could be compared—but here it is: quote, "And at another time He (Jesus) taketh with me (John) and James and Peter up into the mountain where he was wont to pray, and we saw in him a light such as is not possible for a man with corruptible speech to describe. I therefore because he loved me, drew nigh unto him softly, as though he could not see me, and stood looking at his hinder parts; and I saw that he was naked, and not in any wise as an (earthly) man and that his feet were whiter than any snow, so that the earth there was lighted up by his feet, and that his head touched the heaven: so that I was afraid and cried out, and he turning about appeared as a man of small stature, and caught hold of my beard and pulled it and said to me: John be not faithless but believing."

This was of course the transfiguration. What interesting possibilities for a preacher—instead of creed-riddled, baffling, sterilized harangues that go in one ear and out the other (ther preachers please accept apologies). Let us not forget that the son of God forgave 'harlots', and 'prodigals', but condemned Pharisees and hypocrites.

My opinion is that if nudes (spiritual ones) were in pictures and sculpture — placed in schools, libraries, parks, we would become a clearer visioned, more rational race of people (humans).

Saul too on one occasion threw off his clothes. 1 Sam. 19: 24.

But before that is tried we had better destroy the 'Evil One'.

Think your idea of the Queen Victoria bronze statue a good one.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses....

Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy; that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold on eternal life. (1 Tim. 6: 12, 17-19.)

Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things. (II Tim. 2: 3-5, 7.)

Manxmen Keep Wary Eye On Cripps Budget Slashing

By DON GILBERT

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man, July 19—(CP)—Manxmen lose little sleep over income taxes. But they keep a wary eye on Sir Stafford Cripps. Although part of the United Kingdom, this island in the Irish Sea is a taxation shangri-la compared with the heavily-burdened mainland.

Manxmen want to keep it that way. But they concede the "prophet of austerity" in London could spoil it all.

On the mainland a married man with two children earning £10 ($40) a week pays an annual income tax of £22 10s. On the Isle of Man he pays only 10s.

On top of that there is no entertainment tax, no death duty, no excess profits tax. Beer sells for fourpence a half pint.

The 227-square-mile island, whose main busniess is the tourist trade, is governed by one of the most ancient legislative assemblies in the world, the Tynwald, whose lower chamber is called the House of Keys.

Relies On Customs Revenue

Direct taxation is low because the island government relies on customs revenue for the bulk of its income. Customs duties, along wit purchase tax, are collected by British revenue officers, the treasury paying the Manx government a percentage of the amount collected.

Manxmen know their taxation paradise could be quickly wrecked if the British treasury decided to get tough. Every now and then a hint comes from the mainland that the island's life is too privileged.

But the islanders argue their taxes are low because they manage economically. The remind the mainlander that during the last 10 years the Manx government has made free gifts to the British government totalling £1,250,000 and has loaned another £1,000,000 free of interest.

In addition, the island has been making an annual contribution of £10,000 to the British budget. Recently the treasury suggested that this amount be increased to £100,000 a year.

Some fear this proposal might be the first of a series of unpleasant fiscal changes. But meanwhile the Manx are busy entertaining the season's tourist influx—650,000 visitors, expected to leave close to £10,000,000 in the tight little island's cash boxes.

De Laval Picnic Gay Event For Employees

A perfect summer's day provided a fitting atmosphere at Nicholls Oval which was filled to capacity Saturday afternoon with a throng of families enjoying the annual picnic of the De Laval Company held each year for employees and their kiddies.

The usual races and contests were entered by young and old with, in some cases, more enthusiastic participation than skill. Gaiety and good-fellowship prevailed throughout the afternoon and evening. The kiddies lined up early and stayed late clutching their strips of free tickets in eager anticipation of ice cream cones, soft drinks, hot dogs and chocolate bars.

During the evening the grassy slopes fronting the new bandstand offered restful accommodation for the entertainment presented by Garden Bros., of Toronto. Later, dancing both round and square, was enjoyed by the more buoyant of a tired, but still energetic crowd of folk.

Presentations For All

Preceding the supper hour handsome silver pyrex casseroles were presented as registration prizes to each lady by the Vice-President and General Manager, Mr. C. L. Upper. The gentlemen at the same time received smart neckwear. Special registration draw prize of a blanket was won by J. A. Phillips, and four other lucky draws of $5.00 were won by J. S. Mason, A. Corbin, J. Hopkins, C. Johnston.

The Pro Golfers Association plans a frontal attack on the stymie rule. Players hope to abolish the only way a player can physically affect an opponent's shot. It isn't popular in the States and is a hangover from golf's early days in jolly old England, as the NEA points out. The USGA compromises with a six-inch rule providing that a ball must be lifted when it is six inches or less from the cup rim, or six inches from the opponent's ball and blocking the way. British officials insist on play all stymies as they lie. Neither this set rule nor the half-way compromise by the Americans satisfies the money players at all.

Jack Foote has the minor lacrosse standings of the city in tonight, as of Saturday. There are 17 teams playing from tadpoles to juveniles, with Spitfires leading in tadpole, Cyclones and Tigers tied in front of the peewees, UE leading bantam play, the Irwin-Godson midgets atop their pile, and Silver's shading the other juveniles. Coach Lou Vitarelli is calling a juvenile open all-star practice for tonight at seven in Miller Bowl. Queen's and Firestones have a juvenile joust there tonight at 6.15, while two bantam tilts are slated for tomorrow eve, opening at 6.15. Three minor games on Wednesday, commencing at 10 a.m.

How They Will Go

Secretary Bert Bailey has drawn up the week's schedule for the City Softball League, the second last week of the schedule. A triple-header of seven-inning games tonight at the Bowl, starting at 6.45: Cosmos vs. Outlaws, Uniteds vs. Jewellers, and Knights vs. Jewellers. Thursday it's: Knights vs. Jewellers, Jewellers vs. Outlaws, and Uniteds vs. Cosmos. And Saturday sees Knights play Jewellers, and Outlaws meet Uniteds in a twin bill. These games are highly important yet to four clubs fighting for spots in the city playoffs, which commence the first week of August. Uniteds lead now with Cosmos next, Knights third and Outlaws still in the hunt.

No girls' softball played at the Bowl d'Ashburnham last evening on account of wet grounds. Westclox were to have resumed after their holidays against Woollens, and Ashby's were billed to meet Marines. Same squads are slated to mix it there tomorrow eve in this order: Woollens vs. Westclox, and Marines vs. Ashby's. And Friday has Ashby's taking on Woollens, with Westclox going against Marines. You see, Prexy Bill Bennett has drawn the schedule to allow for the various shop holidays, so some teams are idle two weeks during a shutdown, and they have a flock of fixtures to catch up on their return. Schedule winds up on Aug. 5, with playoffs following.

Came The Rains

Senior Petes' lacrossers got word from Hamilton that 'twas raining up that way yesterday so they didn't go for their OLA contest. Not many lacrosse matches have been postponed so far this semester. St. Catharines come here to play the Creighton crew at 8.45 in Miller Bowl this Friday night, second last appearance of St. Kitts on local terrain, unless maybe in playoffs. Petes are in sixth place now, just ahead of Weston and hoping they can keep that spot or move up another notch to clinch a playoff berth. They go to Weston on Monday for an important go, and have Hamilton Tigers here a week from this Friday. The OLA has declined to shorten the senior "A" schedule to start Mann Cup playoffs earlier.

Having been notified we were elected again to compile the COBL hitting averages, we're busy working on figures these days and will send out club averages in another day or two. Up to date, we note where Pat Wilson is leading the Petes and the league hitting in eight games with a hefty .480, while George Ticcony of Oshawa is next with .458 in a dozen jousts. Al Memzies is second for the locals with .396, one point up on Howie Dalton, loop leader last year. Bill Dadson tops all twirlers, with Gunner Whitehill—victor in '48—next, just ahead of Gingerich of Oshawa. Petes are two points up on Oshawa in the standing but they play there tonight and Saturday, so anything can happen in this warmish race.

Hither And Yawn

Giants Trounce Orioles 9-7, Tied For Second

By The Associated Press.

There is a red-hot four-way race going on in the International League—for second place.

With Buffalo Bisons currently showing their heels, second place appears to be the prize goal for four clubs—Montreal, Jersey City, Rochester and Toronto, the latter a game and a half behind.

Jersey moved into the triple tie for second Monday night by outscoring Baltimore 9-7 while the Royals and Red Wings were dividing a doubleheader. The Royals won the opener 3-0 and the Red Wings took the nightcap 12-10.

Pete Pavlick's two run triple in the eighth inning capped a four run rally to give the Little Giants the victory.

Johnny Van Cuyk outpitched Cloyd Boyer as the Royals tallied three times in the eighth inning to win the opener. Chuck Connors broke up the scoreless duel by hitting a homer with Al Glonfrido on base. George Schmees followed with another circuit clout.

Ed Mierkowicz' second homer of the game with one on in the eighth inning, enabled the Red Wings to win the nightcap. Steve Bilko followed with another homer to provide the clincher.

Sammy Meeks drove in five runs with a home run and single to lead Syracuse to an 11-2 triumph over the hapless Newark Bears.

Here and There In Sport

Third-seeded Don Hooper of Kingston Monday entered the quarter-final round of the Ontario Closed Junior Tennis Championship with a convincing 6-4, 6-0 victory over Dick Ring of Toronto. In other junior men's singles matches Grant Logie, Toronto won from H. McGillicuddy, Woodstock, 2-6, 8-6, 6-3; and Pat Davis, Aurora, downed Sandy McLeod, Whitby, 3-6, 9-7, 7-5.

Three contestants for the women's singles title eliminated their opponents in straight sets. Mary Randall, Hamilton, defeated Jane Carriere, St. Thomas, 6-1, 6-2; Daphne Cross, Woodstock, defeated Barbara Proudfoot, Toronto, 6-3, 6-4; and Gloria Stanford, of Toronto, defeated Ann Hilliard of Windsor, 6-2, 6-3.

Thirty-seven players from 12 Ontario clubs are entered in the tournament.

After suffering a deep gash over his left eye early in the first round, Rocky Graziano, 159½, of New York, knocked out Joe Agosta, 159½, of Brooklyn, in 2:19 of the second session before their scheduled 10-round feature boxing feature bout Monday night before 4,500 at West Springfield, Mass.

The Cincinnati Boxing Commission Monday formally petitioned the National Boxing Association to suspend Ezzard Charles and Gus Lesnevich if they go through with their 15-round bout in New York City Aug. 10.

Sam Becker, Cincinnati promoter, has Lesnevich's signature to a contract calling for a return bout with Joey Maxim for the NBA's American 175-pound title Sept. 19. The contract prohibits the former world's light heavyweight champion from engaging in either a contest or an exhibition before that bout.

New York Yankees Monday night announced the optional release of pitcher Frank Shea, freshman hero of the 1947 season with 14 victories, to Newark of the International League. Shea won the 1947 all-star game for the American League. Lately, he has had an ailing right arm and a sore neck.

Jaroslav Drobny and Vladimir Cernik, the two Czechoslovakian tennis exiles, Monday visited the United States Consulate to discuss the possibility of obtaining visas for the United States. They drove from Gstaad, Switzerland, where they appeared last week in the Swiss tennis championships and defied an order of the Communist-dominated Czech government to return home. They announced they will become political exiles and seek refuge in the United States.

Our Time Monday night captured her fourth major harness stake in three weeks at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., as she led from wire to wire to take the $5,000 cash Grove race for two-year-olds. The filly never surrendered the lead in the feature grand circuit race. The time was 2:09 1-5.

Venue of the Mann Cup lacrosse playoffs may be switched to Vancouver Island, Lyle Barr, president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, said Monday. He was commenting on a Toronto report that Ontario would be unable to send its squad west before Sept. 25. Original play-off date was Sept. 18. "This forces us to look elsewhere," said Barr. 'Our contract at Vancouver Forum expires the end of September."

Sammy Snead Monday responded to pressure by shooting a one under par 71 on the final round to win the Dapper Dan open gold tournament at Pittsburgh with a 72-hole total of 274. Snead finished one stroke ahead of Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who fired a brilliant 67.

Neil G. Mendelson, veterinary surgeon, Monday was denied privileges of Ontario race tracks under the jurisdiction of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association. The ruling was made following further investigation of reports that Cheek, winner of a race at Fort Erie track last Thursday, had been stimulated. The matter is expected to go before the ICRA board soon for final decision.

Marmora Loses To Campbellford

MARMORA, July 19—(ENS)— Costly errors in the fifth frame paved the way for Marmora's first defeat of the season at the hands of Campbellford in the Trent Valley Baseball League fixture played here Monday. Drummond on the mound pitched good ball for the five innings and at the end of the fourth it looked as though the homesters were chalking up another win, but infield errors in the succeeding innings helped Campbellford to cross the plate eight times and the advantage over their opponents was held until the end.

Petherick, who went the whole game for the winners, received good support. For the losers Dikun brought off some spectacular catches in centre field besides batting strong.

Teams:

Campbellford — Bennett, c; Jeffs, cf, 2b; Macoun, 1b; Hardy, 3b; Darrah, ss; McFarlane, 2b; Neil, rf; Heard, lf; Petherick, p; McNaughton, cf.

Marmora — R. Darrah, lf, p; Brown, ss; Mumby, 2b; Drummond, p, rf, lf; Auger, 3b; Dikun, cf; Brooks, c; Lea, c, 1b; Vilneff, rf, p; Jones, rf.

Score by innings:

Campbellford	201	480	0	—15
Marmora	130	010	0	— 7

Play-off Rules Get Going-Over

HAMILTON, July 19 (CP) — The play-off pattern for Ontario Senior A Baseball Clubs was established Monday night at a special meeting attended by representatives of all the affiliated senior leagues and the Ontario Baseball Association sub-committee.

Early in September, Windsor and the winners of the Intercounty League will open an Ontario play-off series and at the same time the champions of the Central Ontario League will start a round with the Toronto winners.

The Niagara district was given a first-round bye but it was stipulated that the Niagara district must declare a winner by Sept. 26. At that time, the senior play-off convener will call a meeting of the representatives of the surviving clubs to determine the draw for the remaining games in the championship series.

It was decided that all Senior A clubs will be able to use the rosters they declared by July 15 in the OBA playoffs.

OBA president Fred Bradley of Hamilton and Fred Young of Chippawa, chairman of the sub-committee, were in charge of the meeting.

Tribe Eedges Boston 1-0 Athletics Maul Detroit

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

That Cleveland flagpole sitter had better get ready to come down.

Seven weeks ago, one Charles Lipuca climbed atop a 16-foot wooden flagpole over his drug store and vowed he would not come down until the Indians climbed to first place in the American League.

At the time, the Indians were mired in seventh place.

But what a difference the next 49 days made. The Tribe did an about-face and went on to win 31 of their next 47 games to rush past five opponents into second place.

Today, the Indians are in their best spot since May 10. Following Monday night's 1-0 victory over Boston Red Sox, the Redmen are only 4½ games behind the Yankees. The Yankees helped the Indians along by blowing a 6-5 decision to the White Sox in Chicago.

The Tribe's latest hero is rookie righthander Mike Garcia, who beat Mickey McDermott, the brilliant Red Sox rookie, in a brilliant hurling duel.

The only run of the game came in the last half of the fifth when Lou Boudreau beat out an infield hit and scored on a long double by catcher Jim Hegan.

Wipe Out Lead

A single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning by George Metkovich scored Fred Hancock and Steve Souchock with the runs that gave the White Sox their victory over the Yankees. The rally wiped out a two-run lead the Yankees had built up in their half of the 10th.

The Philadelphia Athletics wrested third place from the Red Sox by outlasting Detroit Tigers 13-8 in a 10 inning struggle. The A's blew an 8-1 lead when Detroit's Johnny Groth blasted two homers, each with two mates aboard, but rallied for five runs in the 10th.

Brooklyn Dodgers increased their National League margin over St. Louis Cardinals to 2½ games, beating Chicago 3-0 while New York Giants downed the Redbirds 7-4. Lefty Joe Hatten pitched the shutout for the Dodgers, limiting the Cubs to five hits. Jackie Robinson starred for the Brooks. In the sixth he swiped home for the third time this season and in the eighth, he tripled to score Gene Hermanski with Brooklyn's final run.

Lefty Monte Kennedy lifted the Giants out of a three-game tailspin with the help of home runs by Sid Gordon and Bobby Thomson.

Cincinnati Reds, behind a combination three-hitter by Ewell Blackwell, and Eddie Erautt, whipped the third place Boston Braves 6-1.

Held scoreless for seven innings, Pittsburgh Pirates erupted for seven runs in the eighth to defeat the Phillies in Philadelphia, 7-2.

Forty-one swimmers out of 60 were successful in passing their Red Cross Swimming tests held at Inverlea and Riverside beaches. Cast Of 100 Present History Of Halifax

HALIFAX, June 19 (CP)—A cast of almost 100 Monday night gave the first performance of the pageant "The Birth of a City," the story of Halifax's first 50 years.

The pageant was presented in the open before the main grandstand at the exhibition grounds. The "stage" is a stockade and within its palisades are miniatures of the original courthouse, Great Pontack Inn, Log Guardhouse and St. Paul's Church. Latter-day Haligonians erect log cabins as the pageant proceeds.

The script was written by author Will R. Bird, of Halifax, and production was by H. Leslie Pigot. Robin Monies was the narrator. About 3,000 persons saw the first performance, which will be presented frequently until September. The pageant is part of the port's bicentenary program.

GROUP CAPT. J. B. MILLWARD, DFC and Bar, of Montreal and Sherbrooke, who will become the first Air Force officer to Command Royal Roads, the tri-service college in British Columbia, it was announced in Ottawa. He will succeed Capt. H. S. Rayner, RCN, taking ocer the post in August.

Alcoholism Is a Disease For Expert Study, Club Told

Alcoholism is a disease which must be attacked scientifically, not emotionally through misdirected reform movements, Edward B. Higgins, director of public relations for a Toronto advertising agency, told a regular meeting of the Rotary Club Monday.

Mr. Higgins is one of about 40 businessmen studying human relations in industry at the University of Toronto. The group's study of absenteeism led to a study of alcoholism.

Seeking the latest scientific information derived from research, Mr. Higgins attended the Yale School of Alcohol Studies of Yale University. He said the clinic was not ivestigating alcoholism from any angle except the scientific one which was concerned with what were the facts and how they could best be used for the benefit of society.

Two Historic Functions

Drinking has served two general functions through the centuries and that is the reason it has persisted through thousands of years the Yale clinic has found. One was that it brought together and cemented relationships. In primitive tribes, one way to overcome natural fear in visiting strangers was to offer them a drink. Two people drinking together tended to become brothers with nothing to fear from each other.

Another function was the "dispelling of anxiety in communal culture." Mr. Higgins said there was much evidence in literature of the past that drinking was "a social and not an individual function." Primitive tribes drank only on tribal occasions. This was done because in this type of society anxieties belonged to the whole group.

Attempts to overcome alcoholism in the past have largely been failures because reform groups have not stopped to investigate and find out just what was the nature of alcoholism.

A Crutch

Alcoholism was characterized by several conditions in the individuals, Mr. Higgins said. There was first the need for alcohol as a "crutch" to help individuals meet life's problems. Another characteristic was a feeling of insecurity, then temporary amnesia, acute feelings of guilt about a specific situation or benders. One of the most obvious features was the increasing inability of alcoholics to adjust themselves in all aspects of life. Finally, with some, there were organic diseases resulting from body reactions to the alcohol itself which could have further reactions on the psychological make-up of the chronic alcoholic.

Wine In Religion

Drinking has a history bound up with religions of all types from pagan to Christian and Jewish. Wine has played a part in the ritual of all religions. Thus wine became a symbol of the religion and the virtues of the religion. It came to be identified with the religious teachings of new life. In early Christian history, Christ is represented as the true vine, and was actually believed to be present in the wine which gave immortality.

The Yale School of Alcohol Studies has divided present day drinkers into four general groups. There are those who drink to escape physical pain. Another group use alcohol to overcome psychological pressure, feelings of frustration and of inequality to other people.

Social Drinkers

One of the large groups are the social drinkers who merely follow the customs of their surroundings. Included in this group are those who drink for the sheer feeling of exuberance and lift they get. The fourth group is a catch-all of drinkers who do not easily fall into classification. They include every type from the professional wine taster to the mentally sub-normal.

Mr. Higgins said it was most important to remember that a great number of alcoholics can be saved and are worth saving. Because the pressure of our society tend to promote the abuse of alcohol, the rehabilitation of alcoholics is a public health problem.

The situation is being met to some extent by the Department of Health and Welfare which recently announced the setting up of a series of 25-bed hospitals exclusively for the treatment of alcoholics. Trained counsel by ministers can also do much to assist these individuals.

Teach Scientific Facts

"At the proper time and in the proper way, the scientific facts of alcohol should be taught to our children—taught, however, in a manner completely devoid of emotionalism," Mr. Higgins said.

Alcoholics Anonymous is doing a tremendous job in returning alcoholics to a near-normal life, he said.

The vast majority today do not drink to excess, said Mr. Higgins. Moderate drinking has become a folkway.

But, he added, tension in a complex society leads to drinking with the great danger of excessive drinking. When intellectual and spiritual matters become more important than technical civilization pressures to individuals, then people drink less, he pointed out. "Therefore it is important to keep our spiritual values." Alcoholism is but an expression of human misery and "we must learn to do something about human misery," he concluded.

Two Constables Not To Boss Bathing Adults

The extent to which the authority of special constables extends at the supervised swimming beaches in Riverside and Inverlea Parks was discussed by the Police Commission Monday.

When the Commission considered the Recreation Commission's proposal for two special constables to be appointed to control undressing in public and other unseemly behaviour, Mayor Max Swanston, while in favor of the proposal, wanted to be sure that supervision was not carried too far.

Adults Bossed

Referring to the areas of water closed off as swimming pools, the Mayor said that only children up to the age of 16 should be made to stay within the boundaries. He claimed that some adult swimmers were being told to keep within the areas under supervision.

Both the Mayor and Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, stated that special constables were appointed to control children's swimming and had no right to order adults to keep within a particular area.

There was no bylaw limiting people to certain areas for swimming and this should be made clear to those supervising the parks, the Mayor said.

Two Constables Appointed

The Recreation Commission had asked the Police Commission to appoint one special constable for each park. The Police Commission agreed to appoint Ron Gynane, 118 Aylmer St., a university student and William Simons, at present living at Chemong Park, Bridgenorth, who will be teaching at Oshawa Collegiate in the fall.

Magistrate Philp said their duties would be made clear to them when they were sworn in.

J. J. Neary Funeral

Pallbearers at the funeral of James Joseph Neary of Peterborough who died Wednesday, were Lawrence Meagher, James O'Toole, Gordon Lacey, James Dionne, John Cairns, and Maitland Wells. Funeral was from the Duffus Funeral Home to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. Saturday, with Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, celebrant. In the sanctuary were the Rev. J. C. Maskie and the Rev. C. J. McCarney who later said the graveside prayers. Burial was in St. Peter's Cemetery.

GREAT GUNS, IT'S THE MAYOR!—Peterborough's Mayor Swanston in the ten-gallon hat, not Mayor ("Buck") McCallum of Toronto. He is not in Calgary but at the Diamond-P Ranch in Peterborough whose owner, Sherman Preston, is keeping Mayor Swanston and the mare Patches safely separated. Patches seems to be the least concerned of the gallant western trio. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Plumbing Work Sound Sign Of Progress

At the end of June, the number of unfinished plumbing jobs in Peterborough was 465, Arthur G. Metheral, plumbing inspector, mentioned in his report to the welfare committee Monday afternoon.

As inspector, Mr. Metheral said today that he would like to trim that total down to some figure nearer to equation of things planned and work done. But, as a ratepayer he says the present number can stay in three digits for keeps. "Plumbing activity is one of the soundest indications of material progress of the community."

For months, the committee has been wondering how long that gap was likely to remain above the 400 mark. In fact, inspections have lagged behind work in hand since the end of the war, and the June report showed no retreat from that position.

"There were 27 new houses connected to city sewers in June," Mr. Metheral said. "Others were: one factory addition, Johnson Motors; one meat shop at Lake and George Streets; seven old houses connected to sewers; three old houses that are closing cesspools; one garage; one new septic tank connection; two iron drains laid to replace tile connections that became clogged with tree roots.

Others: one house converted into a duplex; four septic tank connections; three apartments over stores; six buildings with nine additional plumbing fixtures; and one job that was merely a sink placement for an upstairs housekeeping flat.

SUPERVISORS IN GREEN

Girl supervisors will soon be been in bright light green blouses and skirts, the official uniform for the Recreation Commission. Each supervisor must buy two uniforms under the regulations set down at a meeting of the Commission in May. Cost per uniform is $5.

Hay Is Scarcer Than Dudes At Home On The City Range

By NICK NICKELS

All this heah bunkhouse talk about Toronto's Mayor "Buck" McCallum and his boys and their doings in prairie cities is belittling to points east of the Queen City. We inveigled our own Mayor "Seven-gun" Max Swanston into paying a visit with us on Friday to a bit of the Old West to a Ranch away out north-east by the golf links. We piled into his new chuckwagon (he hasn't driven it a 1,000 miles yet), and purred out to talk to Sherman Preston about ranchin' and such like.

The set-up was real enough, the large barn, the tack room, bridles, saddles, bright blankets, those wide flat felt hats that hold about seven gallons, Imperial measure, and all the rest.

Now Seven-gun is a real sympathetic listener, podner, and by the time he and Sherman had tried on a few hats for size and shirts and those colored things around the neck, talk got around to this business of ranching in Peterborough in summer.

"It's not so good, just now," said Sherman snapping down his hat brim.

17 Horses Short Grass

Balanced on the ol' corral fence they looked over a pasture where 17 good saddle horses nibbled on the short grass. Feed is a problem with dude ranchers as well as farmers this year. Pasture is short and hay yield is about one-third, these two experts agreed. They felt a bit guilty about chewing a straw in the traditional manner; that's how short the hay crop is.

And the hot weather does not attract dude riders during the dog days. But things may brighten up for fall and winter, Sherman hopes. He claims there is going to be lots of snow, there is an abundance of berries on the cedars. With deep snow the picture looks brighter since last winter's scanty fall cancelled many sleighride parties and kept the horses in the barn eating their heads off but not producing that folding stuff that pays the food bills.

Sportsman Out Of Saddle

A couple of the ranch hands, not grooms, p-u-lease, rode up to the corral fence on "Patches" and "Queenie" thinking that a couple of customers were waiting to lope away down the lane. Not a chance. The Mayor wouldn't even pose on Patches for a picture, not that he couldn't ride, mind you, for he admitted that he was used to riding, and breaking in, lots of wild horses at City Hall.

To get this Seven-gun nickname straight, now, the Mayor is an ardent deer hunter when he can find time for it. He has six rifles and a shotgun at home. He waved a blistered hand and asked "see that?" Rowing a punt with a balky motor on Long Lake the other afternoon was the cause of it all. Mr. Mayor did not need to explain why he refused to go for a ride at the ranch, a man that blisters like that.

Postmen Bow In Bow Ties

Letter carriers were wearing a new issue of black bow ties this morning, and some of them were not any too happy about it. The smart and snappy bow is a permanent knotting, requiring no daily hand-fashioning. They appear to hook on to a front collar button.

The black ties obviously enhance the trig neatness of His Majesty's servants, but the men on the beat were not blaming King George for dolling them up in that fashion in the middle of summer when every man and his brother, except, of course, the professional fraternity, doctors, lawyers, dentists and clergymen, were going about with their necks out of the tie noose.

Incidentally, that picture of Crown Attorney John Bradshaw in this week's issue of rotogravure section of the Montreal Standard suggests that, for all the deference to decorous dress in the summer atmosphere of vestigial courts and also about the office, that custom and adherence seems to be a professional penalty.

Several of the letter carriers said they are willing to settle for the tie supplement to their sartorial accessories come Labor Day, but they are certain His Majesty wouldn't foist it on them when the mercury column is at its height, and packets of mail have to be lugged around own.

There was no opportunity today of overtaking Frank Smith interviewing him on this question of the black bow tie, but probably his opinion might coincide with the others that were cautiously expressed. However, the bow is definitely an improvement in the natty appearance of the letter men who may get around to making concession to aesthetic effect, and a corrective to the general license in shedding in summer dress.

ANOTHER CIRCUS

This is going to be a summer with two circuses. G. A. Gillespie informed the Exhibition Board Monday night the second was coming on August 1. That is Civic Holiday.

Best Scotch Just a Trickle? Lots Listed On Local Board

Despite report from Ottawa that good Scotch whisky is becoming a scarce commodity in Canada, a reading of the boards at the local liquor outlet shows that many of the more expensive brands are still available.

There is an adequate supply of the cheaper brands, under $4.80, and over that price there are several brands at $5.60, $5.65, $6.00 and even one at $7.00.

Toronto Liquor Control Board officials have stated that the flow of imported Scotch has decreased to a "trickle." In addition, most of the brands coming into Canada are of the cheaper variety. One reason advanced for this is that the better brands are being diverted to the American market by dollar-hungry Britain.

Even though firms in Scotland manufacturing whisky are forced by law to export 80 per cent of their produce, it is felt that Canada is being bypassed, and much of the whisky is being sent to the United States. The American whisky taste has evidently been increased and changed from the traditional bourbon, by advertising favoring Scotch.

Operators of the local liquor store declined to comment on the high-grade Scotch situation, saying that any statements regarding supply would have to come from Toronto.

Blithe Spirit Does Not Bring The House Down

By T. J. ALLEN

Blithe Spirit is a war-time flowering of Noel Coward's stage talent and hollow, urbane wit, and in London its success was instantaneous and has been continuous. Peterborough is fortunate in having it staged here, the fourth production of the Peterborough Summer Theatre. For ex-service people in our midst it is an especial joy to see it at home, for it brings with it nostalgia of other days in London, Aldershot, Brussels, or wherever Blithe Spirit had a town or an ENSA showing.

The best description of the play is to say that it is Noel Coward. It seems almost superfluous to say that it is a gay fantasy about a man with two wives, one very much alive at first, and charming (played by Jeri Sauvinet, whose stage presence has a natural loveliness), the other, seven years dead, who comes to life most alluringly in the person of Joy Lafleur. Miss Lafleur (it is her real name, not a stage one, by the way) is a Montrealer with considerable and praiseworthy experience of stage and screen in Canada and the USA. It is a pleasure to the eye and stage to have her here in Peterborough for this play.

Two Wives, One Real

Miss Lafleur (Elvira in the play) does not come to entrancing life without a medium. The medium is Madam Arcati, half mystic, half charlatan, half horsy-pseudo - county - woman. That makes three halves, more than a whole, and so is she played by Brenda Davies with credible exaggeration and larger than life. Her astounding make-up, more than her shocking dress, were probably not appreciated by all the audience at first whack, but as her interpretation of the part developed, all her aspects blended. The part can be major or minor. It was major in Brenda Davies' playing.

The beguiled, bewildered husband who is intrigued by having two wives, the one living, the other a phantom, and finally, both as phantoms, is John Primm. Mr. Primm is the only actor with the company who has played all four weeks. He continues to reveal a fresh versatility, but, last night, a tiredness.

Michael Lynd, familiar to us now, though this week in a moustache, was the Doctor. His acting has an old world air, and he speaks in rounded periods. Christine Thomas was very good as the flit-brained, the inconsequential, illogical and innately kind wife of Dr. Bradman. In this play, as in "George and Margaret" in which she was the mother, she had the audience with her.

The maid was Morfydd Atkinson, a young lady whose comings and goings brought a smile to the audience and warmth to the stage. The play was directed by Robertson Davies.

Prompting In Evidence

Having said the foregoing about the individuals, it is necessary to say that in toto the effect was not as good as one had hoped from previous presentations. Lines were muffed, cues not taken up, the pace was halting. In fact, the production was not deft, which is absolutely necessary with such a play. The thing did not come together. There was little of the magic of the theatre about it. I was not entranced. It may be because I am prone to resent Noel Coward, now, in this post-war era when his sophistication seems an absurd reflection of 1929. But Noel Coward knows how to make a stage come alive, whatever his theme and wit.

Last night's stage was not alive. It may have been due to incomplete preparation. If so, subsequent presentations will vivify it. There was no harmony of acting and mood. I am grateful for the opportunity of seeing the play again, but could wish that I had seen it on another than the first night.

The set was, by the way, excellently contrived by Martha Jamieson. I fully expect that on subsequent nights better use will be made of it. The first night was not blithe.

Taxi License Refused

Because there are already 60 licensed taxi cab operators in the city the Police Commission refused to grant licenses Monday to Frank Thompson, 231 Douglas Ave., and Peter Nicholson, 201 Stewart St. When their applications came before the Commission it was decided to hold them over until a vacancy occurred.

The Commission had previously set the limit at 60.

Taxi cab driver's licenses were approved for Cecil R. Montgomery, 19 Lisburn St.; William Harrington, 506 Patterson St., Jack Meraw, 271 Romaine Et.; Vernon Birkhof, 84 Douro St. and Arthur Shadgett, 545 Brioux Ave.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

OLD GOLD DEALER

Police Commission Monday approved issue of a license to Stanley Sherman, 631 Sherbrooke St. to be a second hand dealer in old gold.

ONE CASE

Only city police court case today was a charge of assault against Robert Davis, 348 Stewart St., who was remanded until Thursday by Vincent Eastwood, J. P.

SEVEN STRAYS

Seven stray dogs on Lafayette Ave were picked up by Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford Monday, bringing the total of unclaimed dogs to nine.

REPORT CHIMNEY FIRE

Firemen on Monday afternoon had an unseasonal request. A chimney fire was reported at the residence of H. C. Farrance, 240 Murray St. It was extinguished with little trouble.

HUB CITIES

The United States has its Hub City, and Bobcaygeon has long advertised itself as "The Hub of the Kawarthas," but now a new one has entered the field. Noticed on a car downtown Tuesday morning was a sticker advertising Moncton, N. B., "The Hub of the Maritimes."

$24,161 Welfare In 6 Months

The city's welfare department expended $24,161.94 in the six months to the end of June, A. G. Metheral, welfare officer, told the committee Monday afternoon.

Government assistance was $8,574.75, leaving $15,587.19 chargeable to the taxpayers.

The council's welfare appropriation for the year is $34,217.35; and for the second half of the year the available amount is $18,630.16.

Disbursements are keeping within the committee's estimates, Mr. Metheral remarked. The amount spent last month was $2,743.70 as compared with $2,461.78 in June last year.

The number of persons on the welfare list last month was 177 as against 182 in June last year. Hospitalization cost for the six months was $55.43 less than in 1948.

Two Autos Smashed In Avoiding A Third

J. H. Fulton, Buckhorn, suffered several cuts and abrasions at 2 p.m. Monday when the car he was driving was in collision with a truck owned and operated by Gerald Withers, 42 Lafayette Ave. Peterborough, on No. 28 Highway 1½ miles south of Lakefield.

The accident occurred when both drivers applied their brakes to avoid striking a third vehicle, a car driven by Hugh Leason of the seventh concession of Smith, who was attempting to enter the highway from a side road. It had just started to rain a few moments before, with the result that the highway was quite slippery. Damage to both vehicles involved in the crash amounted to several hundred dollars each. Withers escaped injury. Fulton was cut by flying glass from the windshield.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable R. A. Feeley of the Provincial Police.

Board Decides Two Streets To Be Unpaved

The opposition of property owners on Burnham and Romaine Streets to inclusion in the council's present paving program has been upheld by the Ontario Municipal Board, City Clerk Outram informed the Examiner today.

Petitions of protest from both groups were forwarded to the Board following the council's announcement of the streets which were selected for paving this season. Subsequently, objections were heard at a sitting of a member of the Board in the council chamber.

These property owners were opposed to the method of financing the paving job as a local improvement. On that basis 60 per cent. of the cost is charged to abutting property and 40 per cent. to the city as a whole.

Protested Cost

An exception was proposed for a section of Burnham St., south of Hunter St., because the paved strip was to be widened from 27 feet to 36 feet. In that stretch the council proposed to charge 45 per cent. to property and 55 per cent. to the ratepayers as a whole. The property owning opponents on Rogers and Romaine Streets said the cost of paving added to the effect of the increased tax rate in the last three years, was untimely for those who were paying for their houses. Some of them were apprehensive about ability to continue the payments on their houses and also assume further tax advance.

On the other hand the council was reluctant about departing from the established method of financing that kind of improvement, and the decision was left to the Municipal Board.

Romaine and Burnham streets were included in the original program largely for the reason that they are in the bus routes to Ashburnham South and Byersville, respectively.

Paving In Progress

In the meantime Warren Bituminous Company has proceeded with a paving contract amounting to $128,986.96. Details approved by the Municipal Board are:

Monaghan Road—King St. to Charlotte St., $8,985.88.

Monaghan Road — Sherbrooke St. to King St., $21,085.

Park Hill Road—Reid St. to the westerly limit of Park St., $43,489.38.

Sherbrooke St.—George to Water St., $4,886.25.

Sherbrooke St.—George to Reid St., $37,880.

Water St.—King St. to Sherbrooke St., $12,660.50.

The council undertook the paving program of this season as part of a four or five year project of permanent surfacing for the streets of the city.

Warren Company is now working on Monaghan Road south of Charlotte St.

Oversize Chairs Built For MP's Tipping 500 Lbs.

OTTAWA, July 19—(CP)—Officials of the House of Commons are taking steps to solve a weighty problem.

They have been instructed to issue contracts for special heavy-duty arm chairs for the use of two new, exceptionally bulky members of parliament.

The special chairs, reinforced at every joint and built to withstand the onslaught of 500 pounds of MP, will be for Jack Garland, Liberal member for the Ontario constituency of Nipissing, and Mayor Camillien Houde of Montreal, Independent member for the new riding of Montreal Papineau.

Mr. Garland is reported to tip the scales at about 500 pounds, and Mayor Houde's weight, while not known exactly, is up in the same class.

The two chairs will be of heavy wood construction and won't depend on glue and mortises to hold them together. They'll be bolted. The seats will be at least 28 inches wide inside the massive arms.

The two new MP's will have nothing to fear when they enter the House for the first time. By then the chairs will have been tested with sandbags, both from the standpoint of holding the 500 pounds and of withstanding the weight of a 500-pounder sitting down.

The chairs will probably be placed in such a way that there will be no dearth of girth on either side of the House in the next parliament.

Mr. Garland, as a government supporter, will probably find himself on the Liberal side of the House, opposite Mayor Houde whose campaign indicated he was opposed to the Liberals, and thus would rate a spot on the opposition side.

Kept Visitor Waiting Receptionist Stabbed

MONTREAL, July 19.—(CP).—Mrs. Dolores Murray, receptionist and switchboard operator at the Protestant foster home, was stabbed several times Monday by a man who complained that she deliberately kept him waiting.

Hospital authorities said the woman was in serious condition as a result of stab wounds from a kitchen knife.

Police identified Mrs. Murray's assailant as Harry McGibbon, 40, of Polage Laval, Que. They said he was being held without charge until the extent of Mrs. Murray's injuries was discovered.

Police, who had few details of the incident, said the man was waiting in the entrance to the home on midtown Dorchester St. He suddenly whipped out the knife and attacked the receptionist.

Majority of US Officials Oppose Sharing A-Secrets

WASHINGTON, July 19.—(AP).—A majority of the Senate-House of Representatives Atomic committee seemed disposed today to oppose giving the secret of how to produce the atomic bomb to any country—including Britain.

While the issue may not be raised in Congress in this session, there were authentic reports that it had been discussed at a conference of top-level officials with President Truman here last week.

There were also reports that some of those connected with United States atomic projetcs have been exploring the possibility of sending abroad one or more bombs—in American hands—if there should be a sudden worsening of world conditions.

It was emphasized by those who spoke of such a move that the need for stockpiling bombs abroad seemed only a remote possibility.

Study of the Atomic Energy Act indicates that, short of war itself, it now is illegal to export "any equipment or device utilizing fissionable materials or atomic energy as a military weapon." In layman's language, that could mean an A-bomb.

A check of Senate-House committee members indicates that a clear majority would be against such a revision of the law at this time.

Bolsters Reports

A British Foreign Office admission Monday that it is in touch with the United States officials "over general atomic subjects" bolstered reports that the sharing of what Americans regard as the world's biggest secret was brought up at last week's conference.

American officials are split sharply on this issue, of giving the secret to Britain.

Those opposing it do so on the grounds that once the United States gives up the final secret to any other country, it loses a measure of control. Those on the opposite side argue that Britain must be taken into full partnership in defence of the North Atlantic Community.

A third group, which doesn't want to give up the secret, has suggested tentatively that it might be possible to stockpile some bombs, under exclusive control of Americans, in the British Isles. This could save the time required for an airplane crossing of the Atlantic in case of war in Europe.

Chinese-Canadian Unit Training At Wainwright

OTTAWA, July 19.—(CP).—A unique army outfit—comprised completely of Chinese-Canadians — has begun training at Wainwright, Alta.

The formation, recruited by Brig. W. Murphy, DSO, has its headquarters in Vancouver and is taking two weeks of tank training in Wainwright.

Its commander is Lieut D. Jung, who with a number of other members of the unit, volunteered for special assignments behind enemy lines in the Pacific during the Second World War. Trained as paratroopers, they were dropped in Burma, Malaya, Singapore, Borneo, and New Guinea to organize groups and gum up the Japanese war machinery.

Clarkson Girl Chosen Lions' Beauty Queen

NEW YORK, July 19 (CP). — Joan Elizabeth Lennox of Clarkson, Ont., was chosen as Canadian Queen of the Lions International Convention, Monday, July 18.

The 17-year-old Ontario girl will compete with Queens representing the United States, Mexico and other countries to determine who is the Queen of the Convention.

The winner will be crowned tonight.

Miss Lennox, daughter of Dr. Charles Lennox, a past International Director, was chosen at a breakfast of Canadian delegates held Monday morning before the convention formally opened. She is five feet, nine inches tall and weighs 140 pounds.

Peterborough Girl Competed.

She was judged the winner in a contest against three other girls: Joan Smart of Leaside, Ont., 17; Doreen Young of Toronto, 15, and Shirley Patricia Sisson of Peterborough. Miss Sisson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sisson, 668 George St. North.

Alexander Walks In On Feud At Meaford

MEAFORD, July 19—(CP) — The governor-general, Viscount Alexander, due here today for an official visit, may find himself in the midst of a feud between the Canadian Legion branch here and F. Stanley Knight, who resigned Monday as mayor of Meaford.

Both Mr. Knight and Legion officials were reluctant to discuss their differenses. But the story current around this Georgian Bay town was that Mr. Knight insisted that, as mayor, he should meet the governor-general's special train alone, while the Legion maintained it should provide a guard of honor at the station.

Late Monday night, it appeared that Lord Alexander will be officially greeted by Reeve William F. Riley, then taken on a tour of the Meaford fishing fleet and the new public school. There will be a Legion guard of honor.

Dominion Entertains

NEW YORK, July 19—(CP)—In flag-bedecked Madison Square Garden, more than 50 of Canada's top performers Monday night gave some 20,000 Lions from 26 countries a taste of entertainment in the Dominion. Produced for the 32nd International convention of Lions clubs, the program lasted more than four hours. Opening the show was an impressive display of bagpipe playing and counter-marching by the Georgetown, Ont., girls' pipe band.

Can Have Pork With, Without Rind-Official

OTTAWA, July 19—(CP) — If you like rind on your pork the thing to do is to tell your butcher, because the government can't do anything about it.

That was the reaction today to a Halifax report of a one-man campaign by Robert M. Thorburn, son of a former Newfoundland Prime Minister, to have the government order packinghouse workers to leave the rind on pork.

A government official said it has no power to make any such order. The official said Trade Minister Howe had not yet received the petition, reported to have been sent by Mr. Thorburn.

An authority on the subject at an Ottawa packinghouse said his company is willing to deliver the pork any way the butcher asks for it, with or without rind, fat or lean.

He said the rind is removed because it has been found that most people prefer it that way. He added that during the war the government ordered that rind and fat be removed from pork because it was needed for the war effort. However, that order had lapsed with the end of the war and the government had no control over the way pork was processed.

Supporting his argument for rind on pork, Mr. Thorburn said in Halifax:

"Not only is roast pork more flavorful when the rind is left on, but it ought to be available at a lower price than the processed article."

The packinghouse official agreed that the price might be slightly lower if the rind was not removed.

Child 10 Regains Speech After Accident Because She's Left-Handed, Doctors Say

MONTREAL, July 19—(CP) — Barbara Ann Barry, 10-year-old heroine who plucked her baby brother from the path of an onrushing electric train in nearby Mackayville last week, today is able to tell of her adventure only because she is left-handed.

Surgons at the Montreal Neurological Institute said Monday that the girl would have been speechless for life had she been a right-handed child.

Barbara and her two-year-old brother, John, were struck a glancing blow by a train and hurled 15 feet into a ditch when she tried to lift her brother off the track.

She suffered a skull fracture and surgeons had to operate over the left side of her brain.

In right-handed persons, doctors explained, the left side of the brain controls speech. They said they were sure she would never be able to talk again after the operation.

However, as soon as she was conscious following the delicate six-hour long operation, she asked for a popsicle and talked to patients, nurses and reporters.

Baffled ,the surgeons called in her father who told them Barbara was left-handed.

John seems almost recovered.

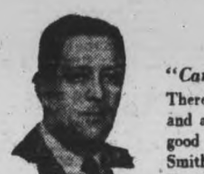
New Names in the NORTH

THERE's new activity in Ontario's bushland north of Lake Superior. Marathon and Red Rock, Terrace and Heron Bay: they all tell the same story. New towns have arisen, old ones expanded. Only five years ago on the site of Marathon, for example, there was nothing but bush; today a new community beside a new pulp mill is contributing millions to Canada's export trade.

Such spectacular developments in the north are matched by continuing industrial expansion in the older established communities. Throughout Canada today ever-widening avenues of opportunity await the enterprise of young Canadians.

With newsprint production 50% above pre-war levels, Canada today has an output five times that of any other country, and accounts for three out of every five newspaper pages in the world.



"Canada is a land of opportunity . . .
There is a field for almost anything one can think of, and anyone with a willingness for hard work has a good chance to achieve success", says Donald J. Smith, President of Hornet Industries Limited, Guelph, Ontario.

Hornet Industries Limited, which was founded in 1945, has in this short time achieved remarkable success in the manufacture of chain saws and combustion engines. More than half the production of the plant reaches markets outside Canada. From a staff of only a half dozen men in 1945, Hornet Industries Limited has expanded to three plants in Guelph, employing 296 workers.

Say September Will Decide Trade Crisis

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

September is the month which will test whether the world will get itself set on the right trade track.

The meeting in London of Commonwealth Finance Ministers, which ended Monday, could do little more on broad aims than endorse the statement issued July 10 by the "Finance Ministers" of Britain, the United States, and Canada.

And practical steps towards achieving these aims come up for consideration when the ministers of these three countries meet again in September.

The Commonwealth Finance Ministers agreed with the previous meeting that there should be a pattern of world trade in which the dollar and non-dollar countries can operate together within one single multilateral system.

But in effect they found that at present the conditions do not exist which will make it possible.

That puts it up to September—to the United States, Britain, and to some extent, to Canada.

Must Earn More

It comes down to the fact that in some way the rest of the world must earn more in North America than it now is doing.

How can the rest of the world legitimately get more money from North America?

The most obvious way is to sell more goods here. There are two views on this; one that Europe, for instance, can't hope to sell enough goods here; another that Europe hasn't really tried. But probably the holders of the second view will, for the present, also agree with the first.

What other way is there?

A number of observers, including Americans, are reviewing the way in which Britain financed much of the world when the pound sterling was supreme.

Britain poured out money to develop other countries and made herself wealthy buying their raw materials and selling back manufactured articles. In the meantime, she opened up her own home market for any one to enter.

She had to take chances to do this and many of her people lost money, but the final result was national gain.

PIONEERING HARDSHIPS—Blazing the trail to Australia in the inaugural flight of the Air Line's Empress of Sydney, Senator Gray Turgeon, left, Senator James A. MacKinnon and Grant McConachie, Canadian Pacific Air Lines president, are shown as they establish friendly relations with natives on Honolulu during a Hawaiian stop-over. The pioneers, who breakfasted in Vancouver, swam in the warm waters of Waikiki Beach before midnight and were smothered with leis before the big plane took off to complete the flight to Sydney.

Help Importers By Easing Control Rules

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—The Foreign Exchange Control Board has eased currency regulations to help Canadian importers meet competition from Americans who don't have to pay as much for sterling.

The board will allow American funds to certain classes of importers to buy forward sterling—contracts for delivery of sterling at some specified date in the future—on the New York market, an official said Monday night.

By buying forward sterling for as much as 20 cents less than Canadian importers had to pay, American importers were able to sell goods from the sterling area in Canada at lower prices than Canadian merchants could.

The pound sterling sells in Canada at a fixed price of $4.04. Sterling for delivery in six months has been selling at less than $3.85.

There was no indication of how many importers will be affected by the change. The board official said probably only a few who deal in some raw materials, such as sisal.

(Reports of the new regulation strengthened both the pound sterling and the Canadian dollar on the New York market. The dollar rose 1-16 of a cent to a discount of 5¼ per cent in the terms of American funds and the pound rose ⅜ cents to $4.03¼.)

Forward contracts enable importers who don't have to pay for their goods immediately to protect themselves from any rise in exchange rates which might wipe out their profit margins. Recent speculation about possible devaluation of the pound has led to increased sales of forward sterling in New York. This has made it more difficult for Canadians competing with Americans for the Canadian market.

2 Liberals Elected

CHARLOTTETOWN, July 19—(CP)—Two Liberals were elected to the Prince Edward Island Legislature Monday, one by acclamation. Liberal J. Brenton St. John defeated his Progressive Conservative opponent, Melvin J. McQuaid, in a two-party fight for the Kings first seat. In Prince second, Liberal Walter E. Darby, a Summerside barrister, was elected by acclamation.

Choristers Complain About Meagre Pay

LONDON, July 19.— (CP) — Cathedral choristers are paid an annual stipend so small that one chorister complained "we are in even worse straits than the underpaid parson."

The chorister said in his own cathedral at Manchester the salary was £150 ($600) a year—an advance of only £20 on 1922 salaries.

An official of the Royal School of Church Music at Canterbury, Kent, said the salary for choristers is fixed by the dean and chapter at each cathedral.

"Some male choristers at large parish churches are also paid," he said. "Boy choristers are given only a certain amount of pocket money."

Choristers at cathedrals have to pass a severe test before admission to a cathedral choir. Most of them have outside professional engagements, necessary to augment slender salaries.

Scouts From N.B. Believe In Advertising

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., July 19—(CP)—Nearly 3,000 Boy Scouts are learning more about Canada by living together on these sprawling rifle ranges just up the Ottawa River from the Dominion's capital.

They're also learning something about the United States and Cuba from 89 Boy Scouts of America—representing nearly every state in the U.S.—and 16 Cuban Scouts at the first Canadian Scout jamboree.

And they're advertising their home province.

The New Brunswick contingent to the week-long jamboree brought along some cream of fish soup—not yet on the market—which they intend serving to the first 1,200 in camp to come and get it. They brought crackers to go with the soup. Both items on the menu are made in New Brunswick.

Most of the boys—all first class or King's Scouts between 14 and 17 who paid their own expenses to come to the jamboree—arrived with supplies of tourist literature which they are distributing to everyone who will accept it.

Have Own Troubles

In addition to learning about the Dominion by meeting one another, the Scouts will learn about Canada by watching pageants that Scouts from each province will stage.

Special trains from all parts of the country brought the boys to Ottawa but in some cases it wasn't so easy to get here.

For example, Bill Lynch of Port Arthur was only 30 miles on the way when he fell and broke his leg while visiting the Alberta contingent in another coach on the special train. Determined to get to the jamboree, Bill started out again after being removed from the train and taken to hospital in Port Arthur.

His leg in a cast, he arrived Monday just in time to exchange a few words with Viscount Alexander, governor-general and chief Scout for Canada, at the official opening of the jamboree.

Grain Shipments Slump

PORT COLBORNE, July 19—(CP)—A seasonal slump in grain shipments from the head of the lakes has led Sarnia and Colonial steamships to tie up the grain-carriers Everetton and Mathewston temporarily at Sarnia, Ont.

PEACEFUL INVASION—B. R. Nash, left, scoutmaster of Troop No. 1, Rochester, N.Y., arrives at Union Station, Ottawa, with Eastern Seaboard Scouts for the first Canadian Boy Scouts Jamboree at nearby Connaught Rifle Ranges. Greeting the U.S. scouter is D. Christie, scoutmaster of All Saints Church, Westboro. A grinning American scout is in the background.

Annual Competition To Encourage Art

TORONTO, July 19 — (CP) — The Royal Canadian Academy of Arts announced Monday the establishment of an annual competition aimed at stimulating and encouraging serious art students who are in the closing years of their formal training and who contemplate art as a career.

The competition, providing a $250 prize for the best painting submitted each year, will be open to bona-fide senior students enrolled in the third or fourth year of full-time day courses in art in recognized schools, colleges and universities where art is taught in Canada.

The academy said the competition will be extended through succeeding years to include all branches of art and architecture.

Will Study History

CHICHESTER, Sussex, Eng., July 19—(Reuters)—Political and historical influences dividing the Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches will be studied by theologians throughout the world for the next three years. This decision was taken Monday by the Commission of Faith and Order of the World Council of Churches, meeting here.

To Display Equipment

OTTAWA, July 19 — (CP) — The Services are going to have their own show at many of Canada's fall fairs this year. The defence department announced Monday that millions of dollars of military equipment will be on display at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, the Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa and other fairs. The army plans a mobile exhibit of weapons and vehicles for country fairs in Ontario.

Blames British In Drug Traffic

GENEVA, July 10—(AP)—Officials of the International Refugees Organization charged Monday that British occupation authorities in Germany, not the IRO, are responsible for any laxity in controlling narcotics in the British zone refugee camps and hospitals.

William H. Tuck, outgoing director-general of IRO, replied to a British report published in Germany last week, charging that drug stocks by the IRO were being fed into the German black market.

The IRO reimburses the British government for narcotics used in refugee hospitals.

Tuck pointed out that the narcotics officer of the British zone, S. R. Sherman, visited IRO headquarters in Geneva June 18 and agreed that British authorities were responsible for refugee camps in their zone and should take action required to end alleged diversion of drugs used in the camps.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Iceberg Lover Disinterested Self-Deceit Fools Females

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: At last I have found my ideal. The man I love. He doesn't drink, smoke or gamble. He hasn't any bad habits. I love him and I can tell by his actions that he loves me, but he never tells me so. He never whispers in my ear that he loves me. He doesn't have confidence in me. And I want to be told that I am loved. I want him to coo in my ear. If he would only call me "dear" just once a week I'd be happy, and if he told me that he loves me once every six months I would be blissful. Can you say a few words to help me?—JEAN.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I feel like pouring a little cold water on your bubbling optimism and cooling it down a bit, for how do you know that he loves you if he has never told you so? What makes you think that he wants to marry you if he has not popped the question?

When women tell me that they can read in a man's eye how much he loves them or tell by a man's actions that he wants to marry them, I could howl with anguish over the fatal facility women have for deceiving themselves. For a man's eyes are nothing but a mirror in which she sees reflected her own desires and the interpretation a woman puts upon a man's acts are nobody's business but her own. Why, I have even heard women boast of their husbands being jealous of them and take it as a compliment instead of an insult when they accuse them of the vilest crimes, and there is a traditional story of a woman who thought her husband had ceased to love her because quit beating her.

So, my dear Jean, if the young man you are in love with never mentions the state of his affections to you and if he doesn't come out flat-footed and ask you to be his wife, you may be perfectly sure that he is not in love with you and that he has no intention whatsoever of marrying you. Face that fact and get out of your fool's Paradise of self-delusion.

And, anyway, I think a man who is cold and unemotional as you represent him to be is poor husband material. What a woman wants is a husband with a warm heart and glib tongue who will tell her how much he loves her and how wonderful she is. It is chilly living with a man who is so congealed that you have to defrost him before you can get a "dear" out of him.—DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a college woman, engaged to marry a young man who is a graduate of the same college that I am. He had to work his way through school. Was a country boy and lacks knowledge of many of the niceties of life. His grammar is not perfect and I am embarrassed at times by his lack of knowledge of conventions. He is a splendid man in every way, devoted to me and I am much in love with him, but I wonder after I am married to him if the fact that we have been reared on different planes will make any difference to me.—F. E. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Not unless you put too much stress on the conventions or unless your undertake to lift your husband up to your level.

A man's morals, his disposition, his kindness of heart and his energy are a lot more important than his pronunciation or his grammar or the way he holds his fork. But unless you can feel that way about them and laugh at his provincialism instead of letting it get on your nerves, don't marry him. And don't marry any man with the notion back in your head that as soon as you get him you are going to make him over to suit your taste. There is nothing on earth that a man resents as much as he does criticism from his wife, and no other human being from whom he will not take it with a better grace.

And the reason for this is obvious. Evey man wants to be a hero to his wife He wants her to look up to him and admire him, and when she begins pointing out his defects to him it humiliates him so that he can't stand it. Her air of superiority galls him beyond endurance and he flies from her so some woman who flatters him and tells him he is an oracle.

Take your man "as is" or leave him in peace.—DOROTHY DIX.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am an old maid, 59, tired of teaching and living alone. I am sure there is some one somewhere that I could make very happy, but have no opportunity to meet people. Do you thing I am too old to be a traveling companion? Can you suggest something other than contentment which is impossible in my situation?—AMBITIOUS STILL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I am afraid not. Most of us have to see our visions of what we would like fade in the thin air and content ourselves with out lots It is a tragedy for you and for the unknown man that you will never meet. There are so many men who need good wives and so many women who could make them so happy, and there is no way to bring them together.

Certainly you are not too old to be a travelling companion, but I am afraid there would be very little chance of getting such a job. —DOROTHY DIX.

Miss Betty Fee as maid of honor in a gown of daffodil yellow, carried a nosegay of pink roses and white carnations. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Dorothy Deyell and Mrs. Boyd Windrem, twin cousins of the bride, wearing mauve gowns made exactly the same and carrying nosegays of yellow roses and mauve sweet peas. Marelin Moher, cousin of the groom, as flower girl, wore green and carried a nosegay of pink roses and white carnations. Each wore sweetheart halos of material matching their gowns.

Mr. Wm. Eano was groomsman. Ted Cruthers and Nelson Davis were ushers.

The reception was held at the bride's home with her mother, Mrs. Matilda Magee, wearing a blue crepe dress with white accessories and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, Mrs. D. Moher, also received, wearing a blue flowered dress, white accessories and corsage of pink roses.

When going away the bride was wearing a pink dress with navy accessories and corsage of red roses. After a wedding trip they will reside in Peterborough.

Wilma Jean Sweet Bride Of John W. Williams

MARMORA, July 19—(ENS)—St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, decorated with hydrangea, blue delphinium and snap dragon, was the scene of a pretty wedding at three o'clock Monday when the Rev. G. D. Young united Wilma Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sweet of Marmora and John Wesley, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Williams of Peterborough. Wedding music was by Mrs. A. F. Fraser, organist. As the bride entered the church Mrs. E. C. Prentice sang "O Father All Creating" and during the signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a gown of plush satin. Her veil of tulle was in coronet shape, and she carried red roses. Attending her as bridesmaid, Miss Norma Gray of Peterborough was frocked in moire taffeta and wore a yellow mesh veil with mitts to match. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Groomsman was Robert W. Brightman of Peterborough. Ushers were Robert Sweet, brother of the bride, and Ivan Lavender.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where her mother received in a gowa of sand rayon mesh with white accessories and corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother, who assisted, wore a figured jersey with white accessories and corsage of red roses.

Later the bridal couple left for Wasaga Beach and points west, the bride travelling in a blue eyelet dress with white accessories. They will reside in Peterborough.

Sarah Churchill Enjoys U.S. Tour

NEWPORT, R.I., July 19.—(AP).—If it be treason, Winston Churchill, Britain's elder statesman can make the most of it.

His red-haired actress daughter, Sarah, said Monday:

"I would like very much to stay on the American stage."

Here to play the lead in a summer theatre production of "The Philadelphia Story," she said she wished she could remain in the United States to act on the stage or for the screen.

But she added: "I have no plans beyond the present tour."

The British actress said her father is enthusiastic about her stage career, which she has pursued for about 10 years, with time out during the war for service in the women's division of the British army.

Farm Women Take Holiday

GUELPH, July 19 (CP). — A plan to give Western Ontario farm women a few days away from their "job," has proven so successful it may become an annual affair, Ontario Agricultural College officials said Sunday.

The "holiday attracted members of Women's Institute branches, as many as 350 attending OAC in one day. Suggested by Dr. W. R. Reek, OAC President, the program included demonstration of food preparation, movies and other entertainment.

J. McConkey Wed Monday To Edward M. McConnell

The marriage of Dora June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McConkey, Lakefield, to Edward Milton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McConnell, Campbellford, took place Monday afternoon in George Street United Church.

Vows were exchanged before the Rev. Dr. James Semple, with a background of hydrangea and gladioli banked with fern. Mr. Charles Allen was at the organ to play traditional wedding music, while Mrs. T. Williams sang the Lord's Prayer before the bride entered and Grieg's "I Love Thee" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in heavy white slipper satin fashioned with a molded bodice, nylon yoke edged with folds of satin and long fitted sleeves coming to points over her wrist. The richly gathered skirt fell in a cut-away style falling to a graceful train showing a tiered French lace underskirt. Her embroidered veil was held in place with a head-dress of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of Bettertime roses showered with gypsophila.

Attending the bride, as matron of honor, was her only sister, Mrs. Ronald Gardiner, frocked in a delicate green embossed marquisette, molded bodice with neckline similar to that of the bride's. The skirt, daintily hooped, peg-top fashion, was finished at the back with a large bustle bow. Her outfit was completed with matching mittens and a Juliet cap of matching net. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow gladioli and pink carnations.

Mr. Bruce McConnell, brother of the groom, was groomsman, and ushers were Ronald Gardiner, brother-in-law of the bride, and Lorne McConnell, brother of the groom.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Hooper's Palm Rooms. The bride's mother received wearing a dress of pink eyelet silk jersey with white straw hat and a corsage of white carnations and blue cornflowers. The groom's mother also received wearing turquoise faconne crepe with black picture hat and a corsage of pink carnations and sweet peas.

For a trip through the Thousand Islands and New York State the bride chose a dress of mauve gabardine with white picture hat and white accessories. On return the couple will reside on Weller Street.

Raspberry Jam is Wonderful made the Easy "Sure-Results" Way... with CERTO

1. You'll be amazed how QUICK it is . . . how EASY. First you crush 2 quarts fully ripe berries (Yes! RIPE fruit — not under-ripe as in old-fashioned recipes). Measure 4 cups prepared fruit and 6½ cups sugar into large saucepan or kettle. Mix well, bring to full rolling boil over high heat. Stir constantly before and while boiling.

2. Boil hard one minute only. (The boil is so short it cannot dull the natural colour or spoil the lovely fresh-fruit taste. They stay right in your jam.) Remove from heat and stir in half-bottle of Certo. Stir and skim by turns for just 5 minutes to cool slightly and prevent floating fruit. Then ladle into glasses and paraffin quickly.

Certo is nothing but fruit pectin — the natural substance in fruit which makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell"—extracted and concentrated for easier, quicker, better jam and jelly making. The name "Certo" is a trade-mark.

A Product of General Foods

E-59

Look for book of 78 tested Recipes under the Label

A POUND OF JAM OR JELLY MADE WITH CERTO CONTAINS NO MORE SUGAR THAN A POUND MADE THE OLD, LONG-BOIL WAY.

3. You get 10 glasses instead of 6. Because you don't have to "boil down" your jam to make it set, practically no juice can waste away in steam. So you get about 10 glasses instead of the 6 you'd expect from long-boil recipes (Certo helps ALL fruits to jell perfectly with an average yield of 50% more jam or jelly).

4. No guesswork —sure results. With Certo Fruit Pectin you get 78 kitchen-tested recipes — a different one for each fruit. While the season lasts why not make several kinds of jam and jelly for those long winter months? But be sure to follow the Certo recipes exactly . . . don't change a thing . . . and your jams and jellies will always turn out right.

Aussie Miners Back To Work In First Break

SYDNEY, Australia, July 19 — (Reuters)—All coal miners in western Australia and many in Queensland went back to work today in the first major break in the country-wide strike involving 23,000 miners.

The miners at Collie, western Australia's chief mine, resumed work Monday.

Miners' lodges in the Singleton district of New South Wales voted against a general strike.

But W. Cook, president of the northern New South Wales branch of the Miners' Federation, said: "It is much too early to talk of an end of the strike."

He said meetings of striking coal diggers at several New South Wales fields, scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, "will certainly not mean the end of the coal strike."

The walkout began June 27 over the demands of the miners for higher wages and shorter hours. They refused to await the decision of an arbitration tribunal considering their claims.

Make Recommendations

Cook said the miners' meetings in New South Wales, the chief coal-producing state, could make recommendations to the combined mining union's council. He predicted they would recommend continuation of the strike, which has tied up industry and left more than 500,000 persons unemployed.

Meanwhile the right of Judge Alfred William Foster of the Federal Arbitration Court to deal with charges of contempt of court was challenged.

Simon Isaacs, counsel for official of the Waterside Workers' Federation, said in arbitration court he will apply to the high court, equivalent to the Supreme Court of Canada, nor an order preventing Judge Foster from dealing with the question of penalties for contempt of court.

This Year's Fair More Exhibits

"From the large number of enquiries we are getting these days, I believe we will have far more exhibits than last year," said G. A. Gillespie, manager-secretary of the Peterborough Exhibition, in a comment this morning, a full month in advance of the week's events.

"There is more interest among producers of cattle and horses, and also from people enquiring for booths. In fact, our booth space is almost entirely sold already; not much of a selling job left for me from the present look of things."

Charles E. Moore, vice-president, was chairman at last night's meeting of the Exhibition directors. Committee reports indicated that plans are completed in every department. Apparently the board has overtaken all the details of business. They spent 30 or 40 minutes on some trifle of phrasing the passes that are issued to exhibitors and general employees of the Exhibition establishment.

Construction of the new building in the east-central section of the park was begun today by Fred Robson with the pouring of concrete. Trench excavation was made ready some days ago.

Mr. Gillespie reported that the half - mile track had been thoroughly groomed of late. It had been gone over with a fine tooth comb for small stones; work was done on the track cushion and the oval was never in better condition, according to the manager.

Third RCAF History To Be On Sale Soon

Entitled "The RCAF Overseas: The Sixth Year," the volume is being published by the Oxford University Press, Toronto. It will be priced at $4, with all royalties going to the RCAF Benevolent Fund.

Falls Under Box Car CNR Worker Killed

MONTREAL, July 19.—(CP).—Georges Gaspar, 50, was instantly killed early today when he stumbled and fell under a moving box car of the Ottawa-Montreal freight train in Canadian National Railways' Turcotte yards.

Police said the man, engaged in switching, was running alongside the box car and turned his head to look back. As he did so, he apparently stumbled on a tie and fell under the wheels.

Alexander Steps Into Battle

MEAFORD, Ont., July 19 (CP)—Canada's Governor - General, Viscount Alexander paid an official visit today and stepped right into a battle between former Mayor F. Stanley Knight and town council.

The ex-Mayor, who resigned his post Monday, did not appear at the welcoming ceremonies. Instead, the Governor-General was welcomed by Rev. A. L. Howard, member of the town council which Mr. Knight today accused of "dirty work at the crossroads".

Earlier it was reported that the trouble which resulted in the Mayor's resignation arose from a difference of opinion between him and the Canadian Legion branch here on who should greet the Governor-General.

But today, the former Mayor said he bore no ill-feeling toward the Legion branch.

Mr. Knight said he did not intend trying to regain his post. He accused the council of a "double-cross" because Reeve William Riley Monday invited him, on behalf of council, to officiate today and then, a few hours later, withdrew the invitation.

"I was only invited because they thought I would not accept," said Mr. Knight.

3.2 Inches Rain In Two Days

Rain before dawn Monday and again today measured 3.2 inches as recorded by James Armstrong at the filtration plant. Part of Monday's rain was around 9 a.m., for the total of 1.4 inches, combining with the 1.8 in. credited to today.

It is all a moistening help to the parched land in and around Peterborough, and falls short of the two-day soaking farmers have been hoping for.

As for most farmers, they simply haven't time to moan about the June drought with its extensions at both ends, into May and July. They are busy with the harvest, such as it is, and some have begun plowing wheat beds for fall sowing.

Pineapple Salesman

MONTREAL, July 19 — (CP)— A two-man delegation of the Malayan pineapple industry arrived here Monday night to confer with Montreal traders on the possibility of the resumption of canned pineapples to Canada. The delegates will visit Toronto next and then return home from Vancouver, via Tokyo and Hong Kong.

Mrs. C. Fanning Long Ill, Dies

Mrs. Clara Fanning, proprietor of Fanning's Laundry, died today at the age of 69 after a long illness. She came to Peterborough 50 years ago as a young woman from her birthplace in Silverwood, Michigan, USA, and with her husband, the late James S. Fanning, started the laundry which is now a leading laundry in the city.

Before her marriage Mrs. Fanning was Clara May Kildau. She lived with her daughter, Miss Hazel J. Fanning, at 603 Weller St., but spent her last days in hospital.

Until failing health prevented her, Mrs. Fanning took an active part in the management of the laundry, which is now managed by her sons Weldon E. and John D. Fanning. Both daughters, Miss Hazel Fanning and Mrs. L. B. Hutchison (Marguerite) are also actively associated with the business.

Active In Welfare

At one time Mrs. Fanning did a great deal for the Children's Aid Society. She was also a member of the 57th Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire.

Three sisters in Michigan are Mesdames E. Ellsworth, C. Lockyer and B. Broomfield.

Funeral service will be held Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at All Saints' Anglican Church, of which Mrs. Fanning was a member. She is resting at her late home on Weller St.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. W. Kibblewhite and will be followed by burial at Little Lake Cemetery.

Funeral arrangement by Comstock Funeral Home.

City Traffic To Be Studied

Inspector Vernon Page, in charge of the traffic department of Toronto police, is coming to Peterborough to make a study of this city's traffic problems. As the result of an arrangement between Mayor Max Swanston of Peterborough and Mayor Hiram McCallum of Toronto, the Inspector is to come to Peterborough "in a few weeks time" to make the study and he may take some of the Peterborough policemen back to Toronto for a time.

The Police Commission appointed two new constables Monday who will swell the force to 33. This was done to enable the force to have a special traffic section.

The new constables are both ex-servicemen who saw active service at sea with the navy. They are Donald Percy Jones, 23, of 431 Brioux Ave. and William Arid Scott, 28, of 474 Arndon Ave. Both had high school education and are employed at the C.G.E. Mr. Jones was born in Campbellford and Mr. Scott in Scotland.

Increase in the size of city police force will cost $2327 for the remainder of the year.

The Commission approved Chief Constable John Thompson's recommendation for the promotion to second class constable of George B. Shaw and Vern O'Donoghue. Both constables have been on the force two years.

Thinks Canada Tops

VANCOUVER, July 19—(CP)— The United States ambassador to Canada, Laurence Steinhardt, said Monday he cannot understand why young Canadians want to go south of the border. He said Canada is the land of opportunity. "This is a young man's country and there are big jobs to be done everywhere you look."

Soap Boxers Eager To Try Other Contests

More Soap Box Derbies will be contested by the Senior Champion of Peterborough, Herbie Jackson. On August 10 his father and mother hope to see him shooting down Gibbs St. between Centre and Nassau St. in Oshawa to capture the open event in the derby.

The prizes in the Oshawa Derby are $25 for first prize, $20 for second, $15 for third and $10 for fourth. There will be the same age groups as in the Y's Men's club's derby, Class A, Boys 13, 14, and 15 on August 1, Class B, Boys 11 and 12 on August 1.

Herbie will be entered in the annual invitation meet, which Richard Miller, last year's champion won. The four winners of the Oshawa Derby will contest in the open heats.

When asked by the Examiner reporter if there were other meets Herbie might enter, Mrs. C. Jackson said he might try the Cobourg derby and the St. Catharines derby.

Mrs. Jackson added that she heard that there might not be a Cobourg contest this year. Last year all prizes in their contest were swept by Peterborough entries. Miller took top honors in that derby also. She said even if there was a meet, Cobourg might not invited the Peterborough winners as a result of last year's snatching by the Peterborough entries.

"We're willing to take on all comers just the same," said Mrs. Jackson.

Eager To Enter

Franz Gruinger, the entry from Three Rivers, Quebec, stayed at the Jackson home over the weekend. He has stood second and first in the Montreal derbies for the last couple of years. He won these honors out of fields of 82 and 76 cars. Next year he hopes that Herbie will be his guest for the Montreal Derby. Franz has one more year at Soap Box Derby racing.

Members of the Y's Men's Club say they might sponsor Herbie in entering the St. Catharines Soap Box Derby this year. If he is winner there, he will have qualified for the International Soap Box Derby in Akron, Ohio.

At the Derby Saturday he clipped off the two-tenths of a mile in 30.75 seconds from a dead start. This means that he was travelling between 35 and 40 miles an hour when he hit the finish line.

Last year he was the junior champion. Being only 12 years old Herbie still has three years of derby racing ahead.

Crushes Hand

HASTINGS, July 19.—(ENS). —Donld Mouncey, employed at the Breithaupt Leather Co., suffered an injury to his hand Monday noon. He caught his hand in a rolling machine just before he started work. Mr. Mouncey was treated by Dr. Wm. N. Campbell, and was later taken to Civic Hospital, Peterborough, where it was found that no bones were broken.

Reports are that Mr. Mouncey will not lose his hand.

IT'S A SAD TALE—Two-year-old Phil Edmond shed real tears when he heard a move was underway to order all dogs and cats from Uplands Emergency Shelter on the outskirts of Ottawa. He didn't want anyone to take his dog, Pete. The tears soon dried when the general eviction order, a sanitary measure, was tempered to mean only stray dogs would be taken by the dog-catcher. There are 42 dogs in the compound which houses 450 families.

Midnight Crash On Water St.

Driving into the back of a parked car on Water St. shortly after midnight today, Roland Williigar, 697 Water St. had a badly cut face and was taken to Civic Hospital by Norman Graham, 599 Water St. He crashed into a car owned by Donald Tripp, 591 Water St., which was standing outside Mr. Tripp's house.

Both headlights on Mr. Williigar's car were broken, one front fender was bent back, the steering wheel was bent and there was damage to the radiator and axle.

The trunk door, left rear fender, bumper and tail light on Mr. Tripp's car were damaged as it was pushed 13 feet three inches, along the street.

Mr. Williigar was treated by Dr. J. R. Epping and the incident was investigated by Constables Bill Fife and Gordon Trennum.

CORNWALL, July 19 —(CP)— Mrs. Angus Mercier celebrated her 101st birthday today and told friends her recipe for longevity is "plenty of hard work and good living." A native of Vankleek Hill, Ont., she has had 18 children, six of them still living.

35 Farms Lit Up

DOWNEYVILLE, July 19.—(ENS).—Electric power was brought to about 35 farm houses and a few cottages when the Hydro lines were completed last week from Bobcaygeon, 12 miles south on the county road to S.S. 6, Emily township. The road skirts the west side of Pigeon lake. The power is sent through from Fenelon Falls. Last year Hydro lines were put in from: Fenelon Falls to Bobcaygeon. The new section is part of the province's plan to bring electric power to the rural areas to lighten the work of farmers and their wives.

Discover Dazed Pair After Wrecking Car

BARRIE, July 19 — (CP)—Two 17-year-old youths were arrested on a sideroad near here Monday after they were found wandering dazed and bleeding some two miles from the wreckage of a 1949 car which police say they stole and wrecked.

The two, Murray Campbell of Islington, near Toronto, and Donald Orme of Toronto, were charged with theft. Police said they chased the pair some ten miles down the road from an inn where the alleged theft occurred.

Witnesses said the car left the highway travelling at a "terrific speed," turned two complete somersaults and landed upside down in the ditch.

Try Third Break-in At Canada Packers

CORNWALL, July 19 — (CP)— For the third time in less than a year, thieves Monday night broke into the Finch plant of Canada Packers but although they forced open the door of a large safe they got nothing for their efforts.

Reginald Helmer, plant manager, frightened away when a transfer, said the thieves were apparent-former in the village 25 miles northwest of Cornwall blew out and residents were awakened.

International Problem

WASHINGTON, July 19—(AP) —A new Senate move to block dismantling of many West-German industrial plants has created a potentially-delicate international problem. The state department is reported "gravely concerned" about asking Great Britain and France a second time to cut down their removal of plants from Western Germany.

Eight Acts Of Treason

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19—(AP)—A government witness testified Monday that Iva Toguri d'Aquino, as Tokyo Rose, committed eight open acts of treason against the United States. Mrs. d'Aquino, 33, born in Los Angeles, is charged with trying to hurt the United States war effort with wartime propaganda broadcasts from radio Tokyo.

Forest Fires Under Control

WINNIPEG, July 19. (CP) — Improvement in control of forest fires in Western Canada — particularly in Manitoba — was reported today.

Three serious fires which had been raging uncontrolled in Manitoba's northern rock and muskeg country, devouring young spruce and jackpine by the acre, were said to be burning but under control.

In British Columbia, the picture also eased, with cool weather helping the firefighters. At midnight Monday night the partial industrial closure placed on forestry operations was lifted.

The BC Forest Service, announcing the lift, said, the present improved condition should be considered "only temporary" since a return of dry, sunny weather could speedily wipe out the benefits derived from the cool mass of air prevailing Monday.

Nearly every BC forest fire is under control today, including the large conflagration at Meade Creek near Lake Cowichan on Vancouver Island.

Toronto Egg Prices Soar Over 80 Cents

TORONTO, July 19 (CP)—For the first time this year, retail egg prices in Toronto jumped over the 80-cent mark with some merchants receiving 81 cents a dozen for Grade A large, a survey of dealers revealed today.

Highest price reecived by retailers in recent years was in July 1948, when eggs sold as high as 85 cents a dozen. Dealers predicted the price will probably reach an all-time high this year if the present consumer demand continues to rise.

House Hunting Worry Confronts Drews

OTTAWA, July 19 (CP)—The George Drews fell in with a common pursuit today.

The Progressive Conservative leader and his wife went house-hunting in Ottawa that officials consider one of the three Canadian cities with the worst housing problem.

Party officials had a number of prospective homes lined up for their inspection but one complicating factor was their desire to live in the Carleton riding Mr. Drew represents in Parliament. Only a relatively-small section of the capital lies inside the constituency.

Presidential Candidate

TORONTO, July 19 (CP) — William Entwistle chairman of the Ontario Soccer Commission, will be a candidate for the presidency of the Dominion Football Association, it was learned Monday. Annual meeting of the Association is scheduled at Calgary, Aug. 6.

To Study Higher Pay

WASHINGTON, July 19—(AP) —President Truman's fact-finding board Monday set July 26 for the start of public hearings on the question of a fourth round of post-war wage increases in the steel industry of the United States. The hearings will be held in New York.

Plan Armament Census

LAKE SUCCESS, July 19 (AP) —A French plan for a world armament census was approved Monday by the working committee of the United Nations commission for conventional armaments. The vote was 8 to 3. Russian refusal to submit figures apparently dooms the plan before it gets full UN approval, however.

Belmont Village Opens New $50,000 Arena

BELMONT, Ont., July 18. — (CP)—It took some financial manoeuvring and hard work, but this Elgin county village of less than 500 persons Monday night opened its new $50,000 arena and community hall.

More than 3,000 persons crowded the carnival program and cheered the successful finish of the venture started only 14 months ago. The building committee still has to raise the last $10,000 but they are optimistic about that.

Some $41,000 was realized by voluntary subscriptions, a loan of $12,000 and a provincial grant of $5,000.

The arena itself will house a regulation-size hockey rink, seating 1,500 persons. The community hall on the mezzanine will seat 450, and also will be used for dances.

14 Perish In Typhoon

TOKYO, July 19 (AP)—The death toll in a typhoon that blew itself out Monday rose today to 14. National rural police also reported: 195 houses destroyed and more than 5,000 flooded; 104 roads damaged; three bridges destroyed; 11 fishing boats missing. Heaviest damage was in southern Kyushu.

Knows Mysterious Cat

ST. CATHARINES, July 19—(CP)—F. Barker, a barber, reports he knows the mysterious cat which has been seen in this area recently. He describes the cat as being three feet long, golden color, with a fox face and web feet like a duck. The cat eats vine leaves. Barker says that last summer he made friends with the cat and often fed it tid bits. Others who have seen the animal said it resembles anything from a wildcat to a mountain lion.

Confessed Vampire Killer Of Nine Operated In World Of Fantasy

LEWES, Sussex, England, July 19—(CP)—A psychiatrist testified today that John George Haigh, confessed vampire killer of nine, was led into a world of fantasy by a dream-ridden adolescence.

Haigh is being tried on a charge of killing wealthy Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon, 69, last Feb. 18.

Called as a defence witness, Dr. Henry Yellowlees, noted London and Glasgow psychiatrist, testified that Haigh was suffering from paranoic insanity.

Yellowlees described a paranoiac as a mentally ill person whose "system of mystical ideas are ever less related to the morals of ordinary society and ever more associated with references to some vague force or principle under whose guidance he is acting."

Yellowlees testified that the defendant was an oly child in "a fanatically religious" home.

In two statements read in court Monday Haigh was quoted as telling police he had killed eight others besides Mrs. Durand-Deacon in the last five years, had drunk a glass of the blood of each and then destroyed their bodies in cauldrons of acid.

Defence counsel read the statements in detail to support a plea for "a special verdict in the form of guilty of the acts charged, but insane at the time they were committed." The prosecution contends Mrs. Durand-Deacon's death was a "premeditated murder for gain."

Drank Victims' Blood

Defence counsel Sir David Maxwell Fyfe asked Yellowlees whether he believed Haigh drank his victims' blood. The psychiatrist replied:

"I think it is pretty certain that he did."

The psychiatrist told the court of a "dream of the bleeding Christ' which Haigh had told him constantly recurred between the ages of 10 and 16. In it Haigh saw either the head or sometimes the whole body of Christ on the cross with blood pouring from his wounds.

Haigh had told him, he said:

"I am awaiting trial with complete equanimity. I am in the position of Jesus Christ before Pontious Pilate."

The accused told him that in a dream he seemed to go out into an entire forest of crucifixes, which turned into trees dripping blood. One tree gradually assumes the shape of a man, holding a bowl below one of the trees and catching the blood coming from it.

"Then when the cup is full the man in the dream offers it to him and invites him to drink it. He says he is unable to move and the man recedes."

A Little Too Efficient

AUSTIN, Minn., July 19 (AP) —Well meaning companions put a tourniquet around Thomas Downey's neck after he suffered a head cut in a fall from a truck Sunday. A woman passerby persuaded them to loosen it. Downey, 25, was reviving when an ambulance arrived. He was released from the hospital Monday.

Find Poison Scarce

TORONTA, July 19.—(CP).— A shortage of Paris green is hampering Ontario farmers in their fight against army worms. Prof. W. H. Goble of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph said Monday night that the demand for the insecticide has been falling off in recent years and as a result farmers' stocks are low.

Disorderly Teen-Agers Upset Beach Resort

LAVELLETTE, N.J., July 19— (AP) — Drunk and disorderly teen-agers have been "raising hell," with parades of naked girls and all-night beach parties topping the list of "immoral" activities, Mayor William Chandler has charged.

The mayor said Monday that close to 1,000 boys and girls from 16 to 18 years old invade this tiny beach resort each summer, renting houses and staging a round of parties "completely without morals and without restraint."

Chandler said one large house was rented this year by a high school fraternity group and a sorority, which were supposed to occupy separate floors of the house. He said noise at the house prompted him to stop in, where he found a "brazen parade" of naked girls heading for the shower room, in full view of the boys.

"Everybody is pretty upset about it," Chandler said.

Dry Era Over In Kansas State

TOPEKA, Kans., July 19—(AP) — Liquor will go on sale l-e-g-a-l-l-y in Kansas this week.

It will mark the end of an era of colorful crusading and a multi-million dollar bootlegging business in this long-time stronghold of prohibition.

For almost 70 years the sale of liquor has been banned in Kansas by the state constitution. And for 32 years the state "bone-dry" law made possession of so much as a thimbleful of liquor punishable by a jail sentence.

But, last November Kansans voted 422,294 to 358310 to repeal prohibition.

After a two months' struggle, mainly to retain local option, the legislature passed a liquor control act. It wiped out the bone-dry law from the statute books.

Then followed four months of feverish work to establish a control and licensing set-up.

Late today, the state liquor control office will mail out licences for more than 260 privately-owned stores to retail liquor or high per cent beer. Beer of less than 3.2 ner cent alcohol was legalized in 1937.

Despite the seemingly radical change for a traditionally dry state, no wild binge is in the making.

Saloons and public drinking are barred. Liquor will be sold only in packages at stores licensed solely to sell intoxicants.

Elizabeth Taylor Marriage Delayed By Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, July 19 (AP)—A multi-million-dollar item called "Quo Vadis?" is holding up Elizabeth Taylor's marriage.

Flashing a large diamond engagement ring, the dark-haired actress said the date of her wedding to Florida's Bill Pawley, Jr., hinges on the M.G.M. epic. It was postponed from this year until next spring, when a full company is slated to sail for Italy.

"There's no sense in getting married if I have to leave and spend nine months in Europe," says Liz. However, if the picture is called off—and rumors continue to fly—you can look for an old beauty.

early marriage for the 17-year-

Elizabeth now is separated by a continent from her fiance, who works in Miami. "You surely have the far-flung romances," I said, recalling her England-to-Korea love match with football star Glenn Davis.

"Isn't it awful?" she agreed. "I must be fated."

Report Deep Split Worsening Between Union Leaders, Workers

By H. P. JONES

LONDON, July 19 (CP)—Unofficial strikes are casting a deepening shadow across the British labor scene, threatening industry with serious disruption at a critical time.

Britain has not had a major official strike backed by a union since the war. But the incidence of unofficial work stoppages in defiance of union leaders has been steadily on the increase.

Last year strikes occurred in the coal fields contrary to the advice of the National Union of Mine Workers. Dock workers strike tied up the port of London for more than one week at a cost of millions of pounds despite union pleas to the men to return to work. This year there have been unofficial "go-slows" on railways and more stoppages on London docks, all without union consent.

Union conferences have ignored recommendations by executives. Some top labor leaders such as Arthur Deakin, secretary of the General and Transport Workers Union, have been heckled by the rank and file.

No Split Admitted

Union leaders themselves will not admit there is any "split" between the union hierarchy and workers. Men such as Sir William Lawther, once a coal-pit boy and now president of the N.U.M., say Communist agitators who get into the union are to blame. They gain the confidence of a disgruntled few and spread dissatisfaction.

The Labor Government, watching the situation closely, also blames Communist agitators. It has told dock workers involved in the current Canadian-born dispute, that they are dupes of Communist elements.

Growing Irritation

But Whitehall shows growing irritation with the inability of union heads to check unofficial stoppages. Labor Minister George Isaacs recently scolded two dockland unions for failure to make their stand clear against the dockers' walkout and to take action to end the dispute.

There is an apparent belief in Whitehall that union leaders should get closer to the rank and file.

The Times said in a recent editorial that the dock dispute of a year ago demonstrated the meagre influence exerted by union leaders.

"Too often it is absurdly easy for Communists to lead stupid or irresponsible men astray on any pretext without the figure heads of trade unions or labor minister being able to do anything about it," the Times said.

"This Achilles heel of the labor movement, with all that it might mean, is in for still sterner times and has not been cured in the past 12 months....The gap between the leaders and men remains so large that it is always possible for work to be stopped at a vital point in the nation's life suddenly and without excuse or regard to obligations which the men have contracted."

Never Been In Plane Youth Killed In Jump

RUTLAND, Vt., July 19 (AP)—A saddened father said Monday night his son, as far as he knew, had never before been in an airplane prior to his fatal 2,500-foot leap in what was to be a demonstration parachute jump.

The son, George Beaudoin, 23, of Montpelier, Vt., was quoted by officials at Rutland airport before his fatal plunge Sunday as saying he had made 27 jumps.

His father, Harry Beaudoin, of Stanhope, Que., said however, that as far as he knew George never before had been inside an airplane. He added his son served with the Canadian Army Engineers between 1942 and 1943.

Hold Second Conference About US Atomic Secrets

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—A second high-level conference of sharing the United States' atomic weapon secrets set Capital Hill buzzing today. Does the government propose to share fully the post-war atomic secrets and "know how" of the United States with Great Britain and Canada?

Will such a step, if undertaken, be done through executive agreement, or by action of Congress?

These and other questions circulated freely as the joint Senate-House of Representatives atomic committee prepared to sit down with State, military and atomic leaders to explore the "continuing problem' 'of relations with Britain and Canada in the atomic field.

The conference was announced Tuesday by Chairman Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.) as a sequel to the closed meeting here last Thursday night.

Meanwhile, the government was reported to have sounded out lawmakers on the question of sharing atomic secrets with Britain and Canada by executive (presidential) agreement.

Such a course would (a) bypass Congressional action and (b) undoubtedly raise a furious row on Capitol Hill. Congress members are extremely jealous of what they regard as legislative prerogatives.

Indicative of the feeling is that expressed by Senator Bourke Hickenlooper (rep. Iowa), ranking Republican member of the Joint Committee. He insists that the present Atomic Energy Act bans giving away secrets to anyone by anyone.

One democratic senator noted that the late President Roosevelt entered into an executive agreement with former Prime Minister Winston Churchill which gave Britain and Canada access to wartime atomic development work.

Split Develops On Strike Policy

LONDON, July 20 (CP)—Confusion and bewilderment over London's crippling dock strike grew today following a clash between the Labor Government and the National Dock Labour Board.

"The government has gone crazy," Lord Ammon, chairman of the Dock Board and former labor member of parliament, angrily told reporters when asked to comment on the government's move to reassure striking stevedores that their basic wage scheme would not be jeopardized by the dock emergency.

With more than 15,000 London dockers off the job in support of the Canadian Seamen's Union fight against Canadian ship owners, a difference of opinion has arisen among various government-sponsored agencies seeking to end the vast tie-up.

Lord Ammon's board Tuesday night told strikers they must be back at work by Thursday morning or possibly forfeit the national dock labor scheme which guarantees dockers regular employment and a basic wage in place of their former casual-worker status.

Prime Minister Attlee's residence a few hours later said the statement had been issued without the authorization of the government's five-man emergency committee which was set up last week to handle the crisis. The government was not "contemplating any step" to end the labor scheme, the Prime Minister's residence said.

Test Sunday Baseball In Toronto, Decision

TORONTO, July 20.—(CP).—A Board of Control recommendation that the North Toronto Baseball Association be granted two "test" dates to play baseball in civic parks on Sundays will be voted on at a special city council meeting next Monday, it was announced today.

The controversial Sunday baseball issue was discussed at a Board meeting today and was opposed only by Acting Mayor John Innes.

The recommendation supports recent attempts by Don North, Association president, to "test" a civic bylaw concerning sports. North contends the bylaw does not specifically mention Sunday, but states that the parks commissioner must first approve any match games to be played in civic parks.

Plane Falls On 5 Houses, Find 6 Killed

Report 32 On Board Manage Escape, Crash On Take-Off

SEATTLE, July 20—(AP)—An air transport with 32 persons aboard crashed into five houses Tuesday night in a take-off from Seattle's Boeing Field.

The coroner's office reported many hours later that six bodies had been found in the wreckage of the twine-engined C-46 and the debris of the wrecked homes. The search was continuing.

Miraculously, most—if not all—of the persons aboard the Chicago-bound, non-schedule plane escaped with their lives. Most of the victims were believed to have perished in the houses.

The coroner's office said that two of the six bodies had been tentatively identified as those of persons who were not aboard the plane.

The president of the operating company, Air Transport Associates, Incorporated, said he did not think any of those aboard were killed.

A failure of one of the engines was blamed for the catastrophe. The plane, unable to gain sufficient altitude quickly, hit power lines above the Georgetown district in Seattle's south end. Then it plummeted into the houses below, carrying death and destruction with it.

Cuts Off Power

Cutting of power lines threw the area into darkness, broken by the eerie sputtering and flashing of the dangerously dangling wires.

The plane was a 50-passenger transport of a type used widely dooring the war with troop and cargo carriers.

Seventeen of the 28 passengers aboard the plane as well as four of the crew were in hospital with injuries. Eight others were treated and released. Three were unhurt and four were unaccounted for.

Seven residents of the damaged homes also were injured, and four firemen were injured when a gasoline tank exploded 3½ hours after the crash.

The 50-passenger plane crashed seconds after it took off from Boeing Field on a non-scheduled flight to Chicago for Air Transport Associates, Incorporated.

Amos E. Heacock, company president and a passenger on the plane, said both engines checked out "without a sputter" at the end of the runway.

"But soon after we got into the air one motor began sputtering and the pilot evidently thought it best to continue. A few seconds later he puled back on the throttle, apparently intending to land," Heacock said.

Couldn't Make It

"Then he perceived almost immediately that he could not land and pulled throttle again, continuing to climb with a sputtering engine."

Power lines and telephone wires were clipped, plunging the area into darkness and disrupting communications.

Russia Accuses Big Three Making Italy Violate Pact

LONDON, July 20.—(AP). — Russia today accused the Big Three western powers of getting Italy to violate the terms of her peace treaty by inviting her to sign the North Atlantic pact.

The Moscow radio said that in note to Britain, the United States, France and Italy herself, Russia has charged that Italy violated the terms of her peace treaty when she signed the Atlantic document by invitation of the Big Three.

The Soviet Union sent the notes in the midst of Italian debate on ratification of the Atlantic charter.

Ratification is under discussion in Italy's Chamber of Deputies, where a majority of Christian Democrats is expected to win quick approval.

In the Italian Senate, the Christian Democrats, the largest group in that body, are expected to gain enough backing from Liberals and anti-Communist Socialists to insure ratification.

The Soviet note charged that the North Atlantic treaty is an aggressive instrument aimed at Russia and the "peoples' democracies."

Italy signed a peace treaty with the Big Four and 16 other countries in Paris, Feb. 10, 1947. She signed the North Atlantic pact in Washington last April 4 along with Britain, the United States, France and eight other countries.

The Russian note said that in joining the alliance Italy broke the peace treaty clauses which (1) pledged her "to abstain from undertaking any actions directed against states with which that treaty was signed and consequently not to join any alliances or other groupings pursuing aggressive aims" and (2 which limited her army, navy, air force and war industry.

His mother was badly burned as she tried to fight through the flames to reach him after carrying two other children—two-year-old Mary Jane and John, three—from the house.

Small Hospitals To Get Grant For TB Control

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP) — A tuberculosis control grant of $63,000 to finance a hospital admission chest X-ray program in smaller hospitals in Ontario has been authorized under the terms of the National Health Plan, the health department said Tuesday.

"This project is designed to discover cases of tuberculosis among patients entering public hospitals and to protect staff members and other patients from tuberculosis contacts," the department said.

"Large grants of federal funds have already been made to pay for the installation of X-ray equipment in the larger hospitals throughout Ontario. Smaller hospitals in which the installation of miniature film equipment is not warranted because of their small number of admissions will be paid $2 for each standard chest film taken on patients admitted to their care."

Paper Gets Picture As Crime Committed

TORONTO, July 20 (CP)—A Toronto paper today published one of the rare pictures of a crime being committed—two bank robbers in the act of stealing a seaplane to make an ill-fated getaway.

The picture, published the full width of the front page, shows the two hold-up men, one with a gun crooked in his arm, forcing the air-base operator to start the plane in which the robbers skipped across a bay of Larder Lake and then crashed.

Taken from a bank of the lake, the picture shows two small girls and two men looking on as the crime is committed.

To Discuss Crisis

BRUSSELS, July 20. — (Reuters).— Exiled King Leopold of Belgium soon will discuss Belgium's three-week-old political crisis with leaders of the country's three main parties. The delegation will be led by Paul-Henri Spaak, premier in Belgium's outgoing government which resigned following general elections last month, and Frans Van Cauwelaert, veteran Catholic politician.

2 Men Stage Daring Bank Holdup

Stolen Plane Sinks One Captured; Pal Surrenders Today

KIRKLAND LAKE, July 20.—(CP).—Two men are in jail here today charged with armed robbery, assault, theft of an automobile and of an airplane after the daring bank robbery Tuesday at Larder Lake, 18 miles east of here.

The men are: Leo Martial, 24, and Victor Desmarais, 23, both of Noranda, Que.

Desmarais surrendered early today to an armed posse near Larder Lake. He had $1,500 on his person.

Martial was captured Tuesday a short time after the pair had commandeered a seaplane at gunpoint, taxied it across Larder Lake and crashed into the shore.

Police searched him and found $525. He told them that his companion had drowned getting from the aircraft to shore.

Provincial police said they thought Martial had given them the erroneous story of the drowning to give Desmarais time to hide the $10,000 still missing. Today police and citizens are combing the rugged bush country searching for the money.

First Plane Hold-Up

The strange story of Canada's first airplane hold-up began Tuesday morning, police said.

Jack Lamont, 33, a pilot for an aircraft-rental establishment on Larder Lake, received a telephone call to have a plane ready at 3.30 p.m. to fly two men to Val D'Or.

Later two men hired a taxi in Kirkland Lake and told the driver, Tony Giovanni Antoniazzi, to drive to Larder Lake.

One mile outside the town they ordered the taxi stopped, beat the driver and left him tied to a tree.

They then took the car and drove to Larder Lake where they robbed the Imperial Bank of Canada, holding the staff at bay with pistols.

After locking Albert Gary, manager of the bank, Eileen Hill, accountant, Helen Salo, ledger-keeper, Jack Tranter, teller, and a customer in a vault, the men headed for the seaplane base in the stolen taxi.

Weren't Fooling

Lamont was waiting beside the plane when he saw the car approaching at break-neck speed.

"They had guns in their hands, pointed them right at me and asked if I was the pilot," he said.

"They said I was to fly them away immediately. There were three or four children playing nearby and one of the men point-

Gambling Czar 3 Others, Shot

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP) —Gangsters' bullets early today cut down gambling Czar Mickey Cohen and three other persons—including a state-appointed bodyguard for the dapper hoodlum—as the party left a smart Sunset Strip cafe.

None of the party was killed, but all were in serious condition. Harry Cooper, a special bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the California Attorney-General, was most seriously wonded.

The other victims were Miss Dee David and Edward (Neddie) Herbert, a Cohen henchman.

Cohen is a key figure in the grand jury inquiry into police vice tie-ups which already has resulted in a wholesale shake-up of the Los Angeles police department.

Attorney-General Fred Howser assigned Cooper to guard Cohen, presumably because Cohen had expressed fear that eastern gangsters were in town to assassinate him.

Doctors said that Cooper had a 50-50 chance to pull through. He received two shots through the abdomen. Cohen, who got it in the shoulder, was reported in serious condition. Herbert also was reported in critical condition, one shot severing his spinal cord. The girl was shot four times in the back but her condition was reported the best of the four.

Policeman's Lucky Hunch Brings Arrest Of Trio Stealing Cab, Kidnapping Driver

OTTAWA, July 20—(CP)—A provincial police constable's "lucky hunch" Tuesday night resulted in the arrest of three Montreal men, charged with stealing a Montreal taxi cab earlier today and holdnig the driver prisoner for four hours.

The men were picked up by constable Lyle Smith at South March, 14 miles west of here.

Being held for Montreal police are: Emile Provost, 29, and his 23-year-old brother, Harve, and Onela Perron, 50, all of Montreal.

Police said they will be questioned in connection with an early-morning break-in at the Canada Packers company at Finch, 10 miles from Cornwall.

Const. Smith said he noticed a car parked beside a service station near South March when he was on routine patrol. When he realized the station was closed he investigated. In the trunk of the car he found Quebec licence plates and a luminous taxi sign.

The cab driver, 24-year-old Rene Lanciaux of Montreal, said the men picked him up early today, then took control of the car. He escaped four hours later at Lancaster, 17 miles east of Cornwall.

Britain's Adverse Balance Highest Sinch 1947 Imports Largest On Record

LONDON, July 20—(CP)—Britain's adverse trade balance in June was the highest since September, 1947, and her imports were the largest on record, the Board of Trade announced today. Excess of imports over the total exports and re-exports in June was £54,200,000 ($216,800,000), an increase of £16,400,000 over May. Exports during June totalled £143,100,000, a decrease of £8,300,000 from May's exports. ada were put at £6,000,000 and to Provisional exports to Canthe United States at £3,000,000.

Although exports were down from May, the daily rate of exports was 2.5 per-cent. higher in June because it covered only 24 customs working days compared with 26 in May.

Re-exports totalled £4,400,000 which was less than the average in recent months.

Allowing for the change in prices since 1938, the total volume of exports in June is provisionally estimated at 145 per cent of the 1938 average, compared with 153 per cent in May and 140 per cent in April. The biggest export decline was in vehicles which fell by £2,400,000 to £24,800,000.

Cotton yarns and manufactures fell by £1,300,000 to £13,300,000, lowest since October; food, drink and tobacco by £200,000 to £7,300,000; and raw materials by £30,000 to £5,600,000.

Coal exports, however, were the highest this year at £3,800,000.

The record import total was £201,700,000, exceeding May, the previous high, by £6,900,000 and April by £14,200,000.

Imports of food, drink and tobacco at £85,400,000 were within £400,000 of the January record.

Value of raw materials imported was the highest since 1920, totalling £70,300,000, £2,800,000 sterling more than in May. Total export and import figures for the second quarter of 1949 also showed an increase in the trade gap.

Exports for the second quarter totalled £431,900,000, £28,000,000 less than the first quarter.

Cyclone Strikes Village, Damage Said $150,000

CHENEVILLE, Que., July 20 (CP)—Savage winds of near-cyclone force pounded this Quebec village for a scant three minutes Tuesday leaving damage estimated at nearly $150,000.

The storm cut a swath 1,000 feet wide through the village of 600 persons, tore the roofs from some 50 buildings, toppled a church steeple and left Cheneville without power or telephone communications.

The village is approximately 50 miles northeast of Ottawa.

There was no indication how widespread the damage was. The storm rushed on to the southwest. Some crops in the district were flattened but the nearby summer resort of Lac Simon was not damaged.

A few minor injuries from falling tree branches were reported.

The steeple of the parish church of St. Felix de Valois was torn off and Rev. Henri Belanger, the parish priest, said damage to the church alone was at least $15,000.

"The wind came up quite suddenly," he said. "I have heard of no damage to neighboring parishes, so I suppose we are the only one badly hit."

A saw mill was demolished. The second storey of a convent was damaged and the foundations of the newly-renovated town hall were weakened.

(In Ottawa, meteorological officials said there were no indications that the storm was very widespread. They assumed it was a cyclone, seldom found this far north, but which carries with it winds of up to 55 miles an hour.)

Truman Pledges Leadership To Maintain World Peace

CHICAGO, July 20—(AP)—Struggling democracies had President Truman's assurance today of United States leadership to provide "enough force" to maintain peace in a world he said is endangered by broken Russian promises.

With the United Nations Charter signed and the collapse of Japan, he said, the peace for which the world had prayed "didn't come..."

"For we found that we had an ally, whose habit it is, and whose habit it has been since 1917, to make agreements for the purpose of breaking them.

"Now it is absolutely necessary that we assume the leadership among the democracies of the world, so that there will be enough force in this world to maintain peace."

Truman's remarks were delivered off the cuff at a Shrine dinner Tuesday night following a formal address earlier in the day at Soldier Field. At the big stadium he reported apparently increasing "tensions and conflicts" behind the iron curtains.

"We are going to maintain the peace and make the United Nations a going and militant organization for the welfare of the world as a whole," he said.

The President did not mention directly his prospective call for funds to rearm Western Europe to implement the Atlantic Pact on which the United States Senate votes Thursday.

But in his Soldier Field speech, he forecast ratification of the Pact in line with what he said was "overwhelming" sentiment for it.

Car Upsets At Millbrook, Baby Killed

Father Turns Out To Let Truck Pass; Vehicle Overturns

MILLBROOK, July 20—(Staff) —The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Foottit, Millbrook was killed instantly Tuesday evening when the car in which the family was travelling overturned on the soft shoulder of the highway one and a half miles east of Millbrook.

The child was on the back seat of the car, Mr. Foottit was at the wheel and other occupants of the car were Mrs. Foottit and Miss Jean Foottit, sister of the driver. Mrs. Foottit was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with abrasions, concussion and suffering from shock. Mr. Foottit had cuts on the face and shoulder but was able to return home with his sister.

Wayne, aged two years and eight months, was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Foottit.

Too Far Over

Mr. Foottit told provincial police that when turning into the side of the road to allow a truck to pass, he pulled his car too far over and as it hit the soft shoulder it overturned.

Dr. J. W. Wright of Millbrook, and Dr. Hamilton, Bethany, attended the scene of the accident, and also Dr. Wrathal, Port Hope coroner.

Provincial police supervising after the inildent were Cpl. L. A. McClure and Constables Keith O'Shaughnessy and Poulter.

Prisoners Stage Food Revolt

WELLAND, July 20—(CP) —A group of prisoners in the Welland county jail have been staging a food demonstration since the evening meal Tuesday night, Claude A. Stewart, acting jail govenor, said today.

The disturbance was confined to ten prisoners in one ward of the jail. Other wards were quiet, he said.

The disturbance, he said, was plates. It was carried on intermittently during the night, and was continued this morning.

"The ward has been sealed off, and we're letting them blow off steam," Mr. Stewart said.

The demonstration began when the prisoners were served the evening meal consisting of a thick vegetable soup, bread, jam and tea.

"Both the sheriff and I tasted the soup and there was nothing wrong with it. There was no reason for the outbreak," he said.

3 Have Narrow Escape Saved By Human Chain

ALVINSTON, Ont., July 20 (CP)—John Myers, 14-year-old district youth and his two would-be rescuers had narrow escapes from drowning when trapped in the swift waters of the Sydenham River where it flows through a drain under No. 79 Highway near here.

Myers, Fred Braithwaite, Sr., and his nephew, Robert Braithwaite, finally were saved by a human chain.

But water pressure was so great in the drain funnel that Myers lost the new bathing trunks he had received for his birthday, while Robert Braithwaite lost his trousers.

Village Officials Injured In Crash

BRANTFORD, July 20 (CP)—A collision late Tuesday between a transport truck and an auto carrying Hensall Village officials to Toronto to discuss the purchase of a new fire truck killed one man and sent three others to hospital here with severe injuries. Dead is Melvin Moir, 38-year-old Hensall councillor. The injured: Councillor John Tudor, about 27, Fire Chief Edward Fink, and Wilbur C. Passmore, Henshall garage operator. Thomas McLennan, driver of the transport, was unhurt.

Gradual Drop Noticed In Building Cost

OTTAWA, July 20 (CP)—A slow, steady drop in home building is in prospect for Canadians.

Maj.-Gen. H. A. Young, vice-president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, made this prediction in an interview today after disclosing that construction costs have declined three to five per cent. since last fall.

Gen. Young offered several reasons for the drop.

"A year ago," he said, "we had had trouble getting furnaces. Today we are besieged with salesmen."

In addition, competition among lumbermen was more keen and although the average buyer wouldn't notice any price cuts, there was a decrease in lumber prices to the contractor.

Gen. Young said there was also increased competition among contractors, more of whom are dependent upon house building now that commercial construction has fallen off. The contractors had cut their own profits slightly.

"The drop to date is hardly noticeable," Gen. Young said, adding that prices will "continue to drop a little bit although there is no indication of a pronounced drop."

He said an interesting point is that prices in the United States, 10 to 15 per cent. higher than Canada last fall, now are as low or lower on building materials. usually follows trends in the U.S.,

In view of the fact that Canada the decrease would probably be reflected in this country in six to eight months.

Fodder Shortage Serious In West

REGINA, July 20 —(CP)—It's been a long time since Saskatchewan farmers have been told that Russian thistle has a high protein content. But that's what they're hearing today.

W. H. Horner, Saskatchewan field crops commissioner, said in an interview that fodder shortages in some parts of the southwest are as bad or maybe worse than they were at any time in the 30's.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner has predicted that the poor feed crop is likely to create a condition which will be as difficult as any which has been experienced over many years."

But the area is not so widespread as in 1937 when throughout most of southern Saskatchewan cattle and horses had bloated bellies from a diet of wheat straw and Russian thistle.

Slightly Firmer Tone Noted On Exchange

TORONTO, July 20.—(CP).—A slightly higher tone appeared over early irregularity on the Toronto stock exchange today. Industrials moved in a firmer trend, base metals continued strong and golds were mixed.

Key industrials moved slowly upward on fractional gains. Canadian Car A gained ¼ in a firmer steel list. A few liquors and constructions brightened while foods tended lower. Price changes were generally held to fractions as activity continued slow.

Base metals were the most active group, climbing steadily from an irregular opening. Noranda and Consolidated Smelters, two of the big four in the base metal industry, gained ½ in moderate dealings. Sherritt Gordon featured the list following the drill results from the Lynn Lake Ontario property announced yesterday. The stock turned actively but profit-taking pulled the price slightly lower from yesterday's gain.

Golds were about balanced. A few juniors slipped and took losses up to five cents.

ed a cocked gun at them and told them to beat it.

"At gun-point, they forced me into the plane and got in with two club bags. I couldn't get the engine started and they thought I was deliberately flooding it."

Lamont said the men jumped out in disgust and headed for a smaller seaplane parked at the dock a few feet away.

Hit By Gun

"John Clark of Englehart and J. R. Young, a student pilot from Boston Creek, were standing by it and the men told Clark to help them hoist the bags into the plane. When Clark was slow in doing so one hit him on the head with a gun and they threw the bags in themselves."

The men started the engine on the second plane and gunned it in an effort to take off. However, the engine was cold and the aircraft did not become airborne. Instead, it headed across the lake and rammed itself against the rocky shoreline.

Meanwhile, a passer-by freed Antoniazzi and he hitched a ride to town and notified police.

A posse of armed civilians was formed to aid police and a search of the bushland bordering the shore of Larder Lake resulted in capture of Marshall.

Desmairias gave himself up to three men early this morning as they sat in the rain near a little railroad shack not far from the scene of the hold-up.

"I am the man who robbed the bank," he told them and surrendered.

Plan To Use Plane Find Drowning Victim

PORT STANLEY, July 20 (CP) Provincial police planned to use an airplane today in the search aid for the body of Aubrey Macdonald, 31-year-old war veteran who was drowned off this Lake Erie resort early Tuesday.

Dragging operations near the main breakwater were hampered Tuesday by high seas. It is believed that a strong undertow may have carried the body out on the lake.

Macdonald and a friend, William Blatchford, 32, were taking a predawn swim when Macdonald got into difficulty. Blatchford managed to pull his companion to the foot of the pier when he slipped from his grasp.

Plane Falls

Its wide wings cutting swaths through frame houses, the plane ripped through five Georgetown homes. It buried its nose in one structure.

About two minutes later it exploded.

During that short interval, passengers jumped or were thrown from the tail of the plane which had been sheared off in the crash.

Heacock said he found his wife, acting as stewardess, struggling with her head between two seats and threw her "bodily" off the plane.

"Then I went through the pilots' compartment, which was torn off the craft. I found two pilots struggling and a third pilot apparently dazed or unconscious.

Tangled In Safety Belts

"All three were entangled in safety belts and wreckage. One man, James M. Adams, the co-pilot, was pleading with me to get him out. I pulled the wreckage off him and picked up and threw him clear of the flames."

Heacock said he did the same with the pilot, Capt. Merle Edgerton, and Tony Gjessing of Oakland, the navigator.

"Gjessing pleaded with me to be easy with him as he was injured, but the flames were already closing in on us and I had no other choice but to throw him over a fence."

Many of the plane's passengers were service men returning home on furlough.

Quebec Scouts Present Work Pageant

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, South March, Ont., July 20—(CP)—The career of a model Boy Scout was depicted Tuesday for thousands of North American Scouts to see.

It was staged by the Quebec contingent at the first Canadian Scout Jamboree, being held this week on Connaught Ranges, 14 miles from Ottawa.

Visitors were on hand to watch as the Quebec Scouts showed how a boy progressed from tenderfoot to King's Scout and how he might earn a possible 32 proficiency badges.

Two other delegations — from Newfoundland and La Federation des Scouts Catholiques—also presented demonstrations on the big assembly square. Scouts from the prairie provinces and the United States will present their pageants today. The western Scouts will depict prairie life and history while those from the U.S. will trace the history of fire and how man learned to use it.

Thanked For Welcome

The Newfoundland contingent paraded before the assembly and their leader, E. B. Foran of St. John's, expressed thanks for the welcome Newfoundland Scouts received on their arrival.

La Federation Scouts—members of Scout troops sponsored by Roman Catholic churches in Quebec—did folk dances with staves and went racing through an obstacle course.

A Latin-American touch was added to the proceedings when 15 Scouts from Cuba sang Cuban songs.

While most of the Scouts watched the displays, nearly 700 went on a tour of the capital, the first of daily parties to visit the parliament buildings, other government buildings and the big RCAF base at Rockcliffe.

Lions Planning To Build City

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP) — The Lions Club Tuesday heard plans for establishment of a "Lions International City."

International President Eugene S. Briggs of Enid, Okla., said the project includes building a world headquarters for the service club, with homes for staff members and a hotel for visiting Lions and guests.

In addition, the plan calls for establishment of schools and colleges "where may be taught the theory and practice of the principles of good government and good citizenship."

Briggs said some 375 acres already have been purchased and $442,000 spent on the development, near Matteson, Ill.

A highlight of the convention, which is being attended by more than 30,000 delegates from 26 countries, was the election of a Queen of Lions.

A green-eyed young blonde was chosen over four other finalists. She was Janice Harvell, 17, of Carolina Beach, N. C.

Runner-up in the race for Lion's Queen was Joan Elizabeth Lennox, 17, of Clarkson, Ont. The Port Credit High School beauty represented Canada in the international contest.

The International President's reception and ball was Tuesday night's final event.

Buffalo Asks Highway To Beautify City

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 20 (AP) —A "gateway to the west" highway running about seven miles from the Buffalo river through industrial Lackawanna was proposed Tuesday by the Western New York Civic Progress Association.

The association said the waterfront elevated highway "should be the financial responsibility of the State and Federal governments because it will become a link in the State arterial highway system."

No cost estimate was given.

The association told the City Council in a letter calling for immediate action that the project would help "create a lake and river front as beautiful as those in Chicago, Cleveland and Toronto."

Hogs Bring Top Price

TORON, July 20 (CP)—Top-quality hogs Tuesday brought all-time high prices on the Toronto livestock market. Grade A dressed hogs sold at $34 a hundredweight, equal to the peak price first set June 11. Faith Needed In Trade Problems-Bevin

By FORBES RHUDE

Foreign Minister Bevin of Britain has injected what might be called an inspirational note into curernt talks on world trade problems.

It is in effect, a declaration that the opportunities are greater than the difficulties, given the wisdom and will to seize them.

President Truman has expressed much the same idea, and even current history has shown that inspiration and faith can be more potent that logistics in shaping events.

Bevin, speaking in the House of Commons Monday, pointed out that the sterling area represents about 600,00,000 people and that a further 800,000,000 in other countries are influenced by it. He added:

"Within the vast teeming population is the biggest market for American and British craftsmanship and ingenuity in the world."

Bevin, at this point, encounters two ideas.

One is that the world is approaching the point of over-production. The other is that it is pitifully under-producing if the needs of its whole population are considered.

Fortunate Position

If, indeed, a way can be found to set the whole world on a course leading towards a better way of life, the countries with production skills should be in a fortunate position, and this includes Britain, Canada, the United States, and most western European countries.

At this stage, and if immediate progress is to be made, bold measures seem called for from the United States; and it is likely that Canada will have to consider what she will do in the way of foreign enterprise.

There is need for technical information, a setting out of the bookkeeping of the situation, but beyond these there is the need of ideas which will fire the imaginations of the peoples. Probably there is need of inspired leadership.

Ex-Canadian Heads Railmen

CLEVELAND, July 20 (AP)—William Parker Kennedy, 57, Canadian-born one-tme brakeman, Tuesday night was named president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The independent union's eight-man board of directors elevated Kennedy from the post of general secretary and treasurer.

He will serve until the Brotherhood's September, 1950, convention. Union sources expressed belief that he will be continued in the office by the convention.

Kennedy immediately pledged on the same principles as those of a militant administration, based A. F. Whitney, who died Saturday after 21 years as the trainmen's leader.

The Brotherhood has 215,000 members in the United States and Canada. It includes brakemen, switchmen, conductors, yardmasters, stewards and other employees directly engaged in operating trains.

Kennedy, a tall man with wavy, sandy hair and a penchant for bow ties, is a native of Huntsville, Ont. He moved from Canada to Chicago at the age of 10.

U.S. Visitor's Car Involved In Collision

An American visitor's car and a truck collided Tuesday at the intersection of Park Hill Road and George St. causing damage to both vehicles but no more serious personal injury than a cut finger for the American driver's wife.

Jerome Harris, Cleveland, Ohio, was proceeding along Parkhill Road and the truck, driven by Howard Pluard, RR 6, Peterborough, was travelling on George St.

The right rear fender and a door on Mr. Harris's car were damaged and the left front fender and bumper of the truck were bent.

The incident was investigated by Constables Andy Dalton and John Conlin.

The Proliferation Of The Public Service

Sir Stafford Cripps, the British Chancellor, is ill and must take six weeks holiday. With British affairs in their present state, the chief financial man of the nation cannot be away from his office for so long a time, and so a substitute must be found. There is talk of Mr. Hugh Dalton as substitute. Mr. Dalton, who was disgraced not so long ago because he betrayed Budget secrets, was not a strong Chancellor when he held that post. However, that is by the way.

* * *

What really interests us in this matter is that Sir Stafford is suffering from the common disease of statesmen these days; he is desperately overworked. In Britain, in the U.S.A., in Canada—everywhere, in fact—the men who carry the heavy burdens are being crushed beneath their load.

* * *

It has been suggested that these heavy burdens be split up, and that more men should do the work now done by one public servant. We cannot really regard this as a solution; it would merely swell the already swollen public service of every democratic country. And it is doubtful if great responsibilities, like those of a Chancellor of Finance Minister can be effectively divided. One strong man must carry the burden; to load him with two or three lesser men to assist him would serve only to make his burden heavier.

* * *

The public service under democracy tends to proliferate. Under despots there were always great numbers of job-holders, enjoyers of sinecures and feeders at the public trough; it is doubtful, however, if the vast bureaucracies of the Romanoffs and Hapsburgs ever approached the dimensions of the bureaucracies in our modern democratic states. In such socialist states as Britain, where many industries and services are nationalized, the number of job-holders and pension-grabbers is correspondingly greater.

* * *

Great responsibilities can only be entrusted to great men. The highest positions in the state cannot be filled by three or four mediocrities, trying to pool their resources of intellect in the hope of reaching some superior decision. Committees have never been substitutes for one man of powerful insight or great courage. The price which public service demands of men of great ability is very high, but it must be paid. Splitting up their jobs among a number of second-raters is not a solution for the problem.

A Good Laugh From Russia

The Soviet magazine, Culture and Life, prints a complaint from a conference of Russian cartoonists and humorists that the Russian people do not laugh enough. This is interesting, for the Russians used to have a lively national sense of humour. Many of the classics of Russian literature are funny books, and even in translation Gogol's novel Dead Souls, is an extremely funny book. What is wrong?

We cannot attempt to explain it. Our knowledge of Russia is trifling; all we know about the matter is that they used to laugh in Russia before the Revolution, and that they do not laugh enough now to please their professional funnymen. But it occurs to us that the root of the trouble may lie right there.

The idea of a conference of cartoonists and humourists, meeting to discuss the fact that their work is not appreciated, is in itself uproariously funny. Is there anywhere else in the world (except perhaps in Germany) where humourists could treat themselves and their work with such a devastating lack of humour?

Our own opinion is that humour is not a thing which lends itself to discussion. Humorists are not people who get on well in the atmosphere of a conference. Humour is an errant and somewhat wicked thing; it cannot be pinned down; it cannot be forced. It arises spontaneously and often unsuitably from some demonic source in the human spirit, and it hides from professionalism and regimentation.

Indeed, the very idea of a "professional" humourist shocks and dismays us. A man who decides that he will say, or write, or draw funny things for a living has taken upon himself a great burden—a burden which may crush him. Really funny men are funny incidentally; when the spirit is upon them they can be funny, but they cannot be funny to order. Nor can they be funny upon some subjects and solemn upon others, and we gather that they are expected to observe such boundaries very carefully in Russia; a man who lives in chains can only be funny in a subversive way, and Russia is no place for the subversive humourist.

Our guess is that the Russian people do not laugh at their Russian funnymen because the latter are not really funny. And they are not really funny because they do not dare to be. There is nothing which quells the ardour of a humourist like the thought that he is writing for a large audience of policemen and spies, whose sense of humour is slight, and whose powers of resentment are great.

Sad Fate Of British Smokers

Sir Stafford Cripps has cut Britain's allocation for the importation of tobacco by $80,000,000. He is a heavy smoker himself (as is also Mr. Attlee) so he knows exactly what he is doing. The cut will press hardly upon the already overburdened British people; they now pay 70 cents for twenty cigarettes, when they can find them. Tobacco will be harder to find in the future.

Let us not be self-righteous about this. The small luxuries are the things which keep people going when times are hard. A cigarette, a glass of beer, a cup of tea—to millions of people these small solaces are virtually the only luxuries that life affords. In Britain during past months some unions have detailed men to search the shops for cigarettes for those who are at work. All kinds of new brands of tobacco have been put on the market, but they are not the Virginian tobaccos—American-raised—that English people like. Turkish tobaccos and the strong growths of South Africa have never been popular in Britain.

The smoking of tobacco is an addiction, certainly. With many people the habit is so strong that it cannot be broken without considerable hardship. And it must be said that in very few people does addiction to tobacco become dangerous to health. Nature providently arranges matters so that few people want more tobacco than they can smoke without harm to themselves. Tobacco is, indeed, the great addiction of our civilization. To expect millions of Britons to break a lifelong, comforting habit is to press hardly upon them indeed at a time when they are already enduring great annoyanees and many real hardships.

Canada's Gift To New York

We read the other day on the front page of the New York Times a headline which we were gratified to see. It ran: "Cooling Canada Air To Breeze In Today", and the opening paragraph of the story read:

> The city and its environs sweated out a third day of above 90-degree temperatures yesterday, with the eagerly awaited cold front from Canada accomplishing little in its first stages, but expected to bring appreciable relief today.

It makes us feel wonderfully benevolent to be able to bestow a favour on New York, by means of our cool air. It is the kind of genial, even smug glow one gets from having given a present which has cost nothing but is highly prized by the recipient. It is the kind of off-hand, airy gesture of the person giving from his own abundance, a crumb off the banquet table, an avuncular favour. In this instance there is more to the gift than that; there is the feeling of pleased astonishment that anything that is in our gift to offer could be appreciated, even eagerly anticipated, by so exalted and rich a place as New York.

Well, we hope that the New Yorkers liked the cooling Canadian air wafted to them, and that sometime next winter when we are shivering in three days of sub-zero weather, New York will not be forgetful of our boon this summer and will send up to us warming New York air. One good turn deserves another.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A British tobacconist has discovered that he has been boiling a box of matches in his tea kettle. In hopes of getting lit, we presume.

"Most home accidents happen in the kitchen" says a news note. Quite a few of them turn up on the dining-room table, however.

Russia is re-writing history to suit her own needs. The British, too, are said to be thinking about a re-write of that song in which they boast that they never, never will be slaves.

A London Letter

from
Conrad Frost

TO a State of Drought, to a full blown Economic Crisis, has now been added a State of Emergency. By the King's Proclamation an unguarded word spoken in public could mean instant arrest. A knock at the door could mean the billeting Officer, lawfully demanding quarters for the troops. I must report to you at once that nothing remotely like this is happening. There is no evidence of emergency in the London streets, except occasionally on the part of a spry barrow boy—selling strawberries at their lowest price yet, 1/4d a pound—moving off quickly at the approach of a constable on the beat.

❖ ❖ ❖

EVEN down in the docks the sunburnt troops are taking their "blackleg" work with a grin. And the old dock hands—the anarchists if you like to quote some quarters, or the dupes of the Communists if you quote others—are running after burly Marines and Guardsmen, warning them anxiously of the dangers attendant on the work of loading forty foot steel rails. The professional and imported agitators are reporting glumly that the British workman, as a striker, is poor political material and too phlegmatic. You cannot rouse him to start carrying lengths of weighted rubber hose, to breaking heads or to become inflamed with anger—as you can the striking worker in most other parts of the world.

❖ ❖ ❖

ALL this is probably disappointing to some who visit a modest looking building, No. 16, King Street, Covent Garden where the Communist Party of Great Britain has its perfectly legal headquarters. There are only 40,000 members of the C.P. That is a ratio of 1 against every 200 members of the Socialist Party. The Communists have been discredited at the polls. They have failed to even begin to get political power. So more recently their tactics have been to win indirect power inside the big Trade Unions.

❖ ❖ ❖

FOR instance the ratio of 1 Communist to 200 Socialists becomes distorted to 1 Communist to 5 Socialists on the national executive of Britain's largest Trade Union, the Transport and General Workers 1,323,000 strong Union. What is the result of the shindig down in the Port of London? The Transport and General Workers Union has decided to ban Communists from holding office. And what do the Communists say to this? That the atom bomb was relatively small, too!

❖ ❖ ❖

MEANWHILE, whilst even the temper of the strikers keeps cool, the thermometer climbs unreasonably and the London Scene is shimmering in a haze of heat. The shops are full of beach wear so brief that you wonder who buys it, and if they ever dare to wear it. But the barmaid in the average London pub still says "Ice?" in a tone of shocked surprise. And in the sweltering city offices the English businessman slave to ridiculous convention, works his nine-till-six in collar and tie and the same heavily lined and padded jacket that keeps him comfortably warm in the winter months.

❖ ❖ ❖

IN the House of Commons, however, a full assembly took time off from affairs of State, however urgent and vexed they may be at the moment, to discuss the ice cream machine in the House Cafeteria. It has chosen this sweltering week to break down, and the Socialist Chairman of the Commons Kitchen Committee has promised that "if necessary it will be replaced by a new one, which I trust will show a greater sense of responsibility."

❖ ❖ ❖

FOR tourists, to whom the English way of life is more than ever an enigma in a heat wave — "Why don't you have pavement cafes?" "Why don't you make the windows in your buses so they'll open?" — souvenirs rather more practical than the traditional tankard or ash tray, are now on sale in most shops. The textile industry began it by making headscarves on which were depicted scenes typical of the English way of life. But this season thousands of yards of material of this kind are on sale for making up into dresses. One fabric is patterned by a design of London buses. Another, designed by dramatist J. B. Priestley's daughter, Sylvia, shows typical Tower of London Scenes, and a panoramic Opening of Parliament scene with the Life Guards and the fairy tale coaches drawn by the Windsor Greys.

❖ ❖ ❖

PRINCESS Margaret has been allocated blue and gold by the Royal Aero Club as her racing colours for the plane she has entered for the King's Cup air race around Britain. She is the third member of the Royal family to have a plane in the race. Twice the Duke of Windsor, as Prince of Wales and his brother, the late Duke of Kent, had planes competing against each other. Winston Churchill is dazzling the local folk at his home in Westerham, with a new pin-stripe siren suit, worn with crocodile-skin slippers.

❖ ❖ ❖

DOLLAR-SAVING cigarettes will be on the market before the end of the year. Two of the biggest factories are adapting their machines to produce filter tipped cigarettes effecting a 10 per cent. tobacco saving, but there will be no saving to the smoker who will still pay 3/6 for twenty and take what brand he can get.

❖ ❖ ❖

BIGGEST Socialist self-confessed flop is the admission that the special "Winter Tariff," introduced to frighten housewives into using less current, is to be dropped this year because it "caused a loss of goodwill and failed to achieve its object." Indeed, insiders claim that the whole business of Nationalised electricity has "short-circuited." Many of the top men in the industry have quietly resigned, forfeiting pension rights, to go over to industrial concerns. One to whom I talked today, after 20 years service in line to succeed to one of the top 14 technical jobs in the country, complained that nationalisation has put the expansion programme back by three years.

❖ ❖ ❖

A COMMUNICATION written by Columbus announcing his discovery of America to the King of Spain, sold for £2,100 at a London auction today. "Worth more than that for Marshall Aid alone," wise-cracked a midwestern tourist present....London Taxi rules dating since 1831 and not amended since 1907, which limit the life of a cab to 10 years—they cost £1,000 now—are to be rewritten ....Although the Trafalgar Square fountains continue to work in spite of the drought, the weekly Friday night clean out is cancelled until there has been rain. PARLEYS MAY COME AND PARLEYS MAY GO, BUT —

No Divine Right To Drive

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

A HIGHWAY accident last week in Western Ontario in which five persons were killed prompts the Toronto Globe and Mail to say that "our whole attitude towards road accidents is in need of overhaul". There is no noticeable public outcry, no meetings or petitions over the fact that 323 persons have been killed on Ontario highways in the first six months of this year and, while the mass killing of five persons in a single accident brings a momentary sense of horror, that too is soon forgotten.

This acceptance, as if it were inevitable, of the highway death tole is hard to understand A single death under other circumstances will cause all sorts of investigations, public outcry and demands for more protection and reforms, but the almost daily killings on the highway have come to be taken with apathy. It is as if today we consider highway deaths a necessary part of the motor age.

There has been an average of almost two deaths a day in highway accidents in Ontario this year. Yet there is no noticeable demand for any reform in the present haphazard system of licensing either cars or drivers. Despite the fact that police investigations after fatal accidents have shown that many of the cars involved were in imperfect mechanical condition and that many drivers were either very young or otherwise of questionable competence, our laws still permit almost any vehicle on four wheels with an engine, and practically every person over 16 years, to secure a licence. The Globe and Mail takes a dim view of this, and we are glad to see another newspaper backing up the position The Journal has been taking for years.

Under present laws it is practically necessary that there be an accident, that somebody be killed or considerable damage or injury inflicted, before the right of a motor vehicle to use the highway or the ability of a driver comes into question. That is bolting the stable door after the horse is in the next county. Somehow the idea must be put across that to be allowed to drive a motor vehicle is a privilege and not a divine right.

Letter To The Editor

POLIO WARNINGS

Sir: Two alarming articles came to my notice recently, and I believe every conscientious mother should read them, and that our City Council especially should read them and take action before it is too late.

In the Toronto Evening Telegram, Thursday, July 14, 1949, Horace Brown, executive director for the Canadian Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is quoted thus: "Responsible scientists and men familiar with the field have stated there is a possibility that 1949 might see the worst polio epidemic since 1916.

"While we have no desire to be alarmists, we do feel the public should be made aware of the possibilities inherent in the situation. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in the United States has already had reported to it, almost 3,000 cases."

Also in July issue of Redbook Magazine, an an article entitled Polio Detectives, states:

"Perrysburg, Ohio, a town of 3,500 people had an outbreak of eleven cases of polio in the summer of 1944. Three investigators rushed to the town, on the prowl for some factor common to the stricken homes. The factor was a muddy creek, that ran in close proximity to all eleven homes.

Backtracking on the activities of the victims, the virus hunters found that every one of the children affected had either played in the creek, or been in contact with each other. The creek obviously harbored the criminal virus.

Where and how had the virus entered the waters? The trackers painstakingly investigated every foot of the creek banks. They came upon one point where untreated sewage was seeping into the stream. The sewage loaded with polio virus had polluted the creek waters."

Now, I do not wish to state that untreated sewage is entering the Otonabee River from the sewage disposal plant, but we all know the system is inadequate. Also, Jackson Park Creek for years has been a dropping off place for all kinds of refuse. Great credit is due to the Junior Chamber of Commerce in attempting to clean this up. Then there is an open drain into Little Lake. Also the filthy creek which runs down Park St. S., below the Ovaltine and empties into the river. Must we wait until an epidemic rages to get action? Must we always put up Stop signs after an accident?

We brag of our fair, clean city and invite tourists to come here. Should we court disease and death upon our children at the same time? I ask the mothers of Peterborough, besiege the City Council with your letters and comments. Let us not gamble with precious lives too long. Let us have action. No mother wishes to see her child suffer the ravages of this dread disease, then let us do our best to rid our city of the places where disease germs breed.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when much people were gathered together, and were come to him out of every city, he spake by a parable: A sower went out to sow his seed: and as he sowed, some fell by the way side; and it was trodden down, and the fowls of the air devoured it. And some fell upon a rock; and as soon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked moisture. And some fell among thorns; and the thorns sprang up with it, and choked it. And others fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bare fruit an nundredfold. And waen he had said these things, he cried, He that hath ears to hear, let him hear....

Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God. Those by the way side are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved. They on the rock are thy, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away. And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.

But that on the good ground are they, which in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience. (Luke 8: 4-8, 11-15.)

Not For Circulation

A fantastic little incident sheds light on a fantastic big world. The British Mint is to cast a hundred thousand gold sovereigns, not to put them into circulation, but to keep alive the skill of the artisans working at the Royal Mint. Nominally each of the new sovereigns would be worth $4.03, the official rate for the pound sterling. But if the newly minted sovereigns were allowed to go into circulation, they would actually command something like $8 apiece if sold to jewellers for their gold content. So they will be minted and locked up and added to the gold hoard. And in no country can a snicker less appropriately arise than in the country includes Fort Knox.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

St. Catharines Athletics are coming here Friday night for an OLA senior "A" fixture against the Petes in Miller Bowl. The St. Kitts' team, after a shaky start—having lost several of their stars this season—have been coming along strongly again, and will be tough to take. The Petes, too, have been improving right along at home to work into sixth spot and threaten to advance further. They would dearly love to roll over the Athletics and improve the local chances of a playoff spot as the long schedule grinds itself into the second half. Play runs till the end of August and then the playoffs, followed by playdowns for the winners. Fans here have been backing the Petes up fine all season.

Port Hope Ontarios, fresh from a win o'er Newcastle, have a Lakeshore Baseball League encounter with the Young Petes at 6.30 tonight in Riverside Park, weather being okay. The McGinness squad recently whipped Cobourg Legion here and are coming up with good baseball in all departments. They rate better fan support. Many of these boys are about ready to step up to senior company and will be playing COBL games within the next year or two. Other lakeshore tilts tonight are: Newcastle at Cobourg, Lindsay at Bowmanville, Whitby at Colborne, and Trenton at Oshawa. Young Petes go to Whitby this week-end.

Council Should Act

We believe that, when the city council is assured of getting more than the money invested back from a venture of benefit to citizens, it should give serious consideration to such venture. The city will benefit financially—not to mention all the intangible assets—from money invested in lights at the Bowl and in artificial ice in Civic Arena. So why not invest $22,000 for lights in Riverside for next year? Forget the covered stand for some years, as the bleachers will do, but instal floodlights. The cost should be repaid within five years. Here's the setup as shown the council a year ago by Hugh Campbell, Vern Dawson and Ed Murphy.

* * * * * *

Put the lights in at a cost of $22,000 and jack up the Petes' rental of the park from the present 13 per cent of gross gates to 25 per cent. The club would augment its schedule with exhibitions to double gates, having 30 games a season. Under arcs, the crowds should be doubled, too—quadrupled this hot season—with 1,200 or so fans an average. The club could repay the city thusly some $4,000 a year. It would be paid off in five years, and we'd have modern lighting at the park. Council was interested but felt it couldn't put out more than $10,000 without a vote. Yet it did in the case of the arena. It's certainly worth considering, eh?

Oshawa Takes One

Oshawa Merchants moved into a top-place COBL tie with the Petes last eve in the Motor City when they pulled out a 4-1 verdict o'er the men o' Murphy. Clemence and Dadson both pitched nifty ball, but each side kicked in with five miscues. Bill Cook led Oshawa at bat with three for four, as Pat Wilson topped the visitors with two in four tries, Foley and Garvey getting one apiece. Yeah, the Petes' bats were weary after their heavy barrage of last Saturday and could only produce six hits. Al Menzies will be out of action about two weeks with torn ligaments suffered in a slide here Saturday 'gainst Batawa. Danny Brown of Buffalo's Canisius College has been granted an OBA transfer to play short for the locals the rest of the season.

* * * * * *

Outlaws forfeited their men's softball games to Cosmos at the Bowl last eve, and Jewellers defaulted their tilts to the Uniteds and Knights. Both Outlaws and Jewellers were shorthanded and will probably drop out of the remainder of the schedule. The shop holidays are playing havoc now with lineups. Three exhibition frays were run off and fans who wanted to retain stubs will have them honored at the next games. Thursday night's games will be Cosmos vs. Uniteds at seven and K. of C. vs. Cosmos in the second tussle. Saturday will see only one game played, Uniteds vs. K. of C. With the Outlaws and Jewellers forfeiting their remaining games, these 3 fixtures will wind up the regular schedule.

Oshawa Gains Close One Against Petes

OSHAWA, July 20—(CP)—After having waged a see-saw battle for first place in the Central Ontario Baseball League race for the past month, Oshawa Merchants finally went into a first place tie when they defeated Peterborough Marine 4-1 here Tuesday night. The game was loosely played in the field, with each club committing five errors.

The pitching was top-notch. Bill Dadson for Peterborough and Art Clemence for Oshawa waged a great duel. Dadson fanned eight batters but was nicked for as many hits while Clemence showed rare control, issuing only one walk and scattering four safe hits, all of them at least two innings apart, while fanning six batters.

Bill Cook, with three for four paced the Oshawa attack while Wilson had two for four for the visitors. Neither team had an extra-base hit.

Booth Shows Well In Cricket Match

F. Booth of the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club played in the inter-provincial match between Ontario and Quebec at Armour Heights in Toronto last Saturday and made a successful debut in such competition. In Ontario's first inning, he was top scorer with 26 out of 83 scored by the bat. However, the Ontario team was badly beaten, the final score being Ontario 98 and 119, Quebec 144 and 79 for three wickets, the latter winning by seven wickets.

Booth failed to score in the second inning and was given no chance of showing his bowling ability, but it was a successful first apearance. He now makes the western trip with Ontario for Canadian championship matches in Calgary and Edmonton, starting next Saturday. The local club plays Toronto Dovercourt at Nicholls Oval this Saturday.

Runs, that is, the falls were many. Roy Parker and Reeve Rork Ferguson were the stars of the performance for the Businessmen, with Rendle Dickson, F. Crate and J. Outlaws And Jewellers Forfeit Games In Men's City League

Three games in the men's City Softball League were taken by forfeit at the Bowl last night before a fair-sized crowd as shop holidays cut sharply into the circuit's schedule. Neither Outlaws nor Jewellers could field full teams, the former having to forfeit to Cosmos, while Jewellers defaulted their two tilts to Uniteds and Knights. Forfeit games are 9-0 counts for the winners, with no box scores required. Present standing:

	Played	Won	Lost
Uniteds	21	16	5
Cosmos	20	14	6
Knights	20	11	9
Outlaws	20	8	12
Jewellers	21	3	18

Finish Schedule

It is likely that Outlaws and Jewellers both will forfeit remaining games in the schedule, which winds up in another week, while Uniteds, Cosmos and Knights will finish the schedule as they jockey for spots in the city playoffs. This series calls for second and third teams to meet in semi-finals, winner then meeting the first-place team for city honors. Probably a twin bill will be run tomorrow night, though it wasn't deinite at this writing.

Three exhibition games were staged last evening. Outlaws took a 9-8 win over Cosmos with Gordon pitching for them as Parsons and Bigford saw service for Cosmos. It was a free-hitting affair with homers hit by Crowe, Thomson and Currie. The next exhibition went to Uniteds 13-7 over Jewellers, Eakins, Reid and Wilson pitching for the winners, and Davis for the other side. Bill Sullivan and Harrison hit homers. The third tilt saw Uniteds trim Knights 14-2 as Eakins and Greenlaw gave but three hits for Uniteds, Saraceni and Hunter throwing for Knights. Douglas and Greenlaw hit home runs.

Maple Leafs Bow To Wings In 5-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Pennant fever isn't sweeping Rochester yet but at the rate the Wings are going it won't be long.

The Wings, who last won the International League pennant in 1940, moved into second place Tuesday night, six games behind the pace-setting Buffalo Bisons.

Big Jim Hearn pitched the Wings to a 5-1 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs. The victory enabled the Wings to replace the Jersey City Giants and Montreal Royals in the runner-up slot. The Giants bowed 7-0 to Baltimore Orioles and the Royals dropped a 9-7 decision to the Bisons.

Hearn yielded only five hits and wasn't scored upon until the eigth inning when pinch-hitter Lou Heyman singled home Hal Wagner. The Wings solved Ed Wright and Bubber Church for eight hits. Don Richmond led the offensive with a double and two singles. Russ Derry led off the eighth inning with his 24th home run to tie Toronto's Ed Sanicki for the circuit leadership.

Withstand Pressure

Buffalo built up a 9-2 lead over Montreal and then withstood a five run ninth inning Montreal uprising that was featured by Al Gionfriddo's three-run homer.

Al Widmar, the circuit's top winner, turned in his 15th triumph in blanking Jersey City for the seventh place Orioles. Widmar stopped the Giants on four hits.

The Orioles combed George Bamberger for ten hits including Butch Woyt's homer and four doubles.

A scheduled game between Syracuse and Newark was rained out

Crescents Trounce Hamilton Tigers 14-7

OWEN SOUND, July 20 (CP) —Displaying superiority in every department, the second-place Owen Sound Crescents Tuesday night defeated Hamilton Tigers 14-7 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game.

Bun White and Don Ashbee paced the winners with four goals each. Allum followed up with two while Mason, A. Smith, Slater and Woods each tallied once. Bob McDonald led the Tigers with three markers, with Gair, Doyle, McKenzie and Lee getting one apiece.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Harold Wilson said at Gravenhurst Tuesday he has abandoned an attempt to crack the world power boat speed record with his Miss Canada IV because it would interfere with his plans for the Harmsworth Trophy race on the Detroit River at the end of the month.

As far as he is concerned Sir Malcolm Campbell's record of 141.74 miles an hour will stand because he has to file a 10-day notice before attempting to break it.

He was out again on nearby Lake Muskoka Tuesday with his boat but declines to disclose any information about her performance.

But experts say that if the more powerful Miss IV can approach the 119-mile-an-hour speed of her predecessor, Miss Canada III, Wilson has an excellent chance to cop the Harmsworth Trophy.

Edmonton Eskimos of the western Interprovincial Football Union Tuesday announced legal action will be taken against two eastern players signed by the club who were reported to have accepted later offers.

Bartolini and Aull, both former members of Hamilton Tigers, attended spring training with Eskimos. At that time the club executive announced the two had been signed.

Later reports said Bartolini accepted an offer to play with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Eastern Big Four and Aull was returning to Hamilton.

Depending upon funds available, British Empire Games Association of Canada has arranged the numerical distribution of 62 Canadians who will represent this country in eight sports at the games in New Zealand next February.

General Manager Jack Davies said at Montreal Tuesday it is hoped at least 19 men, including marathoners, and seven women can be sent to Auckland as the track and field delegation, largest of any group.

At Vancouver, Jerris Jamel, cobbler turned professional boxer, Tuesday laid claim to the long-vacant Canadian light heavyweight championship. The Jamaican boy turned pro last year, and has since won 12 professional fights. Brightest notches in his belt are a victory over Regina's Adam Faul, who outweighed him by 40 pounds, and a decision over Eddie Zastre of Winnipeg.

Ottawa Rougharidersm, last year's Eastern Senior Football Champions, went through a limbering-up session Tuesday although coach Wally Masters' first official drill is not scheduled until today.

At the same time, vice-president Jimmy McCaffrey announced the club had signed halfback Bill Larochelle, 22, of Chatham, who played with University of Western Ontario Mustangs last year.

Also checking in for the drill were two United States imports who played last year with Villanova University: quarterback Andy Gordon and halfback Joe Rogers.

Yankees Lose Three In Row Edged By Cleveland 5-4

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is this the start of that long-awaited New York Yankee collapse?

Baseball experts, who picked the Yankees to finish no higher than fourth this year, wore that old wise look today. Many were ready to give you that "I told you so" routine.

And they may have something there. For the Bronx Bombers of late have looked like anything but league leaders.

In losing Tuesday, 5-4, to Cleveland, the Yankees extended their losing skein to three in a row. They now have dropped four of their last five games, three of them to second division clubs. Whereas they once boasted an eight-game margin, their lead has shrunk to 3½ games over the advancing Indians.

The Tribe battery of pitcher Bob Lemon and catcher Jim Hegan was responsible for the Yankee defeat. Between they they scored four of Cleveland's five runs. Lemon not only whipped the Yankees for the third time this year in racking up his 11th triumph, but hammered his fourth home run, with a man on base. Hegan had a perfect three for three including three runs scored, and broke up the game in the last of the ninth with a home run.

Duane Pillette was the victim of Hegan's blow.

Lose Woodling

In addition to losing the game, the Yankees lost the services of outfielder Gene Woodling, who went out of action after closing the sixth with a spectacular catch that sent him caroming off the wire fence in left centre.

X-rays later disclosed Woodling had suffered a chip fracture of the left leg. The injury is expected to keep him out for a month.

Boston Red Sox climbed into third place, 7½ games off the pace, by defeating Chicago White Sox 6-4. Vern Stephens' two-run single highlighted the Red Sox three-run ninth inning that kayoed starter Marino Pieretti. Ellis Kinder allowed eight hits to register his 10th triumph.

Detroit Tigers blew a 6-0 lead behind Hal Newhouser, but bounced back to eke out a 7-6 triumph over Washington Senators. Virgil Trucks, who relieved Newhouser after Washington had blasted the lefthander for five runs in the sixth, was credited with his 12th victory.

Sweep Twin Bill

Four home runs helped St. Louis Browns sweep a twilight-night doubleheader from Philadelph' Athletics, 9-4 and 5-4. It was the Browns' second double triumph in three days and their fifth straight victory. Jack Graham and Sherm Lollar hit four-baggers in the first game, and Gerry Priddy and Dick Kokos slammed circuit clouts in the second.

Brooklyn Dodgers picked up a full game on St. Louis Cardinals, edging Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 while Boston Braves knocked off the Redbirds 5-2. The Dodgers now lead by 3½ games. Erv Palica gained his sixth victory, in relief. Rip Sewell, who replaced starter Willie Werle for the Bucs in the seventh, was charged with the defeat.

Southpaw Warren Spahn posted his 11th triumph, limiting the Cardinals to six hits as the Braves batted Max Lanier out of the box in the fourth. Lanier has not won a game since his return.

Scoring at least once in every inning, New York Giants battered three Cincinnati hurlers for 20 hits including three homers to humble the Reds 13-3. Hank Thompson, Johnny Mize and Marshall contributed home runs. Larry Jansen coasted to his 10th victory.

Lefty Ken Heintzelman pitched another masterpiece as Philadelphia Phils nipped Chicago Cubs 1-0. Heintzelman scattered nine hits for his 12th victory against three defeats. It was his fourth shutout, his third by a 1-0 margin. He now has hurled 26 consecutive scoreless innings.

Inter-Union Conflict Brings Britain Into State Of Emergency

MONTREAL, July 20 (CP).—An inter-union conflict over Communists in Canada's labor organizations has grown into a strike which has brought Britain to a state of emergency and now threatens to involve dockworkers in other world ports outside North America.

The Canadian Seamen's Union, whose strike has sparked a wildcat sympathy walkout in British ports, is counting heavily on further support from the Red-tinged World Federation of Trade Unions in an attempt to bring Canada's East-coast shipowners to terms.

The seamen's strike was ordered March 31 by the allegedly Communist-led union when a score of shipowners on Canada's East coast signed what the CSU calls an "illegal contract" with the rival Seafarers' International Union (AFL). CSU officials contend the SIU does not represent the men on the ships at the time of the strike.

The SIU entered the Canadian labor picture as a CSU rival only seven months before that. Its appearance was part of an anti-Communist labor leader's plan to squeeze out the CSU.

Sit-In Strikes

The early stages of the walkout were marked by sit-in strikes aboard ship at home and abroad, mass picketing and waterfront violence on the east coast. Charges ranging from illegal assembly to attempted murder were laid against more than 300 sailors.

Gradually, however, the tied-up ships started moving again until now the Shipping Federation of Canada reports that 80 of the 84 vessels originally affected are sailing normally under SIU crews. A claim by the SIU and shipowners that many of the present crews are deserters from the striking union is denied by the CSU.

The CSU abandoning earlier attempts to prevent the rival union from manning the ships, started on a new tack. It sought sympathetic action from British dockers and got it.

The resulting tie-up in Britain far exceeded the efefcts off the strike in Canada. British dockers, told to unload two Canadian ships on the CSU "black ban", refused and tied up more than 100 vessels.

With the first food shortages croping up and the country's export program hampered, Prime Minister Attlee's government declared a state of emergency and sent in troops to replace 14,000 striking longshoremen on London's waterfront.

STRIKE LEADER—T. G. McManus, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Seamen's Union, the leftist organization which has been on strike since March 31 when Canadian East Coast shipowners signed contracts with the rival Seafarers' International Union, an anti-Communist body. A sympathy strike by London dockworkers, who refuse to work "black" Canadian ships, has brought Britain to a state of emergency. McManus, a 49-year-old native of Sydney, N.S., has been active in strike negotiations and in fund-raising activities for his union.

WHERE TROUBLE STARTED—The lake seamen's strike of 1946, which tied up these eight ships in the Welland Canal and immobilized shipping throughout the Great Lakes, started the chain of events that led to the present London dockworkers' strike which has brought Britain to a state of emergency. Shortly after the 1946 strike was called, J. A. (Pat) Sullivan, president and one of the founders of the striking Canadian Seamen's Union, resigned in protest against the C.S.U.'s alleged Communist leadership and formed an independent union of his own. Jurisdictional disputes caused frequent tie-ups, culminating in the current C.S.U. strike and a sympathy walkout by London dockworkers.

STORM-CENTRE—Now in retirement, J. A. (Pat) Sullivan precipitated the current seamen's strike when he resigned his presidency of the Canadian Seamen's Union during a 1946 shipping tie-up on the Great Lakes, claiming the C.S.U. was Communist-led. Sullivan formed the independent Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and signed contracts with several companies which had previously carried C.S.U. crews. He dropped out of an active role when the C.L.S.U. was absorbed into the more powerful Seafarers' International Union, an A.F.L. affiliate. Jurisdictional disputes between the new union and the C.S.U. led to the present deep-sea strike and a sympathy walkout by dockworkers in London and other British ports.

On Wing and Prayer

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 20—(AP)—A B-36 bomber flew home safely on the three engines of its right wing Tuesday after the three left-wing engines ceased to function. An air force public relations officer at Carswell air force base said he believed it was the first time the huge craft has flown on the engines of just one wing.

Profits Slump Sharply

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—Profits of manufacturing corporations skidded downward about $550,000,000 during the first three months of this year compared to 1948's last quarter, a government report estimated Tuesday night. The drop was about 18 per cent. A survey released by the Federal Trade and Securities and Exchange Commissions laid the slump to falling sales which more than offset lower operating costs.
